Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results and can be misleading. As the fund is denominated in a currency that may differ than an investor's base currency, changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes. Performance is shown net of fees and expenses for the relevant share class over the reference period. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and do not take into account the commissions and costs incurred on the issue and redemption of shares, if any. Individual costs are not taken into account and would have a negative impact on the performance. With an investment amount of EUR 1,000 over an investment period of five years, the investment result in the first year would be reduced by the front-end load of up to EUR 50 (5%) as well as by additional individual custody charges. In subsequent years, the investment result would also be reduced by the individual custody account costs incurred. The reference benchmark of this class is used for performance comparison purposes only (dividend reinvested). No benchmark is directly identical to a fund, thus the performance of a benchmark is not a reliable indicator of future performance of the fund to which it is compared. There can be no assurance that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred.

Market review

The fund returned -1.1% in April with a volatility of 3.3%. During the month, the MSCI World Equity Index lost 3.8%, the JP Morgan Global Government Bond Index fell 1.8% and commodities gained 1.2%, all figures in euro hedged terms.

The highlight to this month's performance was the positive contribution of gold with +0.22%. The other strategies contributed negatively: government bonds -0.66%, equities -0.52% and non-government bonds -0.07%. Government bonds suffered from higher long term interest rates. The US 10-year treasury yield increased by 48 bps to 4.68%. Equities were supported by the outperformance of the dividend futures position. Non-government bonds outperformed the Bloomberg Global High Yield EUR-hedge index thanks to the resilience of the corporate hybrid positions.

During the month, we increased on weakness the allocation to long-term government bonds from 22% to 37%. We reduced the allocation to non-government bonds from 34% to 30% by selling positions with an unattractive spread to cash in relation to their risk. We maintained the allocation to equities at 21%. We raised the total portfolio duration from 2.6 to 3.4 years vs the long-term average of 3.8 years. The main hedges of the fund are the 37% long-term government bond, the 15% USD and the 5% gold exposures.

Positioning & outlook

During our April 11 review, we maintained the scenarios as follows:

Scenario 1, weight of 30%: Investments in IT accelerate, central banks end rate increases, inflation falls. The market continues to rally. Economic indicators are mixed. The economy is recovering in the US while it is still weak in Europe. Any positive economic news, such as booming artificial intelligence (AI) related investments or a recovery in manufacturing PMIs, would be positive for equity and credit markets. This is neutral to negative for government bonds and negative for the USD.

Scenario 2, weight of 50%: The US economy drifts into a mild recession. Several mitigating factors are likely to dampen the equity market correction and result in a mild loss of 5% to 10%: liquidity is still abundant, PMIs have reached a bottom and the boom in AI-related investments continues. This scenario is negative for credit and slightly positive for government bonds.

Scenario 3, weight of 20%: Credit conditions in the US deteriorate, developed economies fall into a global recession. Under this scenario, inflation persists, and the Fed's restrictive monetary policy starts to impact the economy. Equity and credit markets correct. This is positive for government bonds, the USD and potentially gold.

Risk and return profile acc. to SRI

The Fund's objective is to achieve consistent positive returns across the economic cycle. The targeted returns are intended to be largely de-correlated from those of major asset classes. It is therefore particularly suited to investors with an investment horizon of at least 3 years who are focused on achieving consistent absolute returns. The base currency of the Fund is EUR.

We have classified this product as risk class 3 on a scale of 1 to 7, where 3 corresponds to a medium-low risk class. The risk of potential losses from future performance is rated medium-low. In the event of very adverse market conditions, it is unlikely that the ability to execute your redemption request will be impaired. The calculation of the risk and earnings profile is based on simulated/historical data, which cannot be used as a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The classification of the fund may change in future and does not constitute a guarantee. Even a fund classed in category 1 does not constitute a completely risk-free investment. There can be no guarantee that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred. The overall risk exposure may have a strong impact on any return achieved by the fund or subfund. For further information please refer to the fund prospectus or PRIIP-KID.

Liquidity risk

The fund may invest some of its assets in financial instruments that may in certain circumstances reach a relatively low level of liquidity, which can have an impact on the fund's liquidity.

Risk arising from the use of derivatives

The fund may conclude derivatives transactions. This increases opportunities, but also involves an increased risk of loss.

Currency risks

The fund may invest in assets denominated in a foreign currency. Changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes.

Operational risks and custody risks

The fund is subject to risks due to operational or human errors, which can arise at the investment company, the custodian bank, a custodian or other third parties.
