Risk and reward profile

Historical data, such as is used in calculating the synthetic indicator, is not a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The risk and reward category shown is not guaranteed to remain unchanged, the categorization may shift over time. The lowest category does not mean a risk-free investment.

Bonds in general are less volatile than equities. This fund has a relative higher volatility compared to other fixed income funds as it invests in high yield bonds which have equity-like features. High yield bonds have an elevated chance of default making these funds, within the fixed income range, the more volatile products.

The following data are deemed material for this fund, and are not (adequately) reflected by the indicator:

1. The product invests in debt securities. Issuers of debt securities may default on their obligations.
2. The product invests in instruments which are by their nature sufficiently liquid, yet which may under certain circumstances have a low level of liquidity impacting the liquidity of the product.
3. The investment exposure of the product is obtained to a material degree through derivatives. A derivative counterparty of the product may fail to fulfil its obligations. The risk is partially mitigated through the use of collateral.
4. The product will invest in derivative instruments. These instruments may present a leverage effect, which will increase the sensitivity of the product to market fluctuations. The risk is limited within the conditions of the products' integral risk management.
