INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

Santander AM Latin American Fixed Income generates returns through Latin American sovereign and/or quasi-sovereign debt instruments in local currency and, to a lesser extent, corporate debt instruments. Investments are limited to countries included in the JPM EMBI Global Diversified Latin America Index. It may also invest in bonds denominated in US Dollar. The Sub-Fund may use derivatives and/or other UCI with a view to reduce the risk of investment positions or for efficient portfolio management or as a part of the investment strategy.

MONTHLY STRATEGY

Fund performance was negative over the month (-0.7% MoM), but the asset class still offers decent returns YTD.

Latam currencies had very negative returns in May (-2.0% MoM), while US dollar regained ground vs cyclical currencies both within G-10 and EM currencies.

As regards bond yields, they have narrowed significantly this month (-0.9% MoM), in line with all the sovereign bonds, as fears of a global synchronised slowdown are driving central banks policies.

Yield compression along with carry contribution left only small losses in the month for the asset class.
