(b) The fund price is not guaranteed and the risk of loss is borne by the investor. An event such as default by a bank with which the fund has deposited money would cause the fund price to fall. A fall may also occur if interest rates fall so low as to be less than the charges applied to the fund. An investment in the fund is different from an investment in bank deposits because the value of the investment may fluctuate. Money market instruments that produce a higher level of income usually also carry greater risk as issuers may not be able to pay the income or capital as promised. The fund may convert from a Short Term Low Volatility Net Asset Value Money Market Fund (LVNAV) to a Short term Variable Net Asset Value Money Market Fund (VNAV) should interest and deposit rates become low or negative or its price variability is greater than permitted under the LVNAV structure. The fund does not rely on external support for guaranteeing liquidity or stabilising the NAV per share.
