IMPORTANT INFORMATION

- Potential for magnified losses
Potential losses in leveraged products (such as this ETF) are significantly magnified in comparison to investments that do not incorporate leverage.
- Leveraged exposure
For periods of longer than one day, the return of the Index is not the same as the return of the Underlying Index multiplied by a factor of 2. This is because the x2 leverage factor is reset on a daily basis (i.e. the x2 leverage factor is applied to the performance of the Underlying Index on each day). The daily reset has a "compounding effect" which means that, the more volatile the performance of the Underlying Index, the more the performance of the Index (and therefore the ETF) will deviate from the performance of the Underlying Index (multiplied by a leverage factor of 2) over a given period of time. Accordingly, this ETF may not be a suitable investment for periods of longer than one day.

INDEX DESCRIPTION

The FTSE 100® Daily Leveraged Index (the "Index") is a leveraged index. The daily percentage change in the level of the Index is intended to reflect twice the daily percentage change in the level of the FTSE 100® Net Dividend Total Return Index (the "Underlying Index") less an implied amount reflecting the cost of borrowing additional capital to invest in the Underlying Index portfolio so as to create the leveraged exposure (the "Financing Cost").

The Underlying Index is comprised of the 100 largest companies (determined by reference to the total market value of a company's shares) which are publically traded in the UK. Each company is weighted according to the total market value of the proportion of its shares that are freely tradable by the public (i.e. not subject to any restrictions or fixed ownership).

In tracking the Index, the ETF is exposed on each day to a multiple (by a factor of 2) of that day's movement in the value of the Underlying Index less the Financing Cost built into the Index and charges and expenses applied to the ETF. As the Index rebalances daily, the ETF may not be a suitable investment for periods of longer than one day.

KEY RISKS

- The value of an investment and any income taken from it is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up. You may not get back the amount you originally invested.
- General investment risks: An investment in this ETF involves a significant degree of risk. Any decision to invest should be based on the information contained in the key investor information document and the prospectus. Prospective investors should obtain independent accounting, tax and legal advice and should consult their professional advisers to ascertain the suitability of this ETF as an investment to their own circumstances.
- Potential losses in leveraged products (such as this ETF) are significantly magnified in comparison to investments that do not incorporate leverage.
- For periods of longer than one day, the return of the Index is not the same as the return of the Underlying Index multiplied by a factor of 2. This is because the x2 leverage factor is reset on a daily basis (i.e. the x2 leverage factor is applied to the performance of the Underlying Index on each day). The daily reset has a "compounding effect" which means that, the more volatile the performance of the Underlying Index, the more the performance of the Index (and therefore the ETF) will deviate from the performance of the Underlying Index (multiplied by a leverage factor of 2) over a given period of time.
- If a swap counterparty is no longer willing or able to continue entering into swaps with the ETF, the ETF will not be able to continue tracking the Index.
- If a swap counterparty increases the cost of entering into swaps with the ETF, the ETF's performance will be negatively impacted.
- Third party service providers (such as swap counterparties or the ETF's depositary) may go bankrupt and fail to pay money due to the ETF or return property belonging to the ETF.
- If the Index provider stops calculating the Index or if the ETF's license to track the Index is terminated, the ETF may have to be closed.
- It may not always be possible to buy and sell ETF shares on a stock exchange or at prices closely reflecting the NAV.
- There is no capital guarantee or protection on the value of the ETF. Investors can lose all the capital invested in the ETF.

Any decision to invest should be based on the information contained in the prospectus of the Issuer (or any supplements thereto) which includes, inter alia, information on certain risks associated with an investment. The price of any securities may go up or down and an investor may not get back the amount invested. Investors should only invest in a currency-hedged share class if they are willing to forego potential gains from appreciations in the currencies in which the Fund's assets are denominated against the currency of denomination of the relevant hedged share class. Currency hedging employed with respect to the hedged share classes aims to reduce currency risk rather than to eliminate it completely. Investors should also refer to the risk factor entitled "Currency" in the section of the Prospectus entitled "Risk Factors".

Short and leveraged: Short and leveraged exchange-traded products are only intended for investors who understand the risks involved in investing in a product with short and leveraged exposure and who intend to invest on a short-term basis. Any investment in short and leveraged products should be monitored on a daily basis to ensure consistency with your investment strategy. You should understand that investments in leveraged exchange-traded products held for a period of longer than one day may not provide returns equivalent to the return from the relevant unleveraged investment multiplied by the relevant leverage factor. Potential losses in leveraged exchange-traded products may be magnified in comparison to investments that do not incorporate these strategies. Please refer to the section entitled "Risk Factors" in the relevant prospectus for further details of these and other risks associated with an investment in short and leveraged exchange-traded products. You should consult an independent investment adviser prior to making an investment in a short and leveraged exchange-traded product in order to determine its suitability to your circumstances.
