GENERAL INFORMATION (CONTINUED)

Neuberger Berman Diversified Currency Fund

The investment objective of Neuberger Berman Diversified Currency Fund (the "Portfolio") is to generate an absolute return over a medium- to long-term investment horizon with a moderate level of volatility. The Portfolio seeks to achieve this objective by investing primarily in global liquid currencies (including, without limitation, Australian dollars, Canadian dollars, Swiss franc, euro, sterling, Japanese yen, Norwegian krone, New Zealand dollars, Swedish krona and US dollars) using a fundamentally driven, relative approach. The four-stage investment approach is discretionary in nature and is designed to achieve a diversified, highly liquid Portfolio and may, depending on prevailing market conditions, combine fundamental analysis with a more quantitative approach, designed to consider multiple drivers and trading strategies over different time horizons.

Stage one of the process is the construction of the Portfolio and this includes stage two, which is the analysis of fundamental factors that may, on a discretionary basis, include such variables as opportunities for growth, currency stability, yield, monetary policy, capital flows and risk characteristics, over short-, medium- and long-term investment horizons.

Following the analysis and portfolio construction stages, stages three and four of the investment process are trade implementation and risk management, conducted on a pre-trade, post-trade and ongoing basis.

The securities which the Portfolio invests in may be listed on recognised markets globally. The Portfolio may take positions in currencies representing either a long or, using financial derivative instruments ("FDI"), short exposure to the currency with respect to the base currency.

GENERAL INFORMATION (CONTINUED)Neuberger Berman China Equity Fund

The investment objective of Neuberger Berman China Equity Fund (the "Portfolio") is to achieve an attractive level of total return (income plus capital appreciation) from the Greater China equity market. The Portfolio seeks to achieve this objective by investing primarily in equity and equity-linked securities which are listed or traded on recognised markets and issued by companies that:

- are incorporated or organised under the laws of, or that have a principal office in, the People's Republic of China ("PRC"), Hong Kong Special Administrative Region ("SAR"), Macau SAR or Taiwan (the "Greater China Region");
- generally derive a majority of their total revenue or profits from (a) goods that are produced or sold, (b) investments made, or (c) services performed, in the Greater China Region; or
- generally hold a majority of their assets in the Greater China Region (each a "Greater China Company").

The Portfolio may also invest in hybrid securities and equity-related securities, such as convertible debentures, convertible preferred stock, debt instruments with warrants attached, including FDI, which are issued by or give exposure to the performance of Greater China Companies.

For the avoidance of doubt, the Portfolio may invest in securities as described herein and which are issued by or giving exposure to Greater China Companies listed or traded on recognised markets located outside of the Greater China Region, including, without limitation, in the United States, the United Kingdom, Singapore and Japan.

The Portfolio invests primarily in mid and large capitalisation companies.

Green Court Capital Management Limited, the Sub-Investment Manager, employs a research intensive, fundamental-driven and bottom-up approach. Ongoing assessments of macroeconomic and market factors augment the stock-picking discipline. The investment approach is discretionary in nature and is designed to consider multiple drivers and investment strategies over different time horizons.

The Portfolio is primarily constructed by taking under and overweight positions to the market benchmark MSCI China Index. Decisions on whether the Portfolio's positions will be under- or overweight relative to the benchmark are primarily driven by valuation, quality of valuation and macroeconomic factors, including such variables as opportunities for growth, competitive advantages and risk characteristics, over short-, medium- and long-term investment horizons but the requirements of the Central Bank of Ireland in respect of concentration limits as set out in the "Investment Restrictions" section of the Prospectus will supersede these factors where relevant.

Neuberger Berman US Small Cap Fund

The investment objective of Neuberger Berman US Small Cap Fund (the "Portfolio") is to achieve capital growth through the selection of investments applying analysis of company key metrics and macro economic factors. The Portfolio seeks to achieve this objective by investing primarily in equity securities issued by small-capitalisation companies which have their head office or exercise an overriding part of their economic activity in the US and that are listed or traded on recognised markets.

The Portfolio seeks to identify undervalued companies whose current market share and balance sheet are strong and whose financial strength is largely based on existing business lines rather than on projected growth.

Factors in identifying such companies include:

- above-average returns;
- an established market niche;
- circumstances that may make it difficult for new competitors to enter the market;
- an ability to finance their own growth; and
- sound future business prospects.

Neuberger Berman Global Bond Fund

The investment objective of Neuberger Berman Global Bond Fund (the "Portfolio") is to achieve an attractive level of total return (income plus capital appreciation) from global fixed income markets.

The Portfolio seeks to achieve this objective by investing primarily in:

- Investment grade debt securities issued by governments and agencies from OECD countries; and
- Investment grade debt securities issued by corporations, which have their head office or exercise an overriding part of their economic activity in OECD countries.

All securities will be listed, dealt or traded on recognised markets without any particular focus on any one industrial sector.

There are four main differentiating factors that set the Portfolio's approach:

- Diversification through the use of multiple uncorrelated alpha sources
- Active FX management
- Integrated Global Macro Overlay

In addition, Neuberger Berman Europe Limited (the "Investment Manager") conducts analysis of data and seeks to exploit opportunities across multiple time horizons. Central to the investment philosophy is the Investment Manager's qualitative judgement, which is exercised at all stages of the investment process. This discretion enables it to take into account information and events that cannot be readily quantified, for example political events, shifts in regulatory regimes or the effects of market positioning and hedging.

Neuberger Berman Global Dynamic Asset Allocator Fund

The investment objective of Neuberger Berman Global Dynamic Asset Allocator Fund (the "Portfolio") is to achieve income and capital appreciation.

The Portfolio seeks to achieve its objective by investing its assets in accordance with an investment policy which has two separate elements, a multi-strategy investment policy (the "Multi-Strategy Investment Policy") and a global tactical asset allocation policy (the "GTAA Policy"), which will be managed independently.

In pursuit of the Multi-Strategy Investment Policy, the Portfolio takes long and synthetic short positions in and in respect of debt securities and money market instruments issued by governments and their agencies and corporations worldwide. On an ancillary basis, the Portfolio may hold preferred stocks issued by public or private issuers. In light of the preferential nature of the dividends payable in respect of preferred stocks, Neuberger Berman Europe Limited (the "Investment Manager") and Neuberger Berman Investment Advisers LLC (the "Sub-Investment Manager") consider preferred stocks to be hybrid debt securities.

In pursuit of GTAA Policy, the Portfolio takes long and synthetic short positions in respect of a selection of securities taken from a universe of approximately 70 historically liquid individual financial instruments that comprise five different, UCITS-eligible asset classes: financial derivative instruments in respect of equity indices, fixed income indices, commodity indices, currencies and volatility instruments. The individual instruments that comprise this universe are selected by the Investment Manager and the Sub-Investment Manager in their discretion for these five classes.

The Portfolio seeks to achieve its objective by investing primarily in investment grade and sub-investment grade corporate hybrid bonds. The analysis of the strength of a security is specific to the individual security itself, as opposed to having regard to broader themes e.g. the credit rating of the security is analysed relative to its proposed yield. The Portfolio focuses on securities which are listed or traded on recognised markets globally, and not limited by industry or sector. The Portfolio may rotate its exposure to geographic regions and countries and between sectors and issuers, based on economic or regional fundamentals, such as the valuation of each security relative to other similar securities. The Portfolio may have medium levels of volatility due to its investments in subordinated debt and/or below investment grade securities.

This change was in connection with the Neuberger Berman Greater China Investment ("GCI") Team's establishment of an independent business, Green Court Capital Management, in which Neuberger Berman will retain an ongoing passive minority ownership stake. As part of the transaction, all of the GCI Team's investment professionals moved over to Green Court. Financial Reporting Process - Description of Main Features (continued)

The Directors have established processes regarding internal control and risk management systems to ensure its effective oversight of the financial reporting process. These include appointing the Administrator to maintain the accounting records of the Company independently of Neuberger Berman Europe Limited (the "Investment Manager") and the Depositary. The Administrator is required under the terms of the administration agreement to maintain adequate accounting records on behalf of the Company. To that end the Administrator performs regular reconciliations of its records to those of the Depositary. The Administrator is also contractually obliged to prepare for review and approval by the Directors the annual report including financial statements intended to give a true and fair view and the interim report and unaudited abridged financial statements.

The Directors evaluate and discuss significant accounting and reporting issues as the need arises. From time to time the Directors also examine and evaluate the Administrator's financial accounting and reporting routines and monitor and evaluate the external auditors' performance, qualifications and independence. The Administrator has operating responsibility in respect of its internal controls in relation to the financial reporting process and the Administrator's report to the Directors.

Risk Assessment

The Directors are responsible for assessing the risk of irregularities whether caused by fraud or error in financial reporting and ensuring the processes are in place for the timely identification of internal and external matters with a potential effect on financial reporting. The Directors have also put in place processes to identify changes in accounting rules and recommendations and to ensure that these changes are accurately reflected in the Company's financial statements.

Neuberger Berman complete in depth reviews of the Financial Statements to ensure that all of the content included is accurate. Should a discrepancy be identified Neuberger Berman would report this to the Board of Directors (the "Board") at the next board meeting, or immediately where the discrepancy is deemed material. Changes in accounting rules and standards are monitored by Neuberger Berman and the Company's Administrator; all changes are reported to the board periodically.

Neuberger Berman liaises with the Company's Administrator to ensure that all changes in accounting rules and standards are reflected in the financial statements in a timely manner. Neuberger Berman also have regular dialogue with the Company's Auditors.

Control Activities

The Administrator maintains control structures to manage the risks over financial reporting. These control structures include appropriate division of responsibilities and specific control activities aimed at detecting or preventing the risk of significant deficiencies in financial reporting for every significant account in the financial statements and the related notes in the Company's annual report. Examples of control activities exercised by the Administrator include analytical review procedures, reconciliations and automatic controls in IT systems. Prices not available from independent sources are typically valued by the Investment Manager using methods the Directors have approved in the good-faith belief that the resulting valuation will reflect the fair value of the security.

Information and Communication

The Company's policies and the Directors' instructions with relevance for financial reporting are updated and communicated via appropriate channels, such as e-mail, correspondence and meetings to ensure that all financial reporting information requirements are met in a complete and accurate manner.

Monitoring

The Directors receive regular presentations and review reports from the Depositary, Investment Manager and Administrator. INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT TO THE MEMBERS OF NEUBERGER BERMAN INVESTMENT FUNDS PLC

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Neuberger Berman Investment Funds plc ('the Company') for the year ended 31 December 2017, which comprise the Aggregate Balance Sheet, Aggregate Profit and Loss Account, the Aggregate Statement of Changes in Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares and notes to the financial statements, including the summary of significant accounting policies set out in note 1. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is Irish Law and Accounting Standards including FRS 102 The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (Irish Generally Accepted Accounting Practice). In our opinion the financial statements:

- give a true and fair view of the assets, liabilities and financial position of the Company as at 31 December 2017 and of its aggregate profit for the year then ended;
- have been properly prepared in accordance with Irish Generally Accepted Accounting Practice; and
- have been properly prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2014, the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations, 2011, and the Central Bank (Supervision and Enforcement) Act 2013 (Section 48(1)) (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2015.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (Ireland) (ISAs (Ireland)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of financial statements in Ireland, including the Ethical Standard as applied to public interest entities issued by the Irish Auditing and Accounting Supervisory Authority (IAASA), and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters, in relation to which ISAs (Ireland) require us to report to you where:

- the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements is not appropriate; or
- the directors have not disclosed in the financial statements any identified material uncertainties that may cast significant doubt about the Company's ability to continue to adopt the going concern basis of accounting for a period of at least twelve months from the date when the financial statements are authorised for issue.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period and include the most significant assessed risks of material misstatement (whether or not due to fraud) that we identified, including those which had the greatest effect on: the overall audit strategy, the allocation of resources in the audit; and directing the efforts of the engagement team. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Our application of materiality

We apply the concept of materiality in planning and performing the audit, in evaluating the effect of identified misstatements on the audit and in forming our audit opinion.

Materiality

The magnitude of an omission or misstatement that, individually or in the aggregate, could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of the users of the financial statements. Materiality provides a basis for determining the nature and extent of our audit procedures.

We determined materiality for the Company to be 0.5% (2016: 0.5%) of Net Asset Value. We believe that Net Asset Value is an appropriate measurement basis since the users of the financial statements may focus more on assets or equity than earnings.

During the course of our audit, we reassessed initial materiality and there were no changes in the materiality.

Performance materiality

The application of materiality at the individual account or balance level. It is set at an amount to reduce to an appropriately low level the probability that the aggregate of uncorrected and undetected misstatements exceeds materiality.

On the basis of our risk assessments, together with our assessment of the Company's overall control environment, our judgement was that performance materiality was 75% (2016: 75%) of our planning materiality. We have set performance materiality at this percentage due to our knowledge of the entity and industry, our past history with the entity, effectiveness of the control environment and our assessment of the risks associated with the engagement.

Reporting threshold

An amount below which identified misstatements are considered as being clearly trivial.

We agreed with the Audit Committee that we would report to them all uncorrected audit differences in excess 5% of planning materiality, as well as differences below that threshold that, in our view, warranted reporting on qualitative grounds.

We evaluate any uncorrected misstatements against both the quantitative measures of materiality discussed above and in light of other relevant qualitative considerations in forming our opinion.

An overview of the scope of our audit report

Tailoring the scope

Our assessment of audit risk, our evaluation of materiality and our allocation of performance materiality determine our audit scope for the company. This enables us to form an opinion on the financial statements. We take into account size, risk profile, the organisation of the company and effectiveness of controls, including controls and changes in the business environment when assessing the level of work to be performed. All audit work was performed directly by the audit engagement team.

Other information

The directors are responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the annual report other than the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon. Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in our report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

Respective responsibilities

Responsibilities of directors for the financial statements

As explained more fully in the directors' responsibilities statement set on page 30, the directors are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as they determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the directors are responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (Ireland) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

The objectives of our audit, in respect to fraud, are; to identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements due to fraud; to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the assessed risks of material misstatement due to fraud, through designing and implementing appropriate responses; and to respond appropriately to fraud or suspected fraud identified during the audit. However, the primary responsibility for the prevention and detection of fraud rests with both those charged with governance of the entity and management.

Our approach was as follows:

- We obtained an understanding of the legal and regulatory frameworks that are applicable to the Company and determined that the most significant are Companies Act 2014 and Undertaking for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities pursuant to the provisions of the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations, 2011 as amended (the "UCITS Regulations").
- We understood how Neuberger Berman Investment Funds plc is complying with those frameworks by updating our understanding of the adequate system of internal control in place. We also considered the existence of independence service providers, proper segregation of duties and the regulated environment in which the Company operates, which may reduce opportunities for fraud to take place.
- We assessed the susceptibility of the Company's financial statements to material misstatement, including how fraud might occur by management override of controls.
- Based on this understanding we designed our audit procedures to identify non-compliance with such laws and regulations. Our procedures involved inquiries to those charged with governance into possible instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations, review of board meeting minutes during the year and obtaining representation from the management.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is located on the IAASA's website at: http://www.iaasa.ie/getmedia/b2389013-1cf6-458b-9b8f-a98202dc9c3a/Description_of_auditors_responsibilities_for_audit.pdf. This description forms part of our auditor's report.

Other matters which we are required to address

We were appointed by the Directors in 2000 to audit the financial statements for the year ending 31 December 2017 and subsequent financial periods. The period of total uninterrupted engagement including previous renewals and reappointments of the firm is 18 years.

The non-audit services prohibited by IAASA's Ethical Standard were not provided to the Company and we remain independent of the Company in conducting our audit.

Our audit opinion is consistent with the additional report to the audit committee.

The purpose of our audit work and to whom we owe our responsibilities

Our report is made solely to the Company's members, as a body, in accordance with section 391 of the Companies Act 2014. Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the Company's members those matters we are required to state to them in an auditor's report and for no other purpose. INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT TO THE DIRECTORS OF NEUBERGER BERMAN INVESTMENT FUNDS PLC

The Directors
Neuberger Berman Investment Funds plc

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Neuberger Berman Investment Funds plc (the "Fund"), which comprise the Aggregate Balance Sheet as of 31 December 2017, the Aggregate Profit and Loss Account, the Aggregate Statement of Changes in Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares, for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in conformity with Accounting Standards including FRS 102 The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (Irish Generally Accepted Accounting Practice); this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free of material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the Fund's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Fund's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Neuberger Berman Investment Funds plc at 31 December 2017, and the results of its operations and changes in net assets for the year then ended, in conformity with Accounting Standards including FRS 102 The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (Irish Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

NEUBERGER BERMAN HIGH YIELD BOND FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 5.40%. Over the same period, the ICE BofAML US High Yield Master II Constrained Index returned 7.48%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The overall US high yield market generated strong results during the reporting period. The market was supported by overall solid fundamental results, improved corporate earnings and moderate defaults. In addition, investor demand was robust as they looked to generate incremental yield in the low interest rate environment. These positives overshadowed continued monetary tightening by the Federal Reserve ("Fed"), periods of risk aversion and several geopolitical events. All told, the ICE BofAML US High Yield Constrained Index (the "Index") gained 7.48% in 2017. Within the Index, securities rated CCC and lower (relatively lower ratings) and securities rated BB (a higher rating) returned 10.26% and 7.28%, respectively.*

The Portfolio generated a strong absolute return but lagged its benchmark index over the reporting period. Security selection in energy, banking and diversified financial services detracted the most from performance. In contrast, security selection in utilities, health care and metals/mining were the largest contributors to performance.

The Fed anticipates raising interest rates three more times in 2018, while continuing to let assets gradually run off its balance sheet. This suggests to us that financial conditions will grow progressively tighter over the course of the year. All in all, we believe the Fed's measured approach to policy normalisation represents a constructive scenario for high yield bonds, which historically have performed well during rising-rate environments. Meanwhile, the mature business cycle appears to still have life in it. We anticipate the US economy to continue growing at a moderate rate in 2018, with inflation becoming more evident as the year progresses. However, in our opinion, a US recession, appears to be a viable possibility in 2019 or 2020. In the meantime, we believe defaults among non-investment grade issuers should remain below historical averages. Revenue and earnings growth have improved, while leverage appears to us to have plateaued. US corporate tax reform is anticipated to have a modest positive net impact on the cash flow for non-investment grade issuers, however more so for less levered, higher quality issuers. However, the non-investment grade credit markets could be impacted by potential changes in the regulatory environment, such as trade policy or changes to leveraged lending guidelines and their enforcement. In addition, we believe technological change and disruption continue to pose risk to certain industries. While the majority of US high yield new issuance has been focused on refinancing activity, aggressive issuance has increased within certain sectors of the non-investment grade credit markets. Finally, market technicals continue to be supportive for non-investment grade markets as increased supply has been supported by investor demand, particularly from outside the US.

* The performance of certain rated bonds within the Index, as noted above, represent issues that are rated Ba1/BB+ through Ba3/BB and CCC+/Caa1 or lower, based on an average of Moody's, S&P and Fitch, as calculated by ICE BofAML.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ending 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 2.05%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the ICE BofA Merrill Lynch 3-Month US Treasury Bill Index, returned 0.86%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Over the course of 2017 the best performing major currencies were the euro and the Swedish krona. The worst performing major currencies were the US dollar and the New Zealand dollar. The Strategy generated a positive return for the year. An underweight in the Australian dollar and an overweight in the Swedish krona were the best performing positions whilst an underweight in the euro was a detractor of performance.

2017 was largely dominated by three themes: US dollar weakness, Eurozone strength and strong global growth with low inflation. These themes explained most of the currency performance for the year. The US dollar was down against all the other major currencies for the year. The high beta currencies to the Eurozone such as the Swedish krone and Norwegian krona were among the better performing currencies: although both were down on a trade weighted basis – largely because of the strength of the euro. The Swiss franc didn't benefit from the strength of the Eurozone as, with the fall in risk premia in European assets, the flows which were built during the European debt crisis started to reverse, helping the franc to depreciate against its European peers.

The combination of global growth and low inflation was a good environment for commodity prices and currencies with a high sensitivity to them. That being said, the New Zealand dollar didn't benefit from the rally in commodity and dairy prices. This is likely due to concerns over the new political environment following an election of a party who appear opposed to foreign capital and liberal financial markets.

We enter 2018 with risk-adjusted equity returns at all-time highs, central bank balance sheets at all-time highs and financial market volatility approaching all-time lows. Such strong performance in asset classes has been aided by low real interest rates as growth has remained strong and inflation subdued. Towards the end of 2017 there were signs of inflationary pressures starting to emerge in the data, in central bank communications and in market-based inflation forecasts. Should the inflation picture continue to strengthen in 2018 we may anticipate some asset markets to struggle.

We continue to construct a relative value portfolio and monitor the data and risk events closely.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the year ended 31 December 2017, the NAV of the USD1 I Accumulating Class shares increased 23.85% versus 21.83% for the benchmark, the S&P 500 Index. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance, and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Within the Portfolio, superior stock selection positively contributed to outperformance during the year. Stock selection within Industrials was most beneficial to outperformance, while stock selection within Information Technology detracted from relative performance. Sector allocation contributed to the Portfolio's outperformance during the period as well. The Portfolio's overweight to Information Technology and zero exposure to Telecommunication Services contributed to outperformance. The Portfolio's underweight to Consumer Discretionary detracted. The Portfolio finished the year with an overweight in Financials, Industrials and Materials, an underweight in Consumer Discretionary and Health Care, and had no exposure to Real Estate, Telecommunication Services, or Utilities.

Portfolio construction is an important component of our investment process, and we continue to find what appear to us as compelling opportunities across our three investment categories – Special Situation, Opportunistic, and Classic investments. This balanced approach is designed to mitigate risk, while generating alpha through stock selection in various market environments.

The core of our investment process is an unwavering focus on a company's generation of free cash flow and its use by management. We believe free cash flow is a cleaner measure of value creation than income statement earnings, which may be obfuscated by various accounting methods. Our analysis considers the stability and sources of free cash flow generation, as well as the potential uses of this capital. This investment focus enables us to look across sectors, market capitalisations, and risk profiles to find opportunities, particularly during periods of increased market volatility.

Looking forward, we believe the equity environment will favour active managers with a demonstrated ability to deliver value through stock selection. Reasonable stock valuations, moderate and steady growth in the US economy, and strong corporate fundamentals suggest that equities remain a sound long-term investment.

As we evaluate both potential new positions and current portfolio holdings, we will continue to do so with a long term investment perspective in mind. As always, our focus is to grow our clients' assets through the disciplined application of our investment philosophy and process.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class shares was 10.76%. Over the same period, the index, the FTSE NAREIT All Equity REITs Index (USD Total Return Gross of Fees, Net of Tax), returned 7.41%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance, and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The US stock market generated strong results during the reporting period. Investor demand was robust as global growth accelerated and corporate profits often exceeded expectations. In addition, investors had a positive view on the recently passed tax reform bill. The overall US stock market, as measured by the S&P 500 Index, gained 21.83% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2017. This represented the largest annual gain since 2013. In contrast, the FTSE NAREIT All Equity REITs Index (USD Total Return Gross of Fees, Net of Tax), gained 7.41% over the same period.

During the reporting period, both stock selection and sector allocation contributed to the Portfolio's relative performance. From a stock selection perspective, holdings in the Lodging/Resorts, Data Center and Infrastructure sectors contributed the most to performance. In contrast, the Portfolio's holdings in the Specialty, Health Care and Diversified sectors detracted the most from results. In terms of sector positioning, an overweight to Real Estate Operating Companies, an underweight to Diversified and an overweight to Single Family Homes contributed the most to results. Conversely, underweights to Industrial, Self Storage and Specialty were the largest detractors from performance.

We anticipate seeing solid economic growth for the US in 2018. We believe the Federal Reserve Board will likely take a measured approach in terms of further rate hikes. The tax cuts signed into law in December 2017 will likely positively impact corporate profitability, while also increasing disposable income for most consumers. Improved consumer confidence, accelerating non-residential fixed investment and modest inflation should benefit tenant demand for real estate space. We continue to monitor potential changes related to the Affordable Care Act, government deregulation and infrastructure that we believe may affect the real estate sector. We continue to focus on companies with secular demand drivers that we believe could result in above average cash flow and dividend growth. Additionally, we have found opportunities to invest in REITs that appear to us to be trading attractively relative to their intrinsic value*.

* Intrinsic value reflects the portfolio management team's analysis and estimates of a company's value. There is no guarantee that any intrinsic values will be realised; security prices may decrease regardless of intrinsic values.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 66.26%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the MSCI China Index, returned 54.07%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

China equity markets performed well during the year 2017, as indicated by both the MSCI China Net Index, which is a proxy for offshore listed Chinese equities, as well as the domestic China A-shares market. Markets rallied in January on the back of solid macroeconomic data released for December, better than expected 4Q 2016 GDP growth and tighter capital controls. Despite the People's Bank of China ("PBoC") raising interbank interest rates in early February, both the offshore and onshore markets continued their upward trend due to better than expected Purchasing Managers Index and trade data, expectations of additional supply side reforms and policies from the upcoming "two sessions". In March, despite the US Federal Reserve and PBoC tightening monetary policy, the offshore market outperformed as company earnings and state-owned enterprise ("SOE") dividend policies came into focus. Going into April, the announcement to create the Xiong'an special economic zone in Hebei province led the China equity markets to perform strongly. Later in the month, the domestic A-shares market corrected amid speculations on further controls from the China Securities Regulatory Commission ("CSRC"), and weakness continued towards month-end despite strong 1Q 2017 GDP growth. In May, investor sentiment improved after China's agreement with the US on trade deals, conclusion of the Belt and Road Forum and approval of the Hong Kong-China Bond Connect program. Markets traded higher in June after the CSRC tightened regulations on stock selling by major shareholders, MSCI's inclusion of China A-shares into their regional and country benchmark indices and the government's capital markets reforms to streamline mergers & acquisitions approval processes, with the onshore market outperforming the offshore market by June month-end.

Beginning the second half of 2017, strong 2Q 2017 GDP growth and better than expected June macroeconomic indicators led to strong performance of large cap names in July. Markets corrected briefly in August amid escalating geopolitical tensions in the Korean Peninsula, but rallied towards month-end after strong 1Q 2017 corporate earnings and ongoing SOE and supply side reforms lifted investor sentiment. In September, profit taking led the China equity markets to consolidate, and investor sentiment was weighed down by Standard & Poor's downgrading China and Hong Kong's sovereign credit ratings, additional property tightening policies and escalating geopolitical risks. However, continued supply side reforms and the PBoC eliminating foreign exchange derivative sales reserve requirements supported both markets by September month-end. Positive momentum continued into October due to policy support expectations from the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China, the State Council's supportive decision to cut reserve requirement ratio ("RRR") aimed at small and medium enterprises financing, the PBoC's announcement on 50-150bps RRR reduction for certain banks and solid 3Q 2017 corporate earnings. News that the State Council is planning a pilot program for full convertibility of domestic shares to H-shares and announcements of significant business deals concluded with the US after President Trump's visit to China led markets to trade higher in November, but corrected sharply towards month-end as sentiment was weighed down by purging of online microlenders, reduction of import tariffs and property tightening policies. Towards year-end, despite concerns over liquidity, the PBoC raising reverse repo and medium-term lending facility rates by 5bps and the US Federal Reserve's third rate hike by 25bps, China equity markets ended the year on a high note primarily due to the removal of overhang regarding US tax reforms and bond yields surging after hawkish comments from European Central Bank policymakers.

In 2017, the Portfolio's main contributors to performance relative to the Benchmark included Consumer Discretionary (significant overweight and stock selection, primarily in home appliance and apparel companies), Financials (overweight and stock selection to banks and insurance), Consumer Staples (stock selection, primarily to domestic food & beverage companies), Energy (significant underweight) and Telecommunication Services (significant underweight). Main detractors to performance relative to the benchmark included Information Technology (significant underweight) and Real Estate (stock selection). As at 31 December 2017, the Portfolio's largest sector underweight was Information Technology, and also held underweight positions in Telecommunication Services and Energy. The Portfolio's largest sector overweight was Consumer Discretionary, and also held overweight positions in Health Care and Financials. The Portfolio's top 10 positions comprised more than 55% of total assets at end of December.

China's 2017 GDP growth stood at 6.9%, supported by continued robustness in consumption as measured by retail sales growth and net exports. Infrastructure spending also remained strong, with overall key indicators pointing to stable economic conditions. 4Q 2017 was an eventful period for China given the 19th Party Congress that occurred in October, followed by the Politburo meeting in early December and finally, the Central Economic Work Conference ("CEWC") before year-end. The 19th Party Congress saw five new members join the Politburo Standing Committee. It was also noteworthy that no potential candidates to succeed President Xi Jinping were outlined during the Party Congress, which is indicative of a longer political horizon for the current leadership and as a result, better policy visibility. While the direct and indirect policy implications of the Party Congress will only become clear in the coming months and years, the Politburo and CEWC highlighted three priorities: control of leverage, reduction of poverty and improvement of environmental outcomes.

The aforementioned policies may be interpreted as policymakers becoming more tolerant of growth moderation. However, a significant slowdown in growth does not appear likely. For one, there have not been any indications of policymakers deviating from the previous objective of doubling GDP by 2020 from 2010 levels, wherein it has been suggested that this can be achieved with an average annual growth rate of 6.3% for the period of 2018-2020. In terms of monetary policy, the PBoC's tone has turned more hawkish based on its statements of controlling money supply to contain leverage in the system. Yet, its announcement to allow a lower reserve ratio requirement for banks during the Lunar New Year holiday suggests that it remains vigilant on maintaining adequate liquidity. Finally, higher than expected targets to redevelop homes in shanty towns may buoy housing and construction activity, the latter of which is supported by order backlogs.

In spite of the strong performance of the China equity markets in 2017, valuations do not appear to be out of cantor. Forward P/E ratios for the MSCI China and CSI 300 indices stood at 14.0x and 13.8x, respectively. In addition, the equity returns observed last year was backed by fundamentals in the form of strong corporate earnings and not merely multiples expansion. Looking ahead, earnings growth is expected to continue to be an important (and perhaps a more pronounced) driver of equity performance. To that end, we continue to advocate a selective approach to investing within the markets, emphasizing companies with strong earnings visibility.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was 41.31%. Over the same period, the benchmark MSCI Emerging Markets Index (Net) (the "Index"), returned 37.28%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Emerging Markets ("EM") equities outperformed developed markets equities in 2017, driven by investor risk appetite, improving GDP growth rates and corporate earnings, and supportive policy decisions in several important nations.

Within the Index, all sectors posted double-digit positive results, with Information Technology ("IT"), Real Estate, and Materials stocks outperforming. Energy recovered somewhat in the second half, but joined Telecommunication Services and Utilities as weaker sectors for the full year.

From an individual market perspective, Poland and China led the Index, the former boosted by local banks and other locally-driven names rallying, and the latter aided by dominant Chinese internet names rising sharply. Pakistan, newly part of the Index, and Qatar, under pressure from regional sanctions, declined.

Stock selection was the main driver of the Portfolio's outperformance in 2017, with sector allocation a secondary benefit. Stock selection within IT and Financials had the most significant positive impact. A diverse set of hardware and software names delivered strong returns in the former, while favouring private sector banks and insurers over the state-affiliated peers helped the latter. Stock selection within Industrials detracted, as did a slight overweight to Health Care and Consumer Staples, two sectors that lagged the Index this year but that we tend to favour longer term.

By country, holdings in China, Taiwan, and Korea had the largest positive impact on relative performance – with IT holdings across all three markets outperforming their peers, while holdings listed in UK – but related to the Middle East, Philippines and Turkey lagged – due to a few stock-specific headwinds.

Looking ahead, EM earnings expectations for 2018 were revised higher, led by names in the Asian region. Barring a geopolitical surprise, this could mean another year of outperformance for EM equities.

Within the Portfolio, we continue to favour a diverse set of IT names and a variety of consumer stocks at the expense of the cyclically driven Financials and commodity sectors. China remains our top underweight, while Korea is the leading overweight. Both these and our stock selection decisions reflect bottom-up opportunities rather than a top-down view.

Given the lower risk profile of this Portfolio relative to the benchmark, we were gratified to see our stock selection clearly rewarded as the Portfolio outpaced 2017's fast-rising market. We believe the Portfolio will continue to benefit from its bottom-up, high quality, domestically biased approach as we move forward.

NEUBERGER BERMAN US SMALL CAP FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class shares returned 15.20%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the Russell 2000 Index, returned 14.65%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance, and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The US stock market generated strong results during the reporting period. Investor demand was robust as global growth accelerated and corporate profits often exceeded expectations. In addition, investors had a positive view on the recently passed tax reform bill. The overall US stock market, as measured by the S&P 500 Index, gained 21.83% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2017. This represented the largest annual gain since 2013. Small-cap stocks underperformed the overall stock market over the year, as the Russell 2000 Index returned 14.65% during the year. There was a significant dispersion between small-cap growth and value stocks, as the as the Russell 2000 Growth and Value Indexes returned 22.17% and 7.84%, respectively, in 2017.

The Portfolio outperformed its benchmark during the reporting period, driven by both stock selection and sector allocation. From a stock selection perspective, the Portfolio's holdings in the Information Technology, Consumer Staples, and Energy sectors were the most beneficial for results. In contrast, holdings in the Health Care, Materials and Industrials sectors were the largest detractors from performance. From a sector allocation perspective, an overweight to Software was the most beneficial for returns. Elsewhere, having no exposure to real estate investment trusts ("REITs") contributed to performance. We do not typically own REITs, as they do not meet our investment criteria. On the downside, having no allocation to Biotechnology was the largest detractor from results. We do not typically own biotechnology companies as they do not meet our investment criteria given their speculative nature, a general lack of earnings and their need to access the capital markets. An overweight to the Consumer Staples sector was also a headwind for performance.

Global economic activity during 2017 ticked up and the recently passed tax legislation in the US is likely to add to this momentum. Strong economic conditions are finally beginning to exert upward pressure on labor rates, which, while long overdue and positive for consumption and economic growth, have led to early signs of inflation. Confirming these trends, interest rates have crept up at both the short and long ends of the yield curve. Investors will have to monitor these inflationary pressures closely, as they perhaps more than offset deflationary technological advancements and ample global capacity.

Investors recognise that smaller companies are a primary beneficiary of corporate tax reform given their domestic affiliation and relatively high tax rates. However, many investors have expressed this view by purchasing broad-based small cap indexes and exchange traded funds. This approach fails to recognise the large number of small-cap companies within those investment vehicles that are losing money and, therefore, will not benefit from tax reform. Nor does this approach recognise the negative impact many lower quality small-cap companies will experience in a rising interest rate environment. In our view, high quality, profitable companies with strong cash flows and balance sheets may be entering an environment where these attributes will become more highly valued by investors.

NEUBERGER BERMAN SHORT DURATION HIGH YIELD BOND FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class shares returned 3.64% (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance, and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The overall US high yield market generated strong results during the reporting period. The market was supported by overall solid fundamental results, improved corporate earnings and moderate defaults. In addition, investor demand was robust as they looked to generate incremental yield in the low interest rate environment. These positives overshadowed continued monetary tightening by the Federal Reserve ("Fed"), periods of risk aversion and several geopolitical events. All told, the ICE BofAML US High Yield Constrained Index (the Index) gained 7.48% in 2017. Within the Index, securities rated CCC and lower (relatively lower ratings) and securities rated BB (a higher rating) returned 10.26% and 7.28%, respectively.*

As was the case for the overall US high yield market, the Portfolio produced a positive absolute return during the reporting period. From a sector perspective, the largest contributors to absolute performance were in the health care, utilities and energy sectors. In contrast, the weakest contributors to the Portfolio's absolute performance were in the food & drug retail, aerospace & defense and restaurant sectors.

The Fed anticipates raising interest rates three more times in 2018, while continuing to let assets gradually run off its balance sheet. This suggests to us that financial conditions will grow progressively tighter over the course of the year. All in all we believe the Fed's measured approach to policy normalisation represents a constructive scenario for high yield bonds, which historically have performed well during rising-rate environments. Meanwhile, the mature business cycle appears to still have life in it. We anticipate the US economy to continue growing at a moderate rate in 2018, with inflation becoming more evident as the year progresses. However, in our opinion, a US recession, appears to be a viable possibility in 2019 or 2020. In the meantime, we believe defaults among non-investment grade issuers should remain below historical averages. Revenue and earnings growth have improved, while leverage appears to us to have plateaued. US corporate tax reform is anticipated to have a modest positive net impact on the cash flow for non-investment grade issuers, however more so for less levered, higher quality issuers. However, the non-investment grade credit markets could be impacted by potential changes in the regulatory environment, such as trade policy or changes to leveraged lending guidelines and their enforcement. In addition, we believe technological change and disruption continue to pose risk to certain industries. While the majority of US high yield new issuance has been focused on refinancing activity, aggressive issuance has increased within certain sectors of the non-investment grade credit markets. Finally, market technicals continue to be supportive for non-investment grade markets as increased supply has been supported by investor demand, particularly from outside the US.

* The performance of certain rated bonds within the Index, as noted above, represent issues that are rated Ba1/BB+ through Ba3/BB and CCC+/Caa1 or lower, based on an average of Moody's, S&P and Fitch, as calculated by ICE BofAML.

NEUBERGER BERMAN GLOBAL BOND FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 7.81%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any). Over the same period, the benchmark index, the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Index (USD Hedged), returned 7.39%.

Sovereign yields were mixed during the reporting period. After initially rising, longer term sovereign yields rallied in the US as inflation remained subdued and demand for yield outweighed the strong GDP growth and fiscal stimulus. The front end of the yield curve saw significant pressure in the fourth quarter as solid economic data prompted investors to anticipate continued US Federal Reserve ("Fed") rate hikes, causing the curve to flatten. While the Fed increased their target rate three times in 2017 as planned, the European Central Bank ("ECB") and Bank of Japan maintained accommodative monetary policies. That said, the ECB plans to reduce their asset purchase program beginning in 2018 due to strength in the eurozone and its underlying economies. The US dollar fell sharply in 2017 as debt ceiling risks continued in the US and emerging market countries exhibited solid growth.

Our core rates theme was a constructive view on US Treasuries versus countries with negative rate monetary policy, particularly core European markets, given the latter's improving fundamentals and stretched country spreads. This relative value trade was the primary driver of outperformance in rates, as spreads compressed. Our tactical overweight positioning in peripheral Europe was beneficial as spreads compressed following the outcome of the French election. Our allocation to Treasury Inflation-Protected Securities ("TIPS") also contributed to the strategy's performance as breakeven levels rose in the fourth quarter from expected fiscal stimulus. Conversely, our overweight positioning in Canadian government bonds detracted from performance as the Bank of Canada raised rates on the back of a robust job market and strong economic data.

Active currency generated a positive return for the year. Overweights in the Swedish krona and an underweight in the Australian dollar were the best performing positions, whilst underweights in the euro and the Swiss franc detracted from results. At the end of the period, our largest overweights were in the Norwegian krona and Japanese yen, while we maintained a short in the Swiss franc.

The credit strategy contributed to results during the year. The primary driver was the continued compression of credit spreads, as well as steady coupon returns. The largest contributors to performance were the corporate bonds of Nationwide, Next and Volkswagen. By sector, banking and telecommunications made the largest contributions to returns, while basic industry contributed the least to total returns.

Looking ahead, we believe spreads can compress even further, albeit to a lesser degree. We remain underweight duration overall for the Portfolio and the magnitude of this underweight increased during the year. In terms of yield curve positioning we maintain duration underweights in the front and long end of the curve with an overweight in the belly of the curve. In the credit space, we continue to find attractive opportunities in the primary new issue market. In euro and sterling credit we find attractive valuations in corporate hybrid bonds. In senior unsecured credit, we continue to see better value in US dollar-denominated bonds than in euros and sterling. With regard to currencies, we retain our core position of an underweight to the Swiss franc, as we believe it is overvalued, whereas we feel the Japanese yen and Norwegian krona are undervalued from a long-term fundamental perspective.

NEUBERGER BERMAN EMERGING MARKET DEBT - LOCAL CURRENCY FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class shares was 16.16%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the JP Morgan GBI-EM Global Diversified Index (GBI-EM GD) (the "Index"), returned 10.36% in USD terms. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The Index was driven by both local bonds and currency appreciation. Investor sentiment towards emerging markets remained upbeat in 2017 with the improving macro backdrop in the emerging world encouraging steady inflows into the asset class throughout the year, helped by a weaker US dollar and subdued trade war rhetoric from the US administration. A supportive commodity price environment was positive for emerging markets ("EM") as well. Eastern European countries were the best performers from an FX perspective with Polish Zloty, Hungarian Forint, Romanian Leu, Czech Koruna all seeing double digit gains vs. USD amidst robust economic data from the region and in sync with the Euro rally. Elsewhere in Central Eastern Europe Middle East & Africa ("CEEMEA"), South Africa was a strong performer, rallying at the end of the year as the election of Cyril Ramaphosa as ANC leader was well received by the market. Turkey was the main laggard in the region and the only Index country posting a small negative return as ongoing turmoil on the political and diplomatic side coupled with inflation rising to double-digit levels resulted in widening yields and a weakening Lira. Peru and Brazil were the best performers in Latin America ("LatAM"), driven by tighter bond yields on the back of sharply lower inflation and monetary easing. The Mexican peso saw a very strong recovery in the first half of the year though renewed concerns about NAFTA negotiations dampened sentiment later in the year. In Asia, performance was solid across the region, with Malaysia and Indonesia the best performers over the year.

The Portfolio outperformed the benchmark in 2017, with both FX and Rates positioning contributing to relative performance.

FX allocation added the most in CEEMEA, thanks to our longstanding overweight in Czech Koruna, our positioning in Turkish Lira and South African Rand throughout the year, and the longs in frontier African countries. FX contribution was also positive in LatAm, driven by the overweight Mexican Peso early in the year as the currency recovered from the sell-off post US election. The contribution from FX positioning in Asia was slightly negative though, as the underweight Korean won and Singapore dollar detracted early in the year whilst overweights in Indian rupee, Sri Lankan rupee contributed positively.

On the Rates side, the largest contribution was from positioning in LatAm, where duration overweights in Brazil, Colombia and Peru added most value. Also in CEEMEA rates positioning added value, with the payer position in Czech rates being the main contributor, followed by the duration overweight in Russia, while the overweight in Turkey detracted. In Asia, the off-benchmark position in Sri Lankan bonds added most value, while the positioning in India and Malaysia rates detracted.

As for Portfolio positioning, we have maintained a top down overweight EM FX risk position as we expect the combination of the improving EM macro backdrop, attractive valuations and positive technicals to favour EM currencies as we enter 2018. Among the main overweights are Czech koruna, Russian ruble, Malaysian ringgit, Sri Lankan rupee, and Colombian peso. In terms of Rates positioning, we have become more cautious recently, as we expect inflation pressures to rise in select EM countries where output gaps are closing, particularly in Asia and the Central and Eastern Europe region, with potentially additional pressure from developed market rates developments. As such we have been increasing our duration underweight in the Portfolio, particularly in Asia. We continue to see value in countries with high real yields and a moderate inflation outlook such as Brazil, Russia, Mexico and Indonesia.

In 2017 global economic activity surprised on the upside while inflation slowed, creating a "goldilocks" environment for EM debt and leading to a continuation of strong inflows. The simultaneous global growth recovery of 2017 provided a strong foundation for continued positive momentum, and we believe is likely to benefit EM currencies in the early part of 2018. While inflation is at historically low levels in several emerging countries, particularly in some of the higher yielding countries, output gaps are closing in parts of Asia and Eastern Europe and we anticipate pressures in those rates markets in the coming period. We have taken a more cautious overall local duration stance but with an overweight bias to high yielders where we continue to see attractive valuations, offsetting underweights in core(-like) markets.

NEUBERGER BERMAN EMERGING MARKET DEBT - HARD CURRENCY FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class shares was 14.02%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the JP Morgan EMBI Global Diversified Index, returned 10.26%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

2017 was a year of improving emerging market fundamentals, with robust global economic data, a weaker US dollar, stronger commodity prices, stronger domestic demand and policy improvements in a number of emerging markets. This supported strong steady inflows into the asset class throughout the year. Benchmark spreads came in from 342 basis points to 285 basis points while US Treasury yields ended the year slightly lower, and the index yield to maturity ended at 5.27% end-2017, from 5.80% end-2016. The 10.26% total return by the index was the highest annual return since 2012.

Lower rated, higher yielding countries performed best in this environment, and frontier countries outperformed the rest of the index. Among the best performing were Angola and Mongolia. Angola benefited from higher oil prices and improved macroeconomic policies since the August elections while Mongolia reached a funding agreement with the International Monetary Fund that will anchor fiscal reforms. Main underperformer was Venezuela, which in November due to declining FX reserves combined with US sanctions defaulted on bond interest payments and announced the intention to re-profile or restructure their external debt.

The Portfolio outperformed the benchmark driven mostly by country selection and instrument selection and to a lesser extent by top down positioning. In country selection overweight positions in Ukraine, Argentina and Ghana but also an underweight in low yielding countries like the Philippines were main contributors. Our underweights in Ecuador and Angola detracted. In security selection the Portfolio had euro-denominated exposure in a number of countries which outperformed USD bonds, notably in Argentina and Indonesia. Corporate bond holdings also contributed over the year. Detractors in instrument selection came from positions in Costa Rica and El Salvador.

In main Portfolio changes, we moved from underweight to overweight in Nigeria and Zambia as these commodity-producing countries started recovering from the 2014-6 oil price shock, and in Venezuela as bond prices dropped significantly and became more favourable in light of likely recovery values. We introduced/added to overweight positions in Croatia and Egypt where we saw continued fundamental improvements. We went from overweight to underweight in Dominican Republic, Kenya and Senegal as we considered valuations to have become expensive, and in Ecuador and Iraq, where we no longer see significant political and financing challenges compensated.

Global economic activity surprised on the upside in 2017 while inflation slowed, creating a "Goldilocks" environment for emerging markets debt and leading to a continuation of strong inflows. The simultaneous global growth recovery of 2017 provides a strong foundation for continued positive momentum in 2018. Reflation and an upward bias on global bond yields can pose a risk to the performance of EMD assets; however, the consolidation of the cyclical improvement in a large majority of emerging economies is likely to provide a buffer against external headwinds.

Issuance in hard currency has been trending higher and may create some technical headwinds, although in itself it is also a reflection of higher investor demand. Further, both gross, and net issuance are anticipated to be lower in 2018 than in 2017. As for valuations, we believe current spread levels on emerging market sovereigns are expensive in absolute terms but remain attractive on a relative basis to similar rated developed market bonds.

NEUBERGER BERMAN EMERGING MARKET CORPORATE DEBT FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 8.54%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the JPMorgan CEMBI Diversified Index (the "Index"), returned 7.89%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Investor sentiment towards emerging markets remained upbeat in 2017 with robust global economic data encouraging steady inflows into the asset class throughout the year, helped by a weaker US dollar and subdued trade war rhetoric from the US administration. US Treasury yields oscillated throughout the year ending 2017 slightly lower. Additionally, a supportive commodity price environment was positive for emerging markets across the spectrum. Corporates issued at record levels surpassing its previous peak as many issuers took advantage of the low yields and spreads to actively engage in asset/liability management combined with a record number of debt issuers. Defaults ended the year lower than expected and remained below the historical ten year average default rate. All sectors in the Index delivered positive returns over the period, with the commodity sectors reaching double digits. From a credit rating perspective, the high yield segment of the Index outperformed investment grade.

Amid this backdrop the Portfolio posted positive performance, and outperformed its benchmark net of fees over the reporting period. The drivers of performance included country allocation and spread duration positioning, where we held a long bias; security selection detracted. In country allocation, overweights in Argentina and Brazil added value reflecting the market's confidence in the improving fundamentals as their respective reform agendas were carried out throughout the year. The underweight exposure to Israel also resulted in a positive contribution as the large Israeli pharmaceutical company experienced pressures on its business leading to the company being downgraded in the fourth quarter. Meanwhile, the overweight exposure to Azerbaijan and underweight to Zambia, where the large mining company performed well, detracted from performance. Within security selection a handful of idiosyncratic events detracted from relative performance over the course of the year. In Colombia where the remaining equity position in Frontera Energy, obtained following the company's bond restructuring, dropped in price detracting some of the performance. In May our holding in a commodity trading company in Hong Kong posted results which were much weaker than expected and liquidity deteriorated rapidly, causing us concern about the viability of the entity. Accordingly, we liquidated our holdings in the company. Finally, holdings in the private banking sector in Russia suffered significant losses over the summer as concerns grew regarding their liquidity position, causing the bonds to fall significantly. Ultimately the government stepped in to stabilize the sector, however the entity failed to make the appropriate coupon payments and trades at distressed levels. This was partially offset by good performance in holdings in Indian metals & mining and financials, select property names in China, and a range of sectors in Mexico including metals & mining, real estate, and utilities.

Global economic activity surprised on the upside in 2017 while inflation slowed, creating a "Goldilocks" environment for emerging markets debt combined leading to a continuation of strong inflows. The simultaneous global growth recovery of 2017 provides a strong foundation for continued positive momentum in 2018. Reflation and an upward bias on global bond yields can pose a risk to the performance of emerging market debt assets; however, the consolidation of the cyclical improvement in a large majority of emerging economies is likely to provide a buffer against external headwinds.

As we enter 2018, we anticipate emerging markets corporate earnings to improve both top and bottom lines, especially in the metals and mining and oil and gas sectors where prices have stabilised and supply and demand dynamics are positive. In addition to the commodities segment, fundamentals should improve broadly across non-commodity segments as companies benefit from higher external demand as well as improving domestic demand combined with a lack of systematic issues implying another year of low defaults. Investor appetite for the asset class remains strong and we expect inflows into the asset class to continue. While gross financing should remain elevated, we believe net financing is likely to be modest as companies are expected to continue engaging in asset liability management exercises.

The robust macro and technical backdrop and improved earnings going forward suggest that spreads are expected to tighten modestly during the year in a "goldilocks" scenario where developed markets and emerging markets growth gain momentum.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the year ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 6.69%. Over the same period, the benchmark, the Bloomberg Barclays US Aggregate index, returned 3.54%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The Portfolio's allocation to non-agency mortgage backed securities ("MBS") was the largest contributor followed by our allocation to high yield and emerging markets debt. The Portfolio's underweight positioning in investment grade credit was the primary detractor for the trailing one year period, although industry positioning and security selection within industrials and financials were positive sources of performance which more than offset the negative impact of the underweight. In addition, our underweight position in agency MBS modestly detracted for the one year period.

Non-agency MBS was a strong driver of performance for the Portfolio as deleveraging consumers, solid housing prices and attractive supply-demand dynamics drove performance for these securities. High yield spreads tightened by about 63 bps over the past one year and were a strong contributor to the Portfolio. The Portfolio's allocation to emerging markets sector was another contributor to performance as hard currency spreads tightened approximately 56 bps over the year as the sector had a strong recovery in 2017 on the back of robust investor demand.

Over the past twelve months, we made adjustments to overall Portfolio duration positioning, both at the Portfolio level as well as within global sovereigns, and we have reduced the Portfolio's duration by about a year. We remain underweight duration relative to benchmark. Yield curve positioning marginally detracted for the trailing one year period as the Portfolio was positioned for yield curve steepening while the curve flattened.

NEUBERGER BERMAN GLOBAL BOND ABSOLUTE RETURN FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the year ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 5.01%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

For the year, the Portfolio's allocation to securitised products was the largest contributor to performance, followed by investment grade credit and short duration exposure in the US. Throughout the year the non-agency residential mortgage-backed securities ("RMBS") market re-priced higher, supported by favourable technical factors and continued demand for the asset class; scarcity value in the asset class remains a positive technical factor due to a lack of new issuance. During the year we added to our weighting in credit risk transfers, which also had a positive run and contributed to performance as the bonds benefitted from sustained prepayments and low delinquency. Investment grade credit continued to benefit from a positive technical backdrop with robust demand from investors around the globe. The US Treasury yield curve flattened to levels not seen in a decade with the 2-year yield rising 69 basis points to 1.89%, the 10-year yield remaining relatively unchanged at 2.40% and the 30-year yield dropping 32 basis points to 2.74%.

The Portfolio's short position in Core Europe was the primary detractor for the year, followed by short exposure in Pan-European high yield credit and a long position in Australian rates. Over the past twelve months, we reduced exposure to investment grade and high yield credit, and we increased exposure to inflation-linked bonds.

NEUBERGER BERMAN SHORT DURATION EMERGING MARKET DEBT FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the year ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class shares was 4.36%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

2017 was a year of improving emerging market fundamentals, with robust global economic data, a weaker US dollar, stronger commodity prices, stronger domestic demand and policy improvements in a number of emerging markets ("EM"). This supported steady inflows into the asset class throughout the year. EM bonds with short durations benefited from tightening spreads during the year across both sovereigns and corporates. This was partly offset by wider short end US Treasury yields amidst a flattening US yield curve in 2017. The lower net yields prompted many corporates to buy back short end bonds and issue longer bonds at attractive yields levels.

Most of the countries in which the Portfolio invested delivered positive returns in 2017. Latin American countries contributed the most, led by corporate and quasi-sovereign bond positions in Brazil. In Mexico, Portfolio exposure to floating rate bonds from the state oil company added most value, whilst in Argentina the Portfolio benefited from positions in both sovereign and corporate bonds. Portfolio positioning in Asia also contributed positively, driven by exposures in China, and by holdings in the metals & mining sector in India. In Central and Eastern Europe, the Middle East and Africa ("CEEMEA") region we saw a positive contribution from positions in Turkey, Kazakhstan, South Africa and Qatar. Meanwhile, the key detractors to Portfolio's performance in 2017 were certain exposures in the Russian private banking sector as concerns grew about their liquidity position, and a holding in a commodity trading company in Hong Kong which suffered after it posted results which were much weaker than expected.

As for Portfolio positioning, the Portfolio is broadly diversified across EM regions at present. Within CEEMEA, Turkey is the largest exposure, as we see attractive spread levels in the short end of the curve of different sovereigns and corporates more than compensating for the political and economic risks, followed by Qatar and Kazakhstan. China remains the largest Asian exposure, consisting mainly of different large high grade quasi-sovereigns and several corporate bonds, followed by India where we remain constructive on the mining sector in particular which benefits from a deleveraging trend, favourable demand/supply dynamics and supportive technicals. In Latin America, Brazil is the largest holding, where we see improving fundamentals and attractive spread levels across several corporate names in the commodity space and the consumer sectors, and also hold some quasi-sovereign exposures.

In 2017 global economic activity surprised on the upside while inflation slowed, creating a "Goldilocks" environment for emerging markets debt ("EMD") and leading to a continuation of strong inflows. We believe the simultaneous global growth recovery of 2017 provides a strong foundation for continued positive momentum in 2018. Reflation and an upward bias on global bond yields can pose a risk to the performance of EMD assets, however, in our opinion, the consolidation of the cyclical improvement in a large majority of emerging economies is likely to provide a buffer against external headwinds.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 3.37%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any). Gains from the allocations to long/short equity, credit and merger arbitrage/event driven strategies outpaced losses from global macro/managed futures.

Major equity markets indices rallied strongly throughout the year, with emerging markets, as measured by the MSCI Emerging Markets Index, generally outperforming developed markets. Treasury yields remained relatively range bound, buoyed by US Federal Reserve (the "Fed") interest rate hikes but offset by a lack of meaningful inflation and lower rates abroad. The US dollar materially weakened in 2017, most notably versus the yen and euro. Energy prices were mixed as oil prices rallied in the second half of the year, while natural gas prices declined.

The long/short equity allocation was the largest positive contributor for the period. Gains from longs outpaced losses from shorts and the managers in aggregate generated positive long/short spread (i.e., on average, longs were up more than shorts in a rallying market). From a sector perspective, gains from Information Technology, Consumer Discretionary and Industrials outpaced losses from equity index hedges, energy and real estate.

The allocation to credit strategies was the second largest positive contributor. Gains from the asset-backed securities strategy were spread across sectors led by CLO debt and commercial mortgage-backed securities. In the corporate credit long/short strategy, gains from longs in bank loans and bonds outpaced losses from shorts and hedges.

Gains from the allocation to merger arbitrage/event driven strategies were driven primarily by spread tightening for a number of deals that successfully closed in 2017, offsetting smaller losses from a deal break that, in hindsight, we believe was sized appropriately in the Portfolio.

The global macro/managed futures allocation was a detractor for the year. The global macro strategy was responsible for the bulk of losses driven primarily by long positioning in the US dollar versus the euro and yen. The managed futures strategy was a slight detractor as gains from equities were outweighed by losses from currencies and interest rates.

Continued economic growth and now fiscal stimulus in the US leads us to believe that the Fed will continue with interest rate hikes throughout 2018. As it pertains to the 10-year Treasury yield, however, we believe the rate hikes will be at least partially marginalised by lower rates in Europe and continued easing there. We therefore continue to position the Portfolio to perform in line with expectations if US 10 Year-Treasury yields are mostly unchanged, with the potential for greater upside if yields rise more dramatically. The Portfolio's largest allocation continues to be credit strategies split between corporate credit long/short and asset-backed securities with a focus on low duration long positions in floating rate debt and short positions in longer duration fixed rate bonds. Long/short equity is the second largest strategy allocation and it continues to benefit from lower correlations between stocks. We think this trend of high dispersion between stocks has the potential to persist as the effects of recent tax reform and higher interest rates are priced in differently to various companies' valuations. We have continued to trim the allocation to merger arbitrage/event driven strategies as spreads have been relatively less attractive. Finally, we maintained the global macro/managed futures allocation as we believe that rising rates have the potential to push volatility higher and that has historically been a tailwind for these strategies.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class shares was 12.55%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The US stock market generated strong results during the reporting period. Investor demand was robust as global growth accelerated and corporate profits often exceeded expectations. In addition, investors had a positive view on the recently passed tax reform bill. The overall US stock market, as measured by the S&P 500 Index, gained 21.83% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2017. This represented the largest annual gain since 2013.

We categorise the Portfolio's investments on the long side into three buckets: Capital Growth, Total Return and Opportunistic. Capital Growth investments demonstrate attractive industry fundamentals, strong competitive positions, growing revenues, and attractive re-investment opportunities. Total Return investments demonstrate sustainable and/or growing streams of income that are underpinned by asset value and which can result in growing cash returns to shareholders (e.g., increased dividends, share repurchases, return of capital). The Total Return bucket also includes fixed income holdings, which today consist mainly of high yield securities. Opportunistic investments are those with identifiable catalysts. This bucket may include companies with management changes, company reorganisations, merger and acquisition activity, "hidden assets", or other market dislocations that have the potential to unlock intrinsic value*.

During the reporting period, exposure to Opportunistic increased, while the Capital Growth and Total Return buckets decreased (as a percentage of total long exposure). The short exposure within the Portfolio is broken down between Fundamental shorts and Market shorts. In more favorable macroeconomic environments, we typically have a larger exposure to Market shorts versus Fundamental shorts to manage market risk. Over the course of the reporting period, our Fundamental shorts represented approximately 30-40% of short exposure (as a percentage of total short exposure).

For the reporting period, equity longs contributed to returns, driven by security selection in the Consumer Discretionary, Utilities and Real Estate sectors. On the long side, the Capital Growth, Total Return (includes fixed income) and Opportunistic buckets were all positive for returns. In contrast, individual security selection and market shorts detracted from results from an overall contribution perspective.

We enter 2018 with a fairly constructive, albeit increasingly selective, outlook for risk assets, driven by solid global economic growth, lower corporate tax rates, repatriation of foreign earnings and the continued emergence of a more pro-business environment in the US. As we look towards 2018, the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act will act as a tailwind towards an already strong economic backdrop. While the devil will be in the details, this tax plan will allow US companies to compete more evenly on a global scale as capital and labor move to places where they can earn the best return. It also allows US companies to fully expense capital investments in the year the investment is made, providing a significant added tax benefit to those who purchase assets, thus incentivising US companies to invest domestically. Importantly, we believe these policies will have divergent effects on individual companies within various sectors and subsectors of the market, but should provide a further stimulus to growth and earnings in aggregate. As company executives evaluate the implications of the new corporate tax plan, there will be winners and losers. Thus we believe company specific details will matter a great deal in 2018 and beyond.

* Intrinsic value reflects the Portfolio management team's analysis and estimates of a company's value. There is no guarantee that any intrinsic values will be realised; security prices may decrease regardless of intrinsic values.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 14.23%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the weighted average of 25% JP Morgan Emerging Markets Bond Index Global Diversified ("EMBIGD"), 25% of JP Morgan Corporate Emerging Markets Bond Index Diversified ("CEMBID") and 50% of JP Morgan GBI EM Global Diversified Index ("GBIEM"), returned 12.14%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Investor sentiment towards emerging markets remained upbeat in 2017 with the improving macro backdrop in the emerging world encouraging steady inflows into the asset class throughout the year, helped by a weaker US dollar and subdued trade war rhetoric from the US administration. A supportive commodity price environment was positive for emerging markets as well.

The EMBIGD index returned 10.26% in for the 12 months ended 2017. Among the best performing countries were Angola and Mongolia. Angola benefited from higher oil prices and improved macroeconomic policies since the August elections while Mongolia reached a funding agreement with the International Monetary Fund that will anchor fiscal reforms. Main underperformer was Venezuela, which in November due to declining FX reserves combined with US sanctions defaulted on bond interest payments and announced the intention to re-profile or restructure their external debt.

The GBIEM 15.21% in USD terms over the full year 2017, driven by both local bonds and currency appreciation. Eastern European countries were the best performers from an FX perspective posting gains against the US dollar amid robust economic data from the region and in sync with the euro rally. Peru and Brazil were the best performers in Latin America, driven by tighter bond yields on the back of sharply lower inflation and monetary easing. In Asia, performance was solid across the region, with Malaysia and Indonesia the best performers over the year. Turkey was the only GBIEM country posting a small negative return as ongoing turmoil on the political and diplomatic side coupled with inflation rising to double-digit levels resulted in widening yields and a weakening lira.

Corporates lagged the other segments of the asset class but posted a positive return of 7.89% for the year. Corporates issued at record levels surpassing its previous peak as many issuers took advantage of the low yields and spreads to actively engage in asset/liability management. Defaults remained low compared to previous years. All sectors in the CEMBIGD delivered positive returns over the period, with the commodity sectors reaching double digits. From a credit rating perspective, the high yield segment of the CEMBIGD outperformed investment grade.

The largest contributors to relative Portfolio returns within hard currency sovereigns have been overweights in Argentina, Ghana, and Ukraine plus euro-denominated exposure in a number of countries which outperformed USD bonds, notably in Argentina and Indonesia. In local markets, Czech currency and rates positioning added the most, followed by overweights in Mexico, Brazil and Sri Lanka. Exposure to Argentinean corporates was also beneficial over the year. The largest detractors were the underweight in Ecuador in hard currency markets and the short South Korean won position in local markets. On the corporates side, security selection in Russian financials was the main detractor. The contribution from tactical asset allocation was positive over the course of the year, mainly due to the overweight to local currency which outperformed hard currency sovereigns and corporates as well as the tactical underweight US Treasury duration.

Global economic activity surprised on the upside in 2017 while inflation slowed, creating a "goldilocks" environment for emerging markets debt and leading to a continuation of strong inflows. The simultaneous global growth recovery of 2017 provides a strong foundation for continued positive momentum in 2018. Reflation and an upward bias on global bond yields can pose a risk to the performance of EMD assets; however, the consolidation of the cyclical improvement in a large majority of emerging economies is likely to provide a buffer against external headwinds. As for valuations, we see the best opportunities in local currency debt in early 2018, whilst we believe corporate spreads are relatively tight in aggregate.

NEUBERGER BERMAN EUROPEAN HIGH YIELD BOND FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the year ending 31 December 2017, the total return of the EUR I Accumulating Class was 6.09%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the ICE BofAML European Currency Non-Financial High Yield 3% Constrained Index hedged in EUR (the "Index"), returned 6.16%. (Performance data quoted represents past performance and does not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The first half of 2017 was relatively stable with spreads contracting roughly 75bps following the general global rally in risk assets. While German 10-year bond yields increased from approximately 20bps to 45bps in the first half of the year, the European high yield market was able to absorb this move as rising rates were countered by improving credit fundamentals as a result of continued economic growth.

The second half of 2017 was stable overall but a story of two quarters. In the third quarter, the market saw spreads tighten by close to forty plus basis points, and then retreating by mid-November. This was a trend that was experienced across the global high yield market and not just contained to Europe. November saw a number of hard data releases that were not well received by investors, and saw outflows from all investor channels.

The Portfolio underperformed its Index on a net of fee basis year-to-date. From a sector perspective, the primary contributors to relative performance were security selection decisions within Food & Drug retailers, notably Casino Guichard, the French supermarket chain. Elsewhere, avoiding credit deterioration in New Look (retail) added to performance. Conversely selection decisions within Media-Cable detracted. Altice, the global cable name made the headlines on numerous occasions in the fourth quarter due to management changes and a softening outlook, detracted from performance.

Looking ahead, we anticipate spreads to remain stable due to continued economic growth, and have a total return outlook of 3-5%.

We remain focused on fundamental credit selection and see opportunity for outperformance through the avoidance of negative credit events. As we remain positive on the health of corporate issuers in our benchmark, we will continue to selectively add credit risk where appropriate, all the while being mindful of our current positioning in the credit cycle.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was 24.72%. Over the same period, the benchmark MSCI All Country World Index (Net), returned 23.97%. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Developed markets enjoyed strong returns during 2017, as Eurozone economic growth continued to improve, Brexit negotiations progressed, and European election-related uncertainty decreased. Although the US underperformed in relative terms, healthy corporate earnings and slow but steady economic growth drove strong returns there as well. Emerging Markets posted the strongest results, with returns benefiting on both growth and policy factors.

Information Technology, Materials, and Industrials advanced most within a market in which all sectors reported positive results. Weaker areas included Energy, Telecoms and Utilities. By country, Austria, Poland, and China strongly outperformed. Pakistan and Qatar (both of which lost value), and Israel were weakest.

Both stock selection and sector allocation drove the Portfolio's outperformance for the year, with Information Technology and Consumer Discretionary holdings providing a majority of the benefit. The Portfolio's Materials and Health Care holdings lagged the Index. By country, holdings from the US, China and UK added most value, while French and Canadian holdings, and a zero weighting to the strong Korean market detracted.

Looking ahead, a tax revamp has raised US GDP and earnings expectations, but it may also generate wage inflation, keeping margins from expanding further there. In Europe, the economic recovery has finally broadened, with almost all countries showing an acceleration over the past 18 months. With relatively low capacity utilisation, and euro zone unemployment at 8.8%, versus 4.1% in the US, we believe European corporations have an advantage, with less cost and wage pressure. These factors could also delay interest rate hikes by the ECB or Bank of Japan.

Given structural challenges, prospects seem less appealing in Japan, although Japan stands to benefit more than most should global trade remain robust. Of course, both global and local geopolitical risks, such as the Brexit, remain.

We continue to look for opportunities across countries, sectors, and the market cap spectrum with limited exposure to the economic or political cycle. Given higher overall valuations, we need to retain discipline around the prices we are paying for stocks. However, we continue to seek companies with attractive secular growth drivers, stable demand and profit profiles, and proven management teams that appear underappreciated and, that we believe, offer investors attractive risk/return characteristics.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was 21.75%. Over the same period, the benchmark MSCI All Country World Index (Net), returned 23.97%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Global equity markets rallied in 2017, as synchronised economic global growth led to another consecutive year of gains. Risk assets surged during the year while shrugging off the remarkably low volatility environment, unsettlingly high equity valuations, numerous natural disasters and ongoing geopolitical risks around the world. All regions posted impressive double digit returns, led by the emerging markets, which were boosted by a weaker US dollar, improving company fundamentals and an expansion of trade and manufacturing. Developed markets posted broad gains, with non-US developed countries outperforming the US. In Europe, positive economic data, strong corporate earnings, accommodative monetary policy and recovering euro all contributed to stellar performance. Japanese equities propelled forward due to encouraging corporate growth, domestic demand and positive sentiment following Prime Minister Abe's election victory in October. US stocks were at record highs in 2017, with positive returns in every month of the year. The passing of US tax reform legislation was an important milestone for the Trump administration and contributed to elevated business confidence as the year came to a close.

Within the Portfolio, all sectors and regions contributed positively to the Portfolio's total returns, led by US and Europe ex-UK exposures, as well as positions in the Information Technology ("IT") and Financials sectors. In terms of factors, momentum outperformed relative to the market cap index, while value and quality trailed. The slight underperformance relative to the benchmark was due to weak stock selection in the US, which offset relative gains from stock selection in non-US economies. From a sector perspective, the Portfolio's underperformance was largely due to stock selection in the IT sector.

The global macroeconomic environment was very encouraging in 2017. However, amidst rich valuations and increasing tail risks, global markets became increasingly vulnerable to short-term shocks and unmet expectations. For now, we will continue to monitor progress with US legislation, while remaining cognizant of the pace of central bank policy and heightened geopolitical tensions. For 2018, we remain constructive on global equity markets as we believe the global economy is likely to strengthen further. As always, we believe diversification remains a key consideration for investors as they manage uncertainties facing their portfolios. Within the context of global equity, we believe our multi-factor approach is a useful framework to provide multiple checkpoints of a stock's potential for future returns.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class shares was 13.34%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the FTSE EPRA/NAREIT Developed Real Estate Index USD TR (gross of fees, net of tax), returned 10.44%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The global stock market generated strong results during the reporting period. Investor demand was robust as global growth accelerated and corporate profits often exceeded expectations. All told, the global stock market, as measured by the MSCI AC World Index (Net), returned 23.97% during the 12 months ended 31 December 2017. In contrast, the FTSE EPRA/NAREIT Developed Real Estate Index USD TR (gross of fees, net of tax), returned 11.42%.

The Portfolio generated a positive return and outperformed its benchmark index during the reporting period. Stock selection contributed to relative results during the period, whereas country allocation was a drag on performance. From a stock selection perspective, holdings in the Specialty, Hotel & Lodging and Industrial & Office sectors were the most beneficial for results. In contrast, the Portfolio's holdings in the Real Estate Holding & Development, Retail and Real Estate Services sectors were the largest detractors from performance. In terms of country positioning, underweights to Singapore, Austria and the UK were the largest detractors from performance. On the upside, overweights to Spain and Germany were the largest contributors to results.

We anticipate seeing solid economic growth for the US in 2018. We believe the Federal Reserve will likely take a measured approach in terms of further rate hikes. The tax cuts signed into law in December 2017 will likely positively impact corporate profitability, while also increasing disposable income for most consumers. We continue to focus on companies with secular demand drivers that result in above average cash flow and dividend growth. Overseas, we believe there will be a positive economic environment for most of Europe in 2018. In our view, continued growth in assets under management on the direct property side will put pressure on investors to deploy capital. However, the prospect of higher long-term interest rates may start to pose a challenge to pricing. Among the Asia-Pacific markets, the solid labor market and stronger return of inflation appears to bolster the case for Japan real estate stocks in 2018, especially with loose monetary policy and greater focus on shareholder returns. Hong Kong is anticipated to remain resilient as China's deleveraging looks gradual and US rate hikes are well telegraphed. The fundamental outlook for Australia and Singapore is also solid, although valuations appear to us to be on the high side.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the year ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was 17.21%. Over the same period, the Russell 2000 Value Index gained 7.84%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance, and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

2017 was a year of robust equity returns for most all investors. We believe it's quite possible to envision 2018 as a year that will be marked by both continued appreciation (if global economic momentum continues) and episodic corrections that can quickly and significantly reduce returns (when valuation and the reality of earnings collide). We got a small dose of this in November when the Portfolio and the small cap market sold off six percent on not a lot more than profit taking and a handful of less than stellar earnings reports.

In the current environment, enhancing the risk-reward characteristics of our portfolio is almost all we think about. For the last three years we have been actively renewing our portfolio with that objective in mind. We also increased our exposure to consumer and health care companies while gradually rebalancing our more cyclical technology and producer durable investments. In aggregate since 2015 we refreshed one-third of the portfolio, the net impact is a tad lower (27 percent) as some investments were either acquired or quickly recovered to our estimate of intrinsic value*.

While a rising market makes it harder to discern progress on the risk reward profile, examining the Portfolio with greater focus suggests to us some very attractive opportunities for 2018. As attractively priced as these companies may seem, we believe that markets require momentum and positive surprise before valuations improve. What many of these investments have in common is either a lack of catalysts to unlock value or a market sentiment that positive surprise is unlikely. If there is evidence that fundamentals are improving faster than expectations, or catalysts emerge, the value gap should narrow.

A significant portion of 2017's return came from momentum and positive surprise, not value. We exited or reduced our weightings in several of these stocks, but maintained investments in many of the higher quality companies. We closely monitor the business performance of companies that fall into this camp for any signs of weakness. Comparing current 2017 earnings estimates for this group to what analysts thought in 2015 illustrates how companies can significantly exceed expectations. We have seen this play out in our portfolio before and have come around to accepting that out of favour companies can turn into higher return, more highly-valued companies materially beyond what we may have initially estimated.

We have recently engaged with three of our largest, most attractively valued positions. It is worth noting that all three of these companies participate in growing sectors, from voice recognition to internet infrastructure and cyber security. You will see this undervalued growth play in other parts of the Portfolio such as the health care and consumer sectors. We have investments in a private label food supplier and an organic foods manufacturer. In the medical space we continue to see opportunities to invest in companies that benefit from an aging population via more medical procedures and expanded coverage. We believe additional research and development spending in the life science and medical research area will also benefit a number of portfolio companies.

Taken together we believe the Portfolio is an attractive mix of growth and value opportunities, well positioned to benefit from important secular trends. The shorter term concern we have is that sentiment towards equities has shifted from fear to greed. There are many indicators both mainstream and anecdotal that suggest some conservatism is now warranted. We anticipate 2018 to be a roller coaster year. Expectations have increased so we believe disappointments, either broadly or company specific, will probably result in swift corrections.

Against the backdrop of improving economic conditions and buoyant equity prices we are doing our best to evolve as value investors. We thank you for your investment in our strategy and look forward to reporting our future results.

* Intrinsic value reflects the Portfolio management team's analysis and estimates of a company's value. There is no guarantee that any intrinsic values will be realised; security prices may decrease regardless of intrinsic values.

NEUBERGER BERMAN GLOBAL CREDIT LONG SHORT FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the year ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I (PF) Accumulating Class was 3.87% and outperformed the Bloomberg Barclays US Aggregate Bond Index which returned 3.54%, while underperforming the HFRX Fixed Income - Credit Index and the ICE BofAML US High Yield Index, which returned 3.87% and 7.48%, respectively. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any. Please note that each of the above indices are used as a reference index and are not the official benchmarks of the Portfolio).

This past year was a "boring" one for corporate credit characterised by low volatility, continued investor appetite for yield as well as a stable interest rate backdrop. Investor sentiment remained buoyant, underpinned we believe by the continued strong performance of equities. Over the course of the year spreads ground tighter and investors continued to add capital to all categories of fixed income except surprisingly US High Yield, which experienced net outflows.

Despite some geopolitical noise, risk assets rallied constantly and there was little desire to seek safety in G3 government bonds. For the first time since the great financial crisis, we witnessed a year of synchronised global growth. This helped support earnings and cash flows and allowed companies to access the market freely. The new issue calendar in credit worked seamlessly in Investment Grade, High Yield and Emerging Markets. Coupled with inflows on the back of investor demands for yield, the technical backdrop for global credit was good. On the fundamental side, leverage remained stable and defaults for US HY were once again below 3%. In summary a year where for the most part credit performed well and returns exceeded expectations in that they were above coupon returns.

Our best performing profitable areas of the Portfolio were Financials, Emerging Markets and Technology, Media and Telecommunications. Macro and rates hedges also contributed positively. Our detractors on the short side, in Healthcare and Consumer sectors, while small were the largest detractors from performance. On the directional short side, we had limited success. We generally positioned on the short side in relative value and capital structure arbitrage trades. The returns for the year, were generated with almost no spread or rate exposure and for the most part by a portfolio that was barely levered in 2017.

The storm clouds in rates and credit had however begun to gather by the fourth quarter of the year. The US Federal Reserve raised rates 3 times over the course of the year and the European Central Bank began to lay the ground for what will be a very gradual retreat from an unprecedented level of policy intervention. Rates in the US began to rise in the front end of the curve and Bunds seemed to be finally moving higher. The long end in the US remained anchored by a combination of foreign buying, and low inflation expectations. The passage of tax reform in the US as well as an uptick in growth globally, added momentum to the increase in rates. Economic assessments are improving globally as witnessed by the data. Earnings and wages in the US have begun to rise, albeit within expectations. Commodity prices, oil in particular all support a world that is growing. Hand in hand, Earnings globally are also increasing, and continue to look to do so. This should underpin risk and equity sentiment. Credit and rates however are not equities. Some growth is good; a lot of growth is not as rates will begin to react to a potential increase in inflation expectations.

We should emphasize that we are not forecasting a meltdown in either the rates or credit markets. We believe that credit is likely to be a good place to be, but that full market cycle exposure and long duration risk may have very damaging consequences on investor portfolios. Many Fixed Income investors have already given up on the idea that rates will rise meaningfully or that spreads will widen. While that may certainly seem likely, we believe that investors should be taking a more defensive and flexible approach to investing in credit. We are much more concerned with a pick-up in volatility in credit and rates. We believe investors are unprepared for this. The opportunity cost of being prudently positioned in a long short strategy such as ours, has not in our view been lower for a long time.

We have a fundamental approach to credit. We run a concentrated portfolio of fewer than 100 positions (both longs and shorts). Our philosophy is to pick credits that are defensive in nature, that give investors the yield of the market without the full exposure. The combination of our short positions within the portfolio, comprising relative value and cap structure trades, and our macro positioning; is designed to protect investors from the full effects of a sell-off in credit and rates. Our objective is to capture much of the upside of credit, limit the downside and to not take significant directional credit spread or rate risk.

We are not averse to taking risks; however, we believe this is a good risk taking environment in Fixed Income, provided one is not tied to the anchors of indexing, duration and full cycle exposure. Our long positions are comprised mainly in defensive short duration bonds. We have elected to take "growth" exposure in Emerging Market Sovereigns and Corporate Bonds. In Commodities, we continue to believe that there are some parts of the market that are being ignored, providing opportunity. Perhaps the best long idea that we can find is in some of the technology, media and telecommunications sectors that have been aggressively sold down. On the short side we continue to build relative value trades in some steel names, healthcare and telecom. Furthermore we intend to remain short rates in both the US and Europe to hedge out our rate risk.

Most importantly we have the benefit of not having to remain strapped to the mast of our positions. If the environment changes, so can we. This approach, we believe, is a powerful investment tool in an environment as dynamic as this one is. We believe that this may be a great time for our approach to investing in credit and are excited about what we believe can be accomplished.

NEUBERGER BERMAN ASIAN DEBT – HARD CURRENCY FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the year ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 7.58%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the JP Morgan Asia Credit Index ("JACI") returned 5.78%. Asian credit benchmark spreads tightened 15 basis points over the year with total return further driven by lower US Treasury yields. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

2017 saw continued strength in Asian USD bonds after a decent 2016 performance. Positive external factors, in the form of synchronised global growth and low inflation, supported global risk sentiment through most of the year. The year also witnessed the concerns over China easing as economic data continued to surprise to the upside. Corporate and bank fundamentals also improved, supported by a strong recovery in corporate profitability, positive reform momentum and capex discipline. 2017 was a record year in terms of Asian USD bond supply, with Chinese issuers continuing to drive the primary market. However, the heavy supply was balanced out by strong inflows into the asset class from both Asian investors as well as investors from outside the region.

From a country perspective, the biggest contributors to outperformance were the Portfolio's positions in Indonesia, India and Sri Lanka. Within the sovereign space, the strongest contribution came from our Sri Lanka positions, where we maintained an overweight position on the USD bonds as well as an off-benchmark exposure to local rupee denominated bonds, both of which performed well as Sri Lanka met most of the targets under the International Monetary Fund ("IMF") programme. Relative value positioning within Indonesia sovereign space added to performance as well. On the other hand, our underweight position in Malaysia detracted from performance as Malaysian bonds outperformed on the normalisation of the macroeconomic and political conditions in the country. In the corporate space our sector outperformance was led by our overweight exposure to the metals & mining sector, aided by the positive momentum in commodity prices. We also benefited from our overweight positions in the property, technology, media and telecommunications ("TMT") and consumer sectors as robust household demand exceeded market expectations. Meanwhile, our positioning in industrials contributed negatively, largely due to our exposure to a commodity trading company that saw earnings and liquidity deteriorate more rapidly than expected.

Going forward, we maintain our constructive outlook on Asian credits. Sovereign macroeconomic fundamentals remain stable and provide a supportive backdrop for Asian bonds. In the sovereign space, we believe markets with reform momentum, like Indonesia and India, to fare relatively well. We also anticipate IMF support to help Sri Lanka and Mongolia outperform over the year. Geopolitics, especially in the Korean peninsula, and elections (Malaysia, Pakistan and Thailand) will be the risks to be monitored in the region for the year. Externally, we anticipate higher global rates to a risk to credit markets. We also remain optimistic on the sustainability of the upturn in corporate profitability because, unlike in previous profit cycles, there has been better inventory and capex discipline. Asian banks, working toward tighter regulatory compliance, have improved their capital position and transparency. This has alleviated growth and stability related risk overhangs for the Asian banking system.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the year ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the CNY I Accumulating Class was -0.92%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, JP Morgan JADE Broad – Asia Diversified Broad China Index returned -0.89%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The onshore China fixed income markets remained on a weak footing throughout 2017. The year witnessed an increased focus of authorities on tackling financial system risks and broader leverage concerns. The robust growth numbers allowed the policymakers to step up regulatory tightening, resulting in a spate of measures which dampened the broader bond market sentiment. Even though the system liquidity was maintained at an adequate level, the hike in open market operation rates, clampdown on off-balance sheet activities of banks and the general deleveraging pressure in the system kept the financial conditions on the tighter side. The 10-year China Government Bond yield rose by around 85bps over the year to end at 3.90%. However, the performance of policy bank bonds and credit bonds was far worse, as these bonds were generally owned by those facing greater regulatory pressure, such as trading books and asset managers. The spread of 10-year policy bank bonds over the China government bonds widened by more than 50bps over the year.

The Portfolio performed in-line with its benchmark on a net basis over the reporting period, while outperforming on a gross basis. The underweight duration positioning and the opportunistic off-benchmark exposures to offshore China credit bonds contributed positively to performance. This was partially offset by lower carry earned by the Portfolio vis-a-vis the benchmark, given the underweight positioning for most of the year.

Looking ahead, we see continued caution on onshore China bonds over the first half of 2018. We anticipate the recent trend of regulatory tightening to continue, and brace ourselves for more regulations to be announced that can keep the onshore bond sentiment weak. That said, the valuations are starting to appear attractive, especially on the front-end to belly of the curve. Policy bank bonds have also cheapened considerably, and any signs of weaker than expected growth or relaxation in the pace of regulatory tightening can lead to sharp rally. At this moment, we prefer holding relatively short tenor bonds, but will likely look to extend duration in the latter half of the year.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was 8.87%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Global equity markets ended the year near all-time highs amid solid corporate earnings and accelerating economic growth. Global economic growth continued to be robust and broad-based, driven by industrial activity and investment. Performance in December helped global equity markets achieve their best annual performance since the post financial crisis recovery. As a result, equity markets displayed a remarkable run in an environment of unusually low volatility, with several major indices, including the S&P 500 and the MSCI All Country World Index, closing the year with positive returns in every month of the year.

Investment grade credit spreads tightened four basis points in December, closing out 2017 at levels last seen just before the global financial crisis. Demand for corporate credit continues to be bolstered by improving credit metrics and expected benefits from tax reform.

The currency markets had been dominated by three themes: US dollar weakness, Eurozone strength and strong global growth with low inflation. These themes, alongside idiosyncratic stories namely the New Zealand elections, explained most of the currency performance for the year. The US dollar was down against all the other major currencies for the year, and weakened 15.4% against the euro. The high beta currencies to the Eurozone such as the Swedish krone and Norwegian krona were also among the better performing currencies: although both were down on a trade weighted basis – largely because of the strength of the euro.

Overall, Portfolio performance since inception is positive, with May and September of 2017 being worthy of note, although the strategy produced a single month of negative returns this year, in August.

Looking ahead, we enter 2018 with risk-adjusted equity returns at all-time highs, central bank balance sheets at all-time highs and financial market volatility approaching all-time lows. Such strong performance in asset classes has been aided by low real interest rates globally as growth has remained strong and inflation subdued. Over the course of the fourth quarter there were signs of inflationary pressures starting to emerge in the data, in central bank communications and in market-based inflation forecasts. Should the inflation picture continue to strengthen in 2018 and, especially if price data show a realised pick-up in inflation, we may anticipate some asset markets to come under pressure. We continue to construct a relative value portfolio and monitor the data and risk events closely.

Balance sheet reduction globally will likely accelerate over time – year-over-year growth of G-4 balance sheets is slated to turn negative mid-2018 – contributing to more volatility across asset classes, starting with credit and equities. While this change in trend may be more evident during the second half of the year, secular widening could start earlier.

Headline CPI in the US should move toward 2.5% (from the current level of 2.0%) by the end of 2018, which will put steepening pressure on the curve given the low inflation expectations priced in the market. Under such pressures – combined with a closing of the output gap, an unemployment rate below the non-accelerating inflation rate of unemployment (NAIRU, aka “full employment”) and global synchronised growth-TIPS look attractive, and we would add to positions on any weakness.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was 43.58%. Over the same period, the benchmark MSCI All Country Asia Ex-Japan Index (USD Net Total Return), returned 41.72%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Emerging markets significantly outperformed developed markets in 2017, and Asian equities contributed much of that strong performance. Throughout the year, their rally was driven by investor risk appetite, improving GDP growth rates with low rates of inflation, improving corporate earnings, and supportive policy.

All sectors in the benchmark Index reported double-digit positive results for the year, with the Information Technology ("IT"), Real Estate, and Consumer Discretionary sectors advancing most. Telecommunication Services, Utilities, and Industrials lagged the overall Index. By country, the Index was led by China - aided by dominant Chinese internet names rising sharply, Korea - also led by IT, and India. Pakistan was the only Index market to lose value this year, although the commodity-driven Indonesian and Malaysian markets also lagged the average.

The Portfolio outperformed on the basis of strong stock selection, with Financials, IT, and Real Estate holdings contributing most. Favouring the private sector insurers and banks across multiple markets at the expense of state-owned or affiliated names aided the Portfolio. Consumer Discretionary - where a subset of names faced short-term headwinds - and Industrials holdings, along with an overweight to Utilities, detracted. By market, holdings based in Taiwan, Hong Kong, and Malaysia benefited performance - driven by a mix of IT names, while holdings from Indonesia, Singapore, and the Philippines detracted - as consumer-related holdings failed to keep up the broader peer group.

No major changes were made to overall portfolio positioning this year. We continue to identify a diverse set of differentiated names across sectors, but especially in IT, which is our top sector overweight, as well as Health Care. The unique innovation found across these sectors speaks to the attractive fundamental opportunity set this region offers. This is funded by an underweight to leveraged areas of the market like Real Estate and Financials. Our largest country overweight going into the new year is Taiwan, where many of the niche IT names are domiciled, at the expense of the Real Estate-heavy Hong Kong market.

Looking ahead, we continue to seek compelling opportunities across the market cap spectrum as new technologies are developed, and regional consumer demand growth remains strong with a benign inflation backdrop. Given the lower risk profile of this portfolio relative to the benchmark, we were gratified to see our stock selection clearly rewarded as the Portfolio outpaced 2017's fast-rising market. We anticipate the Portfolio will continue to benefit from its bottom-up, high quality, domestically biased approach as we move forward.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the EUR I Accumulating Class was 8.59%. Over the same period, the index, the ICE BofAML Global Hybrid Non-Financial Corporate Index EUR (Hedged TR), returned 10.07%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

In terms of portfolio construction, we sought to hold a range of issuers with which we were comfortable from a fundamental perspective and that we believed were trading at a discount to their intrinsic value.

Over the past twelve months, the Portfolio underperformed the Index on a gross of fees basis. From a sector perspective, our top performers to relative performance were security selection within the Utilities sector and overweight allocations to the Energy and Media sectors. Conversely, underweight allocations to the Automotive and Telecoms sector detracted.

Within Utilities, overweight allocations to the likes of Enel and SSE both added, whilst under-allocating to French producer EDF (10% of the GNEC) dragged. The Automotive sector (Volkswagen in particular) performed well in 2017. The sector held an average weight of 15.0% in the Index over the year, with 13.6% of VW bonds. UCITs regulations do not permit allocating more than 10% of the Portfolio to one name.

Over the past year the corporate hybrid universe has grown from $127 billion equivalent in outstanding issuance at the end of 2016 to nearly $180 billion as of the end of 2017. It should be noted that some of this gain is due to the euro's appreciation versus both the dollar and the Sterling. However new issuance has come from a number of sectors, and the investment universe is proving to be diverse in nature.

Looking ahead we continue to believe that the high average yield for corporate hybrid bonds - currently 2.44% as at 31 December 2017 - will continue to produce attractive returns for the asset class, especially given investors' continuous search for yield. Relative to senior spreads, corporate hybrids continue to trade at a 4x multiple to senior issues. Average senior spreads of 30-40 basis points versus 130-150bps for corporate hybrids, and low government bond yields, continue to support corporate hybrid bonds in our view. From an issuance stand point, after a strong start to the year, we anticipate continued fresh supply from the primary market, which should further opportunities for outperformance.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class shares was 23.25%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the S&P 500 Index, returned 21.83%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The US stock market generated strong results during the reporting period. Investor demand was robust as global growth accelerated and corporate profits often exceeded expectations. In addition, investors had a positive view on the recently passed tax reform bill. The overall US stock market, as measured by the S&P 500 Index, gained 21.83% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2017. This represented the largest annual gain since 2013.

The Portfolio generated a strong absolute return and outperformed its benchmark during the reporting period. Stock selection drove the Portfolio's outperformance, as it generated positive relative results in 10 of the 11 sectors in the benchmark. In particular, our holdings in the Industrials, Consumer Discretionary and Telecommunication Services sectors added the most value. In contrast, stock selection in the Health Care sector was the only detractor from results. Sector allocation, overall, detracted from the Portfolio's performance. The Portfolio's cash position, along with an underweight to Information Technology and an overweight to Consumer Discretionary, were the largest headwinds for results. On the upside, underweights to Telecommunication Services, Real Estate and Energy were the largest contributors to performance.

We enter 2018 with a fairly constructive – albeit increasingly selective – outlook for risk assets, driven by solid global economic growth, lower corporate tax rates, repatriation of foreign earnings and the continued emergence of a more pro-business environment in the US. As we look towards 2018, the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act will act as a tailwind towards an already strong economic backdrop. While the devil will be in the details, this tax plan will allow US companies to compete more evenly on a global scale as capital and labor move to places where they can earn the best return. It also allows US companies to fully expense capital investments in the year the investment is made, providing a significant added tax benefit to those who purchase assets, thus incentivising US companies to invest domestically. Importantly, we believe these policies will have divergent effects on individual companies within various sectors and subsectors of the market, but should provide a further stimulus to growth and earnings in aggregate. As company executives evaluate the implications of the new corporate tax plan, there will be winners and losers. Thus, we believe company specific details will matter a great deal in 2018 and beyond.

NEUBERGER BERMAN GLOBAL HIGH YIELD BOND FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class shares was 6.72%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, ICE BofAML Global High Yield Constrained Index (USD Hedged), returned 7.99%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The Global High Yield market delivered another solid year. From a sector perspective Transportation, Utilities and Energy names were the top performers. These were largely driven by improving underlying fundamentals, improved earnings, accelerating growth across world economies and a new found stability in the energy market. Conversely, Retail, Consumer Goods and Media names were the worst performers. All three of these sectors have come under a lot of strain in the past few years with the likes of Amazon and Netflix taking a chunk out of what would have been their usual consumer base.

The Portfolio produced strong absolute returns during the reporting period but underperformed its benchmark index. From a sector perspective, the largest detractors from relative performance were security selection within Energy, Banking and Telecommunications. Conversely, the largest contributors to relative performance were security selection within Utilities, Metals & Mining and Healthcare names.

From a sleeve perspective, our tactical allocations to certain regions proved fruitful. Notably, a strong allocation to US high yield after the brief sell off in early November 2017 added to performance. Elsewhere being slightly underweight to Emerging Market and European names detracted slightly but sleeve allocation was positive overall.

Given the strong performance of the high yield market over the past couple of years, the default rate remains low, and we believe that it will maintain below historical averages for 2018. That said there have been a number of high-profile names that have defaulted; Toys R Us, Seadrill, Petroleos de Venezuela and Agrokor to name a few.

2018 should see low to medium single digit returns across the high yield market, as we believe the business cycle still has life left in it. As growth continues to tick upwards, and as fundamentals continue to improve there should still be strong support for the asset class in particular from outside the US as investors continue to seek higher yielding investment opportunities.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was 5.37%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Index (the "Index") hedged in USD, returned 2.67%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represents past performance and does not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Across broad fixed income markets, 2017 proved to be a fruitful year. The year was dominated by low volatility in equities markets, currency markets but particularly so in bond markets. The US Federal Reserve (the "Fed") raised rates three times (+75bps), yet fixed income universe still returned 3.04% (as measured by the Index). Short term US Treasury Bills (as measured by the generic one year) started the year yielding just below one percent, ending the year at 1.7%. The long end of the curve moved in the opposite direction, down thirty basis points to 2.7%. The belly of the curve (ten year), was mostly flat. Such a move is mostly blamed on the Fed's inflationary stance, expecting less in form of price changes and thus less reward for holding longer dated bonds.

Elsewhere the Bank of England raised rates once (+25bps), which many see as a precaution in case Brexit negotiations go sour, instead of a move against rising prices. That said, data out of the country has been solid albeit disappointing versus European peers. The story is similar on the continent, with no rate rises in sight but very promising hard economic data given the potential political problems that existed at the start of 2017. In Japan, rates were left unchanged over the year. Despite the lack of monetary policy normalisation, the hard data out of the country is improving, more importantly so, inflation is rising. It could be argued that the lack of additional supportive monetary policy is a sign of improvement from the Bank of Japan.

Global credit markets posted solid returns, although we didn't see double digit returns across the high-yield space as we did in the previous year, investors were well rewarded given the low default rate environment. This was largely driven by a recovery in the commodity space, with energy names featuring widely in the sub investment grade space, and the continuous search for yield from all channels. Over the course of 2017 the best performing major currencies were the euro and the Swedish krona. The worst performing major currencies were the US dollar and the New Zealand dollar.

The largest positive contributor to performance over the past year came from our securitised credit positions, namely from our allocation to Non-Agency Residential Mortgage-Backed Securities. We have started to take profits on these positions and continue to hold securities where we see continuing value. Over the year the Portfolio held short duration positions (relative to the Index) in Germany, and long duration in the US both contributing positively. We would like to believe that this trade will continue to be fruitful given the attractive carry that it offers the Portfolio. Over the year, we have held a long position with regards to European credit, and non-investment grade in particular. This proved to be a good trade with European High Yield outperforming their US counterparts when hedged to US dollars. We continue to believe that they offer attractive returns given their lower exposure to the commodity space and the rising rate environment in the US.

Active currency positioning generated a positive return for the year. An underweight in the Australian dollar and an overweight in the Swedish krona were the best performing positions whilst an underweight in the euro was a detractor of performance.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was -1.90%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the ICE BofAML US Dollar 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index, returned 1.11%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The Portfolio seeks to achieve its investment objective by tracking the performance of the Credit Suisse Neuberger Berman Multi-Asset Risk Premia Core Index (the "Index") (or such other index determined by the Directors from time to time as being able to track substantially the same market as the Index and which is considered by the Directors to be an appropriate index for the Portfolio to track, in accordance with the Prospectus) as closely as possible, regardless of whether the Index level rises or falls, while seeking to minimise as far as possible the tracking error between the Portfolio's performance and that of the Index. For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the tracking error was 59 bps. This was primarily due to the Portfolio's expenses and cash position.

By investing in a portfolio of diversified risk premia, the strategy seeks attractive absolute returns with managed volatility and low correlation to traditional asset classes, as well as better drawdown characteristics during highly volatile periods. The Portfolio is comprised of well-diversified exposure to four styles of risk premia (value, momentum, carry and liquidity) identified across equities, fixed income, currencies and commodities - for a total of 13 risk premia included in the Portfolio. The Portfolio construction for the risk premia is based upon the team's proprietary risk-balancing methodology, which seeks balanced risk from each of the four styles of risk premia, and then balanced risk across premia within each style, so as to achieve better diversification and drawdown management, and ultimately to achieve the Portfolio's investment objectives.

The global macroeconomic environment was very encouraging in 2017. Synchronised growth supported risk assets in both developed and emerging economies, while geopolitical risks were largely shrugged off by investors. As a result, equity markets displayed a remarkable run in an environment of unusually low volatility, with several major indices, including the S&P 500 and the MSCI All Country World Index, closing the year with positive returns in every month of the year. However, amidst rich valuations and increasing tail risks, global markets are becoming increasingly vulnerable to short-term shocks and unmet expectations. Information Technology, was by far the best performing sector in 2017 as hopes of tax reform and repatriation combined with phenomenal earnings to drive the sector higher. Punctuating the march higher in global equity markets was the VIX or volatility index which ended December at a tepid 11.04, down more than 17% in 2017.

As the year came to an end, much of the talk in fixed income markets surrounded the flattening of the yield curve which had been driven by the Federal Reserve's continued monetary policy tightening, despite low inflation. 2017 saw the tides start to turn globally on the coordinated easing of monetary policy, with tightening actions in the US, followed by the start or talk of tightening in the UK, Europe and even Japan. As a result of the dollar declining more than 10% in 2017, most commodities rallied in line with almost every major currency strengthening against the greenback.

Given the environment of low volatility, historically low rates, and low inflation it is not surprising performance had been challenging in 2017. In particular, Equity Value premia had been challenged throughout 2017, although December was a modestly positive month. The average ratio between the price-to-book value of the Russell 1000 Value and Russell 1000 Growth is well below the long-term average and at its lowest level since 2000 - a period where Value outperformed Growth by more than 40% in the year that followed. The Equity Value premia had detracted in excess of 200 bps from performance over the year and was by far the worst performing premia. Otherwise all other premia performed in line with expectations and combined would have contributed to a considerable return.

NEUBERGER BERMAN MULTI-ASSET CLASS INCOME FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 11.18%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The global macroeconomic environment was very encouraging in 2017. Synchronised growth supported risk assets in both developed and emerging economies, while geopolitical risks were largely shrugged off by investors. As a result, equity markets displayed a remarkable run in an environment of unusually low volatility, with several major indices, including the S&P 500 and the MSCI All Country World Index, closing the year with positive returns in every month of the year. In the US, economic data supported positive equity momentum; the prospect of higher wages and elevated consumer confidence combined with lower tax rates following the passing of US tax reform legislation will likely extend this economic cycle as personal consumption accounts for 70% of GDP. The strength of the current economy has been acknowledged by the Federal Reserve, which raised interest rates three times in 2017. Equity markets in Europe and the UK were also supported by positive economic data and accommodative monetary policy while Japan's markets rejoiced over strong corporate earnings and hopeful political sentiment. Markets in Asia ex-Japan were more subdued but also posted overall gains. Fixed income performance was also positive in 2017. By year end, investment grade credit spreads tightened, closing out 2017 at levels last seen just before the global financial crisis. Demand for corporate credit continues to be bolstered by improving credit metrics and expected benefits from tax reform. The high yield market saw some fluctuations during the year, impacted by sector-specific selloffs and retail withdrawals as well as rising oil and equity prices.

The supportive macroeconomic environment led to strong Portfolio performance in 2017; with 11 of 12 months posting positive returns. June was the only month where the Portfolio had a mild negative return, due to a soft patch in global reflationary data and delays in pro-growth policies in the US which caused global markets to lose their momentum. Total returns in the Portfolio were driven by global equities, particularly in the US and Europe, though most investment strategies in the portfolio contributed positively. The exception was the multi-asset risk premia strategy which struggled in part due to the equity value premia, as value stocks underperformed growth stocks over the year.

From a yield perspective, the Portfolio comfortably delivered a greater yield than either the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Bond Index or the dividend yield of the MSCI ACWI. Total yield contributions were diversified by source, led by US equities, securitised fixed income, Europe ex-UK equities and global credit.

As a whole, we see global markets in the midst of an environment characterised by moderate growth, improving inflation, and still-accommodative monetary policy; but within a more fragile overall economic regime and facing increasing challenges. We believe this economic momentum will carry over into the early part of 2018, and consequently maintain our bias towards dividend-oriented global equities. We continue to allocate to high yielding Real Estate Investment Trusts, as we believe tenant demand for real estate space should be supported by improving consumer confidence, accelerating non-residential fixed investment and modest inflation. We are also maintaining reduced exposure to interest rate duration in anticipation of higher risk premiums given central bank plans toward policy normalisation. We are becoming cautious on credit markets given the tight spreads which present limited upside. Non-US developed debt markets are expected to remain under pressure, as the European Central Bank plans an exit strategy from its easy monetary conditions while the Bank of Japan continues its yield-targeting strategy. We maintain a preference for emerging debt markets given the high growth rate and benchmark yield of 5.29% for hard currency issues amidst an improving global growth backdrop.

With the low rate environment persisting into 2018, we continue to believe that a multi-dimensional approach to yield is prudent. Our multi-asset class approach offers diversified income sources, complemented with uncorrelated sources of return and a risk framework that seeks to mitigate volatility and deliver an attractive return and income profile.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class shares returned 10.80% (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance, and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The S&P 500 went an unprecedented 12 for 12 in 2017, posting 12 consecutive months of positive returns to accumulate a 21.8% annual total return. Since 1927, there have only been 4 years with 11 positive monthly returns ('36, '58, '95, '06), and no perfect years until 2017. Further, it did so with an annualised daily volatility of 6.7%. So, whether you pronounce beta as 'bey-tuh' or 'bee-tuh', in 2017 it was just simply 'bet-tuh' than everything else. Hence, strategies like ours, that experience diminishing equity exposure (delta exposure declines) during sharply rising markets, generally have a hard time keeping up with underlying equity indexes. This defensive dynamic often leads our clients to blend our strategies with low cost, i.e. almost free, beta exposures to target a risk/return profile.

In conjunction with a trending S&P 500, volatility was scarce. As one of the more common concerns we hear about our strategies from prospective investors, 2017's historically low volatility delivered a great environment to illustrate how our strategies can perform in such a market. 2017 had the lowest average daily Volatility Index ("VIX") level in its history at around 11.1. In addition, as at 31 December 2017, the 2017 average was also the lowest average versus rolling 252-day periods over the VIX Index's full history. Despite the historically low levels of implied volatility, put option premiums provided ample cash flow to capture a reasonable share of the gains posted by the underlying equity indexes.

Further, the VIX Index experienced its second lowest daily standard deviation (1.36 volatility points) for a calendar year since its inception in 1990. Only in 1993 was the VIX's standard deviation lower (1.33 volatility points) over a calendar year. As a result, the option implied volatility spread (VIX minus the S&P 500 30-day realized volatility) for the S&P 500 was positive over 99% of the days, averaged 4.5 and, remarkably, it had a standard deviation of just under 2 volatility points, which is the lowest standard deviation for a calendar year since 1990.

Despite low levels of implied volatility in index option markets and relatively interest rates for majority of the year, Neuberger Berman US Equity Index PutWrite Fund (the "Portfolio") was able to generate a double digit rate of return with a net of fees return of 10.80% and outperform its strategy benchmark's return, a blend of 85% CBOE S&P 500 PutWrite Index and 15% CBOE Russell 2000 PutWrite Index, of 10.38% for the same period. With the S&P 500 gaining 21.83% and the Russell 2000 14.65% in 2017, both the Portfolio's S&P 500 and Russell 2000 put writing strategies, up 10.93% and 9.4% on the year, managed to capture 50% and 64% of their underlying index returns. As expected, the Portfolio's investment approach underperformed 'beta one' indexes during bull markets, both disciplines have outperformed their respective strategy benchmark returns of 10.85% for the CBOE S&P 500 PutWrite and 7.65% for the CBOE Russell 2000 PutWrite.

S&P 500 and Russell 2000 implied volatility (IV) levels (30-day, ATM) finished the year well below their starting levels with the S&P 500 IV ending the year at roughly 7.7, down from 11.5 at the end of 2016, and the R2000 IV down to 12.6 from 17.8. Despite the decreases in the option implied volatility levels both the S&P 500 and R2000 indexes experienced limited levels of realised annual volatility (daily returns) during the year which resulted in relatively stable, average implied volatility premiums of around 1.8 and 2.1.

On a year-to-date basis the collateral portfolio has contributed about 0.90% to the Portfolio's returns. Higher short-term rates are anticipated to continue to improve the return potential of the collateral as we believe the Federal Reserve Committee to continue to raise its policy benchmark rate in 2018.

We believe equity markets are likely to continue to generate positive returns, but we anticipate that US market returns will moderate as the Federal Reserve seeks to dull the threat of inflation. This will increase the likelihood of non-US developed and emerging market equity markets continuing to outperform. Broadly, we anticipate equity volatility levels, both realized and implied, to increase from historically low levels seen in 2017. However, we believe both measures will likely remain in the lower halves of their historical ranges. Lastly, we believe the continued increases in short-term interest rates will offer additional income generation in the collateral portfolio.

NEUBERGER BERMAN GLOBAL EQUITY INDEX PUTWRITE FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

The Neuberger Berman Global Equity Index PutWrite Fund launched on 3 May 2017. The Portfolio seeks long-term, growth of capital and income generation, creating equity-like returns but with volatility generally less than experienced with direct investments in the equity indices (e.g. S&P 500 / MSCI EAFE / MSCI Emerging Markets). The Portfolio seeks to accomplish this by writing put options on equity indices and maintaining a liquid portfolio of short-term fixed income assets.

Since inception on 3 May 2017, the Portfolio generated a total return of 5.90% for the period ended 31 December 2017, underperforming its benchmark, a custom blend consisting of 50% CBOE S&P 500 PutWrite Index, 25% MSCI All Country World ex-US Index and 25% ICE BofAML US 0-3-Month Treasury Bill Index, which posted a 6.66% return for the same period. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The S&P 500 went an unprecedented 12 for 12 in 2017, posting 12 consecutive months of positive returns to accumulate a 21.8% annual total return. Since 1927, there have only been 4 years with 11 positive monthly returns ('36, '58, '95, '06), and no perfect years until 2017. Further, it did so with an annualized daily volatility of 6.7%. So, whether you pronounce beta as 'bey-tuh' or 'bee-tuh', in 2017 it was just simply 'bet-tuh' than everything else. Hence, strategies like ours, that experience diminishing equity exposure (delta exposure declines) during sharply rising markets, generally have a hard time keeping up with underlying equity indexes. This defensive dynamic often leads our clients to blend our strategies with low cost, i.e. almost free, beta exposures to target a risk/return profile.

In conjunction with a trending S&P 500, volatility was scarce. As one of the more common concerns we hear about our strategies from prospective investors, 2017's historically low volatility delivered a great environment to illustrate how our strategies can perform in such a market. In 2017 the CBOE Volatility Index ("VIX"), a measure of implied volatility, had the lowest average daily level in its history at ~11.1. In addition, as at 31 December 2017, the 2017 average was also the lowest average versus rolling 252-day periods over the VIX Index's full history. Despite the historically low levels of implied volatility, put option premiums ($) provided ample cash flow to capture a reasonable share of the gains posted by the underlying equity indexes.

Further, the VIX Index experienced its second lowest daily standard deviation (1.36 volatility points) for a calendar year since its inception in 1990. Only in 1993 was the VIX's standard deviation lower (1.33) over a calendar year. As a result, the option implied volatility spread (VIX minus the S&P 500 30-day realised volatility) for the S&P 500 was positive over 99% of the days, averaged 4.5 and, remarkably, it had a standard deviation of just under 2 volatility points, which is the lowest standard deviation for a calendar year since 1990 (see chart below).

Consistent with US markets, international markets finished off the year with plenty of momentum. The MSCI EAFE and MSCI Emerging Markets Indexes returned 4.27% and 7.5% for the quarter, pushing their 2017 totals to 25.62% and 37.75%, respectively. Similarly, the CBOE EFA ETF Volatility Index ("VXEFA") and CBOE EEM ETF Volatility Index ("VXEEM") had historically low daily averages for the year at 11.3 and 16.6, respectively.

Emerging market equity index put writing was the best performing strategy in December with a return of 0.87%. However, the strategy failed to keep pace with the MSCI Emerging Markets Index which returned 3.64% for the period. Since May 2017, the MSCI Emerging Markets Index has been the best performing index with a total return of 19.89% for the period. Over this period, EM put writing returned 8.54%.

As US 1-Year Treasury yields continued to rise, increasing approximately 50bps during the 4th quarter, the collateral portfolio added a modest amount to returns in December and continued to have a marginal impact on returns since May 2017. Collateral portfolio duration decreased slightly to 1.3 years, down from 1.4 as of previous month end. While the strategy's duration exposure declined, the estimated collateral yield for the strategy increased to approximately 1.5% as a result of cash inflows being invested at higher interest rates.

In our opinion equity markets are likely to continue to generate positive returns, but we anticipate that US market returns will moderate as the Federal Reserve seeks to dull the threat of inflation. This will increase the likelihood of non-US developed and emerging market equity markets continuing outperform. Broadly, we expect equity volatility levels, both realized and implied, to increase from historically low levels seen in 2017. However, we believe both measures will likely remain in the lower halves of their historical ranges. Lastly, we anticipate the continued increases in short-term interest rates to offer additional income generation in the collateral portfolio.

NEUBERGER BERMAN UNCORRELATED STRATEGIES FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the seven months ending 31 December 2017, Neuberger Berman Uncorrelated Strategies Fund USD I Accumulating Class shares returned 3.60%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The Portfolio launched on 22 May 2017. The Portfolio aims to increase returns by allocating assets to multiple subadvisors creating a diversified portfolio of alternative investment strategies. Each individual strategy's goal is to have close to zero correlation to global equity and fixed income markets over a full investment cycle.

Broadly over the period, equity markets were generally strong, fixed income markets were modestly positive, and currency markets were characterised by a weaker US dollar. Positive performance was driven by strong gains across the equity market neutral, statistical arbitrage, and short term trading strategy allocations. Over the period, the global macro allocation was a detractor to the Portfolio, while the trend following strategy allocation was marginally negative. Across asset classes, the Portfolio was positive in equities and in currency trading and negative in interest rate/ bond trading.

The largest contributor to positive Portfolio performance over the period was the equity market neutral allocation. This is a diversified strategy, roughly split between long and short, with returns driven by a number of characteristics that the strategy looks to exploit across markets in the UK, Europe, and the US Equity markets generally exhibited high levels of single stock dispersion, typically a positive environment for equity market neutral strategies.

The second largest contributor to Portfolio performance was the statistical arbitrage strategy allocation. This allocation of equities is split between long and short positions, looking to exploit more technical price patterns between individual stocks, baskets of stocks, and sectors. The strategy was also aided by low pairwise correlation levels across global equity markets, with technically driven trading in single stocks the largest driver of performance.

The third contributor of note to Portfolio performance was the allocation to short term trading. This strategy aims to generate returns by trading equity, fixed income, and currency futures contracts over the short term, from intra-day out to 2-3 weeks. The strategy performed positively in trading across all three broad asset classes.

The allocation to trend following was marginally negative over the period. This strategy aims to exploit medium term directional price trends in liquid futures contracts across equities, fixed income, and currencies. This was a less productive market environment for trend following; the allocation generated gains from typically long equities and short US dollar currency positioning, but generated losses from positioning in more directionless fixed income markets.

The sole detractor of note to Portfolio performance was the allocation to global macro. The strategy focuses on capturing medium term directional moves in currencies, and to a much lesser extent fixed income markets. Positioning is driven by fundamental inputs such as relative rates, yield curve dynamics, and inflation expectations, which were in general not very effective at explaining currency movements over the period.

The Portfolio generally targets an equal risk allocation across strategies in an attempt to maximise diversification. The Portfolio managers are able to either under or overweight allocations around this target, in response to assessments of the risk characteristics of the Portfolio and underlying positioning across the underlying strategies. From inception, the global macro allocation has been sized modestly underweight; this allocation was gradually increased over time but remains slightly underweight to target levels at period end.

The team continues to seek to identify potential complementary and diversifying strategies for inclusion in the Portfolio. The team plans an allocation to a volatility arbitrage strategy to be made in early 2018, and they continue to assess options for additions within existing strategy buckets. Foremost, the team focuses on potential additions within the global macro and equity market neutral universes. We continue to review the relevant peer groups in an attempt to ensure that the current allocations provide the best opportunity for the Portfolio to meet its goals for diversification, risk, and return.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

For the period since inception of the Portfolio on 10 July 2017 to 31 December 2017, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 4.70%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the weighted average of 2/3 of JP Morgan EMBI Global Diversified Investment Grade Index (USD total return) and 1/3 of JP Morgan GBI Emerging Markets Global Diversified Investment Grade 15% Cap Index (USD unhedged total return) (the "Index"), returned 4.17%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Investor sentiment towards emerging markets remained upbeat in 2017 with the improving macro backdrop in the emerging world encouraging steady inflows into the asset class throughout the year, helped by a weaker US dollar and subdued trade war rhetoric from the US administration. A supportive commodity price environment was positive for emerging markets as well.

The JP Morgan EMBI Global Diversified Index returned 3.81% since inception of the Portfolio to the end of 2017. Most of the countries in the index posted positive returns. Among the best performing countries during this period were Uruguay and Kazakhstan, whilst Oman and Slovakia were the main laggards. The JP Morgan GBI-EM Global Diversified Index returned 4.86% in USD terms since inception of the Portfolio to the end of 2017. Eastern European countries were the strong performers from an FX perspective posting gains against the US dollar amid robust economic data from the region and in sync with the euro rally. Peru was the best performer in Latin America, driven by tighter bond yields on the back of sharply lower inflation and monetary easing, while Mexico posted a negative return as the Peso sold off on renewed concerns about NAFTA negotiations. In Asian local markets, performance was solid across the region, with Malaysia and Indonesia the best performers over the year.

We maintain an overweight local currency versus hard currency in the Portfolio, as we anticipate local currencies to benefit most from the improving economic outlook in emerging markets and as valuations offer more upside potential in our view.

Global economic activity surprised on the upside in 2017 while inflation slowed, creating a "Goldilocks" environment for emerging markets ("EM") debt and leading to a continuation of strong inflows. The simultaneous global growth recovery of 2017 provides a strong foundation for continued positive momentum in 2018. Reflation and an upward bias on global bond yields can pose a risk to the performance of EM debt assets; however, the consolidation of the cyclical improvement in a large majority of emerging economies is likely to provide a buffer against external headwinds. As for valuations, we see the best opportunities in local currency debt as we enter 2018, while we believe current spread levels on EM sovereigns are tight in absolute terms but remain attractive on a relative basis to similar rated developed market bonds.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

From inception, 24 October 2017, through the reporting period ended 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was 5.40%. Over the same period, the benchmark MSCI Emerging Markets Index (Net) (the "Index"), returned 4.35%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Emerging Markets ("EM") equities enjoyed strong performance throughout 2017, driven by investor risk appetite, improving GDP growth rates and corporate earnings, and supportive policy decisions in several important nations. This period was no exception.

Within the Index, all sectors posted positive results for the period, with Health Care – led by the Asian pharma and biotech subsectors, Consumer Staples, and Financials outperforming. Relatively defensive areas: Utilities, Real Estate, and Telecommunication Services lagged.

From an individual market perspective, Greece, South Africa, and Malaysia, outperformed the Index. Investor sentiment toward each of those markets had grown more positive driven by the perception that their political situations improved. The other end of the spectrum was headlined by United Arab Emirates, Pakistan, and Mexico – with all three declining, the latter impacted by North American trade concerns and weaker peso.

Stock selection was the main driver of the Portfolio's outperformance this period, with sector allocation a secondary positive. Financials, Health Care, and Materials holdings added most to our relative returns, which Chinese insurers and pharma names aided the first two, respectively. Holdings within Consumer Staples, Information Technology, and Telecommunication Services detracted.

By country, holdings in China (above-mentioned insurers and pharma names helped), South Africa, and Taiwan had the largest positive impact on relative performance. Domestically driven holdings based in Brazil and Czech Republic, along with an underweight to the strong Malaysian market, detracted from relative results.

Looking ahead, EM earnings expectations for 2018 were revised higher, led by names in the Asian region. Barring a geopolitical surprise, this could mean another year of outperformance for EM equities.

Within the Portfolio, we continue to favour a diverse set of IT names and a variety of consumer stocks at the expense of the cyclically driven commodity sectors. China remains our top underweight, somewhat offset by Chinese-driven off-benchmark Hong Kong holdings. Both these and our stock selection decisions reflect bottom-up opportunities rather than a top-down view.

Given the lower risk profile of this Portfolio relative to the benchmark, we were gratified to see our stock selection clearly rewarded as the Portfolio outpaced 2017's fast-rising market. We anticipate the Portfolio will continue to benefit from seeking out a select set of companies that have sustainable business models with cash flow growth that we believe can provide strong risk adjust returns over the long-term.

NEUBERGER BERMAN CHINA EQUITY OPPORTUNITIES FUND

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

The Neuberger Berman China Equity Opportunities Fund (the "Portfolio") was launched on 15 December 2017. For the period from its inception on 15 December 2017 through 31 December 2017, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class shares was 3.40%. (Performance for all share classes is provided in Appendix II. Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

The Portfolio is focused on identifying long-term sustainable trends and companies that can benefit from change such as demographic shifts, human capital advancement, improved consumption habits and services upgrade. The Portfolio is concentrated and invests across the entire universe of Chinese equities. In spite of the strong performance of the China equity markets in 2017, valuations do not appear to be out of cantor. Forward P/E ratios for the MSCI China and CSI 300 indices stood at 14.0x and 13.8x, respectively. In addition, the equity returns observed last year was backed by fundamentals in the form of strong corporate earnings and not merely multiples expansion. Looking ahead, earnings growth is expected to continue to be an important (and perhaps a more pronounced) driver of equity performance. To that end, we continue to advocate a selective approach to investing within the markets, emphasising companies with strong earnings visibility.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REPORT

The Neuberger Berman Multi-Asset Class Growth Fund (the "Portfolio") was funded on 22 December 2017. The Portfolio seeks long-term consistent growth by investing across a broad array of traditional, alternative and diversifying investment strategies, leveraging Neuberger Berman's global investment platform. Dynamic tactical asset allocation shifts seek to exploit market opportunities and through hedging management seeks to lower volatility and preserve capital during market stress. The Portfolio management team believes that this strategy may potentially serve in one of three ways in an investor's portfolio, either as a core portfolio holding, a liquid alternatives allocation or as a diversifier.

NOTES TO THE AUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The significant accounting policies adopted by Neuberger Berman Investment Funds plc (the “Company”) are as follows:

Basis of Preparation of Financial Statements

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland, Irish Statute comprising the Companies Act 2014 (as amended), the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations, 2011 as amended, the Central Bank (Supervision and Enforcement) Act 2013 (section 48(1)) (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2015 (S.I. No. 420 of 2015) (the “Central Bank UCITS Regulations”) and the listing rules of the Irish Stock Exchange. The financial statements are prepared in accordance with Financial Reporting Standard (“FRS”) 102: ‘The financial reporting standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland’. Accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland in preparing financial statements giving a true and fair view are those published by the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland and issued by the Financial Reporting Council (“FRC”).

The financial statements are prepared under the historical cost convention as modified by the revaluation of the financial assets and financial liabilities held at fair value through profit and loss. Valuation time is market close on the relevant dealing day. The dealing day is each business day or such other day as the Directors may determine and notify to the administrator and to the Shareholders in advance.

The format and certain wordings of the financial statements have been adapted from those contained in the Companies Act 2014 (as amended) and FRS 102 so that, in the opinion of the Directors, they more appropriately reflect the nature of the Company’s business as an investment fund. The Company meets the criteria to avail of the exemption available to certain open-ended investment funds under FRS 102 not to prepare a cash flow statement.

Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities at Fair Value through Profit or Loss

(i) Classification

The Company has chosen to apply the recognition and measurement provisions of International Accounting Standard 39: “Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement” and the disclosure and presentation requirement of FRS 102 to account for all the financial instruments. In accordance with IAS 39, the Company has designated all of its investments into financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss. All derivatives in a receivable position (positive fair value), as well as options purchased, are included in financial assets at fair value through profit or loss - held for trading. All derivatives in a payable position (negative fair value), as well as written options, are included in financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss held for trading.

Financial assets that are not at fair value through profit or loss include certain balances due from brokers and accounts receivable, which are classified as loans and receivables.

Financial liabilities that are not at fair value through profit and loss include certain balances due to brokers and accounts payable which are measured at amortised cost.

(ii) Initial Measurement

Purchases and sales of financial instruments are accounted for at trade date for financial statement purposes. Realised gains and losses on disposals of financial instruments are calculated using the first in first out method. Financial instruments categorised as financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are measured initially at fair value with transaction costs for such instruments being recognised directly in the Profit and Loss Account.

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)

Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities at Fair Value through Profit or Loss (continued)

(iii) Subsequent Measurement

After initial measurement, the Company measures financial instruments classified as financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, at their fair values. Fair value is the amount for which an asset could be exchanged, or a liability settled, between knowledgeable, willing parties in an arm's length transaction. The fair value of financial instruments is based on their official quoted market price on a recognised exchange or sourced from a reputable broker/counterparty in the case of non-exchange traded instruments, at the balance sheet date without any deduction for estimated future selling costs. In accordance with IAS 39 the Company's securities and other assets are valued at the last traded price as at 31 December 2017 to determine the Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares ("Net Assets").

However, the Directors may adjust the value of financial assets if it considers such adjustment is required to better reflect the fair value thereof. If a quoted official market price is not available on a recognised stock exchange or from a broker/counterparty, the probable realisation of value shall be calculated with care and in good faith in accordance with the Company's valuation policy. Such probable realisation values may be determined by the Administrator using valuation techniques, including use of recent arm's length market transactions, reference to the current fair value of another instrument that is substantially the same, discounted cash flow techniques, option pricing models or any other valuation technique that provides a reliable estimate of prices obtained in actual market transactions. Subsequent changes in the fair value of financial instruments at fair value through the profit or loss are recognised in the Profit and Loss Account.

The Directors have approved the use of Interactive Data Pricing and Reference Data, Inc. ("Interactive") to assist in determining the fair value of foreign equity securities when changes in the value of a certain index suggest that the closing prices on the foreign exchanges may no longer represent the amount that a Portfolio could expect to receive for those securities or on days when foreign markets are closed and US markets are open. In each of these events, Interactive will provide adjusted prices for certain foreign equity securities using a statistical analysis of historical correlations of multiple factors (Level 2 inputs, as it is using indirect prices). In the absence of precise information about the market values of these foreign securities as of the close of the New York Stock Exchange, the Directors have determined on the basis of available data that prices adjusted in this way are likely to be closer to the prices a Portfolio could realise on a current sale than are the prices of those securities established at the close of the foreign markets in which the securities primarily trade.

(iv) Derecognition of Financial Assets and Liabilities

The Company derecognises a financial asset when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial asset expire or when the financial assets are transferred and the transfer qualifies for derecognition in accordance with IAS 39. Interest earned or incurred is accrued in interest income or expense respectively according to the terms of the contract. The Company derecognises a financial liability when the obligation specified in the contract is discharged, cancelled or expires.

Real Estate Investment Trusts

Units or shares in real estate investment trusts will be valued at the latest available Net Asset Value or, if listed or traded on a regulated market, at the last quoted trade price or the mid quotation or, if unavailable or unrepresentative, the latest available Net Asset Value as deemed relevant to the collective investment scheme.

Investment Funds

The fair value of any investment which is a unit of or participation in an investment fund is the latest available unaudited Net Asset Value of such unit or participation. Units or shares in exchange traded funds will be valued at the latest available Net Asset Value, or if listed or traded on a regulated market, at the last quoted trade price.

Participatory Notes

The Portfolios may invest in participatory notes. Participatory notes which are fully paid up and have a zero strike price, exhibit the identical risk and return characteristics as in the case where the Portfolio had acquired the underlying equity directly. Such participatory notes are valued at the last bid price for the underlying equity quoted on the stock exchange or principal market on which it is listed or, if the bid price is unavailable or unrepresentative, the last available mid price on such stock exchange or market.

Mortgage backed securities

Mortgage backed securities are usually issued as separate tranches, or classes, of securities within each deal. These securities are also normally valued by pricing service providers that use broker dealer quotations or valuation estimates from their internal pricing models. The pricing models for these securities usually consider tranche-level attributes, current market data, estimated cash flows and market-based yield spreads for each tranche, and incorporate deal collateral performance, as available.

To Be Announced Securities

The Portfolios may enter into To Be Announced ("TBA") purchase commitments to purchase securities for a fixed unit price at a future date beyond customary settlement time. Although the unit price has been established, the principal value has not been finalised. The Portfolio holds and maintains until settlement date, cash or high grade debt obligations in an amount sufficient to meet the purchase price, or the Portfolio may enter into offsetting contracts for the forward sale of other securities that they own. Income on the securities will not be earned until settlement date. Unsettled TBA purchase commitments are valued at the current market price.

The Portfolios may enter into TBA sale commitments to hedge their portfolio positions or to sell mortgage backed securities they own under delayed delivery arrangements. Proceeds of TBA sales commitments are not received until the contractual settlement date. During the time a TBA sale commitment is outstanding, equivalent deliverable securities or an offsetting TBA purchase commitment deliverable on or before the sale commitment date, are held as "cover" for the transaction. Unsettled TBA sale commitments are valued at current market value, generally according to the procedures described previously in the accounting policies.

Forward Currency Contracts

A forward foreign currency contract is an agreement between two parties to buy and sell a currency at a set price on a future date. The market value of a forward foreign currency contract fluctuates with changes in forward currency exchange rates. Forward foreign currency contracts are marked to market daily and the change in value is recorded by the Portfolio as an unrealised gain or loss. Realised gains or losses equal to the difference between the value of the contract at the time it was opened and the value at the time it was closed are recorded upon delivery or receipt of the currency or, if a forward currency contract is offset by entering into another forward currency contract with the same broker, upon settlement of the net gain or loss.

Futures Contracts

Initial margin deposits are made upon entering into futures contracts and are generally made in cash and cash equivalents. The fair value of futures contracts is based upon their quoted daily settlement prices. Changes in the value of open futures contracts are recognised as unrealised gains or losses on futures contracts until the contracts are terminated, at which time realised gains and losses are recognised. Gains or losses on open futures contracts are shown in the Schedule of Investments of each relevant Portfolio and as appropriate, on the Balance Sheet as financial assets/financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss.

Swap Contracts

A swap contract is a privately negotiated agreement between a Portfolio and a counterparty to exchange or swap the return generated by one instrument for the return generated by another instrument. Some swap contracts are net settled. When entering into an over-the-counter ("OTC") swap contract and during the term of the transaction, the Portfolio and/or the swap counterparty may post or receive cash or securities as collateral in accordance with the terms of the respective swap agreements to provide assets of value and recourse in the event of default or bankruptcy/insolvency.

Interest Rate Swaps

A Portfolio may enter into interest rate swap contracts which are arrangements between two parties to exchange cash flows based on a notional principal amount, to manage a Portfolio's exposure to interest rates. Interest rate swap contracts are marked-to-market daily based in some cases on quotations from counterparties and in other cases from pricing services and the change in value, if any is recorded as an unrealised gain or loss. Payments made or received are recorded as part of realised gains and losses.

Credit Default Swaps

A credit default swap is a bilateral financial contract under which the protection buyer pays a fee, usually expressed in basis points per annum on the notional amount, in return for a payment by the protection seller contingent on the occurrence of a credit event, such as a bankruptcy, default, or restructuring, with respect to a referenced entity. The credit events and applicable settlement mechanism used to determine the contingent payment are negotiated between the counterparties at the time of trading.

Once the credit event has been declared, the protection buyer has the right to settle the contract. Settlement is usually physical, with the protection buyer having the right to deliver bonds of the reference entity up to the notional amount of the contract. In return, the protection buyer receives the par value of those obligations. Selling protection is the synthetic equivalent of buying a bond or alternative form of debt. Buying protection is the equivalent of synthetically shorting or hedging a bond or other credit exposure.

Credit default swap agreements on credit indices involve one party making a stream of payments to another party in exchange for the right to receive a specified return in the event of a write-down, principal shortfall, interest shortfall or default of all or part of the reference entities comprising the credit index. A credit index is a list of a basket of credit instruments or exposures designed to be representative of some part of the credit market as a whole. Components of the indices may include, but are not limited to, investment grade securities, high yield securities, asset backed securities, emerging markets, and/or various credit ratings within each sector. Credit indices are traded using credit default swaps with standardised terms including a fixed spread and standard maturity dates. An index credit default swap references all the names in the index, and if there is a default, the credit event is settled based on that name's weight in the index. The composition of the indices change periodically, usually every six months, and for most indices, each name has an equal weight in the index.

The use of credit default swap contracts is restricted to the extent that the benefits to a Portfolio mirror that which could be obtained by direct investment in the underlying instruments and that the swaps do not expose a Portfolio to risks which it would not otherwise assume (other than the exposure to the credit default swap counterparty). The upfront payment received by a Portfolio, as protection seller, is recorded as a liability on the Portfolio's books. An upfront payment made by a Portfolio, as protection buyer, is recorded as an asset on the Portfolio's books. Payments received or paid by a Portfolio are recorded as realised gains or losses. Credit default swaps are valued using a pricing service provider. Where no pricing service provider is available, contracts may be marked-to-market daily based upon quotations received from counterparties or based upon calculations using valuation models and the change, if any, is recorded as an unrealised gain or loss. Payments received or paid as a result of a credit event or termination of the contract are recognised, net of a proportional amount of the upfront payment, as realised gains or losses.

Total Return Swaps

A Portfolio may enter into total return and structured swaps in order to trade the return on an index which reflects the general composition of the assets of the Portfolio for a rate of return which will generally be at a fixed rate above or below LIBOR or another index. The rate of return to be paid or received by the Portfolio will be negotiated prior to entering into the swap and will remain fixed throughout the term of the swap.

A Portfolio may enter into total return and structured swaps in order to gain market exposure in circumstances where it is not practical or economical to use direct investments or other forms of derivatives such as futures contracts. Swaps are marked-to-market daily based upon quotations received from counterparties or valued using a pricing service and in other cases based upon calculations using valuation models. The significant assumptions and the formulae behind the calculations used in the valuation models are defined explicitly in the individual term sheets. Generally the total returns are determined by the daily index level or daily price multiplied by a predetermined notional amount and the financing portion is built-in to create an all-in valuation.

Changes in valuations, if any, are recorded as unrealised gains or losses. Payments received or made are recorded as realised gains or losses. The Company discloses outstanding total return swap contracts at the year end in the Portfolio of Investments.

Cross-Currency Swaps

Cross-currency swap agreements involve two parties exchanging two different currencies with an agreement to reverse the exchange at a later date at specified exchange rates. The exchange of currencies at the inception date of the contract takes place at the current spot rate. The re-exchange at maturity may take place at the same exchange rate, a specified rate, or the then current spot rate. Interest payments, if applicable, are made between the parties based on interest rates available in the two currencies at the inception of the contract. The terms of cross currency swap agreements may extend for many years. Cross-currency swaps are usually negotiated with commercial and investment banks. Some cross-currency swaps may not provide for exchanging principal cash flows, but only for exchanging interest cash flows.

Options

When the Portfolio writes an option, an amount equal to the premium received by the Portfolio is recorded as a liability and the current fair value of the option written is subsequently adjusted by this amount. The premium on written call options exercised is added to the proceeds from the sale of the underlying security or foreign currency in determining the realised gain or loss. The premium on written put options exercised is subtracted from the cost of the securities or foreign currencies purchased. Premiums received from written options which expire are treated as realised gains. The premium on purchased put options exercised is subtracted from the proceeds of the sale of the underlying security or foreign currency in determining the realised gain or loss. The premium paid on purchased call options exercised is added to the cost of the securities or foreign currency purchased. Premiums paid for the purchase of options which expire unexercised are treated as realised losses. Exchange traded options are valued at the settlement price determined by the relevant exchange.

Swaptions

When the Portfolio writes a swaption, an amount equal to the premium received by the Portfolio is recorded as a liability and is subsequently adjusted to the current fair value of the swaption written. Premiums received from the written swaptions which expire unexercised are treated by the Portfolio on the expiration dates as realised gains. If a written call swaption is exercised, the premium is added to the proceeds from the sale of the underlying swap in determining the realised gain or loss. If a written put swaption is exercised, the premium reduces the cost basis of the swap purchased.

Swaptions (continued)

When the Portfolio purchases a swaption, an amount equal to the premium paid by the Portfolio is recorded as an asset and is subsequently adjusted to the current fair value of the swaption purchased. Premiums paid for the purchase of swaptions which expire unexercised are treated on the expiration date as realised losses. If a purchased payer swaption is exercised, the premium is subtracted from the proceeds of the underlying swap in determining whether the relevant Portfolio has realised a gain or a loss. If a purchased receiver swaption is exercised, the premium is added to the cost basis of the floating rate investment that has been swapped. Swaptions are priced either via a pricing vendor or a counterparty pricing source.

Contracts for Differences

Contracts for differences are valued based on the closing market price of the underlying security converted into the base currency of the contract for differences, less any financing charges attributable to each contract which are booked separately. The current market value is shown in the Balance Sheet. On entering a contract for differences, the Company may be required to pledge an amount of cash and/or other assets to the broker which is equal to a certain percentage of the contract amount ('initial margin'). Subsequently, payments known as 'variation margins' are made or received by the Company periodically, depending on the fluctuations in the value of the underlying security. During the period that the contract for differences is open, changes in the value of the contract are recognised as unrealised gains or losses and by marking to market at each valuation date in order to reflect the value of the underlying security. Realised gains or losses at the closure of the contract are equal to the difference between the value of the contract for differences at the time it was opened (including any financial charges) and the value at the time it was closed. Dividends (net of withholding taxes) attributable to open contracts for differences are deemed to be dividends receivable at the end of the year.

Offsetting Financial Instruments

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the Balance Sheet when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, or realise the assets and settle the liability simultaneously.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash comprises current deposits with banks. Cash equivalents are short-term highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash, are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value, and are held to meet short-term cash commitments rather than for investment or other purposes.

Cash and cash equivalent assets are valued at their face value with interest accrued, where applicable, to the valuation point on the relevant dealing day, unless in the opinion of the Directors (in consultation with the Investment Manager and the Administrator) an adjustment should be made to reflect the true value thereof.

Company cash accounts

A number of Company cash accounts are being operated by the Administrator, on behalf of the Company pursuant to the Central Bank of Ireland Guidance paper entitled Umbrella Funds – Cash Accounts Holding Subscription, Redemption and Dividend Monies. These cash accounts, held with Brown Brothers Harriman Trustee Services (Ireland) Limited (the "Depository") for collection of unprocessed subscription monies received from investors, redemption monies payable to investors and/or other amounts due to investors for the Company are deemed assets of the Company. Any balances held on these cash accounts at the financial year end are reflected on the Aggregate Balance Sheets of the Company.

Foreign Currency Translation

Functional and Presentation Currency

The functional and presentation currency of the Neuberger Berman European High Yield Bond Fund and the Neuberger Berman Corporate Hybrid Bond Fund is EUR. The functional and presentation currency of the Neuberger Berman China Onshore Bond Fund is CNY. The functional and presentation currency of all other Portfolios is US Dollar. The base currency of the majority of net assets in the Company is US Dollar and thus US Dollar is deemed the most appropriate aggregate currency. For more details please refer to Note 15.

Transactions and Balances

Assets and liabilities, denominated in currencies other than the functional currency of the Portfolio are translated into the functional currency at the rate of exchange prevailing at the Balance Sheet date. Transactions in currencies other than the functional currency of the Portfolio are translated into the functional currency at the rate of exchange prevailing at the dates of the transactions. Gains and losses on foreign exchange transactions are recognised in the Profit and Loss Account in determining the result for the year.

Proceeds from subscriptions and amounts paid for redemptions of Redeemable Participating Shares in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency at the rates prevailing on the dates of the transactions. The Balance Sheet is translated using exchange rates at the year end and the Profit and Loss Account and the Statement of Changes in Net Assets are translated at an average rate over the year.

Income and Expense Recognition

Dividend income is recognised in the Profit and Loss Account on the date upon which the relevant security is listed as "ex-dividend" to the extent that information thereof is reasonably available to the Portfolio. Dividend and interest income is shown gross of any non-recoverable withholding taxes, which are disclosed separately in the Profit and Loss Account and net of any tax credits. Bank deposit interest is accounted for on a receipts basis.

Interest income and expense are recognised in the Profit and Loss Account for all debt instruments using the effective interest method. The effective interest method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of a financial asset or financial liability and of allocating the interest income or interest expense over the relevant period. The effective interest rate is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash payments or receipts throughout the expected life of the financial instrument, or a shorter period where appropriate, to the net carrying amount of the financial asset or financial liability.

Realised Gains and Losses on Investments

Realised gains and losses on disposals of financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are calculated on a first in first out basis. The associated foreign exchange movement between the date of purchase and the date of sale on the disposal of financial assets at fair value through profit or loss is included in net gain/(loss) on financial assets at fair value through profit or loss. Investment transactions are accounted for on trade date, the date at which the Portfolio commits to purchase or sell the asset.

Taxation

Under current law and practice, the Company qualifies as an investment undertaking as defined in Section 739B (1) of the Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997 as amended. On that basis, it is not therefore chargeable to Irish tax on its relevant income or relevant gains. However, Irish tax can arise on the happening of a chargeable event in the Company.

A chargeable event includes any distribution payments to shareholders or any encashment, redemption, or transfer of shares and the holding of shares at the end of each eight year period beginning with the acquisition of such shares. No Irish tax will arise on the Company in respect of chargeable events in respect of:

- (i) a Shareholder who is neither Irish resident nor ordinarily resident in Ireland for tax purposes, at the time of the chargeable event, provided appropriate valid declarations in accordance with the provisions of the Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997 as amended, are held by the Company, and
- (ii) certain exempted Irish tax resident Shareholders who have provided the Company with the necessary signed statutory declarations.

There were no chargeable events during the year under review.

Capital gains, dividends and interest received (if any, on investments made) by the Company may be subject to withholding taxes imposed by the country from which the investment income/gains are received and such taxes may not be recoverable by the Company or its Shareholders.

The Finance Act, 2010 provides that the Revenue Commissioners may grant approval for investment funds marketed outside of Ireland to make payments to non-resident investors without deduction of Irish tax where no relevant declaration is in place, subject to meeting the "equivalent measures". A Company wishing to receive approval must apply in writing to the Revenue Commissioners confirming compliance with the relevant conditions. As at 31 December 2017 the Company had not applied for approval from the Revenue Commission.

Redeemable Participating Shares

Redeemable Participating Shares are redeemable at the Shareholder's option and are classified as financial liabilities. Any distributions on these shares are recognised in the Profit and Loss Account as Finance Costs. The Redeemable Participating Shares can be put back to the Portfolio on any dealing day for cash equal to a proportionate share of the Portfolio's Net Asset Value. The Redeemable Participating Shares are carried at the redemption amount that is payable at the balance sheet date if the Shareholder exercised the right to put the shares back to the Portfolio.

Distribution Policy

The Directors have determined to accumulate all net investment income and net realised capital gains attributable to the Accumulating Classes and therefore do not intend to declare dividends in respect of Shares in such classes.

Source of Distributions

Pursuant to the Articles, the Directors may declare dividends, in respect of any Shares out of net income (including dividend and interest income) and/or the excess of realised and unrealised capital gains over realised and unrealised losses in respect of investments of the Company (collectively "Net Income") and also out of capital. Dividends paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of a Shareholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such dividends may result in an immediate decrease in the Net Asset Value of the relevant Shares.

It is the current intention of the Directors, subject to any de minimis threshold, to declare and pay as a dividend at least 85% of the Net Income attributable to each of the Distributing Classes, other than (i) the (Weekly) Distributing Classes; (ii) the (Monthly) Distributing Classes; (iii) the (CG) Distributing Classes and (iv) such other Distributing Classes in a Portfolio which are specified in the relevant Supplement to pay dividends out of capital and Net Income. However, Shareholders should note that the Directors may, in their discretion, decide not to make such declaration and payment in respect of a Distributing Class.

In respect of the (Weekly) Distributing Classes, the (Monthly) Distributing Classes and the (CG) Distributing Classes, the Directors intend to declare and pay a weekly, monthly or semi-annual dividend respectively, attributable to the Shares of each such Class out of a combination of Net Income and capital, so that where Net Income during the relevant period is less than the amount declared, the balance will be paid of the capital represented by the relevant Shares, which will enable the Classes to distribute regular, set dividends. In the event that the Net Income attributable to the (Weekly) Distributing Classes, the (Monthly) Distributing Classes or the (CG) Distributing Classes exceeds the amount declared during the relevant period, the excess of Net Income over this amount will be retained in a distribution account in respect of the relevant Shares and will form part of the dividend payable in respect of the succeeding distribution period. While the foregoing represents the Directors' current intention in respect of the declaration and payment of dividends in respect of the (Weekly) Distributing Classes, the (Monthly) Distributing Classes and the (CG) Distributing Classes, the Directors may in their discretion decide not to make such declaration and payment and there is no guarantee that any such dividends will be paid.

Frequency of Distributions

Under normal circumstances, the Directors intend that dividends in respect of:

- (a) each of the (Weekly) Distributing Classes in all Portfolios shall be declared and paid on or prior to the last Business Day of each week;
- (b) each of the (Monthly) Distributing Classes in all Portfolios shall be declared on or prior to the last Business Day of each month and paid within three Business Days thereafter;
- (c) each of the (CG) Distributing Classes in all Portfolios shall be declared on a semi-annual basis and paid within thirty Business Days;
- (d) each of the other Distributing Classes of the Neuberger Berman US Small Cap Fund, the Neuberger Berman US Real Estate Securities Fund, the Neuberger Berman US Small Cap Intrinsic Value Fund, the Neuberger Berman China Onshore Bond Fund and the Neuberger Berman Asian Opportunities Fund shall be declared on a quarterly basis and paid within thirty Business Days in relation to the Net Income of such Distributing Classes for the previous quarter;
- (e) each of the other Distributing Classes of the Neuberger Berman High Yield Bond Fund, the Neuberger Berman Short Duration High Yield Bond Fund, the Neuberger Berman Global Bond Fund, the Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt – Local Currency Fund, the Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt – Hard Currency Fund, the Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Corporate Debt Fund, the Neuberger Berman Strategic Income Fund, the Neuberger Berman Global Bond Absolute Return Fund, the Neuberger Berman Short Duration Emerging Market Debt Fund, the Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt Blend Fund, the Neuberger Berman European High Yield Bond Fund, the Neuberger Berman Global Real Estate Securities Fund, the Neuberger Berman Corporate Hybrid Bond Fund, the Neuberger Berman Global Opportunistic Bond Fund, the Neuberger Berman Global High Yield Bond Fund, the Neuberger Berman Multi-Asset Risk Premia Fund and the Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt Blend Investment Grade Fund shall be declared on a quarterly basis and paid within thirty Business Days;
- (f) each of the other Distributing Classes of the Neuberger Berman Absolute Return Multi Strategy Fund, the Neuberger Berman US Long Short Equity Fund and the Neuberger Berman Uncorrelated Strategies Fund shall be declared on a semi-annual basis and paid within thirty Business Days;

- (g) each of the other Distributing Classes of the Neuberger Berman Multi-Asset Class Income Fund shall be declared on a quarterly basis and paid within thirty Business Days in relation to the Net Income of such Distributing Classes for the calendar year ended the previous 31 December; and
- (h) each of the other Distributing Classes of all other Portfolios shall be declared on an annual basis and paid within thirty Business Days in relation to the Net Income of the Distributing Classes for the calendar year ended the previous 31 December.

Subject to income being available for distribution, the Directors may also decide to declare and pay interim dividends in relation to any of the Distributing Classes. All Shares in issue in a Distributing Class on any date on which the Directors determine to declare a dividend in respect of such Distributing Class will be eligible for such dividend.

The Directors reserve the right to change the dividend policy of any class of Shares at its discretion on prior notice to Shareholders of the relevant class and this Prospectus will be updated to reflect any such change. Any dividend unclaimed after a period of six years from the date of its declaration of such dividend shall be forfeited and shall revert to the relevant Portfolio.

The Directors are empowered to issue up to 500,000,000,000 Shares of no par value in the Company on such terms as they think fit.

The Company is an investment company with variable capital due to its ability to issue and redeem shares on demand. The Investment Manager's Investment Risk Committee, the group responsible for risk oversight, also reviews stress test results on at least a quarterly basis. The Investment Manager seeks to ensure that adequate liquidity exists in the Portfolios to provide for shareholder redemptions in normal market conditions and normal levels of redemptions.

6. INVESTMENT MANAGER, ADMINISTRATOR, DISTRIBUTOR AND DEPOSITARY FEES (CONTINUED)

In respect of the B Shares, C Shares, E Shares, C1 Shares and C2 Shares in each Portfolio the Distributor shall be entitled to a distribution fee at the rate of 1.00% in respect of the distribution services provided to such classes, which shall accrue daily and be payable monthly in arrears at the end of each calendar month. In respect of all other classes, the Investment Manager may pay the Distributor a fee in respect of its distribution services out of the management fee. In respect of the M Shares in each Portfolio, the Distributor shall be entitled to a distribution fee at an annual rate expressed as a percentage of the Net Asset Value of the relevant Classes in respect of the distribution services provided to such Classes, which shall accrue daily and be payable monthly in arrears at the end of each calendar month. The rate of such distribution fee varies between Portfolios and is disclosed in the Supplement to the Prospectus for each Portfolio.

Advisor Fees

The fees paid to the advisers appointed by the Investment Manager and/or the Sub-Investment Manager will be paid out of the assets of the Portfolio. The aggregate fees paid to all advisers were between 0.65% and 1.50% of the Net Asset Value of the Portfolio. The aggregate advisor fee for the year ended 31 December 2017 was US$ 1,180,160 (31 December 2016: US$ 2,808,364).

Performance Fee paid to the Investment Manager

The Investment Manager may be entitled to receive a performance fee (the "Performance Fee") payable out of the Portfolio's assets in respect of each PF Class in the relevant Portfolio. The Depositary shall verify the calculation of the Performance Fee. The Directors may, with the consent of the Investment Manager, reduce the Performance Fee payable by any Class of Shares. Performance fees are payable on realised and unrealised capital gains taking into account realised and unrealised losses at the end of the Calculation Period. Consequently, performance fees may be paid on unrealised gains which may subsequently never be realised.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is calculated at Class level and not at an individual Shareholder level, they may be charged a Performance Fee even where the Net Asset Value of their Shares has remained the same or dropped, for example, where Shareholders purchase or redeem Shares at points other than the start and end of the Calculation Period.

If the Investment Management Agreement is terminated before the end of a Calculation Period in any year the performance fee in respect of the then current Calculation Period will be calculated and paid as though the date of termination were the end of the relevant Calculation Period.

The performance fee will be accrued in the Net Asset Value on each Dealing Day and will normally be payable to the Investment Manager in arrears within 30 Business Days of the end of each Calculation Period. However, in the case of Shares redeemed during a Calculation Period, the accrued performance fee in respect of those Shares will be payable to the Investment Manager within 30 Business Days of the date of redemption. Crystallised performance fees shall remain in the relevant Class (but shall not participate in subsequent gains and losses of the relevant Class) until paid to the Investment Manager and shall not be used or made available to satisfy redemptions or pay any fees and expenses of the relevant Class.

The methodology used to calculate the Performance Fee for each applicable Portfolio is as follows:

Neuberger Berman US Long Short Equity Fund

The Performance Fee will be calculated and accrued as at each Valuation Point. The Performance Fee will be calculated in respect of each financial year (a "Calculation Period") and is calculated on the unswung Net Asset Value of the Portfolio.

However, the first Calculation Period in respect of any Class will be the period commencing on the Business Day immediately following the close of the Initial Offer Period for that Class and ending on 31 December in that same year. The first value used in determining the first Performance Fee shall be the Initial Offer Price.

For each Calculation Period, the Performance Fee payable will be equal to 15% of the Net Outperformance of the Net Asset Value per Share over the High Water Mark.

Neuberger Berman US Long Short Equity Fund (continued)

The "Net Outperformance" is defined as the return on the Net Asset Value per Share, accumulated from the start of the Calculation Period.

The High Water Mark shall be the previous highest Net Asset Value per Share of the relevant Class at the end of any previous Calculation Period for the relevant Class on which the performance fee was paid. For the purposes of the first calculation of the Performance Fee, the starting point for the relevant Net Asset Value per Share is the Initial Offer Price.

No performance fee will be paid until the Net Asset Value per Share exceeds the High Water Mark or the Initial Offer Price, as appropriate and such fee is only payable on the Net Outperformance of the Net Asset Value per Share over the High Water Mark as described above.

Neuberger Berman Global Credit Long Short Fund

The Performance Fee will be calculated and accrued as at each Valuation Point. The Performance Fee will be calculated in respect of each financial year (a "Calculation Period") and is calculated on the unswung Net Asset Value of the Portfolio.

However, the first Calculation Period in respect of any Class will be the period commencing on the Business Day immediately following the close of the Initial Offer Period for that Class and ending on 31 December in that same year. The first value used in determining the first Performance Fee shall be the Initial Offer Price.

For each Calculation Period, the Performance Fee payable will be equal to 15% of the Net Outperformance of the Net Asset Value per Share over the 3 month Intercontinental Exchange London Interbank Offered Rate ("LIBOR") Index.

The "Net Outperformance" is defined as the return on the Net Asset Value per Share, accumulated from the start of the Calculation Period.

No Performance Fee shall be payable in respect of a Class unless the Net Asset Value per Share of the relevant Class has also increased during the Calculation Period. Furthermore, no Performance Fee shall be payable until any reduction in the Net Asset Value per Share of a Class has been recovered and the Net Asset Value per Share exceeds the level at which a Performance Fee was last paid.

With effect from 4 January 2016 this Portfolio's Performance Fee was calculated using Net Outperformance of a High Water Mark with a LIBOR hurdle. Prior to 4 January the Portfolio's performance fee was calculated using Net Outperformance of a High Water Mark only.

Neuberger Berman Global High Yield Bond Fund

A "Calculation Period" for the purpose of this section is a period (a) commencing on the Business Day immediately following the close of the Initial Offer Period for that Class and, for each subsequent period, commencing on the Business Day immediately following the last Business Day of the previous calendar quarter; and (b) ending on the last Business Day of the relevant calendar quarter.

For each Calculation Period, the performance fee payable in respect of each PF Class will be equal to 20% over the outperformance of the ICE BofAML Global High Yield Constrained Index (USD Hedged Total Return, gross of fees) (the "Benchmark") and shall be calculated at the end of each Calculation Period by deducting the "Benchmark Level" from the "Closing NAV" (excluding any swing factor applied on such day) for that Calculation Period (the "Outperformance"). For the purposes of such calculation, the "Benchmark Level" will be (a) for the initial Calculation Period, the Initial Offer Price per Share of that Class, and for each subsequent Calculation Period, the Net Asset Value per Share of that Class at the end of the preceding Calculation Period, adjusted to reflect the Benchmark Return; or (b) where no performance fee was accrued at the end of the prior Calculation Period, the Benchmark Level at the end of the preceding will Calculation Period adjusted to reflect the Benchmark Return.

The "Benchmark Return" shall be the aggregate notional return which would have accrued in that Calculation Period had the relevant amount been invested at the commencement of the Calculation Period in the Benchmark in the currency in which the relevant Class is denominated. The "Closing NAV" shall be the Net Asset Value per Share at the end of the Calculation Period at which the calculation is being made before accrual of the performance fee and swing factor. The performance fee payable will be equal to the Outperformance multiplied by the weighted average number of Shares in that Class in issue during the relevant Calculation Period.

In the event that the performance of a PF Class over a Calculation Period is less than the Benchmark Return, no performance fee shall be payable in respect of that PF Class until such cumulative underperformance relative to its Benchmark Return has been recovered.

No performance fee will be paid until the Net Asset Value per Share exceeds the Benchmark Level and such fee is only payable on the Outperformance of the Net Asset Value per Share over the Benchmark Level as described above. Shareholders should note that, as the performance fee is payable on the outperformance over the Benchmark, they may be charged a performance fee where the Net Asset Value of their Shares has declined but to a lesser extent than the Benchmark.

*Performance Fee paid to the advisersNeuberger Berman Uncorrelated Strategies Fund

The advisers appointed by the Investment Manager and/or the Sub-Investment Manager ("External Advisers") may be entitled to receive a performance fee (the "Performance Fee") payable out of the Portfolio's assets and as described more fully below. However, for the avoidance of doubt, no performance fees will be paid to the Investment Manager and Sub-Investment Manager on any portion of the Portfolio's assets which is managed by the Investment Manager and Sub-Investment Manager acting in the capacity of an Adviser.

All Classes in the Portfolio are PF Classes.

A Performance Fee is payable to an External Adviser only with respect to the part of the Portfolio for which that External Adviser is responsible (the "Allocated Portion") and only from the time that the Investment Manager or Sub-Investment Manager appoints that External Adviser to manage the Allocated Portion until such time, if ever, that the External Adviser ceases to manage the Allocated Portion (the "Term of Appointment").

The Performance Fee will be calculated and accrued daily as at each Valuation Point. The Performance Fee will be calculated in respect of an annual performance period (or such part thereof for which an External Adviser is appointed) (a "Calculation Period") and is calculated on the unswung Net Asset Value of the External Adviser's Allocated Portion. However, the first Calculation Period in respect of any Allocated Portion will commence on the first day of the relevant External Adviser's Term of Appointment (which will be the Business Day immediately following the close of the Initial Offer Period, where the External Adviser is appointed at or before the close of the Initial Offer Period) and end on the last day of the relevant year. If an External Adviser's appointment is terminated before the end of a Calculation Period the performance fee in respect of the then current Calculation Period will be calculated and paid as though the date of termination were the end of the relevant Calculation Period.

For each Calculation Period, the Performance Fee payable will be equal to the increase in the External Adviser's Allocated Portion's Net Asset Value above the High Water Mark, multiplied by the relevant External Adviser's performance fee percentage, as agreed with the Investment Manager and the Sub-Investment Manager which shall not exceed 20%. The "High-Water Mark" shall be either the value that the Allocated Portion has achieved on the final day of the most recent Calculation Period in respect of which accrued performance fee was paid, adjusted for any subscriptions and/or redemptions affecting the Allocated Portion; or, where no accrued performance fee has been paid to an External Adviser in respect of any previous Calculation Period, the Net Asset Value of the adviser's Allocated Portion at the commencement of the relevant Term of Appointment. For the avoidance of doubt, a Performance Fee is only payable to an External Adviser if the Net Asset Value of the Allocated Portion exceeds the applicable High Water Mark. The value used in determining the Performance Fee in respect of the first Calculation Period in respect of each External Adviser shall be the Net Asset Value of the adviser's Allocated Portion at the commencement of the relevant Term of Appointment.

The Performance Fee will normally be payable to an External Adviser in arrears within 30 Business Days of 31 December each year. However, if an External Adviser's appointment is terminated before 31 December in any year, the Performance Fee in respect of that External Adviser's Allocated Portion will be calculated and paid following the end of the External Adviser's Term of Appointment. Further, in the case of amounts redeemed from an External Adviser's Allocated Portion during a Calculation Period, the accrued Performance Fee in respect of such amounts will be payable within 30 Business Days of the end of the calendar quarter during which the redemption was made. Crystallised Performance Fees shall remain in the cash management accounts of the Company until paid to the External Adviser and shall not participate in subsequent gains and losses of the Allocated Portion. Crystallised Performance Fees shall not be used or made available to satisfy redemptions or pay any fees and expenses of the relevant Allocated Portion, Portfolio or the Company (other than those fees payable to the External Adviser).

The calculation of any Performance Fee must be verified by the Depositary.

Investors should note that, as the Performance Fee is calculated and may be payable to an External Adviser with respect to the performance of its Allocated Portion and not the performance of the Portfolio as a whole, it is possible that the Portfolio could pay a Performance Fee to an External Adviser in circumstances where the overall performance of the Portfolio as a whole is negative. This could occur where, for example, during a Calculation Period one External Adviser's Allocated Portion performs well but the remaining External Advisers' Allocated Portions perform negatively and the aggregate total of the negative performance exceeds that of the positive performance of the External Adviser receiving the Performance Fee. Performance Fees are payable on realised and unrealised capital gains, which for the avoidance of doubt includes investment income, taking into account realised and unrealised losses at the end of the Calculation Period. Consequently, Performance Fees may be paid on unrealised gains which may subsequently never be realised.

For the year ended 31 December 2017, Academy Investment Management LLC, Sabre Fund Management Limited and AltIQ LLP earned performance fees of US$ 691,171, US$ 902,659 and US$ 325,730, respectively.

Depositary Fee

The Company pays the Depositary a fee in respect of trustee services for each Portfolio which shall not exceed 0.02% per annum of the Net Asset Value of the relevant Portfolio and which accrues monthly and is payable monthly in arrears. The Depositary is also entitled to reimbursement by the Company out of the assets of the Portfolio for safekeeping fees, transaction charges and reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred for the benefit of the Portfolio including the fees (which will not exceed normal commercial rates) and reasonable out-of-pocket expenses of any sub-custodian appointed by the Depositary.

12. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT DISCLOSURES

In pursuing its investment objectives the Company invests in transferable securities with the aim of spreading risk. Investments in equities and fixed income securities expose the Company to varying risks including market, liquidity and credit/counterparty risks. A description of the specific risks and the policies for managing these risks are included below. Fair value is determined in accordance with the methodology outlined in the Statement of Significant Accounting Policies. The schedule of investments of the Company at the year-end are representative of the type of investments held during the year.

Market Risk

Market risk embodies the potential for both losses and gains and includes price risk, interest rate risk and foreign currency risk.

All security investments present a risk of loss of capital. The Investment Manager moderates this risk through a careful selection of securities and other financial instruments within specified limits. The Company's overall markets positions are monitored on a daily basis by the Portfolio's Investment Manager and are reviewed on a quarterly basis by the Board of Directors. The Company's equity and debt securities and trading derivative financial instruments are susceptible to market price risk arising from uncertainties about future prices of the instruments.

(a) Price Risk

Price risk is the risk that the fair values of securities decrease as a result of changes in the levels of the indices and the values of individual securities. The trading price risk exposure arises from the Company's investment portfolios.

The majority of the Company's investments are listed on recognised exchanges or traded on regulated markets as per the Prospectus. As at 31 December 2017 and 31 December 2016, a 10% increase in security prices would have increased the Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares and the Changes in Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares of each Portfolio as outlined in the table below. An equal change in the opposite direction would have decreased the Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares by an equal but opposite amount.

Other price risk is the risk that the value of the instruments will fluctuate as a result of changes in market prices (other than those arising from interest rate risk or currency risk), whether caused by factors specific to an individual instrument, its issuer or all factors affecting all instruments traded in the market. As the majority of the Company's financial instruments are carried at fair value with fair value changes recognised in the Profit and Loss Account changes in market conditions will directly affect Net Gain/(Loss) on Financial Assets and Liabilities at Fair Value through Profit or Loss.

Price risk is managed by the Investment Manager by investing in a diversified range of securities in different markets.

The Net Asset Value per share of a Portfolio will be computed in the base currency of the relevant Portfolio, whereas the investments held for the account of that Portfolio may be acquired in other currencies. The base currency value of the investments of a Portfolio designated in another currency may rise and fall due to exchange rate fluctuations in respect of the relevant currencies. Adverse movements in currency exchange rates can result in a decrease in return and a loss of capital. Positions are monitored on a daily basis and hedging strategies are used to ensure positions are maintained within established limits.

At 31 December 2017 and 31 December 2016, had the base currency of the relevant Portfolio strengthened by 5% in relation to all currencies, with all other variables held constant, Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares and the Change in Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares per the Profit and Loss Account would have (decreased)/increased as outlined in the table below.

12. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT DISCLOSURES (CONTINUED)

(c) Interest Rate Risk

The Portfolios may hold investments in fixed interest bearing securities. Any change to the interest rate for particular securities may result in income either increasing or decreasing. Prices of securities held will be impacted by domestic rates of interest. The Portfolio's performance therefore will depend in part on its ability to anticipate and respond to such fluctuations in market interest rates. The Investment Managers and Sub-Investment Managers manage this risk by way of duration and yield curve analysis to establish and monitor duration positioning and yield curve structure.

The Company has forty one Portfolios as at the year ended 31 December 2017. Of the Portfolios, fourteen are Portfolios where the majority of the assets and liabilities of the Portfolio is invested in equity securities and are non-interest bearing. As a result, these Portfolios are not subject to significant amounts of risk due to fluctuations in the prevailing level of market interest rates.

At year end, Neuberger Berman High Yield Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Diversified Currency Fund, Neuberger Berman Short Duration High Yield Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt – Local Currency Fund, Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt – Hard Currency Fund, Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Corporate Debt Fund, Neuberger Berman Strategic Income Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Bond Absolute Return Fund, Neuberger Berman Short Duration Emerging Market Debt Fund, Neuberger Berman Absolute Return Multi Strategy Fund, Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt Blend Fund, Neuberger Berman European High Yield Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Credit Long Short Fund, Neuberger Berman Asian Debt – Hard Currency Fund, Neuberger Berman China Onshore Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Dynamic Asset Allocator Fund, Neuberger Berman Corporate Hybrid Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Global High Yield Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Opportunistic Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Multi-Asset Risk Premia Fund, Neuberger Berman Multi-Asset Class Income Fund, Neuberger Berman US Equity Index PutWrite Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Equity Index PutWrite Fund, Neuberger Berman Uncorrelated Strategies Fund, Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt Blend Investment Grade Fund and Neuberger Berman Multi-Asset Class Growth Fund invested primarily in fixed income instruments and are therefore exposed to the effects of fluctuations in the prevailing level of market interest rates on their respective financial position and cash flows.

Based on the Portfolios' compositions as at 31 December 2017 and 31 December 2016, had interest rates fallen by 0.50% with all other variables held constant, it is estimated that Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares and the Change in Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares per the Profit and Loss Account would have increased/decreased by approximately the values outlined in the table below. A 0.50% rise in rates would have resulted in an equal but opposite effect.

Credit risk is the risk that an issuer or counterparty will be unable to meet a commitment that it has entered into with the Company. It is the Company's policy to enter into financial instruments with a diversity of creditworthy counterparties. Therefore, the Company does not expect to incur material credit losses on its financial instruments. The Investment Manager performs assessments of the credit quality of trading counterparties used by the Company. This assessment includes, at minimum, an initial and annual credit review based on financial and/or third-party ratings data. Counterparties used for forwards and other OTC derivatives are subject to heightened monitoring, which includes in-depth credit reviews considering third-party ratings and/or factors such as capital adequacy, asset quality, management quality, earnings, and liquidity. The Investment Manager also follows news regarding the financial sector to monitor industry trends as well as events that may directly impact specific counterparties.

The Company's maximum exposure to credit risk (not taking into account the value of any collateral or other security held) in the event that counterparties fail to perform their obligations as at 31 December 2017 in relation to each class of recognised financial assets, other than derivatives, is the carrying amount of those assets as indicated in the Balance Sheet.

Transactions involving derivative financial instruments are usually with counterparties with whom the Portfolio has signed master netting agreements. Master netting agreements provide for the net settlement of contracts with the same counterparty in the event of default. The credit risk associated with derivative financial assets subject to a master netting arrangement is eliminated only to the extent that financial liabilities due to the same counterparty will be settled after the assets are realised. Risk is also managed by collateral being immediately available to the Company without recourse to counterparty in the event of default of counterparty.

Cash held via accounts opened on the books of Brown Brothers Harriman & Co. ("BBH") are obligations of BBH while cash held in accounts opened directly on the books of a third party cash correspondent bank, sub-custodian or a broker (collectively, "agency accounts") are obligations of the agent. Cash held via agency cash accounts are liabilities of the agent, creating a debtor/creditor relationship directly between the agent and the Company. Accordingly, while BBH is responsible for exercising reasonable care in the administration of such agency cash accounts where it has appointed the agent (i.e., in the case of cash correspondent banks and sub-custodians), it is not liable for their repayment in the event the agent, by reason of its bankruptcy, insolvency or otherwise, fails to make repayment. As at 31 December 2017, all cash and bank balances held on overnight deposit were with third party institutions, as outlined in Note 3. Cash and Cash Equivalents, that have a long term credit rating which is above investment grade as issued by Standard & Poor's (31 December 2016: same). BBH has a long term credit rating of A+ (31 December 2016: A+) as issued by Fitch.

The Depositary must ensure that there is legal separation of non-cash assets held in custody, that such assets are held on a fiduciary basis, and that appropriate internal control systems are maintained such that records clearly identify the nature and amount of all assets under custody. As Depositary, Brown Brothers Harriman Trustee Services (Ireland) Limited ("BBHTS") must ensure the ownership of each asset and the location of documents of title for each asset.

The key risk for the Company remains Credit Risk i.e. that the Investment Manager buys a loan or bond of a particular issuer and it does not perform as expected and either defaults on a payment or experiences a significant drop in the secondary market value.

To mitigate this risk, the Investment Manager carries out independent due diligence on each borrower, and has a focus on stable, performing credits that evidence strong track records through previous economic cycles. Additionally, the size of an issuer is also considered and the Investment Manager continues to favour the larger issuers in the market, defined by having debt issuance greater than $500m. These issuers tend to have broader syndicates, which can aid liquidity in the secondary market. As well as screening out the smaller issuers the Investment Manager also excludes highly cyclical industries and companies with limited earning visibility from its Investment Process.

Once a particular investment has been made, the Investment Manager monitors it. A range of relevant data is reviewed on an ongoing basis for each investment, including, but not limited to, key financial drivers, commodity prices, stock prices, regulatory developments, financial results, press releases and management commentary to identify any indicators of credit deterioration.

To manage this risk further, the Board ensures that the Investment Manager operates in accordance with the investment limits and restrictions policy determined by the Board. The Directors monitor the implementation and results of the investment process with the Investment Manager at each Board meeting and monitor risk factors in respect of each Portfolio.

The securities that BBH holds in custody include equities, fixed income securities, participatory notes, asset backed securities and REITS.

All securities that BBH holds in custody (as global sub-custodian for and on behalf of BBHTS for further benefit of its underlying clients) are segregated from BBH's own assets, whether they are held in BBH's vault, in segregated accounts on the books of their sub-custodians, or in an account maintained at a central securities depository. BBH maintains segregated accounts per client on its own books as well as on the books of the sub-custodian in the local market, where this is possible. As Depositary, BBHTS must also ensure non-cash assets are held on a fiduciary basis through BBH's network of global sub-custodians.

BBH's sub-custodians are required by contract with BBH and generally by operation of law to segregate the securities of custody clients from the general banking assets of the sub-custodian.

BBH performs both initial and ongoing due diligence reviews on the sub-custodians within its global custody network through its Network Management Group. Such reviews include an assessment of service level standards, management expertise, market information, custody operations, reporting and technology capabilities at the sub-custodian, as well as reviews in relation to their reputation and standing in the market and their ongoing commitment to providing custody services.

Service level agreements are put in place with each sub-custodian, as well as the usual contractual arrangements, and these are reviewed on a regular basis through service review meetings, including on-site due diligence meetings.

Regular financial analysis of all sub-custodians is carried out by BBH's Risk and Credit Group and is focused on the sub-custodian bank's capital adequacy, asset quality, earnings, liquidity and credit ratings as key indicators, amongst others. These reviews form part of BBH's routine assessment of a sub-custodian's financial strength and standing.

The Company monitors its risk in accordance with UCITS guidelines and reports to the Board of Directors on a periodic basis.

The Company invests in debt instruments that may receive a credit rating from a well-known rating agency. The credit ratings in the tables below are calculated as a percentage of fixed income securities, where there is a significant proportion of that Portfolio held as fixed income. A debt instrument is considered Investment Grade by Standard & Poor's and Fitch if its credit rating is BBB- or higher and by Moody's if its credit rating is Baa3 or higher. As at 31 December 2017 and 31 December 2016 the exposures by credit rating for each applicable Portfolio were as follows:

(e) Liquidity Risk

The main liquidity risks of the Company are associated with the need to satisfy Shareholders' requests for redemptions. The Company is exposed to daily cash redemptions of Redeemable Participating Shares. Redeemable Participating Shares are redeemed on demand at the holder's option based on the relevant Portfolio's Net Asset Value per Share at the time of redemption. This risk is mitigated by the Company primarily investing in securities listed or traded on the recognised markets in OECD member states and other countries thus assets comprise principally of realisable securities, which can be readily sold. Additionally, if there are any collateral arrangements in place with a counterparty, this will limit the extent to which liabilities may be extended to the Company.

The tables which follow analyse the Company's financial liabilities and net settled derivative financial liabilities into relevant maturity groupings based on the remaining period at the balance sheet date to the contractual maturity date. The amounts in the tables are the contractual undiscounted cash flows.

The majority of financial assets of the Company can be liquidated within 30 days.

The maturity grouping is based on the remaining period from the end of the reporting period to the contractual maturity date. When the counterparty has a choice of when the amount is paid, the liability is allocated to the earliest on which the Company can be required to pay.

As at 31 December 2017, the vast majority of liabilities (above 95% based on total liabilities including Redeemable Participating Shares) of all Portfolios were payable in one month.

As at 31 December 2016, the vast majority of liabilities (above 95% based on total liabilities including Redeemable Participating Shares) were payable in one month with an exception of the below Portfolios:

Fair Value of Investments

FRS 102 Section 11.27 on “Fair Value: Disclosure” requires disclosure relating to the fair value hierarchy in which fair value measurements are categorised for assets and liabilities. The disclosures are based on a three-level fair value hierarchy for the inputs used in valuation techniques to measure fair value. In March 2016 amendments were made to paragraphs 34.22 and 34.42 of this FRS, revising the disclosure requirements for financial institutions and retirement benefit plans. All entities applied these amendments for accounting periods beginning on or after 1 January 2017. This amendment has been adopted in the preparation of these financial statements.

The Company has classified fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The three levels of the fair value hierarchy under FRS 102 are described below:

Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets that are accessible at the measurement date for identical unrestricted assets or liabilities;

Level 2 – Inputs other than quoted prices included in Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (as prices) or indirectly (derived from prices);

Level 3 – Inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (unobservable inputs). Pricing inputs are unobservable for the investment and include situations where there is little, if any market activity for the instrument. The inputs into the determination of fair value require significant management, judgement or estimation. As observable prices are not available for these securities, the Portfolios would have used valuation techniques to derive the fair value if applicable.

The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement is categorised in its entirety is determined on the basis of the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. For this purpose, the significance of an input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety. For example, if a fair value measurement uses observable inputs that require significant adjustment based on unobservable inputs, that measure is a Level 3 measurement.

Assessing the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgement in considering the factors specific to the asset or liability.

The determination of what constitutes “observable” requires judgement by the Directors in consultation with the Investment Manager.

Securities categorised as Level 3 are generally valued based on a single quotation obtained from a dealer, but can also be fair valued securities with unobservable inputs. The Portfolios do not have access to unobservable inputs and therefore cannot disclose such inputs used in formulating such quotation, nor can the impact on valuation of changing one or more inputs to reasonably possible alternative assumption be established.

24. DERIVATIVE CONTRACTS

The Investment Manager of the Company is an affiliate of Neuberger Berman LLC, who is a registered investment advisor with the Securities Exchange Commission in the United States. The information included here represents US GAAP equivalent disclosures that are provided in order to enable the Investment Manager to avail of certain exemptions available to it under the SEC Custody Rule.

The Portfolios may transact in a variety of derivative instruments including forward currency contracts, futures contracts, contracts for difference, options contracts, interest rate, credit default, cross currency and total return swap contracts.

Typically derivatives serve as components of the Portfolios' investment strategy and are utilised primarily to structure and hedge investments, to enhance performance and reduce risk to the Portfolios (the Company does not designate any derivative as a hedging instrument for hedge accounting purposes).

The Company uses financial derivative instruments to economically hedge its risks associated primarily with interest rate and foreign currency fluctuations. Derivatives may also be used for trading purposes where the Investment Manager believes this would be more effective than investing directly in the underlying financial instruments.

Derivatives often reflect, at their inception only a mutual exchange of promises with little or no transfer of tangible consideration. However, these instruments frequently involve a high degree of leverage and are very volatile. A relatively small movement in the underlying of a derivative contract may have a significant impact on the profit or loss of the Company.

The Investment Manager closely monitors the Portfolios' exposure under derivatives as part of the overall management of the Portfolios.

The Fair Value of these derivative instruments is included in the Balance Sheet with changes in Fair Value included in Net gain/(loss) on Financial Assets and Liabilities at Fair Value through Profit and Loss Account.

The Portfolios hold forward currency contracts some of which are specific to hedged share classes. Currency rate fluctuations that impact these forwards will only affect the net assets in the respective class and not the Portfolio as a whole. Refer to the Schedules of Investments for further information on class level forward currency contracts.

The notionals summarised in the table below are as at 31 December 2017 and are indicative of the volume of derivative activity for the year/period. The notionals are not indicative of market risk or credit risk.

Commitments

In the normal course of business the Company enters into contracts that contain a variety of representations and warranties which provide general indemnifications. Certain contracts are required to be accounted for pursuant to "Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, Including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others", which addresses the disclosures to be made by a guarantor and whether a liability should be recognised by a guarantor at the inception of a guarantee. If required by that statement, the liability for a guarantee would be recorded at fair value at the inception of the guarantee. The Company's maximum exposure under other arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Company that have not yet occurred. However, based on experience, the Company expects the risk of loss to be low.

24. DERIVATIVE CONTRACTS (CONTINUED)

Credit-Risk-Related Contingent Features

The Portfolios' derivative contracts are subject to International Swaps and Derivatives Association ("ISDA") Master Agreements which contain certain covenants and other provisions that may require the Company to post additional collateral on derivatives or terminate these agreements if the Company fails to maintain sufficient asset coverage for its contracts or its net assets decline by stated percentages or amounts. The Portfolios entered into credit default swaps as part of its investment strategies, to hedge against unfavourable changes in the value of investments and to protect against adverse movements in interest rates or credit performance with counterparties. The maximum potential amount the Portfolios could be required to pay as a seller of credit protection if a credit event occurs as at 31 December 2017 was US$ 33,614,750 (31 December 2016: US$ 16,226,852). The aggregate fair value of all credit default swaps as at 31 December 2017 was US$(3,150,079) (31 December 2016: US$(173,667)). There were no other derivative instruments with credit-risk-related contingent features held by the Company at 31 December 2017.

APPENDIX IIIINFORMATION ON GLOBAL EXPOSURE (UNAUDITED)*Measurement of Market Risk and Leverage using the Commitment Approach and VaR

The Portfolios will seek to limit the market risk and leverage created through the use of derivatives by using either the commitment approach or by using a sophisticated risk measurement technique known as value-at-risk ("VaR"). The Neuberger Berman High Yield Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman US Multi Cap Opportunities Fund, Neuberger Berman US Real Estate Securities Fund, Neuberger Berman China Equity Fund, Neuberger Berman Emerging Markets Equity Fund, Neuberger Berman US Small Cap Fund, Neuberger Berman Short Duration High Yield Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Short Duration Emerging Market Debt Fund, Neuberger Berman European High Yield Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Equity Fund, Neuberger Berman Systematic Global Equity Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Real Estate Securities Fund, Neuberger Berman US Small Cap Intrinsic Value Fund, Neuberger Berman Asian Opportunities Fund, Neuberger Berman Corporate Hybrid Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman US Equity Fund, Neuberger Berman Global High Yield Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Emerging Markets Sustainable Equity Fund and Neuberger Berman China Equity Opportunities Fund use the commitment approach.

The commitment approach calculates leverage by measuring the market value of the underlying exposures of derivatives relative to the relevant Portfolio's NAV but such leverage will not exceed the Portfolio's Net Asset Value at any time.

The Neuberger Berman Diversified Currency Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Bond Absolute Return Fund, Neuberger Berman Absolute Return Multi Strategy Fund, Neuberger Berman US Long Short Equity Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Credit Long Short Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Dynamic Asset Allocator Fund, Neuberger Berman Multi-Asset Risk Premia Fund, Neuberger Berman Multi-Asset Class Income Fund, Neuberger Berman US Equity Index PutWrite Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Equity Index PutWrite Fund, Neuberger Berman Uncorrelated Strategies Fund and Neuberger Berman Multi-Asset Class Growth Fund use the absolute VaR approach while the Neuberger Berman Global Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt – Local Currency Fund, Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt – Hard Currency Fund, Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Corporate Debt Fund, Neuberger Berman Strategic Income Fund, Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt Blend Fund, Neuberger Berman Asian Debt – Hard Currency Fund, Neuberger Berman China Onshore Bond Fund, Neuberger Berman Global Opportunistic Bond Fund and Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt Blend Investment Grade Fund use the relative VaR approach to their respective benchmarks.

VaR is a statistical methodology that seeks to predict, using historical data, the likely maximum loss that a Portfolio could suffer, calculated to a specific (e.g., 99 percent.) confidence level. A Portfolio may use an "absolute" VaR model where the measurement of VaR is relative to the NAV of the Portfolio or the Portfolio may use a relative VaR model where the measurement of VaR is relative to a derivatives free comparable benchmark or equivalent portfolio. A VaR model has certain inherent limitations and it cannot be relied upon to predict or guarantee that the size or frequency of losses incurred by a Portfolio will be limited to any extent. As the VaR model relies on historical market data as one of its key inputs, if current market conditions differ from those during the historical observation period, the effectiveness of the VaR model in predicting the VaR of a Portfolio may be materially impaired. The effectiveness of the VaR model could be impaired in a similar fashion if other assumptions or components comprised in the VaR model prove to be inadequate or incorrect. Because of these limitations shareholders may suffer serious financial consequences in abnormal market conditions or conditions that otherwise differ from those during the historical observation period.

The following calculation standards are employed for the Portfolios using the VaR model. However, these calculation standards are dealt with in more detail in the risk management process of the Portfolio and may change from time to time at the discretion of the Investment Manager and in accordance with the requirements of the Central Bank:

- (i) one-tailed confidence interval of 99 percent.;

APPENDIX III (CONTINUED)INFORMATION ON GLOBAL EXPOSURE (UNAUDITED) (CONTINUED)

Depending on market conditions, the Portfolios may employ leverage from time to time. In this context, "leverage" is calculated, in accordance with the requirements of the Central Bank, as the sum of the notionals of the derivatives used. Applying this calculation method, it is possible for the leverage of the Portfolios to be as high as 2 times (200 percent) of the Net Asset Value of the Portfolios. The disclosed level of leverage is not intended to be an additional risk exposure limit for the Portfolios. Furthermore, it is not intended that the leverage level by itself be indicative of the risk profile of the Portfolios.

The tables below details the level of leverage employed during the year ended 31 December 2017 and is calculated as the sum of the absolute value of the notionals of the derivatives used and expressed as a percentage of the Net Asset Value:

Portfolio	31 December 2017
Neuberger Berman Global Bond Fund	269.2%
Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt - Local Currency Fund	321.1%
Neuberger Berman Emerging Market Debt - Hard Currency Fund	141.9%

Fixed income securities are subject to the risk of an issuer's ability to meet principal and interest payments on the obligation (credit risk) and may also be subject to price volatility due to such factors as interest rate sensitivity, market perception of the creditworthiness of the issuer and general market liquidity (market risk). Fixed income securities are also exposed to the risk that their or their issuers' credit ratings may be downgraded, which can cause a significant drop in the value of such securities.

Lower rated or unrated (i.e. non-investment grade or high yield) securities are more likely to react to developments affecting market and credit risk than are more highly rated securities, which primarily react to movements in the general level of interest rates. Investors should carefully consider the relative risks of investing in high yield securities and understand that such securities generally are not meant for short-term investing. Investors who subscribe in a currency other than the base currency of the Company are exposed to currency risk. Fluctuations in these exchange rates may affect the return on investment.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. For details of the investment risks, which may include but are not limited to liquidity, interest rate, credit and currency risk, see the current prospectus. Please note that any dividends/interest which the Company may receive may be subject to withholding tax. The benchmark does not take into account the effects of tax and the deduction is therefore not reflected in the benchmark return illustrated herein. The investment objective and performance benchmark is a target only and not a guarantee of the Company performance. The index is unmanaged and cannot be invested in directly. Index returns assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains and unlike fund returns do not reflect fees or expenses. Adverse movements in currency exchange rates can result in a decrease in return and a loss of capital. The investments of each Portfolio may be fully hedged into the Portfolio's base currency: this may reduce currency risks but may also expose the Portfolio to other risks such as the default of a counterparty. As noted above for further information relating to risks specific to this strategy please see the current prospectus.
