Performance

Performance

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was -1.95%.

The high yield bond index delivered a total return of -1.47% in February, which is the second consecutive month of negative returns. Excess returns were -0.97%, where underlying sovereign rates widened, detracting another 0.5% from total returns. The fund underperformed its benchmark by 14 bps. Our underweight beta contribution was positive by 12 bps, as spreads widened for the month. Issuer selection was negative and detracted 26 bps. Our quality bias, overweighting BBs versus an underweight in Bs and CCCs, did not contribute positively, as higher rating categories underperformed on a risk-adjusted basis. The lack of liquidity and stale pricing are the main reasons why lower quality outperformed. Our regional allocation, being overweight European versus underweight US high yield, detracted 20 bps. Spreads in the EUR market were significantly weaker. Energy was best-performing sector, as oil prices kept rising, which also contributed to the outperformance of CCCs in the US. On an issuer level, we benefited from not owning Veon (Dutch-listed Russian telecom player), adding 11 bps. We lost some relative performance with our overweights in Netflix, Faurecia and IQVIA.

Market development

High yield bonds continued their 2022 slump, posting another loss in February after an already weak start of the year. Markets were anticipating an aggressive pace of interest rate hikes by the Fed in response to increasing inflationary pressures. The US 10-year Treasury yield was on an upward trend, rising above 2% for the first time in three years, before ending the month around a level of 1.85%. In Europe, geopolitical tensions reached new highs with Russia's unexpected and aggressive invasion of Ukraine. The Western world responded by imposing fierce economic sanctions on Russia. Next to the devastating effects of the war on innocent lives, the economic implications will have major consequences as well. The reaction in the high yield market was rather muted compared to equities and commodities. Commodity prices continued to go up, where a barrel of oil surpassed the magic threshold of USD 100. This effect was also visible in European natural gas futures that accelerated to all-time highs. The primary market was very soft on the back of these increased risk factors. Global high yield spreads widened 33 bps and are now at 379 bps with an average yield of 5.38%.

Expectation of fund manager

The world has probably changed for the worse after the invasion of Ukraine. So far, markets have been enjoying the economic recovery fueled by the reopening of economies and central banking stimulus. How to deal with rising inflation and whether or not this is transitory has been the main rhetoric in the market. Now, there is growing consensus that an extended period of aggravated geopolitical tensions and elevated commodity prices will persist, leading to an even stickier inflation figure. The jury is still out on whether we will have economic growth after all the imposed sanctions and repercussions. Will we put an end to our Russian natural gas dependency? Will this lead to stagflation in Europe and the US? Central banks were ready to change their trajectory, but how will they react in this new environment? In the past few days, valuations have moved closer to longer-term averages, and opportunities will arise as markets are pricing in a new reality. We are still cautious but looking to increase the beta when we deem that risk premiums are priced in correctly.

Top 10 largest positions

Our top ten holdings consist mostly of BB-rated large caps in sectors such as communications and consumer cyclicals. The telecom sector is highly concentrated, with a number of large issuers. We have a more cautious view on the sector as a whole, but there are still some investable large caps such as cable companies Level 3 and Charter. A large overweight in media is Netflix, a company we like for its strong content and distribution platform. In the automotive sector you can find some highly rated suppliers with strong market shares and good relative value. Hence, large positions in quality names such as Goodyear, Faurecia and ZF Industries.

Changes

The benchmark of the fund is Bloomberg Barclays US Corp. HY & Pan Eur. HY ex Fin. 2,5% issuer Cap (hedged into USD). The fund aims to outperform by taking positions that deviate from the benchmark within predefined risk limits. This share class of the fund hedged the interest rate duration until 10 December 2019 to nearly zero, therefore the benchmark of the fund was not representative. Since 11 December 2019, the duration hedge was removed and the benchmark is representative to compare the fund performance.

Sustainability

The fund incorporates sustainability in the investment process via exclusions, ESG integration and engagement. The fund does not invest in credit issuers that are in breach of international norms or where activities have been deemed detrimental to society following Robeco's exclusion policy. Financially material ESG factors are integrated in the bottom-up security analysis to assess the impact on the issuer's fundamental credit quality. In the credit selection the fund limits exposure to issuers with an elevated sustainability risk profile. Lastly, where issuers are flagged for breaching international standards in the ongoing monitoring, the issuer will become subject to engagement.

Sector allocation

Overweights are in less cyclical sectors such as food and packaging, as well as in financials, which is an off-benchmark position. The fund also holds an overweight in the cyclical automotive sector, which trades at a spread premium to other sectors. Underweights are in sectors such as energy, telecom and pharma/healthcare.

Investment policy

Robeco High Yield Bonds is an actively managed fund that invests in high yield corporate bonds. The selection of these bonds is mainly based on fundamental analysis. The fund's objective is to provide long-term capital growth. The fund promotes certain ESG (environmental, social and corporate governance) characteristics within the meaning of Article 8 of the European Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation, and integrates ESG and sustainability risks in the investment process. In addition, the fund applies an exclusion list based on controversial behavior, products (including controversial weapons, tobacco, palm oil and fossil fuel) and countries. The fund invests in corporate bonds with a sub-investment grade rating, issued primarily by issuers from developed markets (Europe/US). The portfolio is broadly diversified, with a structural bias towards the higher rated part in high yield. Performance drivers are the top-down beta positioning as well as bottom-up issuer selection. The majority of bonds selected will be components of the benchmark, but bonds outside the Benchmark index may be selected too. The fund can deviate substantially from the weightings of the benchmark. The fund aims to outperform the benchmark over the long run, while still controlling relative risk through the application of limits (on currencies and issuers) to the extent of the deviation from the benchmark. This will consequently limit the deviation of the performance relative to the benchmark. The Benchmark is a broad market-weighted index that is not consistent with the ESG characteristics promoted by the fund.
