Potential Risks

The Fund's risk and reward profile does not reflect the risk inherent in future circumstances that differ from what the Fund has experienced in the recent past. This includes the following events which are rare but can have a large impact.

- Credit risk: Issuers of assets held by the Fund may not pay income or repay capital when due. The Fund's investments have considerable credit risk.
- Liquidity risk: Assets cannot necessarily be sold at limited cost in an adequately short timeframe. The Fund's investments may be prone to limited liquidity. The Fund will endeavor to mitigate this risk by various measures.
- Counterparty risk: Bankruptcy or insolvency of the Fund's derivative counterparties may lead to payment or delivery default.
- Event risk: In the case a trigger event occurs contingent capital is converted into equity or written down and thus may lose substantially in value.
- Operational risk: Deficient processes, technical failures or catastrophic events may cause losses.
- Political and Legal risks: Investments are exposed to changes of rules and standards applied by a specific country. This includes restrictions on currency convertibility, the imposing of taxes or controls on transactions, the limitations of property rights or other legal risks. Investments in less developed financial markets may expose the Fund to increased operational, legal and political risk.
- Sustainability risks: Sustainability risks are environmental, social or governance events or conditions that can have a material negative effect on the return, depending on the relevant sector, industry and company exposure.

The product's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses, as well as more complete information about the product, are provided in the prospectus (or relevant offering document), which should be read carefully before investing.

Market Review

The performance of the China onshore bonds market was flattish in January, with higher government bond yields (i.e. five-year China government bond yield edged higher by about 7 basis points from 2.62% in December 2022 to 2.69% in January 2023) on the back of China's reopening. Over the same period, spreads of high-quality AAA-rated credit bonds tightened slightly by about 3 basis points.

Performance review

The fund had a positive month of January and outperformed its benchmark. In terms of segment, the fund's underweight in central government bonds and overweight in credit bonds contributed positively, while the underweight in local government bonds and overweight in policy bank bonds detracted.
