Hermes Investment Management is an active asset manager working to deliver excellent, long-term, risk adjusted performance – responsibly. We strive to lead the debate and contribute to the transformation of the investment industry for the benefit of our clients, their stakeholders and, ultimately, society at large.

Our agenda and activities are driven by the long term objectives of our clients' beneficiaries and we act in their interests.

Responsibility in practice

We have a comprehensive programme to ensure our responsibility approach and activities are integrated seamlessly in our funds and stewardship service. This includes:

- Delivering sustainable performance within the terms of the mandate and within the clients' risk appetite
- Taking into account all material investment factors including environmental, social and governance (ESG) ensuring that we are informed though not constrained by these considerations
- Acting as a responsible, engaged, long-term steward of investments encompassing constructive dialogue and taking action where necessary
- Engaging with public policy makers and industry bodies to encourage a sustainable economy beyond the timeframe of a specific mandate

Hermes investment teams across Real Estate, Equities and Fixed Income integrate ESG factors into their investment decisions by accessing in-house expertise, proprietary and third-party research. This includes Hermes' proprietary ESG Dashboard which provides an ESG score per stock and the ESG Portfolio Monitor, which provides a holistic view of ESG statistics at a portfolio level. The ESG dashboard and Portfolio Monitor draw on best-inclass data from various sources including ISS, MSCI, Sustainalytics, Trucost as well as voting and engagement progress data from Hermes Equity Ownership Services Limited ("EOS"), our stewardship service. Through the dashboard and close interaction with the EOS team, our investment teams are able to benefit from the unique data insights and positive impact of our engagement work.

EOS at Federated Hermes, which provides stewardship services, is a global market leader in voting and engagement with both companies and public policy makers. The team makes voting recommendations over 10,000 company meetings and actively engages with more than 400 companies a year at executive and board level on a range of issues including board governance, executive remuneration, risk management, business strategy, corporate culture, carbon, pollution, water stress, labour and community rights. We are also active participants in a wide range of public policy discussions and our Chief Executive, Saker Nusseibeh, founded the 300 Club, an independent forum for discussion and debate about the responsibilities of the investment industry.

Whilst the responsibility for implementation resides with all Federated Hermes personnel, the ESG and engagement integration programme is led, coordinated and supported by Federated Hermes Responsibility Office: a head of responsibility reporting to Federated Hermes' CEO, a head of policy and advocacy, three executives responsible for facilitating integration in public and private market funds and a head of Hermes' corporate citizenship activities. This team is further supported by the Responsibility Working Group, which meets quarterly, to set Federated Hermes policy and lead initiatives. The Responsibility Working Group includes investment, product development, marketing, legal, compliance, human resources and responsibility representatives as members.

Federated Hermes provides investment products to more than 11,000 investment professionals and institutions. The Adviser advises approximately 75 fixed-income and money market mutual funds (including sub-advised funds) and private investment companies, which totaled approximately $370.2 billion in assets as of December 31, 2020.

Our commitment to Responsible Investing

As a global investment manager Federated Hermes' mission is to be a responsible steward of the financial assets entrusted to us by our clients. Whether clients are state pension funds, an endowment fund, businesses seeking liquidity solutions, or investors saving for retirement, helping clients achieve their financial goals informs our decision making at every level. It is a responsibility we undertake with great care, guided by the conviction that responsible investing is the best way to create wealth over the long term.

All of our efforts on behalf of our clients start with our investment process where our goal is to produce superior, risk-adjusted returns. In pursuit of this goal, Federated Hermes employs an intensive, research-driven, bottom-up fundamental approach to our security selection and portfolio construction processes. Quantitative and qualitative factors are incorporated into our analyses in order to better understand the full spectrum of risks and opportunities inherent in each security.

While we believe that quantitative analysis provides the most concrete insight into the financial return potential of an issuer we also understand that investing in today's global and complex businesses requires a broader view of a company or an issuer and must include an assessment of intangible risk and, as long-term shareholders and debtholders, future risk. Today's economy is heavily influenced by intangible assets where potential risks and opportunities include qualitative factors such as brand and reputational risk, global supply chain risk or poor governance structure – also known as Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) factors.

Federated Hermes views ESG factors as qualitative or non-financial metric information that is integral to our fundamental analysis process because consideration of these factors helps us assess risks that, while real, can be less apparent or have yet to fully manifest themselves or are inconsistent with long-term secular trends. We believe relevant and material ESG factors help identify business and operational risks – and opportunities – and add a contextual dimension to the overall evaluation of a security. This integrated approach to security analysis provides important insights into how a company leverages its tangible and intangible assets to create long-term value for stakeholders and determine if there are material risks to an investment thesis that have not been adequately assessed.

Our approach to responsible investing emphasizes proprietary, in-house resources: ESG data analytics, research and issuer engagement supported by a global team of ESG subject-matter experts across our engagement and stewardship and responsible investing offices.

Our Commitment to ESG Integration

Our commitment to incorporating ESG factors into our investment process is rooted in integration – an inclusive investment strategy in which material ESG factors are complementary and additive to the fundamental research and analysis process. We believe ESG factors provide a different lens by which to assess a company and work in tandem with traditional financial metrics to provide a more holistic view of an issuer and the risks and opportunities it faces.

Federated Hermes Investment Funds Public Limited Company Investment Manager Information (Unaudited) (continued)

Responsible asset managers, including Federated Hermes, can approach the inclusion of ESG factors through a variety of strategies either separate from or in addition to ESG integration, depending on the specific investment needs of the investor. We believe ESG integration is the most broadly applicable strategy across all asset classes and investment objectives because we believe it offers three advantages: it provides the broadest universe of potential investments; it includes the financial insights derived by the critical scrutiny of a balance sheet; and, it includes those metrics that are not measured by a balance sheet but can contribute greatly to the overall long-term success of an enterprise.

However, in meeting the needs of specific investors Federated Hermes can employ some or all of these other widely-accepted ESG strategies:

- Exclusions, where specific sectors, industries or companies are excluded from the universe of potential investments to accommodate the specific values or mission statement of an investor;
- Best-in-Class, where issuers are selected based on their ESG ratings as ESG leaders within their peer group, tilting the portfolio holdings to higher ESG-rated companies;
- Thematic, where a portfolio is constructed around a specific ESG theme such as renewable energy or women-led businesses;
- Impact, where investment are made with the intention of generating positive, measurable social or environmental impact alongside a financial return. These societal and environmental benefits are considered equally important as financial returns.

Federated Hermes Global Emerging Markets Equity Fund

Market Review

The MSCI Emerging Markets benchmark index returned 18.31% in US dollar terms (14.65% in sterling terms) over the period to outperform developed markets, measured by the MSCI World which returned 14.0%.

Emerging-market equities fell sharply in the first quarter as the spread of coronavirus, initially isolated to China, quickly morphed into a pandemic. Markets sold off aggressively in March as the increase in cases outside China, notably in Europe and the United States, and the ensuing response to lockdown in affected economies, prompted central banks into swift action to help steady fears of a prolonged recession. Oil was caught in a perfect storm with an agreement between OPEC and Russia to constrain supply breaking down just as the outlook for demand fell. A stronger US dollar and plummeting oil prices further pressured emerging markets.

The second quarter delivered a strong initial rebound as central banks and governments cut borrowing rates and announced significant stimulus packages to reduce the damage caused by the economic shutdown, restoring positive sentiment to markets. The number of reported cases in some parts of Asia trended down and economies began reopening, particularly in China, South Korea, and Taiwan, while concern increased around rising cases in the United States, India, and Latin America.

Markets climbed higher in the third quarter despite an acceleration in the number of new cases of Covid-19 reported in several countries and an escalation in US-China tensions. Emerging-market equities recorded the highest quarterly gain in over a decade in the fourth quarter, boosted by the announcement of three vaccines deemed effective against the coronavirus, which added fuel to the post-US-election rally. The risk-on mood helped eclipse worries about the near-term global economic outlook and new variants of the virus which surfaced in the closing weeks of the year. The rally in commodity prices was supportive of emerging-market exporters, the year's biggest losers gaining the most in the final quarter: Columbia, Brazil, Mexico, Peru, Czech Republic, Hungary, Turkey, and Thailand all returned more than 20%.

Since equity markets hit bottom in late March, the dollar has weakened overall by 11%. In addition to the expectation that the Federal Reserve will keep US interest rates low for some time, sizable fiscal stimulus is likely under the new administration, potentially leading to a wider fiscal deficit and ultimately a stable or weaker US dollar in 2021.

The MSCI EM Index posted an impressive recovery of more than 70% following the precipitous drop in global stock markets in the first quarter, on par with both US equities and the broader developed markets.

South Korea was the best-performing market in the index, followed by Taiwan and China. Their respective governments dealt well with Covid-19 outbreaks and reopened to a much greater extent than most. Korea and Taiwan were boosted by strong gains from the technology sector. As the "first in, first out" in the Covid-19 pandemic, China enjoyed a much faster recovery in 2020, leading to a return of 29% in US dollar terms. Though China's recovery since the bottom has not been as large as the broader index, its equity market fell significantly less in the first quarter as the government was able to effectively manage the spread of the virus. However, the launch of an anti-trust investigation into Alibaba and further escalation in US-China tensions in the final quarter dragged on sentiment.

At the sector level, Information Technology, Health Care and Consumer Discretionary outperformed, while Real Estate, Energy and Financials lagged the most.

Investment Strategy

At a country level, we believe the Fund is well positioned for either the prospect of a global economic recovery or any near-term challenges from new variants of the virus, lockdown delays and withdrawal of stimulus. We maintain the Fund's underweight to China given escalating geopolitical tensions and domestic risks, and an overweight to Korea and Taiwan, which are likely to benefit from a global economic recovery given their strong capability in semiconductors, memory, 5G, automation, artificial intelligence (AI) and electric vehicles (EV).

We continue to avoid what we view as the most vulnerable markets, such as South Africa, Saudi Arabia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Argentina, and Columbia. The Fund is underweight Brazil given its weak domestic sector, fragile fiscal situation, and elevated valuations. We retain the Fund's overweight position in Mexico, which shows no major vulnerability and should benefit from strong earnings rebound in 2021.

We initiated a Fund position in China Merchant's Bank (CMB), China's sixth-largest commercial bank and the largest joint-stock bank in China. CMB is distinct from China's big four banks, which are state-owned and called upon to enact government policy. In contrast, CMB is a market-driven bank where the interest of minority shareholders is aligned with the management. CMB has China's most profitable retail-banking franchise, one of the strongest wealth-management platforms and largest credit-card businesses, as well as a solid corporate banking unit. Drivers of market share include its service quality, solid technology, and emphasis on cross-selling. As a leading retail bank with proven track record, CMB looks well positioned to capture the long-term growth potential in retail banking, particularly given still heathy household financial asset growth, despite some moderation in China's GDP.

We used market weakness to add to Fund positions in Polymetal, Baozun, Banorte and KB Financial Services. We also added to holdings in Epiroc, Samsung Electronics and AIA, given our assessment of these stocks' attractive risk-reward profiles.

We trimmed several Fund names, including NC Soft, Tech Mahindra, WEG, Delta Electronic, TSMC and Aier Eye Hospital following strong performance year-to-date. We reduced Alibaba given the heightened delisting threat from the US government and an intensification of domestic regulatory pressure.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 20.26% over the period in Sterling terms (net of fees, outperforming on a relative (geometric) basis by 4.89%). The outperformance was driven primarily by country allocations, notably our exposure to China, which was 'first in' and 'first out'. The currency impact associated with China exposure as the Renminbi appreciated, and avoiding underperforming markets hit hardest by the pandemic, including Thailand, Malaysia, South Africa, Chile, and Saudi Arabia, helped the performance. Our overweight Taiwan, which outperformed, also benefitted. Stock selection in Taiwan, Russia, and Hungary contributed positively, offsetting a Healthcare name's negative impact in the United Arab Emirates and disappointing selection in China.

The overweight allocation and stock selection in Communication Services and Information Technology contributed the most to relative returns at the sector level. Non-exposure to energy, the underweight financials, and selection within also benefited, offsetting Health Care and Consumer Discretionary names that detracted.

Delta Electronics, a Taiwanese global leader in switching power supply solutions, was the largest individual contributor. Delta rose as earnings for its power business were driven by strong PC/server demand. The company's' leading position in power should ensure it keeps benefiting from increasing cloud applications and telecom infrastructure upgrades. Its Industrial Automation (IA) business should also benefit from ongoing supply chain relocation and increasing automation. Shares in Tencent rose on strong results driven by a rebound in revenue from social advertising and mobile gaming revenue, which benefitted from several hit games and the pandemic's stay-at-home environment, which attracted traffic and increased user time. Techtronic Industries, a Hong-Kong listed manufacturer of cordless power tools, rose after delivering strong results through the year, benefitting from the positive momentum in DIY, strong traction in e-commerce sales, and innovative new product launches.

NMC Healthcare, which operates hospitals in the Middle East, detracted the most from relative returns. Shares in NMC were suspended on 27th February 2020, after an independent investigation into the allegations made by short-seller Muddy Waters discovered businesses controlled by a founder of the company and an associate allegedly accessed US$4bn in secret off-balance-sheet financing without the knowledge of its Board. We marked down the shares to zero. NMC subsequently went into administration, and shares were delisted on 28th April 2020. Shares in China Communication Services, a leading 5G infrastructure service provider, fell as its majority shareholder China Telecom was named in a US executive order banning US investment in 31 Chinese companies deemed to have ties to China's military. Non-exposure to Meituan Dianping, a Chinese e-commerce provider, detracted as its shares more than doubled during the period thanks to strong demand for its food delivery business and increased market share.

Outlook

After a surprisingly robust recovery in 2020, emerging market equities look set for a positive year in 2021 as North Asia, which constitutes the majority of the benchmark, exhibited notable competence in dealing with the virus and thus looks set to build on good numbers in 2020.

But North Asia won't be the only place for performance. The global economy should see a recovery in the second half of the year, as vaccines are distributed and global confidence returns, helping commodity producers like Indonesia, Peru, Russia, and Mexico. Of course, the Democrats' victory may see less infrastructure spending than previously hoped, as the prospect of vaccination lends credence to a policy of fiscal prudence, one which will be wholeheartedly endorsed by the Republicans in the US Senate. Emerging market valuations appear supportive as they are at the low end of their long-term range relative to developed ones.

In Latin America, although Biden should be more engaged, local politics will remain volatile. However, economic growth should be positive, even if not all countries have secured vaccines. The EMEA region will see a more difficult US/Russia relationship but better demand for energy, base metals, and platinum/palladium, aiding Russia, and South Africa. However, politics will remain challenging in the latter, and prospects for the current rally to last through 2021 are modest.

Overall, 2021 is likely to be a good year for financials and materials, but longer-term, high economic growth rates are not on the cards, so cyclicals remain more of a trade for 2021 than a secular investment. Secular trends like digitalisation, increasing spending on health care, logistics, and premium products should continue.

Hermes Investment Management Limited February 2021

Federated Hermes Global Equity Fund

Market Review

The MSCI World Net Index returned 12.32%, in sterling terms in 2020. It is easy to forget that investors entered 2020 in a positive frame of mind. Global equity markets were boosted by some real progress in the US-China trade dispute, a positive earnings season and the expected cut in interest rates by the Federal Reserve. However, news was already filtering through about the Covid-19 outbreak in China and hopes that it would be contained proved to be forlorn. As the virus started to spread across the globe, turmoil, reminiscent of the great financial crisis, gripped the markets as volatility spiked, risk aversion spiked and markets plummeted. Compounding matters was the collapse of the oil price after Russia and Saudi Arabia initiated a price war.

As whole economies shut down, companies perceived to have the ability to survive the looming economic slump performed relatively well. This was reflected by a clear preference for balance sheet strength and operational efficiency. Markets then rallied, fuelled by unprecedented government interventions and a massive loosening of monetary policy. The recovery period saw markets become polarised between companies that benefited from the pandemic, such as health care, mega cap tech and eCommerce exposure, and those that lost out, such as travel, tourism and financials. This continued into Q4, bar a couple of short and sharp rotations and, from a factor perspective, investors favoured growth, profitability and sentiment at the expense of valuation.

The US elections, which saw Joe Biden emerge victorious gave markets a boost in early November, but it was Pfizer's announcement of a Covid-19 vaccine a few days later (swiftly followed by announcements from Moderna and AstraZeneca) that resulted in a real change in risk appetite. Share prices of companies that had been most challenged by the pandemic surged, which saw investors rotate towards value and little else.

Investment Strategy

Our investment approach remains focused on stock selection, with neutral sector and regional biases. The Global Equity Fund uses systematic fundamental analysis to assess the attractiveness of over 5,000 stocks on a daily basis. This analysis involves a disciplined bottom-up stock-selection process, which is based on well-documented anomalies and trends in investor behaviour. The Fund aims to take advantage of the systematic behavioural biases of market participants, while remaining cognisant of the risks associated with modelling such behaviour.

We determine a stock's fair value using metrics from a company's financial statements. Our modelling looks at a wide variety of stock characteristics (often referred to as factors) and is designed to proxy expected investment returns and the behaviour of market participants. The Fund's multi-factor approach ensures it remains exposed to a range of styles, and it aims to generate outperformance in all market environments. We closely monitor the performance of each factor and aim to build stock-selection models that deliver consistent and sustainable excess returns.

Portfolio modelling is used in the portfolio-construction process to develop a trade-off between expected return and portfolio risk, allowing for both portfolio constraints and transaction costs. The process is further supplemented by portfolio-exposure analysis using our proprietary risk-modelling system, MultiFRAME, which allows us to assess the Fund's exposure to any quantifiable risk factor.

Unlike traditional quantitative strategies, we also undertake analysis on a disciplined and subjective stock-level basis. The team uses its extensive experience to challenge the output of the investment model and remove trades that are subject to significant non-quantifiable factors or unreliable inputs.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 12.66% during the period, outperforming the benchmark index return of 12.32% by 0.30%. Stock selection was the driving force behind the outperformance, although given the divergence in returns at both the sector and regional level, allocation also had a considerable influence. From a sector viewpoint, selection in Health Care, Industrials, Consumer Staples, Utilities and Real Estate contributed the most to relative returns. These outweighed detractions from selection in Consumer Discretionary and Communication Services and our underweight in Information Technology. From a regional viewpoint, selection in Europe and Japan was successful, outweighing detractions from selection in North America and our overweight in Europe.

The largest individual contributors were ASML, Lonza Group and West Pharmaceuticals. ASML saw little impact from Covid-19, with demand for its EUV machinery strong as the requirement for smaller, more powerful and more efficient semiconductors increased. Lonza Group benefited from high demand for outsourced drug manufacturing and gained further after announcing a global collaboration with Moderna to manufacture its coronavirus vaccine. West Pharmaceuticals is exposed to the same outsourcing trends as Lonza Group and consistently beat expectations over the year.

The largest detractors were Tesla, Delta Air Lines and Oasis Petroleum. Tesla, which is not held in the Fund, performed extremely well in 2020. Model 3 and Model Y production and deliveries continue to exceed expectations with China becoming a source of real strength. However, concerns over governance and its valuation have prevented our investment in the company. Delta Air Lines was impacted by Covid-19 and the subsequent global lockdown that decimated air travel in the period. Oasis Petroleum was impacted by the fall in the oil price in the first half of the year as consumption fell, but supply remained high.

Outlook

The roll-out of vaccines have provided genuine hope that, despite rising numbers of cases, the worst may soon be behind us. This has already benefited areas that were most challenged by the pandemic and there are reasons to believe this could continue, especially when you consider the relatively low earnings base for these areas. Meanwhile, those that benefited the most, especially if the benefit was temporary, will have more challenging comparable earnings to beat. In other words, markets could remain polarized for a while, but in a mirror image of 2020.

Over the longer-term, the transition to a more sustainable economy continues to represent an exceptional market opportunity. Fiscal spending is going to play an important role in stimulating economic recovery and we believe that issues such as climate change will be at the centre of future policy and legislation. Moreover, consumers are becoming more aware of environmental and social issues, affecting all corners of the market. As such, those helping to address the major challenges we face today should continue to benefit, while those that fail to become cleaner and greener will likely suffer.

Federated Hermes European Alpha Equity Fund

Market Review

The MSCI Europe returned 2.13% (GBP) in 2020. The year started with investors in a positive frame of mind as European equity markets initially increased. However, this was short-lived as the coronavirus outbreak spread across the globe, resulting in widespread lockdowns. Compounding matters was the breakdown in talks between Russia and Saudi Arabia that led to the oil price collapsing.

The result was a sharp decline in global equity markets, while volatility spiked to levels not seen since the financial crisis. In response, central banks across the globe slashed interest rates and expanded quantitative easing. Markets then staged a strong recovery, driven by beneficiaries of the pandemic and sustainable growth areas such as renewable energy.

Over the summer months, sentiment continued to be driven by news surrounding the virus and while there was much talk of the growth-value tussle, it was quality that investors ultimately sought the most as fears of a second wave of Covid-19 weighed on risk appetite towards the end of the summer.

This environment continued into Q4, but things were about to change. Pfizer's positive vaccine data (swiftly followed by Moderna and AstraZeneca) resulted in an overnight change in risk appetite. Equity markets surged as investors switched preference to areas of the market that had been most challenged throughout the year, despite the rising numbers of cases in the region.

Investment Strategy

Among the most notable trades were purchases of Idorsia, Soitec and Experian. Spun out from Actelion after its 2017 buy-out by Johnson & Johnson, Idorsia retained the predecessor's leadership team who negotiated a carve-out, including the right to early-stage drug developments. Among these is the insomnia treatment, Daridorexant, which is in the latter stages of clinical development and, we believe that it offers the most exciting opportunity.

Soitec is seeing rising demand for its specialised semi-conductor wafers due the increasing complexity of smartphones. The French company is one of the handful making energy-efficient 'silicon on insulator' (SOI) wafers that are attractive components for the new breed of power-hungry devices.

Experian is the world's largest credit bureau, maintaining credit information on consumers and businesses worldwide. It is a high-quality company, operating in oligopolistic markets and is benefiting from regulatory change and the data monetisation megatrend.

We also exited Griflols following concerns that new therapies for two diseases - Antitrypsin Deficiency and Myasthenia Gravis – could damage the long-term earnings of the company.

The structure of the Fund has remained broadly the same over the period. The largest overweight positions remain in Information Technology, Health Care, Consumer Discretionary and Industrials, while Consumer Staples, Utilities, Financials and Materials are the largest underweights. From a style perspective, the structure also looks similar with a bias away from value and towards growth and quality. The Fund's largest exposures are a lower book-to-price ratio, market capitalisation and dividend yield. It also has a notable tilt towards companies with higher forecast growth and net profit margins.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 12.60%, outperforming the benchmark index by 10.26% in 2020. The largest contributions came from selection in Health Care, Industrials, Financials and Energy, alongside our overweights in Information Technology, Health Care and Consumer Discretionary and our underweight in Energy. These were partially offset by detractions from selection in Information Technology and Consumer Discretionary and our underweights in Utilities and Materials.

On an individual basis, the largest contributors were Siemens Gamesa, Lonza Group and Pandora. Siemens Gamesa has continued to see a strong order book, while earnings have been robust, particularly on the service side. In addition, renewable energy stocks have benefited from strong sentiment. Lonza Group benefited from high demand for outsourced drug manufacturing and gained further after announcing a global collaboration with Moderna to manufacture its proposed coronavirus vaccine. Pandora has reported earnings and sales ahead of expectations, driven by online sales, which have boosted margins.

Wirecard, Bayer and Sodexo were the largest detractors. Wirecard fell after Ernst & Young failed to sign off its annual report, citing €1.9bn-worth of unaccounted cash. Bayer had the largest negative impact on the portfolio after it agreed an $11bn class action settlement relating to its weedkiller, Roundup. It also reported mixed results in September with higher-than-expected earnings leavened by disappointing revenue guidance (attributed to projected under-target growth in crop science). Sodexo fell due to the impact of the economic lockdown which affected its catering services business.

Outlook

The development and roll-out of Covid-19 vaccines is undoubtedly positive: while the rising number of cases offers a sobering reminder that we are not yet out of the woods, there is now a clear pathway out of the crisis. From here, we should start to see more companies demonstrate earnings growth. This should be especially the case within the more cyclical areas as weak earnings previously should lead to rapidly improving earnings in relative terms. There is a danger, however, that this strong growth could be over-extrapolated into the future.

Meanwhile, the likelihood of rising yields and inflation is an increasingly popular topic among market participants, and one that we are paying close attention to. Such an environment would make higher-multiple stocks more vulnerable and provide a boost to value companies. However, momentum remains strong for some of the higher-multiple names and as valuations rise, company fundamentals will become more important. As such, being selective will be important in a market that is likely to become more discriminating.

Hermes Investment Management Limited February 2021

Federated Hermes Global High Yield Credit Fund

Market Review

2020 was an unprecedented year on many counts and credit markets were extremely volatile as Covid-19 rapidly spread across the world. In March at the peak of the sell off, credit markets sold off to the lowest levels seen since the Global Financial Crisis but then rallied back over the course of the year driven by huge support from the world's largest central banks who launched large bond buying programmes and fiscal relief programmes from governments around the world.

The S&P 500, the Dow Jones and the MSCI World index closed at record levels on 31 December 2020 with the S&P experiencing an +18.4% advance in total return terms over the year. However, the best equity performance came from technology stocks, with the NASDAQ seeing a +45.1% return over the year. Within credit, returns from investment grade (IG) led the way, with the ICE BofA Global Corporate index returning 7.7% for 2020. High yield returns were not far behind: the ICE BofA Global High Yield index returned 6.3% for 2020. The iTraxx Crossover ended the year at 242, having started the year trading at 207 (its 2020 range was 207 – 708). The VIX index ended the year at 23 having started the year at 12 (its 2020 range was 12 – 83).

After seeing $14tn of fiscal stimulus in 2020, we note that the quantity of global debt now stands at a record $277tn. The price of debt also stands at a record 5,000-year low with global negative-yielding debt in the region of $18tn. December 2020 saw the approval of three Covid-19 vaccines with high efficacy ratios, and this helped markets to stage a strong close to the year.

Investment Strategy

At the start of the year we continued to optimise the Fund's convexity profile by selling bonds trading above call, particularly in cyclical sectors. In some cases, we re-allocated that capital into more defensive sectors via the primary market. We switched from CDS into bonds in structures, where we saw attractive relative-value opportunities. On the back of changes in relative value, we reduced our exposure to UK speciality insurance.

During Q1 and entering the Covid-19 selloff, we shifted capital away from cyclical industries into more defensive, higher-quality names that had underperformed in the first stage of the sell-off.

In May, given some material changes to the index, with many fallen angels entering the benchmark, we added to the Energy and Automotive sectors, particularly via fallen angels. Towards the end of Q2, we also noticeably saw that compression between secured and unsecured bonds in the market created opportunities to switch from unsecured into senior parts of the capital structure. We also took advantage of flatter curves by switching from longer dated to shorter dated.

In the second half on the year, we increased our exposure to European corporate bonds and financials as Europe had underperformed the rest of the world. Due to compression between senior and subordinated securities we switched from senior into secured in certain capital structures (such as the Metals & Mining sector).

From Q3 onwards, we witnessed a strong recovery in some of our idiosyncratic holdings. As such, we reduced our exposure to Retail, Energy and Aircraft Lessors, and added to core holdings across non-cyclical sectors, such as Telecommunications, Packaging and Healthcare. We took advantage of some attractive capital structure opportunities, particularly in Financials as current valuations remain attractive. In our view, investors are being well compensated for future risks.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 1.24% in 2020, underperforming its benchmark by 3.27%.

The Fund's positioning in Banking, Basic Industry and Telecommunications were its top contributors to its relative performance. Its positioning in Leisure, Energy and Real Estate were its biggest detractors on a sectoral basis. At the individual holdings level, the Fund's positions in Air Lease (Financial Services), Phoenix (Insurance) and Occidental Petroleum (Energy) boosted its relative return the most, while its positioning in Plains All American Pipeline and Pemex (both Energy) and AerCap (Financial Services) detracted from its relative return the most. From a rating's perspective, the Fund's positioning in BBB issuers and underweight positioning in CCC- and lower-rated issuers positively impacted its relative performance, while BBs and moderate underweight in single Bs negatively impacted its relative performance. At the regional level, the Fund's positioning in Western Europe and the UK were its top contributors to its relative performance, while its positioning in MEA, Asia EM and North America detracted the most.

We remain reasonably constructive on the high-yield asset class for 2021. Historically, we have seen that high yield tends to outperform as the US climbs out of recession, and this cycle should not be different. The are several positives such as economic conditions that are showing signs of improving, with global Purchasing Managers' Indices (PMIs) continuing to print above 50 and positive breakthroughs on the vaccine front providing some visibility on a return to normality. In addition, corporate earnings continue to surprise to the upside and rating downgrades have slowed. That said, we do not rule out further bouts of volatility, although unlikely to be at last year's extreme levels, as the global recovery may be slower than expected as many countries shutter their economies in the early part of Q1 2021. Temporary cost-cutting measures are rolling off and companies are beginning to reintroduce capital expenditure (capex) spending and dividend programmes and we observe an increase in global M&A activity.

We believe that credit investors will need to focus more on relative value to generate alpha this year. High-yield credit should see positive tailwinds from the continued high proportion of negative-yielding assets and pressure on dividends in equities. Inflation expectations are slightly higher since September, especially in the US, however the likelihood of an inflation surprise in the short term remains low. We have a preference to still be defensively positioned in our sector and regional allocations, given current valuations. We also see some merit in taking subordinated risk in industry leaders and national champions, rather than chasing yield in much weaker and lower-rated credits. Interest rate curves are flatter in Europe than the US. This means that it is more expensive to hedge interest rate exposure using US rates as opposed to European rates. However, taking into account the divergent inflation expectations between the two regions, we still prefer to express our portfolio hedge via US rates.

Investment Strategy

Among the most notable trades were purchases of Idorsia, Alcon and Schneider Electric.

Idorsia is the product of a spin-off from Actelion after the latter's 2017 buy-out by Johnson & Johnson. Idorsia's leadership team negotiated a carve-out, including the right to early-stage drug developments. Among these is the insomnia treatment, Daridorexant, which is in the latter stages of clinical development and, we believe it offers the most exciting opportunity.

Alcon is most commonly known for its contact lenses, but it is a leading med-tech business, specialising in equipment for eyecare specialists and surgeons.

Schneider Electric is emerging from an intense restructuring period incorporating acquisitions as well as the active offloading of unattractive assets. Now on the other side of its reinvention process, it has transformed itself into a company with exposure to two significant structural growth trends: energy efficiency and industry 4.0.

We also exited Barrick Gold and Lundin Energy. Barrick Gold had enjoyed a great run, driven by the rising gold price. Lundin Energy was one of the smallest weights in the portfolio, reflecting our lack of conviction. From a medium-to-long term perspective, we worry about the supply-demand balance in oil markets, and the potential for increasing adverse regulation on fossil fuels sectors.

The structure of the Fund has remained broadly the same over the period. The largest overweight positions remain in Information Technology and Health Care, while Consumer Staples and Financials are the largest underweights. From a style perspective, the structure also looks similar with a bias away from value and towards growth and quality. The Strategy's largest exposures are a lower earnings yield, market capitalisation and dividend yield. The largest contributions came from selection in Health Care, Industrials, Utilities, Information Technology, Materials and Energy, alongside our overweight in Information Technology. These were partially offset by detractions from selection in Consumer Discretionary and our overweight in Energy.

On an individual basis, the largest contributors were Sartorius, Siemens Gamesa and Lonza Group. Sartorius has consistently reported solid results that highlighted huge order intake in its Bio Processing Solutions business. Siemens Gamesa benefited from positive structural tailwinds from the renewable energy sector, solid order flow and signals from peers that most projects remain on track in spite of pandemic-related distractions. Lonza Group benefited from high demand for outsourced drug manufacturing and gained further after announcing a global collaboration with Moderna to manufacture its proposed coronavirus vaccine.

Bankinter, Lundin Energy and ING Groep were the largest detractors. Bankinter and ING Groep were affected by the economic impact of the lockdown and the increased likelihood that interest rates will be lower-for longer. Lundin Energy was impacted by the lower oil price due to a combination of reduced demand and plentiful supply.

Outlook

Our current mood is one of cautious optimism. The development and roll-out of the Covid-19 vaccine is an undoubted positive. It offers a clear pathway out of the crisis and reflects a high degree of innovation in the private sector, which bodes well for the future. Many companies are also leaner than they were, having been forced to cut costs during the crisis. As fiscal stimulus and easy monetary policy trickles through, we should start to see an upturn in operating leverage as top-line growth accelerates.

Stimulus will also be consistent with the "build back better" policies that politicians across the globe have been championing. Central to this will be tackling climate change, which is one of the reasons why companies addressing this challenge have performed so well. There are some frothy areas though, but this is a natural consequence of ultralow interest rates and while some are starting to talk of a bubble, we are a long way off the excesses of the TMT bubble in 2000. However, with valuations on the rise, it will be important to remain selective.

Hermes Investment Management Limited February 2021

Federated Hermes US SMID Equity Fund

Market Review

While a headline return of 20% for US equity markets may suggest a smooth ride, it's been anything but. 2020 has been a year of once-in-a-lifetime extremes; the deadliest global pandemic in a century; the deepest quarterly decline in US GDP in history, followed by the steepest quarterly increase on record; the quickest bear market and fastest market recovery ever; congressional approval of the largest-ever fiscal stimulus package ($2.2tn); and development, testing and distribution of efficacious vaccines in less than a year, a process that traditionally takes a decade or longer.

The Russell 2500 Index rose 19.99% (in USD terms). Equity markets fell sharply in late-February as the spread of Covid-19 triggered fears of a severe global economic slowdown, with a peak-to-trough decline of over 40%. Since the lows in late-March, markets have recovered to new highs buoyed by record low interest rates, financial stimulus from the government and optimism over a recovery. Within the index, there has been a wide variety of returns. Technology and Health Care sectors (the perceived winners from the pandemic) have risen approximately 50%, while Financials and Energy sectors sit in negative territory and lag behind.

Investment Strategy

Since the start of the year, the team have used the market volatility to trim positions in what they believe are fully valued stocks, or stocks that are set to be materially impacted by the changing landscape and reinvest into high-quality stocks where they see attractive upside potential. We have slightly reduced the total number of positions and continue to upgrade the fund's sustainability characteristics. Over the full year, we initiated 10 new positions and sold out of 16 companies. With 50-60 holdings, this is in line with our average holding period of 3-5 years.

New positions included PerkinElmer, a leader in kits and associated consumables for the life sciences, food and environmental/industrial testing end markets. NVR, an asset-light homebuilder, which provides high quality exposure to an industry that we believe has been undershooting on supply for the last 10 years. CarGurus, an online auto shopping marketplace that is a two-sided platform, connecting retail car buyers with car dealerships, who pay a monthly subscription. The recent acquisition of CarOffer, a leading automated online wholesale dealing platform, should supercharge growth given the opportunity to sell CarOffer across CarGurus 30,000 dealer base.

Sales included Alliant Energy, which performed well on a relative basis and we believe there are now more attractive ways of capitalising on the shift to renewable energy sources, e.g. Chart Industries. We exited our position in Alimentation Couche-Tard, the leading convenience store operator and fuel retailer in North America with 15,000 stores, as tobacco falls within excluded activities and cigarette sales account for one quarter of sales. Couche-Tard was also no-benchmark. Weingarten Realty Investors was sold as the Covid-19 situation escalated because we believed lockdown restrictions would accelerate a secular move away from retail malls.

Performance Review

In a year of excessive volatility, the fund underperformed the index as the extreme market performance left stable, well run businesses behind. The Federate Hermes US SMID Equity Fund returned 10.01% in gross USD terms over the period, underperforming the benchmark index by 8.32%. In net GBP returns, the F GBP Accumulating share class returned 5.50% underperforming the benchmark index return of 16.18% by -9.19%.

Underperformance was primarily driven by negative stock selection in the Financials and Industrials sectors. Sector allocation marginally contributed to relative returns. More pertinently, style has been a headwind for the fund; it is underweight speculative growth companies which outperformed the market in March to May, and underweight cheap, low-quality businesses, which outperformed in November.

The top individual contributor was Abiomed, which has performed well primarily due to the long-term growth opportunity for its "Impella" heart pump. Teradyne saw strong earnings and revenue growth with positive sentiment in the semiconductor cycle, specifically 5G testing and industrial automation. West Pharmaceuticals performed well after reporting an acceleration in revenues driven by higher demand for injection devices from biologic companies.

The largest individual detractor was Reinsurance Group of America. The business has suffered due to prevailing concerns over mortality risk exposure. Tank barge operator, Kirby, saw a sharp drop in revenue from the previous year, particularly across its marine transportation and distribution and services businesses. Wintrust Financial has suffered due to concerns of rising credit losses and the impact of lower for longer interest rates.

Outlook

While it is unlikely that 2021 will be as eventful as 2020, it is not safe to assume we are out of the woods yet. Deep divisions remain in the US, both economically and politically, government borrowing is high, and the virus impact will rollover into 2021. Despite this continued uncertainty, it is widely expected to be another positive year for equities and markets are supported by several positive factors, accommodative monetary policy, potential additional fiscal stimulus and an improving economic picture as countries reopen. The Fund is invested in high quality, profitable companies with strong balance sheets and is well positioned to benefit from the normalisation of the US economy and increasing focus on 'quality', a factor that has been underappreciated in a world of excess liquidity.

Federated Hermes Asia ex-Japan Equity Fund

Market Review

The MSCI AC Asia ex Japan IMI benchmark index rose 25.13% in US dollar terms (21.27% in sterling terms) over the period to outperform developed markets, measured by the MSCI World Index which returned 16% in US dollar terms.

Asian equities fell sharply in the first quarter as the spread of coronavirus, initially isolated to China, quickly morphed into a global pandemic. Markets sold off aggressively in March as the increase in cases outside China, notably in Europe and the United States, and the ensuing response to lockdown measures in affected economies, prompted central banks into swift action to help steady fears of a prolonged recession. Oil was caught in a perfect storm with an agreement between OPEC and Russia to constrain supply breaking down just as the outlook for demand fell. A stronger US dollar and plummeting oil prices further pressured emerging markets.

The second quarter delivered a strong initial rebound as central banks and governments cut borrowing rates and announced significant stimulus packages to reduce the damage caused by the economic shutdown, restoring positive sentiment to markets. The number of reported cases in some parts of Asia trended down and economies began reopening, particularly in China, South Korea, and Taiwan, while concern increased around rising cases in India.

Markets climbed higher in the third quarter despite an acceleration in the number of new cases of Covid-19 reported in several countries globally and an escalation in US-China tensions. In the fourth quarter, Asian equity markets were boosted by the announcement of three vaccines deemed effective against the coronavirus, which added fuel to the post-US-election rally. The risk-on mood helped eclipse worries about the near-term global economic outlook and new variants of the virus which surfaced in the closing weeks of the year.

Since equity markets hit bottom in late March, the dollar has weakened overall by 11%. In addition to the expectation that the Federal Reserve will keep US interest rates low for some time, sizable fiscal stimulus is likely under the new administration, potentially leading to a wider fiscal deficit and, ultimately, a stable or weaker US dollar in 2021.

South Korea was the best-performing market in the index, followed by Taiwan and China. Their respective governments dealt well with Covid-19 outbreaks and reopened to a much greater extent than most. Korea and Taiwan were boosted by strong gains from the information technology sector. As the "first in, first out" in the Covid-19 pandemic, China enjoyed a much faster recovery in 2020, leading to a return of 29% in US dollar terms. Though China's recovery since the bottom has not been as large as the broader index, its equity market fell significantly less in the first quarter as the government was able to effectively manage the spread of the virus. However, further escalation in US-China tensions and the launch of an anti-trust investigation into Alibaba in the final quarter hurt sentiment.

At the sector level, Health Care, Information Technology and Consumer Discretionary outperformed, while Real Estate, Utilities and Energy lagged the most.

Investment Strategy

The worst performing parts of our benchmark have been value stocks and their cousin, cyclicals. Companies with leverage have been particularly hard hit (because they are at greater risk of financial distress – even though the credit markets might disagree, with many having the perceived financial strength to continue to tap borrowing markets at very low interest rates). But paradoxically value stocks with high cash balances have in some cases been hit almost as hard as indebted ones, perhaps on the logic that low interest rates and the potential for general debt monetisation by central banks, reduces the absolute and relative advantage of holding cash.

Looking at our positions ('short' mega-cap quality growth and thematic stocks and 'long' value and cyclical stocks) has been painful – and it explains the degree of our underperformance. Still, it has not been a perfect storm. We have been aided by our companies being financially strong but, for the most part, not having too much debt (or cash), our underweight in an underperforming cyclically-driven and expensive Indian market, and our overweight in an outperforming technology-driven Taiwan market.

Most of our trades in the first quarter were to take advantage of volatility and dislocation. For example, some firms that are highly sensitive to the economy have fallen by similar amounts to firms that are less sensitive to the economy. In such cases, we added to the less economically sensitive stock that had been punished or cut the more sensitive stock that had held up relatively well. We tended to trim sharp outperformers and add to sharp underperformers intra-day. In certain cases, we adjusted the market on which we held dual-listed stocks to take advantage of large, likely transient, price differences. We sold KLA Corporation after a strong performance and added to Samsung Electronics and Alibaba, which may prosper in a low-interest-rate environment. We opened positions in Haier Smart Home, a leading global home appliance firm, and Yunnan Baiyao, a leading Chinese health care company.

In the second quarter, we added to some economically sensitive stocks with strong balance sheets that had been hit hard and continued to seek opportunities in stocks that had fallen disproportionately in response to the changing economic landscape. We sold Chinese A-share Shenergy after it held up well in the initial sell-off and opened positions in real estate company China Overseas Land & Investment and port operator Adani Ports at attractive entry points. We also opened a position in Kumho PetroChemical, which stands to benefit from an eventual resumption in economic activity and increased demand for its synthetic rubber components, which are used to manufacture gloves.

In the second half of the year, we sold Kinsus Interconnect and Rohm, and trimmed Mediatek, while adding to our position in JD.Com. We initiated a position in Naspers which has an indirect holding in Tencent that is worth substantially more than 100% of Naspers' value. In the last year, Naspers has appreciated in dollars by 25% compared to Tencent's 51%, enabling us to access Tencent's earnings growth at a multiple below 20x forward earnings. We added to our position in Asustek which is now among our largest top 10 positions and offers a dividend yield of 6% - 15 times the Taiwanese government's benchmark risk-free 10-year bond rate of 0.35%. We hope that the market recognises the inherent value in the stock and the price rises, but even if Asustek remains a victim of the market's disdain for value stocks, we are satisfied to be paid to wait while banking the annual yield.

More recently, we added ACC Limited, an Indian cement manufacturer trades at an attractive valuation versus its peers, while delivering strong volume and earnings delivery, capacity expansions and diversified market presence. We also added Hyundai Motor Company which offers exposure to an attractive fast-growing market through its presence in electric vehicles (EV) and fuel cell electric vehicles (FCEV), at a PE of 9x forward earnings. We reduced our exposure to China Oilfield Services and added to Trip.Com and Baidu. Trip.com, China's largest online travel agency, will benefit from an eventual resumption in travel. Baidu has a relatively cheap valuation and is beginning to attract greater investor attention for its cloud business, self-driving car initiatives and planned Hong Kong dual listing, which will mitigate US regulations requiring the delisting of Chinese companies from US exchanges. We trimmed our positions in Samsung Electronics, TSMC and MediaTek following recent strength, reinvesting the proceeds in Honda Motor and Kunlun Energy. Kunlun Energy recently announced a value-accretive asset disposal.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 6.98% in sterling terms (net of fees) over the period, underperforming the benchmark by 11.78%. This was primarily due to stock selection in China and Taiwan, eclipsing gains from our underweight allocation to India and our avoidance of Indonesia, two underperforming markets. The overweight allocation to Korea benefited as the market outperformed while the currency impact associated with our China allocation also contributed as the Renminbi appreciated during the period.

At the stock level, MediaTek, Alibaba and Samsung Electronics contributed the most to the Fund's relative return. MediaTek, a Taiwanese chip supplier, rose sharply after the US tightened restrictions on Huawei as MediaTek is viewed as an alternative supplier. Our underweight to Alibaba contributed following a sharp sell-off in December on concerns about Chinese regulators targeting the company. Samsung Electronics rose on an improving outlook for memory and potential smartphone market share gains from Huawei, which is subject to US sanctions.

CK Hutchison, Sinopharm and Beijing Enterprises detracted the most from the Fund's relative return. CK Hutchison, a Hong-Kong based conglomerate of telecommunications, infrastructure, global ports and energy, fell amid the renewed protests in Hong Kong and a resumption of the US-China trade rhetoric despite a small part of its earnings being derived from Hong Kong. Sinopharm, China's largest drug distributor, detracted after H1 results highlighted the impact of Covid-19-related disruptions. While the results reflected a steady recovery and were in line with expectations, hospital channel disruption has impacted the pharmaceutical distribution business. Beijing Enterprise Holdings, a holding company mainly involved in the distribution and sale of piped natural gas, fell on expectations of lower growth in gas consumption in 2020.

Outlook

Low interest rates have resulted in investors paying for stocks that they consider to be able to grow quickly and sustainably. But low interest rates should support all asset classes. Many stocks in Asia are now offering dividend yields that are many multiples of the relevant risk-free benchmark rate.

In most markets, the price an investor must pay for investing in a high-dividend stock is the likelihood of future earnings (and thus dividends) falling from a high starting point for either structural or cyclical reasons. However, there are now many stocks in Asia offering high dividend yields while having cyclically depressed earnings that are expected to grow. This makes these stocks look particularly attractive (especially relative to some stocks that have performed very well recently) and holds the promise of a potential re-rating. Encouraging vaccine developments could be the catalyst that leads investors' perceptions of relative attractiveness to change.

Federated Hermes Global Equity ESG Fund

Market Review

The MSCI All-Country World Net Index returned 12.67%, in sterling terms in 2020. It is easy to forget that investors entered 2020 in a positive frame of mind. Global equity markets were boosted by some real progress in the US-China trade dispute, a positive earnings season and the expected cut in interest rates by the Federal Reserve. However, news was already filtering through about the Covid-19 outbreak in China and hopes that it would be contained proved to be forlorn. As the virus started to spread across the globe, turmoil, reminiscent of the great financial crisis, gripped the markets as volatility spiked, risk aversion spiked and markets plummeted. Compounding matters was the collapse of the oil price after Russia and Saudi Arabia initiated a price war.

As whole economies shut down, companies perceived to have the ability to survive the looming economic slump performed relatively well. This was reflected by a clear preference for balance sheet strength and operational efficiency. Markets then rallied, fuelled by unprecedented government interventions and a massive loosening of monetary policy. The recovery period saw markets become polarised between companies that benefited from the pandemic, such as health care, mega cap tech and eCommerce exposure and those that lost out, such as travel, tourism and financials. This continued into Q4, bar a couple of short and sharp rotations and, from a factor perspective, investors favoured growth, profitability and sentiment at the expense of valuation.

The US elections, which saw Joe Biden emerge victorious gave markets a boost in early November, but it was Pfizer's announcement of a Covid-19 vaccine a few days later (swiftly followed by announcements from Moderna and AstraZeneca) that resulted in a real change in risk appetite. Share prices of companies that had been most challenged by the pandemic surged, which saw investors rotate towards value and little else.

Investment Strategy

The investment approach remains focused on stock selection, with neutral sector and regional biases. The Global Equity ESG Fund uses systematic fundamental analysis to assess the attractiveness of over 5,000 stocks on a daily basis. This analysis involves a disciplined bottom-up stock selection process, which is based on well-documented anomalies and trends in investor behaviour. The strategy aims to take advantage of systematic behavioural biases of market participants while remaining cognisant of the risks associated with the modelling of such behaviour.

We determine fair value for a stock by using metrics from the full range of a company's financial statements, and our modelling employs a wide variety of stock characteristics (often referred to as factors) designed to proxy expected investment returns and the behaviour of market participants. ESG is embedded in the Alpha Model, using the team's proprietary QESG Score, which enables the team to identify stocks that have good or improving ESG characteristics. The Fund's multi-factor approach ensures we remain exposed to a range of styles and it aims to generate consistent outperformance over the long-term. We closely monitor the performance of each factor with the aim of building stock selection models that deliver consistent and sustainable excess returns.

Portfolio modelling is utilised in the portfolio construction process to trade-off between expected return and portfolio risk, allowing for both portfolio constraints and transaction costs. The process is further supplemented by portfolio exposure analysis using our proprietary risk modelling system, MultiFRAME, which allows us to assess the Fund's exposure to any quantifiable risk factor.

Unlike traditional quantitative strategies, analysis is also completed on a disciplined subjective, stock level basis. The team uses their extensive experience to challenge the output of the investment model and remove trades subject to significant non-quantifiable factors or unreliable inputs. The team also work closely with EOS at Federated Hermes, our in-house stewardship team, who vote and engage with companies on our behalf to further understand the ESG risks and opportunities facing a company.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 15.46% during the period, outperforming the benchmark index return of 12.67% by 2.48%. Stock selection was the driving force behind the outperformance and from a sector viewpoint, selection in Health Care, Real Estate, Industrials, Materials, Utilities and Energy, our overweight in Information Technology and underweight in Energy contributed the most to relative returns. These outweighed detractions from selection in Communication Services and Consumer Discretionary. From a regional viewpoint, selection in Europe, Japan and Latin America was successful, outweighing detractions from selection in North America, Emerging Asia and our overweight in Europe.

The largest individual contributors were Lonza Group, ASML and Daifuku and West Pharmaceuticals. Lonza Group benefited from high demand for outsourced drug manufacturing and gained further after announcing a global collaboration with Moderna to manufacture its proposed coronavirus vaccine. ASML saw little impact from Covid-19, with demand for its EUV machinery strong as the requirement for smaller, more powerful and more efficient semiconductors increased. Daifuku, benefited from growing demand for its distribution centre automation systems used by online retailers and its material handling systems used in warehouses and semiconductor fabs.

The largest detractors were Tesla, Delta Air Lines and M&T Bank. Tesla, which is not held in the Fund, performed extremely well in 2020. Model 3 and Model Y production and deliveries continue to exceed expectations with China becoming a source of real strength. However, concerns over governance and its valuation have prevented our investment in the company. Delta Air Lines was impacted by Covid-19 and the subsequent global lockdown that decimated travel and tourism in the period. M&T Bank, like many financials, was weak due to the economic slowdown and the likelihood that interest rates would be lower-for-longer.

Outlook

The roll-out of vaccines have provided genuine hope that, despite rising numbers of cases, the worst may soon be behind us. This has already benefited areas that were most challenged by the pandemic and there are reasons to believe this could continue, especially when you consider the relatively low earnings base for these areas. Meanwhile, those that benefited the most, especially if the benefit was temporary, will have more challenging comparable earnings to beat. In other words, markets could remain polarized for a while, but in a mirror image of 2020.

Over the longer-term, the transition to a more sustainable economy continues to represent an exceptional market opportunity. Fiscal spending is going to play an important role in stimulating economic recovery and we believe that issues such as climate change will be at the centre of future policy and legislation. Moreover, consumers are becoming more aware of environmental and social issues, affecting all corners of the market. As such, those helping to address the major challenges we face today should continue to benefit, while those that fail to become cleaner and greener will likely suffer.

Hermes Investment Management Limited February 2021

Federated Hermes Multi-Strategy Credit Fund

Market Review

2020 was an unprecedented year on many counts and credit markets were extremely volatile as Covid-19 rapidly spread across the world. In March at the peak of the sell off, credit markets sold off to the lowest levels seen since the Global Financial Crisis but then rallied back over the course of the year driven by huge support from the world's largest central banks (who launched large bond-buying programmes) and fiscal relief programmes from governments around the world.

The S&P 500, the Dow Jones and the MSCI World index closed at record levels on 31 December 2020, with the S&P experiencing an +18.4% advance in total return terms over the year. However, the best equity performance came from technology stocks, with the NASDAQ seeing a +45.1% return over the year. Within credit, returns from investment grade led the way, with the ICE BofA Global Corporate index returning 7.7% for 2020. High-yield returns were not far behind with the ICE BofA Global High Yield index returning 6.3% for 2020. iTraxx Crossover ended the year at 242 having started the year trading at 207 (and in 2020 it ranged from 207 to 708). The VIX index ended the year at 23 having started the year at 12 (its range was 12 – 83 in 2020).

After seeing $14tn of fiscal stimulus in 2020, we note that the quantity of global debt now stands at a record $277tn. The price of debt also stands at a record 5,000-year low, with global negative-yielding debt in the region of $18tn. In December 2020, three coronavirus vaccines with high efficacy ratios were approved, and this helped markets to stage a strong close to the year.

Investment Strategy

At the start of the year we continued to optimise the Fund's convexity profile by selling bonds trading above call, particularly in cyclical sectors. We also reduced our exposure to UK speciality insurance and switched from CDS into bonds in structures where we identified attractive relative-value opportunities.

Within the income bucket, we increased exposure by rolling front-end CDS further out on the curve to optimise roll-down. We also increased our defensive exposure by increasing certain existing positions and initiating new bearish-biased trades, for example in the auto rentals space.

However, given the broad market rally in Q2, we proceeded to reduce this defensive trade in the auto rental space and added a new curve trade in the retail space. Compression between secured and unsecured bonds in the market created opportunities to switch from unsecured into senior parts of the capital structure. We also took advantage of flatter curves by switching from the long end into the belly.

In the second half of the year, as curves continued to steepen, we increased our allocation to the income bucket. After a strong recovery for some of the idiosyncratic stories we held, we reduced our exposure to the Retail and Energy sectors, as well as Aircraft Lessors within the best selection bucket, reducing the Strategy's overall risk profile in the process. We took advantage of some attractive capital structure opportunities, particularly in Financials. As the market further strengthened in Q4, we reduced our exposure to cyclical sectors (in particular energy), and to emerging markets on the back of strong performance. We have replaced these positions with more defensive names in sectors such as Telecommunications, Packaging and Healthcare. We also added to Banking, which we see as attractive at current valuations. Within the outright short bucket, we added a new position in Energy. We also boosted the income enhanced bucket as curves remained flat in some areas of the market (for example in European packaging names).

Performance Review

The Fund returned 4.72% in 2020, underperforming its target return by 1.77%.

The main sources of absolute performance came from positioning in the Energy, Financials and Basic Industry sectors.

At the individual holdings level, Avis Budget Group (Services), AbbVie Inc (Healthcare) and Kinder Morgan (Energy) contributed to absolute returns. Antero Resources (Energy), Ineos Group (Basic Industry) and Crown Americas (Capital Goods) detracted.

From a ratings perspective, BB- and BBB-rated bonds boosted the Fund's absolute return the most. At the regional level, returns were driven by positioning in North America and the UK.

Outlook

We remain reasonably constructive on the high-yield asset class for 2021. Historically, we have seen that high yield tends to outperform as the US climbs out of recession, and this cycle should not be different. The are several positives such as economic conditions that are showing signs of improving, with global Purchasing Managers Indices (PMIs) continuing to print above 50 and positive breakthroughs on the vaccine front providing some visibility on a return to normality. In addition, corporate earnings continue to surprise to the upside and rating downgrades have slowed. That said, we do not rule out further bouts of volatility, although this is unlikely to be similar to the extreme levels we experienced last year, as the global recovery may be slower than expected as many countries shutter their economies in the early part of Q1 2021. Temporary cost-cutting measures are rolling off and companies are beginning to reintroduce capital expenditure (capex) spending and dividend programmes and we observe an increase in global M&A activity.

We believe that credit investors will need to focus more on relative value to generate alpha this year. High yield should see positive tailwinds from the continued high proportion of negative-yielding assets and pressure on dividends in equities. Inflation expectations are slightly higher since September, especially in the US, however the likelihood of an inflation surprise in the short term remains low. We have a preference to still be defensively positioned in our sector and regional allocations, given current valuations. We also see some merit in taking subordinated risk in industry leaders and national champions, rather than chasing yield in much weaker and lower-rated credits. Interest rate curves are flatter in Europe than the US. This means it is more expensive to hedge interest rate exposure using US rates as opposed to European rates. However, taking into account the divergent inflation expectations between the two regions, we still prefer to express our portfolio hedge via US rates.

Hermes Investment Management Limited February 2021

Federated Hermes Global Small Cap Equity Fund

Market Review

Over the past 12 months the MSCI World Small Cap Index returned 12.39%, in sterling terms. This compares with returns for equivalent Large Caps of 12.32%. Having started the year on a positive note, global equity markets fell dramatically towards the end of the first quarter as the global spread of the Covid-19 pandemic triggered countrywide lockdowns and slowed economic activity alongside a dramatic fall in the oil price.

Nevertheless, as central banks and governing bodies announced unprecedented stimulus packages, we saw a strong rally, particularly in growth stocks. Later in the year, a broader market rally occurred with the announcement of several vaccine contenders, as participants tried to look past the pandemic and hope that economic activity could recover.

Despite everything that happened in 2020, Small Caps had a good year, with US smaller companies' indices particularly strong. From a regional perspective, North America was the best performing region in the year, followed by Europe. Information Technology and Health Care sectors (the Covid-19 winners) were the best performing sectors in the year, while Energy and Real Estate were significant laggards.

Investment Strategy

Global Small Cap Equity is a bottom-up, stock-picking strategy and the lead manager aims to invest in high-quality stocks over the long term. The team looks for stocks that have high returns on equity and/or high sustainability of revenue and returns. The investment approach taken by the team is a bottom-up, fundamental approach. The team believes that excess returns are best and most consistently generated by concentrating on stock-specific risk and not having significant regional and industry exposures.

In general, we have tried to not get caught up in the extreme levels of volatility but have used sharp moves to sell positions in over-valued or structurally challenged companies and buy high-quality names below their intrinsic value. Since the middle of the year we have taken the opportunity to establish holdings in some attractively positioned names and sell a combination of stocks that have performed well or that we expect to be challenged over the coming period.

Some notable trades include: Breedon (UK), a leading construction materials group in Great Britain and Ireland, that operates a vertically integrated business model providing control over costs and the capture of margins through the value chain. In the US, we bought Power Integrations, a manufacturer of analogue and mixed-signal semiconductor components with a market leading position in power efficiency, Altair Engineering, an engineering software company which provides exposure to the secular shift from physical testing to virtual simulation tools as well as a broader set of secular growth thematics, and, CarGurus, a passenger vehicle research and shopping platform. In Australia, we started a position in Ansell, a global leader in advanced surgical and industrial protective gloves, as well as chemical hazard protection. In Japan, we initiated a position in Noritsu Koki Group, a holding company with businesses including pens and DJ equipment, however, we believe their most valuable asset is JMDC, a data analytics company specialising in healthcare.

We funded the new positions by selling technology name Teradyne (US), and trimming health care names Abiomed and West Pharmaceuticals (US) following strong performance. In Japan, we sold Tadano, a Japanese crane manufacturer, and Hitachi Capital, a consumer lending company. In the UK we sold Cineworld, as we were increasingly concerned about the outlook for the company with further closures of cinemas and a delay to large box-office films. Earlier in the year

The fund returned 8.53% in 2020 in sterling terms, underperforming the benchmark index by 3.43%. This was driven by stock selection predominantly in Information Technology and Consumer Discretionary sector. Sector allocation was additive to relative returns due to our small underweight in Energy and overweight in Information Technology.

The Fund weathered the initial coronavirus-induced market fall, but trailed the market in the sharp rally through April and May. With a beta below one and a bias towards quality, the fund lagged the index in this environment.

West Pharmaceutical Services was among the top contributors to performance. It provides essential manufacturing services and therefore was able to continue work through lockdowns. The company also saw increased demand for products required for the Covid-19 vaccine and therapeutics. Air cargo transport company, Cargojet, has seen strong revenue growth benefiting from e-commerce demand and reduced global air cargo capacity as a result of reduced passenger flights. Forklift and warehouse handling equipment company, Jungheinrich, also benefited from the rise in e-commerce demand and need for improved warehouse logistics.

The largest detractor from relative performance was Cineworld, whose share price fell due to the forced closure of their cinemas and their leverage position coming under scrutiny. The Fund's position in the company was sold after the James Bond film was deferred again. Kirby shares fell in the period with revenues and profits down year-on-year for its petrochemical transport and diesel engine maintenance operations. Reinsurance Group of America are a life insurance company and therefore their earnings were impacted by higher death rates.

Outlook

The current backdrop has resulted in great divergence in stock performance. Whist the extremes being experienced are getting much press, we are finding opportunities to buy into good businesses at prices that are more attractive than they were pre-Covid-19 when market volatility was very low. For patient investors, we believe this bodes well for market-beating returns in the future.

2020 was an unprecedented year on many counts and credit markets were extremely volatile as Covid-19 rapidly spread across the world. High yield returns were not far behind with the ICE BofA Global High Yield index returning 6.3% for 2020. The iTraxx Crossover ended the year at 242, having started the year trading at 207 (its 2020 range was 207 – 708). December 2020 saw the approval of three coronavirus vaccines with high efficacy ratios and this helped markets to stage a strong close to the year.

Investment Strategy

At the start of the year we continued to optimise the convexity profile of the core long bucket by selling bonds trading above call, particularly in cyclical sectors. We reduced exposure to UK speciality insurance firms and added some new names in non-cyclical sectors. We also switched from CDS into bonds in structures where there was an attractive relative-value opportunity. In the income bucket, we increased our exposure by further rolling out front-end CDS on the curve to optimise roll-down and added some new income opportunities.

Over the course of the year, we continued the theme to further reduce the overall exposure to cyclical sectors, in particular, Energy and Autos, switching to names deemed as less cyclical in sectors such as Telecommunications, Packaging and Healthcare.

During Q1 and entering the Covid-19 sell off, we continued to increase our defensive exposure both by adding to existing positions and initiating new bearish-biased trades, for example in the auto rentals space. We also trimmed our defensive index trades in European corporate and financial CDS indices.

During Q2 as markets rebounded from the pandemic lows of March, credit curves remained relatively flat, we took the opportunity to add more risk in the front end of issuer curves.

From Q3 onwards, we reduced the Fund's overall risk level through an increase in cross-over CDS index hedges and by allocating more to the relatively defensive income bucket. As we expected curves to continue steepening, we increased our exposure to the income bucket. After a strong recovery for some of the idiosyncratic stories held, we reduced our exposure to the Retail and Energy sectors and Aircraft Lessors within the core long bucket. We took advantage of some attractive capital structure opportunities, particularly in Financials as valuations remain attractive. We reduced our short index position in the outright short bucket as the market weakened towards the end of the quarter.

Towards the year-end, as we observed volatility in the indices, we increased protection in the portfolio via our book hedge which we reduced slightly.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 3.11% (net of fees) in 2020, underperforming against its target by 0.16%.

Its exposures to the Energy, Banking and Basic Industry sectors boosted its return the most. Given the broad market rally, the Fund's downside protection both through CDS indices and single-name CDS detracted from returns as did its exposure to Leisure and Retail.

Individual names that contributed positively to the Fund's performance over the period included Avis (Services), EDF (Utilities) and Bank of Ireland (Banking). AerCap and Aircastle (both Financial Services) and Macy's (Retail) detracted.

In terms of credit quality, BBB-rated names contributed the most to the Fund's performance. At the regional level, North America, Latin America and the UK boosted the Fund's return the most, while Western Europe and Asia DM detracted the most.

Outlook

We remain reasonably constructive on the high-yield asset class for 2021. Historically, we have seen that high yield tends to outperform as the US climbs out of recession, and this cycle should not be different. Federated Hermes SDG Engagement Equity Fund

Market Review

Over the past 12 months the MSCI ACWI SMID Cap Index returned 12.10%, in sterling terms. Having started the year on a positive note, global equity markets fell dramatically towards the end of the first quarter as the global spread of Covid-19 triggered countrywide lockdowns and slowed economic activity alongside a dramatic fall in the oil price.

Nevertheless, as central banks and governing bodies announced unprecedented stimulus packages, we saw a strong rally, particularly in growth stocks. Later in the year, a broader market rally occurred with the announcement of several vaccine contenders, as participants tried to look past the pandemic and hope that economic activity could recover.

Despite everything that happened in 2020, small caps had a good year, with US and emerging market smaller companies' indices particularly strong. From a regional perspective, emerging markets Asia was the best performing region in the year, followed by North America. Emerging markets Latin America was the only region to provide a negative total return for the period. Information Technology and Health Care were the best performing sectors in the year, while Energy and Real Estate were the only sectors that provided a negative total return.

Investment Strategy

The SDG Engagement Fund is a Small and Mid-Cap investment product that aims to produce above-benchmark investment returns while also delivering a social return.

The investment team seek to invest in higher-quality stocks over long time periods and runs a high active-share portfolio. The team also analyses companies to establish which of the UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) apply to each potential investment, and what else a company could do in order to contribute to those goals.

The team will then engage with the management teams of stocks selected for the Fund to encourage companies to, for example, change business practices, manage their supply chain better, or develop new products, in order to contribute to the delivery of the goals. The team, in conjunction with EOS at Federated Hermes, our stewardship service, will in turn help facilitate this by communicating industry best practice, advising on reporting and disclosure, and, where relevant, introduce third parties to assist companies in their efforts.

The investment approach taken by the team is a bottom-up, fundamental approach. The team believes that excess returns are best and most consistently generated by concentrating on stock-specific risk and not having significant regional and industry exposures. The risk profile of the Fund seeks to maximise investors' exposure, to the extent practically possible, to the achievements of individual stocks and related SDG impact. The investment team has extensive local market knowledge and operates on a regional basis.

Full due diligence on a potential holding will include both an investment thesis and an engagement one. The engagement thesis will detail the proposed ongoing engagement activity, with appropriate milestones, which will then be further enhanced and form a plan once assessed and agreed with the company. The outcomes from engagement will be measured and reported on a semi-annual basis.

Performance Review

The fund returned 4.08% in 2020 in sterling terms, underperforming the benchmark index by 7.20%. This was driven by stock selection predominantly in Information Technology and Communication Services.

Whist there were some material underperformers at the stock level (although the contribution of the two largest contributors exceeded the negative amount from the two largest detractors), style also accounted for much of the underperformance. With the Fund's focus on engagement with impact towards the UN SDGs, it is underrepresented at the growthier end of the market, particularly in Information Technology.

The Fund weathered the initial Covid-19-induced market fall and bounce back, but then steadily lost ground to September as growth stocks climbed relentlessly. Performance improved in September and October with a good earnings season and as growth stock gains slowed with positive vaccine news. However, the Fund exhibits high earnings stability, which is a style that moved out of favour as the market sought reflationary, and therefore improving, earnings.

Among the top contributors to performance, West Pharmaceutical Services provide essential manufacturing services and therefore it was able to continue work through lockdowns. The company also saw increased demand for products required for the Covid-19 vaccine and therapeutics. Techtronic Industries, who produce power tools, benefited from the trend towards doing more DIY as people spent more time at home. IMCD shares performed well having provided resilient earnings and announced purchases of Indian and Finnish materials distributors.

The largest detractor from relative performance was Cineworld, whose share price fell due to the forced closure of their cinemas and their leverage position coming under scrutiny. The Fund's position in the company was sold after the James Bond film was deferred again. Kirby shares fell in the period with revenues and profits down year-on-year for its petrochemical transport and diesel engine maintenance operations. Reinsurance Group of America is a life insurance company and therefore its earnings were impacted by higher death rates.

Pleasingly, despite the uncertainty caused by the coronavirus in 2020, the Fund's management team still found investee companies willing and open to engagement. Over 190 individual company engagements with investee companies took place and many of the investee companies showed positive progress towards engagement objectives by initiating plans and implementing environmental and social targets.

Outlook

The Fund's focus on engaging for impact towards the UN SDGs causes our positioning to diverge from the benchmark in certain sectors. Engagement opportunities are often more abundant in companies with higher capital requirements such as personnel and manufacturing facilities, whereas low-capital intensive tech companies have less opportunity for productive engagement. Therefore, the Fund is less exposed to these businesses.

The current backdrop has resulted in great divergence in stock performance. While the extremes being experienced are getting much press, we are finding opportunities to buy into good businesses at prices that are more attractive than they were pre-Covid-19 when market volatility was very low. For patient investors, we believe this bodes well for market-beating returns in the future.

Hermes Investment Management Limited February 2021

Federated Hermes Impact Opportunities Equity Fund

Market Review

The MSCI All Country World IMI Index returned 12.66%, in Sterling terms, for the period.

Having started the year on a positive note, global equity markets fell dramatically towards the end of the first quarter, with a peak-to-trough decline of over 40%, as the global spread of Covid-19 triggered countrywide lockdowns, slowed economic activity and a dramatic fall in the oil price.

However, towards the end of March we began to see a recovery in markets, particularly within growth stocks, as investors tried to look past the pandemic and as governing bodies and central banks around the world announced unprecedented levels of stimulus to try and help support economies. Later in the year, a broader market rally occurred with the announcement of several vaccine contenders, as participants tried to look past the pandemic and hope that economic activity could recover.

Within the Index, Information Technology and Consumer Discretionary were the best performing sectors, whereas, Energy was the worst performing sector providing a negative return of over 20% for the year. Financials and Real Estate were the only other sectors to record negative absolute returns in the period. North America was the best performing region in the period, with Latin America and Eastern Europe and Africa the laggards during the period.

Investment Strategy

The Federated Hermes Impact Opportunities Fund aims to generate attractive financial returns by investing in companies creating positive impact for people and the planet. By investing in companies that are tackling underserved needs of society and the environment, the fund is exposed to sources of enduring demand and therefore secular growth opportunities.

Last year we utilised the heightened market volatility to add several new names to the portfolio, including Dexcom, Kingspan, Strategic Education, Ballard Power and Straumann. Dexcom is a medical device company with a dominant position in continuous glucose monitoring systems, which enable more accurate insulin management for people with Diabetes. Kingspan is a global leader in high performance insulation products which help reduce carbon emissions. Strategic Education provide education services with a focus on improving access, via technology and pricing, to adults either looking for first time higher education, or vocational courses enabling a career change. Ballard Power is a manufacturer of polymer electrolyte membrane fuel cells which are particularly useful for heavy duty vehicles; and Straumann is a global leader in dental implants, helping to ensure dental health and therefore providing a positive impact towards health and wellbeing.

We also sold out of names where the team had less conviction including Autolus Therapeutics, Duerr, Horiba and Cogna Educacao. The position in Autolus Therapeutics position was sub-scale and we believe the fund has better exposure elsewhere to cell therapies through already cash generative businesses. Duerr, an Auto paint and assembly business, was sold due to competition for capital. Horiba, a manufacturer of measuring equipment and analysers, was sold due to concerns on the business model and strength of impact case; a better technology business was found in new holding Itron. We also sold a small position in Cogna Educacao, a Brazilian education provider, due to concerns over macro-economic headwinds, operating leverage and a stretched balance sheet.

With 32 holdings, the portfolio remains high conviction and benchmark agnostic, with positioning driven by stock specific fundamentals. Compared to the benchmark the portfolio is particularly underweight Information Technology (not holding some of the largest technology stocks), Communication Services, Consumer Discretionary and Financials sectors, whereas it has an overweight position in Health Care and Industrials sectors. It also continues to be overweight in European stocks and underweight in those from Asia Pacific and North America.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Impact Opportunities Fund returned 24.20% in 2020 in sterling terms, significantly outperforming the MSCI All Country World index which returned 12.66%.

This outperformance was almost solely driven by stock selection, particularly in Health Care, Industrials, Utilities and Financials.

The largest stock contributors to relative performance included three of our renewable energy focused stocks which contribute to our Energy Transition impact theme: Siemens Gamesa, Hannon Armstrong and Orsted. All three companies showed earnings resilience in the period and are benefiting from increased investment in sustainable infrastructure and are particularly supportive of renewable energy across the globe, as countries seek to lower their carbon emissions.

The largest stock detractor was Cogna Educacao, a Brazilian education company whose share price was affected by weaker investment sentiment towards Brazil; the small position in the Fund has now been sold. Not holding Apple detracted as the large benchmark constituent rallied significantly in the year, alongside the technology sector. Valeo a manufacturer of components for cars, saw weaker performance as the Covid-19 pandemic caused concerns around economic activity. The holding in Valeo was also sold due to concerns about the company's outlook, with proceeds utilised to top up higher conviction ideas.

Sector allocation was neutral in the period; the positive effect from our underweight position in Financials and Energy sectors was almost offset by the negative effect of our underweight in Information Technology and Consumer Discretionary sectors. In terms of regional performance, the fund's outperformance came predominantly from stock selection in Europe and North America.

Outlook

The coronavirus pandemic has created a large amount of uncertainty in near term supply and demand trends within many industries which is likely to continue. Nevertheless, the macro uncertainty is likely to mean that low interest rates endure, and ongoing stimulus is provided, which will in-turn offer further liquidity to global markets.

We have been encouraged by the resilience in earnings of the majority of our companies over the last three quarters. We remain confident of the long-term outlook for our strategy; believing that impactful companies are essential to help service the unmet needs of the environment and society and so are exposed to enduring sources of demand – providing secular growth opportunities as well as positive impact towards people and the planet. The impacts of Covid-19 have highlighted the importance of improving the provision of food and water security, health care systems and supply chains, as well as heightened awareness of climate change and workers' rights. While we already invest and engage on these topics, we hope that this increased consciousness endures and leads to further investment and innovation. As governments worldwide utilise fiscal stimulus to support economies, we believe that companies addressing the SDGs remain best placed to benefit.

Hermes Investment Management Limited February 2021

Federated Hermes Unconstrained Credit Fund

Market Review

2020 was an unprecedented year on many counts and credit markets were extremely volatile as Covid-19 rapidly spread across the world. In March at the peak of the sell off, credit markets sold off to the lowest levels seen since the Global Financial Crisis but then rallied back over the course of the year driven by huge support from the world's largest central banks (who launched large bond buying programmes) and fiscal relief programmes from governments around the world.

The S&P 500, the Dow Jones and the MSCI World index closed at record levels on 31 December 2020 with the S&P experiencing an +18.4% advance in total return terms over the year. However, the best equity performance came from technology stocks, with the NASDAQ seeing a +45.1% return over the year. Within credit, returns from investment grade (IG) led the way, with the ICE BofA Global Corporate index returning 7.7% for 2020. High yield returns were not far behind with the ICE BofA Global High Yield index returning 6.3% for 2020. The iTraxx Crossover ended the year at 242, having started the year trading at 207 (in 2020 its range was 207 – 708). The VIX index ended the year at 23, having started the year at 12 (its 2020 range was 12 – 83).

After seeing $14th of fiscal stimulus in 2020 we note that the quantity of global debt now stands at a record $277th. The price of debt also stands at a record 5,000-year low with global negative-yielding debt in the region of $18th. December 2020 saw the approval of three coronavirus vaccines with high efficacy ratios, and this helped markets to stage a strong close to the year.

Investment Strategy

During the more volatile Q1, we reduced our exposure to cyclical sectors such as Energy and parts of the market that had outperformed, such as Russia and emerging sovereign debt, and increased our exposure to Financials and higher-quality non-cyclical corporates. We increased our exposure in the options book at the start of the year and managed to roll our exposure to maintain the portfolio's gamma profile as market volatility increased. As volatility peaked, we started to reduce the options book, monetising the increase in volatility since the start of the year.

During Q2, compression between secured and unsecured bonds in the market created opportunities to switch from unsecured into senior parts of the capital structure. We also took advantage of flatter curves by switching from the long end into the belly and increased our hedge overlay using options on both the US and European high-yield markets.

As emerging markets and cyclicality premiums continued to shrink towards the end of 2020, we reduced exposure to the emerging markets sleeve. Additionally, we sold Energy names within the Investment Grade sleeve that had performed well. In the high yield sleeve, we added to defensive names in Telecommunications, Packaging, and Healthcare. We also increased our exposure to Financials which we see as attractive at current valuations. The rally that started post US elections has allowed us to add additional short risk protection via a mix of outright index and options on the US and European High Yield market. As a result of curves having almost completely normalised, we have added a defensive curve flattener using European investment-grade credit as the underlying instrument.

We further increased our defensive exposure by switching to less cyclical names in sectors such as Telecommunications, Packaging and Healthcare. We added to our Banking sector investments as current valuations remain attractive. In our view, investors are being well compensated for future risks.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 11.63% in 2020, outperforming it's target by 5.06%.

The main source of absolute performance came from the fund's hedge overlay, while Basic Industry, Energy and Financials also contributed.

At the individual holdings level, AbbVie Inc (Healthcare), Suzano (Basic Industry) and Commerzbank (Banking) contributed to absolute returns. Antero Resources (Energy), AK Steel Corp (Basic Industry) and Pemex (Energy) detracted.

From a ratings perspective, BB- and BBB-rated bonds boosted the Fund's absolute return the most. At the regional level, returns were driven by positioning in North America and Western Europe.

Outlook

We remain reasonably constructive on the high-yield asset class for 2021. Historically, we have seen that high yield tends to outperform as the US climbs out of recession, and this cycle should not be different. The are several positives such as economic conditions that are showing signs of improving, with global Purchasing Managers' Indices (PMIs) continuing to print above 50 and positive breakthroughs on the vaccine front providing some visibility on a return to normality. In addition, corporate earnings continue to surprise to the upside and rating downgrades have slowed. That said, we do not rule out further bouts of volatility, although it is unlikely to near last year's extreme levels, as the global recovery may be slower than expected as many countries shutter their economies in the early part of Q1 2021. Temporary cost-cutting measures are rolling off and companies are beginning to reintroduce capital expenditure spending and dividend programmes and we observe an increase in global M&A activity.

We believe that credit investors will need to focus more on relative value to generate alpha this year. High-yield credit should see positive tailwinds from the continued high proportion of negative-yielding assets and pressure on dividends in equities. Inflation expectations are slightly higher since September, especially in the US, however the likelihood of an inflation surprise in the short term remains low. We have a preference to still be defensively positioned in our sector and regional allocations, given current valuations. We also see some merit in taking subordinated risk in industry leaders and national champions, rather than chasing yield in much weaker and lower-rated credits. Interest rate curves are flatter in Europe than the US. This means that it is more expensive to hedge interest rate exposure using US rates as opposed to European rates. However, considering the divergent inflation expectations between the two regions, we still prefer to express our portfolio hedge via US rates.

Hermes Investment Management Limited February 2021

Federated Hermes Global Emerging Markets SMID Equity Fund

Market Review

The MSCI Emerging Markets SMID Net TR index returned 14.31% in US dollar terms (10.80% in sterling terms) over the period, underperforming the broader emerging markets, measured by the MSCI Emerging Markets index which returned 18.31%. The relative underperformance of the EM SMID index is partly due to its overweight to fiscally sensitive pro-cyclical sectors such as industrials, materials, and real estate compared to the broader All Cap MSCI EM Index.

Emerging-market equities fell sharply in the first quarter as the spread of coronavirus, initially isolated to China, quickly morphed into a global pandemic. Markets sold off aggressively in March as the increase in cases outside China, notably in Europe and the United States, and the ensuing response to lockdown measures in affected economies, prompted central banks into swift action to help steady fears of a prolonged recession. Oil was caught in a perfect storm with an agreement between OPEC and Russia to constrain supply breaking down just as the outlook for demand fell. A stronger US dollar and plummeting oil prices further pressured emerging markets.

The second quarter delivered a strong initial rebound as central banks and governments cut borrowing rates and announced significant stimulus packages to reduce the damage caused by the economic shutdown, restoring positive sentiment to markets. The number of reported cases in some parts of Asia trended down and economies began reopening, particularly in China, South Korea, and Taiwan, while concern increased around rising cases in the United States, India, and Latin America.

Markets climbed higher in the third quarter despite an acceleration in the number of new cases of Covid-19 reported in several countries and an escalation in US-China tensions. Emerging-market equities recorded the highest quarterly gain in over a decade in the fourth quarter, boosted by the announcement of three vaccines deemed effective against the coronavirus, which added fuel to the post-US-election rally. The risk-on mood helped eclipse worries about the near-term global economic outlook and new variants of the virus which surfaced in the closing weeks of the year. The rally in commodity prices was supportive of emerging-market exporters, with the year's biggest losers gaining the most in the final quarter: Columbia, Brazil, Mexico, Peru, Czech Republic, Hungary, Turkey, and Thailand all returned more than 20%.

Since equity markets hit bottom in late March, the dollar has weakened overall by 11%. In addition to the expectation that the Federal Reserve will keep US interest rates low for some time, sizable fiscal stimulus is likely under the new administration, potentially leading to a wider fiscal deficit and, ultimately, a stable or weaker US dollar in 2021.

The MSCI EM Index posted an impressive recovery of more than 70% following the precipitous drop in global stock markets in the first quarter, on par with both US equities and the broader developed markets. EM SMID caps recovered from the March '20 bottom but they still lag US peers and the broader EM index.

China was the best-performing of the major markets in the index, followed by Korea and Taiwan. Their respective governments dealt well with Covid-19 outbreaks and reopened to a much greater extent than most. As the "first in, first out" in the Covid-19 pandemic, China enjoyed a much faster recovery in 2020, leading to a return of 34% in US dollar terms. Though China's recovery since the bottom has not been as large as the broader index, its equity market fell significantly less in the first quarter as the government was able to effectively manage the spread of the virus. However, the launch of an anti-trust investigation into Alibaba and further escalation in US-China tensions in the final quarter weighed on sentiment. Korea and Taiwan were boosted by strong gains from the technology sector.

At the sector level, Information Technology rose more than 50%, Health Care and Materials outperformed, while Energy, Real Estate, and Utilities lagged the most.

Investment Strategy

At a country level, we believe the Fund is well positioned for either the prospect of a global economic recovery or any near-term challenges from new variants of the virus, lockdown delays and withdrawal of stimulus. We maintain the Fund's overweight to China given the strength of the economy, and an overweight to Taiwan, which is likely to benefit from a global economic recovery given their strong capability in semiconductors, memory, 5G, automation, artificial intelligence (AI) and electric vehicles (EV).

We continue to avoid what we view as the most vulnerable markets, such as Saudi Arabia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Argentina, and Columbia. The Fund is underweight Brazil given its weak domestic sector, fragile fiscal situation, and elevated valuations. The Fund retains a neutral position in Mexico, which shows no major vulnerability and should benefit from strong earnings rebound in 2021.

In terms of stock selection in the second half of the year, we initiated several positions in the Fund and sold several others on strength or market concerns.

We initiated a position in Sunny Friend Environmental Technology, an industrial infectious waste disposal company which operates medical and industrial waste treatment plants. The company uses technology to handle various types of hazardous waste and collects, incinerates, solidifies, and develops solutions to streamline the disposal. Sunny Friend is the only listed medical and industrial hazardous waste company and is well-placed for an ongoing expansion into China. We added Tokai Carbon Korea, a subsidiary of Tokai Carbon Japan. The company manufactures silicon carbide rings (SiC) that are widely utilised during the etching process in the NAND market and produces single silicon crystal and purified graphite products mostly for the semiconductor industry in Korea. Today, TCK is the only company that has the technology, and manufacturing know-how to make SiC rings. We added Polymetal, a leading gold (and silver) producer with a high-quality, low-cost asset base with long asset life. Polymetal produces some of the highest quality gold ore in the world and due to its favourable position on the cost curve, it is one of the most profitable gold miners globally: the company has consistently generated returns (ROE and ROIC) above 15-20%, well above its global peers. We initiated a position in NICE Information Systems, a leading credit bureau (CB) in Korea providing individual credit information services based on an accumulated credit information database of ~ 43m economically active population. The demand for CB service is driven by: usual day-to-day lending by financial institutions; financial institutes' lending practice increasingly shifting to credit based from collateral based; the emergence of internet banks and fin-tech companies; and individuals becoming more interested in managing their own credit related information.

In the fourth quarter, we initiated a position in Enel Chile, a Chilean electricity generation and distribution company. Chile's economy is set to be a major beneficiary of the global shift to electric vehicles and renewable energy. As the economy will become more electricity intensive going forwards, electricity demand is expected to grow faster than GDP. Low valuations, low expectations, and forced selling mean that returns are very positively skewed. Enel Chile also offers a dividend yield of 6%. We added Win Semiconductors, a Taiwan go-to foundry manufacturer of compound semiconductors which are fast becoming a larger part of the new, technology-driven world. Today, the world is dependent on connectivity, which requires radio frequency (RF) chips that are deployed in every mobile phone, base station, satellite, and Wi-Fi device. Win Semi is the only foundry in the world with about 70%+ non-IDM global market share that can support all the compound semi-dependent applications and processes. We bought Livechat Software, a Polish software as a service (SaaS) company with a strong track-record of growth in revenues, earnings and cashflows. The business operates in the niche market of online chat tools, which have become increasingly relevant in today's world – with Covid-19, companies need to find ways to communicate online effectively, efficiently, and safely with their customers.

We continued to build positions in newly added names VA Tech Wabag (Wabag), India's largest private water treatment technology company, Bajaj Finserve, an Indian financial services company focused on consumer lending, and NICE, a leading credit bureau (CB) in Korea providing individual credit information services. The team used market weakness to add to Polymetal, Groupo Aeroportuario del Centro Norte and Genomma Lab.

We sold down China Communication Services following the then US President Donald Trump's executive order prohibiting US investments in Chinese companies that Washington says are owned or controlled by the Chinese military. We trimmed several names including Techtronic Industries, Mail.RU, Yandex, Nari Technology, Delta and Eugene Technology following strong performance year-to-date. We sold out of Notre Dame Intermedica following strong performance and a change in the company valuation.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 17.23% over the period in Sterling terms (net of fees, outperforming on a relative (geometric) basis by 5.81%. The outperformance was driven primarily by country allocations, notably our overweight exposure to China, which outperformed being 'first in' and 'first out' of the pandemic, and the associate currency which benefitted as the Renminbi appreciated. Avoiding underperforming markets hit hardest by the pandemic, including Thailand, the Philippines, Indonesia, South Africa (underweight), Chile and Argentina aided returns. Stock selection in Taiwan, Russia, Korea, and Brazil contributed positively, offsetting a Healthcare name's negative impact in the United Arab Emirates and disappointing selection in India and China. The overweight allocation and stock selection in Communication Services and Information Technology contributed the most to relative returns at the sector level. Non-exposure to energy and the underweight in financials also benefited, offsetting Health Care and Consumer Discretionary names that detracted.

Delta Electronics, a Taiwanese global leader in switching power supply solutions, was the largest individual contributor. Delta rose as earnings for its power business were driven by strong PC/server demand. The company's leading position in power should ensure it keeps benefiting from increasing cloud applications and telecom infrastructure upgrades. It's Industrial Automation (IA) business should also benefit from ongoing supply chain relocation and increasing automation. Weimob, a leading provider of cloud-based commerce and marketing solutions for SMEs operating on Tencent's social networking service platforms in China, rose sharply on strong growth rates of 70-80% for its software services business which recovered from a soft first half and strong revenues from its targeted marketing business. SITC International, a Hong Kong-listed provider of shipping services across Asia, rose after reporting strong earnings growth despite trade disruptions, thanks mainly to lower costs, capacity expansion and improved demand outlook. The conclusion of the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP), securing one of the largest free trade agreements in history – representing 15 ASEAN countries and five regional partners – also boosted its shares.

NMC Healthcare, which operates hospitals in the Middle East, detracted the most from relative returns. Shares in NMC were suspended on 27th February 2020, after an independent investigation into the allegations made by short-seller Muddy Waters discovered businesses controlled by a founder of the company and an associate allegedly accessed US$4bn in secret off-balance-sheet financing without the knowledge of its Board. Source: Bloomberg, August 2020. We marked down the shares to zero. NMC subsequently went into administration, and shares were delisted on 28th April 2020. Shares in China Communication Services, a leading 5G infrastructure service provider, fell as its majority shareholder China Telecom was named in a US executive order banning US investment in 31 Chinese companies deemed to have ties to China's military. Shenzhen International, a stateowned enterprise that operates a wide range of transportation businesses, fell as the Covid-19 pandemic had a severe impact on Shenzhen Airlines in which the company has a 49% equity interest.

After a surprisingly robust recovery in 2020, emerging-market equities look set for a positive year in 2021 as North Asia, which constitutes the majority of the benchmark, exhibited notable competence in dealing with the coronavirus and thus, it looks set to build on good numbers in 2021.

But North Asia won't be the only place for performance. The global economy should see a recovery in the second half of the year, as vaccines are distributed and global confidence returns, helping commodity producers like Indonesia, Peru, Russia, and Mexico. Of course, the Democrats' victory may see less infrastructure spending than previously hoped, as the prospect of vaccination lends credence to a policy of fiscal prudence, one which will be wholeheartedly endorsed by the Republicans in the US Senate. Emerging market SMID valuations appear supportive as they are at the low end of their long-term range relative to developed ones, and trading at a discount to the broader index.

In Latin America, although US President Joe Biden should be more engaged, local politics will remain volatile. However, economic growth should be positive, even if not all countries have secured vaccines. The EMEA region will see a more difficult US-Russia relationship but better demand for energy, base metals, and platinum/palladium, aiding Russia, and South Africa. However, politics will remain challenging in the latter, and prospects for the current rally to last through 2021 are modest.

Fiscal stimulus, infrastructure spending, a weak dollar, pro-cyclical index composition and middling valuations could create an ideal runway for emerging-market small and mid-cap stocks to lead in 2021. Overall, it is likely to be a good year for financials and materials, but longer-term, high economic growth rates are not on the cards, so cyclicals remain more of a trade for 2021 than a secular investment. Secular trends like digitalisation, increasing spending on health care, logistics, and premium products should continue.

Federated Hermes SDG Engagement High Yield Credit Fund

Market Review

2020 was an unprecedented year on many counts and credit markets were extremely volatile as Covid-19 rapidly spread across the world. In March at the peak of the sell off, credit markets sold off to the lowest levels seen since the Global Financial Crisis but then rallied back over the course of the year driven by huge support from the world's largest central banks (who launched large bond-buying programmes) and fiscal relief programmes from governments around the world.

The S&P 500, the Dow Jones and the MSCI World index closed at record levels on 31 December 2020, with the S&P experiencing an +18.4% advance in total return terms over the year. However, the best equity performance came from technology stocks, with the NASDAQ seeing a +45.1% return over the year. Within credit, returns from investment grade (IG) led the way, with the ICE BofA Global Corporate index returning 7.7% for 2020. High yield returns were not far behind: the ICE BofA Global High Yield index returned 6.3% in 2020. iTraxx Crossover ended the year at 242, having started the year trading at 207 (in 2020, its range was 207 – 708). The VIX index ended the year at 23 having started the year at 12, (it ranged between 12 – 83 in 2020).

After seeing $14tn of fiscal stimulus in 2020, we note that the quantity of global debt now stands at a record $277tn. The price of debt also stands at a record 5,000-year low with global negative-yielding debt in the region of $18tn. In December 2020, three coronavirus vaccines with high efficacy ratios were approved, and this helped markets to stage a strong close to the year.

Investment Strategy

Given our views on the prevailing market conditions, we added some protection in the form of the CDS index to the Fund before the pandemic-induced market volatility. Following the February/March sell-off, we were initially very conservative, adding risk and only issuers that we had high conviction in regarding their fundamentals and engagement potential.

We also noticeably saw credit curves flatten and took advantage of that by adding proportionately more risk in the front end of issuers' curves. As primary markets re-opened, we saw curves start to normalise and this then allowed us to rotate our curve exposure in certain issuers.

We initially added risk in the US and Europe, where the market was being supported by the US Federal Reserve and the European Central Bank's corporate bond-buyback programmes. This then led to a value differentiation between developed markets and emerging markets (EM) which we took advantage of by adding more EM exposure in late summer.

From Q3 onwards, we noticed a discrepancy between cyclical and non-cyclical risk, with the former having lagged. We took advantage of this and rotated some of our more defensive exposures out and invested in more cyclical names. This trade worked out particularly well in Q4 following the result of the US election and the positive vaccine news.

Performance review

The fund returned 7.40% in 2020, outperforming its benchmark by 0.87%.

The Fund's overweight positioning in Basic Industry and Capital Goods and its underweight positioning in Energy boosted its relative return the most. Its overweight positioning in Automotive and its underweight positioning in Real Estate and Leisure detracted from its relative return the most.

At the individual holding level, the Fund's positioning in Hess (Energy), Intelsat (Telecommunications) and Orbia (Basic Industry) were the top contributors to its relative outperformance. Pemex (Energy), Ford (Automotive) and Neptune Energy (Energy) detracted the most.

From a ratings perspective, BB- and BBB-rated bonds boosted the Fund's relative return the most, while the fund's underweight positioning in CCC- and lower-rated bonds detracted the most. At the regional level, the Fund's overweight positioning in Western Europe and the UK and its underweight positioning in the Americas positively impacted its relative return the most.

We believe that credit investors will need to focus more on relative value to generate alpha this year. High-yield credit should see positive tailwinds from the continued high proportion of negative-yielding assets and pressure on dividends in equities. Inflation expectations are slightly higher since September, especially in the US, however the likelihood of an inflation surprise in the short term remains low. We have a preference to still be defensively positioned in our sector and regional allocations, given current valuations. We also see some merit in taking subordinated risk in industry leaders and national champions, rather than chasing yield in much weaker and lower-rated credits. Interest rate curves are flatter in Europe than the US. This means that it is more expensive to hedge interest rate exposure using US rates as opposed to European rates. However, considering the divergent inflation expectations between the two regions, we still prefer to express our portfolio hedge via US rates.

Hermes Investment Management Limited February 2021

Federated Hermes US High Yield Credit Fund

Market Review

The fund made its initial investment in the high-yield market on July 21, 2020. From that date through December 31, 2020 the high-yield market outperformed the investment grade bond market. For example, the ICE BofA US High Yield 2% Constrained Index (HUC0) returned 7.77% versus a 0.25% return for the ICE BofA US Corporate, Government & Mortgage Index (D0A0), a measure of high-quality bond performance.

The main driver of the strong relative and absolute performance of high-yield bonds over the period was the decline of uncertainty and confidence that the US economy would continue to recover from the second quarter's historic decline in GDP. As the period began, uncertainty was paramount in investors' minds concentrated around the Covid-19 pandemic, US elections, oil prices and economic growth. As the period progressed the pressure of these uncertainties lessened as vaccines to combat the virus were approved, the elections occurred, oil prices increased, and economic growth rebounded strongly in the second half of 2020. Within the high-yield market, volatile sectors and virus-exposed sectors led the rebound, with the Transportation, Leisure and Energy sectors outperforming. From a quality perspective, the CCC-rated sector was the clear outperformer returning 17.06% while the B-rated and BB-rated sectors returned 6.92% and 6.35%, respectively.

Investment Strategy

At the end of the period under review, the portfolio was overweight the Media, Insurance, Healthcare, Capital Goods and Energy industry sectors relative to the HUC0. The overweight position in Insurance is concentrated in insurance brokerage companies, in Capital Goods the concentration is in packaging companies and in Energy the overweight is largely attributable to gas distribution companies. The portfolio was underweight the Telecommunications, Real Estate, Financial Services and Retail industry segments. The portfolio's effective duration approximated the effective duration of HUC0.

Performance Review

With a total return of 5.71%, the portfolio underperformed the HUC0 over the period. Several factors negatively impacted the fund over the period. First, its cash holdings and transaction costs during the initial investment period in late July/early August hurt performance relative to the benchmark. Post the ramp up period, security selection in the Capital Goods, Basic Industry, Healthcare, Leisure and Retail industry sectors negatively impacted performance. The fund did benefit from its underweight to the poor performing Telecommunication sector.

Outlook

As 2020 comes to a close, the near-term future looks bright for the relative performance of high-yield bonds. The worst of the Covid-19 pandemic will hopefully soon be behind us. Monetary and fiscal policy remain extremely stimulative. Corporate earnings should rebound nicely in 2021 and we believe high-yield default rates should fall substantially in 2021. While valuations are not cheap, we believe high-yield credit spreads are poised to move lower. Risks to high yield as we enter 2021 would include a lack of progress in mitigating the impact of Covid-19 or a substantial decline in energy prices. Also, while an increase in intermediate term interest rates would initially lead to good relative performance, it could lead to negative absolute returns and increased short term volatility.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (Ireland) (ISAs (Ireland)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are described below in the "Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements" section of our report.

We are independent of the Company in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in Ireland, including the Ethical Standard issued by the Irish Auditing and Accounting Supervisory Authority, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

In auditing the financial statements, we have concluded that the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements is appropriate.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the company's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of at least twelve months from when the financial statements are authorised for issue.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT TO THE SHAREHOLDERS OF FEDERATED HERMES INVESTMENT FUNDS PUBLIC LIMITED COMPANY

Other information

The other information comprises the information included in the annual report and the audited financial statements, other than the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon. The directors are responsible for the other information contained within the annual report and audited financial statements. Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in our report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

Our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether there is a material misstatement in the financial statements or a material misstatement of the other information. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of directors

As explained more fully in the Directors Report, the directors are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view and otherwise comply with the Companies Act 2014, and for such internal control as the directors determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the directors are responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the directors either intend to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (Ireland) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs (Ireland), we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the directors.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT TO THE SHAREHOLDERS OF FEDERATED HERMES INVESTMENT FUNDS PUBLIC LIMITED COMPANY

- Conclude on the appropriateness of the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of the auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the entity (or where relevant, the group) to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that the auditor identifies during the audit.

Report on other legal and regulatory requirements

Opinion on other matters prescribed by the Companies Act 2014

Based solely on the work undertaken in the course of the audit, we report that:

- We have obtained all the information and explanations which we consider necessary for the purposes of our audit.

- The financial statements are in agreement with the accounting records.
- In our opinion the information given in the directors' report is consistent with the financial statements and the directors' report has been prepared in accordance with the Companies Act 2014.

Matters on which we are required to report by exception

Based on the knowledge and understanding of the Company and its environment obtained in the course of the audit, we have not identified material misstatements in the directors' report.

We have nothing to report in respect of the provisions in the Companies Act 2014 which require us to report to you if, in our opinion, the disclosures of directors' remuneration and transactions specified by law are not made.

Use of our report

This report is made solely to the company's shareholders, as a body, in accordance with Section 391 of the Companies Act 2014. Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the company's shareholders those matters we are required to state to them in an auditor's report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the company and the company's shareholders as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

The significant accounting policies applied in the preparation of these Financial Statements are set out below.

Basis of Preparation

The Financial Statements have been prepared in accordance with the Companies Act 2014, International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") as adopted by the European Union and the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations, 2011, as amended and Central Bank (Supervision and Enforcement) Act 2013 (Section 48(1)) (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2019.

These Financial Statements have been prepared on a going concern basis and under the historical cost convention, as modified by the revaluation of financial assets and liabilities held at fair value through profit or loss.

The preparation of Financial Statements in accordance with IFRS requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the year. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. The main areas of estimation are discussed in this note under the heading "Financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss".

(a) Standards and amendments to existing standards effective 1 January 2020

Amendments to IAS and IAS 8 relate to a revised definition of 'material' which is quoted as follows: 'Information is material if omitting, misstating or obscuring it could reasonably be expected to influence decisions that the primary users of general purpose financial statements make on the basis of those financial statements, which provide financial information about a specific reporting entity.'

The revised Conceptual Framework is implemented to assist companies that use the Conceptual Framework to develop accounting policies when no IFRS Standard applies to a particular transaction. There has been no impact on the Fund.

(b) New standards, amendments and interpretations effective after 1 January 2021 and have not been early adopted

A number of new standards, amendments to standards and interpretations are effective for annual periods beginning after 1 January 2021, and have not been early adopted in preparing these Financial Statements. None of these are expected to have a material effect on the Financial Statements of the Company.

2. Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Foreign exchange translation

(a) Functional and presentation currency

Items included in the Company's Financial Statements are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which it operates ('the functional currency'). The functional currency of the Federated Hermes Global High Yield Credit Fund, the Federated Hermes European Alpha Equity Fund and the Federated Hermes Europe ex-UK Fund is Euro, which reflects the fact that a large number of the investments in their portfolios are denominated in Euro. The functional currency of the Federated Hermes Global Emerging Markets Equity Fund, the Federated Hermes US SMID Equity Fund, the Federated Hermes Asia ex-Japan Equity Fund, the Federated Hermes Global Equity ESG Fund, the Federated Hermes Multi-Strategy Credit Fund, the Federated Hermes Global Small Cap Equity Fund, Federated Hermes Absolute Return Credit Fund, the Federated Hermes SDG Engagement Equity Fund, the Federated Hermes Impact Opportunities Equity Fund, the Federated Hermes Unconstrained Credit Fund, the Federated Hermes Global Emerging Markets SMID Equity Fund, the Federated Hermes SDG Engagement High Yield Credit Fund and the Federated Hermes US High Yield Credit Fund is US Dollar which reflects the fact that a large number of the investments in their portfolios are denominated in US Dollar. All sub-funds denominated in Euro and US Dollar have been converted to Sterling in the total columns. The presentation currency of the Company is Sterling.

(b) Transactions and balances

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency of each sub-fund using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions. Assets and liabilities are translated into the functional currency of each sub-fund using exchange rates in effect at the Balance Sheet date.

Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of transactions and from the translation at year end exchange rates of monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are recognised in the Income Statement.

Translation differences on financial instruments held at fair value through profit or loss are reported as part of net gain/(loss) on financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss in the Income Statement.

(c) Foreign exchange adjustments on aggregation

For the purpose of aggregating the Financial Statements of the sub-funds, Euro and US Dollar denominated sub-funds in the Financial Statements have been translated to Sterling at the average rate of exchange for the financial year on the Income Statement and at the financial year end rate on the Balance Sheet. The exchange adjustment arising from the difference between the average rate and the year end rate, in addition to the notional exchange adjustment arising from the translation of the opening net assets are shown in the Statement of Changes in Net Assets. The method of translation has no effect on the Net Asset Value per share attributable to the individual sub-funds.

The notional adjustment translation of the Cash Flow movements at the average rate opposed to the financial year end rate is shown in the Cash Flow Statement.

Financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

(a) Classification

(i) Assets

In accordance with IFRS 9, the Company classifies its investments based on both the Company's business model for managing those financial assets and the contractual cash flow characteristics of the financial assets. The portfolio of financial assets is managed and performance is evaluated on a fair value basis. The Company is primarily focused on fair value information and uses that information to assess the assets' performance and to make decisions. The Company has not taken the option to irrevocably designate any equity securities as fair value through other comprehensive income. The contractual cash flows of the Company's debt securities are solely principal and interest, however, these securities are neither held for the purpose of collecting contractual cash flows nor held both for collecting contractual cash flows and for sale. The collection of contractual cash flows is only incidental to achieving the Company's business model's objective. Consequently, all investments are measured at fair value through profit or loss.

(ii) Liabilities

Derivative contracts that have a negative fair value are presented as liabilities at fair value through profit or loss.

As such, the Company classifies its entire investment portfolio as financial assets or liabilities at fair value through profit or loss.

(b) Recognition/derecognition

Purchases and sales of investments are recognised on the trade date – the date on which the Company commits to purchase or sell the investment. Investments are derecognised when the rights to receive cash flows from the investments have expired or the Company has transferred all risks and rewards of ownership. Gains and losses on the disposal of financial assets and liabilities are computed on a FIFO basis and are included in the Income Statement. Changes in unrealised gains and losses on financial assets and liabilities are recognised in the Income Statement.

(c) Measurement

Financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are initially recognised at fair value. Subsequent to initial recognition, all financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are measured at fair value. Gains and losses arising from changes in the fair value of the "financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss" category are presented in the Income Statement in the period in which they arise.

IFRS 13 Fair Value Measurement requires the sub-funds to classify fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Level I Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets that are accessible at the measurement date for identical, unrestricted assets or liabilities. The type of investments which would generally be included would include equities, american depositary receipts, REITS, warrants and derivatives listed on a securities exchange.
- Level II Quoted prices in markets that are not considered to be active or financial instruments priced using inputs other than quoted prices and for which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly (including quoted prices for similar investments in active markets, interest rates and yield curves, credit risks, etc.). The type of investments which would generally be included in this category would include corporate bonds, government bonds, P-Notes, bank debt and certain over-the-counter derivatives.
- Level III Prices or valuations that require inputs that are both significant to the fair value measurement and unobservable (including the Investment Manager's own assumptions and assumptions used by the Board of Directors about what market participants would use in determining the fair value of investments).
 The type of investments which would generally be included in this category would include private or debt securities issued by private entities and investments priced by the Investment Manager. The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risks associated with investing in those securities.

(d) Fair value estimation

IFRS 13 defines fair value as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value of financial instruments traded in active markets (such as publicly traded derivatives and trading securities, warrants, floating rate notes, P-Notes, REITS, american depositary receipts and bonds) is based on quoted market prices at the Balance Sheet date. The Company utilises the last traded market price for both financial assets and financial liabilities where the last traded price falls within the bid-ask spread. IFRS 13 allows the use of midmarket pricing or other pricing conventions (including last traded price) that are used by market participants as a practical expedient for the exit price. In circumstances where the last traded price is not within the bid-ask spread, management will determine the point within the bid-ask spread that is most representative of fair value. No investments have been valued in this way at year end.

Derivatives

Derivative contracts ("derivatives") are either exchange-traded or over-the-counter ("OTC") contracts. Exchange-traded derivatives are standard contracts traded on a regulated exchange. OTC contracts are private contracts negotiated with counterparties. Derivatives are comprised of futures, forward currency contracts, credit default swaps, swaptions and warrants.

Derivatives are recorded at fair value. The sub-fund values exchange-traded derivative contracts at their official settlement price on the exchange where they are primarily traded. OTC derivatives are valued using market transactions and other market evidence whenever possible, including market based inputs to model, model calibration to market-clearing transactions, brokers or dealers quotations, or alternative pricing sources with reasonable levels of transparency.

Futures

Futures contracts are valued at the last reported settlement or closing price as supplied by the exchange on which the contracts are traded and are recorded on a trade date basis. Cash balances held with Morgan Stanley are used as collateral for the futures contracts and are identified as variation margin receivable and payable in the Balance Sheet. Variation margin is valued at face value plus accrued interest which approximates fair value.

Gains or losses from futures contracts are considered realised for accounting purposes on the trade date of the transaction closing or offsetting the open position.

Realised gains or losses are included in the Income Statement. Unrealised gains or losses, representing the difference between the future rate and contract rate of open futures positions, are included in the Balance Sheet and the movement in the financial year is included in the Income Statement.

Forward currency contracts

Forward currency contracts are valued at the forward rate and are marked to market on the valuation date. The change in value is included in net gain/(loss) on financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss in the Income Statement. When the contract is closed, the Company records a realised gain or loss equal to the difference between the value of the contract at the time it was opened and the value at the time it was closed.

Warrants

Warrants are securities providing a return generated by a specified underlying equity or basket of equities. Investments in warrants are valued at the last reported trade price of the underlying security as of close of business at the reporting date. The resulting unrealised gains and losses for the financial year are included in the Balance Sheet and Income Statement. Realised gains and losses are included in the Income Statement.

Credit Default Swaps

Credit default swaps are OTC contracts in which the sub-fund pays or receives an interest flow in return for the counterparty accepting all or part of the risk of default or failure to pay off a reference entity on which the swap return is written. Where the sub-fund has bought protection the maximum potential loss is the value of the interest flows the sub-fund is contracted to pay until maturity of the contract. Where the sub-fund has sold protection the maximum potential loss is the nominal value of the protection sold. The credit default swaps are marked to market at each valuation point by a third party vendor and the change, if any, is recorded as a movement in unrealised gain or loss. Payments received or made as a result of a credit event or termination of the contract are recognised, net of a proportional amount of the upfront payment, as realised gains or losses.

Swaptions

Swaptions combine the features of two other financial instruments, namely an option and a swap. A swaption involves writing/purchasing options to enter into a swap. When a sub-fund writes/purchases a swaption, a premium is received/paid by the sub-fund and the swaption is initially recognised at the amount of the premium.

The swaption is subsequently "marked to market" to reflect the fair value of the swaption, which is reported within the financial assets/liabilities at fair value through profit or loss on the Balance Sheet and Portfolio Statement. The difference between the premium and the fair value reported on the Balance Sheet gives rise to an unrealised gain/loss which is reported in the Income Statement.

Asset Backed Securities

An asset-backed security is a security that is primarily serviced by the cash flows of a discrete pool of receivables or other financial assets, either fixed or revolving, that by their terms convert into cash within a finite time period plus any rights or other assets designed to ensure the servicing or timely distribution of proceeds to the security holders. The investment characteristics of asset-backed securities are such that principal payments are made more frequently than traditional debt securities. The principal may be repaid at any time because the underlying asset loans or other assets generally may be repaid at any time. The sub-funds record these principal repayments as they arise and realise a gain or loss in the net gains/(losses) on financial assets/ (liabilities) at fair value through profit or loss in the Income Statement in the period in which they occur. Asset Backed Securities are valued at fair value based on their guoted market price at the Balance Sheet date.

Income from investments

Bank and bond interest income and expense are recognised in the Income Statement using the effective interest rate method.

Dividends are credited to the Income Statement on the dates on which the relevant securities are listed as "ex-dividend". Dividend income is shown gross of any withholding taxes, which is disclosed separately in the Income Statement, and net of any tax credits.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents are valued at their face value together with interest accrued, where applicable. Cash and cash equivalents comprise of cash balances and short term bank overdrafts and short-term highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash.

Cash received as collateral for derivative positions

Broker cash received as collateral is recorded as an asset on the Balance Sheet as 'Cash received as collateral for derivative positions' and a related liability to repay the collateral is disclosed within liabilities as 'Cash due to counterparties for derivative positions'. Cash received as collateral is valued at face value plus accrued interest which approximates fair value.

Cash pledged as collateral for derivative positions

Cash pledged as collateral to brokers for derivative positions on the initiation of derivative trades and additional collateral posted on these trades are identified in the Balance Sheet as 'Cash pledged as collateral for derivative positions'. Cash pledged as collateral for derivative positions is not included as a component of cash and cash equivalents in the Balance Sheet and is not available to the sub-funds on demand. Cash pledged as collateral is valued at face value plus accrued interest which approximates fair value.

Net assets attributable to holders of redeemable participating shares

International Accounting Standard 32 "Financial Instruments: Presentation" ("IAS 32") requires entities that issue financial instruments to classify such instruments as liabilities or equity in accordance with the substance of the contractual arrangement and the definitions contained within IAS 32. In this regard, IAS 32 requires that financial instruments that give the holder the right to put the instrument back to the issuer for cash or another financial asset be classified as a liability of the issuer.

The redeemable participating shares issued by the Company provide the redeemable participating shareholders with the right to redeem their shares for cash equal to their proportionate share of the Net Asset Value of the Company. Within the context of IAS 32 and IFRS 7 'Financial Instruments: Disclosures' ("IFRS 7"), the existence of the option for the redeemable participating shareholders to put the shares back to the Company in exchange for cash requires the Company to classify the redeemable participating shares as liabilities.

The liability to redeemable participating shareholders is presented on the Balance Sheet as "net assets attributable to holders of redeemable participating shares" and is determined based on the residual assets of the Company after deducting the Company's other liabilities and management share capital.

Operating expenses

The Company is responsible for all normal operating expenses including audit fees, stamp and other duties and charges incurred on the acquisition and realisation of investments. Operating expenses are recognised on an accrual basis.

Income equalisation

Income equalisation is accrued income included in the price of shares purchased and redeemed during the accounting year. The subscription price of shares is deemed to include an equalisation payment calculated by reference to the accrued income of the relevant sub-fund and the distribution in respect of any share will include a payment of capital usually equal to the amount of such equalisation payment. The redemption price of each share will also include an equalisation payment in respect of the accrued income of the relevant sub-fund up to the date of redemption. As a result, equalisation may be positive or negative. Income equalisation is accounted for in the Income Statement.

Taxation

The sub-funds may incur withholding taxes imposed by certain countries on investment income and capital gains. Such income or gains are recorded gross of withholding taxes in the Statement of Comprehensive Income. Withholding taxes are shown as a separate item in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

Dilution Adjustments

In the event of a sub-fund being in a Net Subscription or Net Redemption Position that exceeds a predetermined threshold on any Dealing Day, the Company may make a Dilution Adjustment to the Net Asset Value per Share of the relevant Share Classes to cover the Duties and Charges and Spreads, being the costs involved in rebalancing the Fund's portfolio in respect of the net issue of Shares on that Dealing Day. For further details please refer to the Prospectus.

8. Financial Risk Management

Strategy in Using Financial Instruments

The sub-funds are exposed to a variety of financial risks in pursuing their stated investment objectives and policies. These risks are defined in IFRS 7 as including credit risk, liquidity risk and market risk (which in turn includes currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk). The sub-funds take exposure to certain of these risks to generate investment returns on their portfolios, although these risks can also potentially result in a reduction in the sub-fund's net assets.

The Investment Manager will use its best endeavours to minimise the potentially adverse effects of these risks on the sub-funds' performance where it can do so while still managing the investments of the sub-funds in ways that are consistent with each sub-fund's investment objectives and policies.

The risks, and the measures adopted by the Company for managing these risks, are detailed below.

Market Price Risk

Market price risk is defined in IFRS 7 as the risk that the fair value of a financial instrument or its future cash flows will fluctuate because of changes in market prices.

The sub-funds' assets consist principally of bonds, equities, P-notes, american depositary receipts, REITS, floating rate notes, futures, forward currency contracts, credit default swaps, swaptions, asset backed securities and warrants.

The values of these instruments are determined by market forces and there is accordingly a risk that market prices can change in a way that is adverse to a sub-funds' performance.

The Company has adopted a number of investment restrictions which are set out in the individual sub-funds' Supplements to the Company's Prospectus and which limit the exposure of the sub-funds to adverse changes in the price of any individual financial asset.

In accordance with Company's policy, the Investment Manager monitors the sub-funds' positions on a regular basis and reports regularly to the Board of Directors. The Board reviews the information on each sub-funds' overall market exposure provided by the Investment Manager at its periodic meetings.

In addition, the Investment Manager manages the exposure of the portfolios to the risk of adverse changes in the general level of market prices through adhering to its formal risk management process, which includes the use of systems and technology to monitor overall market and position risk on a regular basis.

The maximum risk arising from an investment in a financial instrument is determined by the fair value of the financial instruments, or in the case of certain derivatives the nominal value of the underlying assets, except for short positions in derivatives and securities where the loss may potentially be unlimited.

As at 31 December 2020 and 31 December 2019 the overall market exposure for each sub-fund is as shown in the Portfolio Statements, other than for derivatives where the exposure could be greater.

At 31 December 2020 and 31 December 2019, market price risks defined by IFRS 7 applying to each sub-fund are affected by two main components: changes in market prices and currency exchange rates. The sub-funds which hold bonds will be affected by a third component, bond interest rates. IFRS 7 requires a sensitivity analysis showing how the Net Asset Values of the sub-funds would be affected by changes in each of these factors.

Market price and currency exchange rate movements primarily affect the fair values of equity securities and related instruments held on account for each sub-fund.

For details of market price risk sensitivity analysis please refer to market price and sensitivity analysis on pages 331 to 330.

Currency Risk

Currency risk is defined in IFRS 7 as the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. The sub-funds are exposed to currency risk as the assets and liabilities of the sub-funds may be denominated in a currency other than the functional currency of the relevant sub-funds.

The fluctuations in the rate of exchange between the currency in which the asset or liability is denominated and the functional currency could result in an appreciation or depreciation in the fair value of that asset. The Investment Manager may attempt to mitigate these risks through the use of financial derivative instruments.

In accordance with Company policy, the Investment Manager monitors the sub-funds' currency exposure on a regular basis and reports regularly to the Board of Directors.

At 31 December 2020 each sub-fund's currency exposure was as follows:

Interest Rate Risk

Interest rate risk is defined in IFRS 7 as the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates.

The majority of the sub-funds' financial assets and liabilities are non-interest bearing and any excess cash and cash equivalents are invested at short term market interest rates. As a result, most of the sub-funds are not subject to significant amounts of risk due to fluctuations in the prevailing level of market interest rates.

The Federated Hermes Global High Yield Credit Fund, the Federated Hermes Multi-Strategy Credit Fund, the Federated Hermes Absolute Return Credit Fund, the Federated Hermes Unconstrained Credit Fund, the Federated Hermes SDG Engagement High Yield Credit Fund and the Federated Hermes US High Yield Credit Fund have/had interest-bearing financial assets and liabilities. As a result, the sub-funds are/were subject to the risk of potentially adverse movements in the prevailing levels of market interest rates. The Investment Manager may from time to time enter into contracts on behalf of the funds that seek to mitigate the effects of these movements.

In accordance with the sub-fund's policy, the Investment Manager monitors the sub-funds interest rate exposures on a regular basis and reports regularly to the Board of Directors, which reviews the information provided by the Investment Manager on significant exposures at its periodic meetings.

Credit Risk

Credit risk is defined in IFRS 7 as the risk that one party to a financial instrument will cause a financial loss for the other party by failing to discharge an obligation.

Transactions in securities are generally settled or paid for on delivery, or cleared through the appropriate clearing system for the market on which the securities are traded. The risk of default is not considered to be material, as delivery of securities sold is only made once the Depositary has received confirmation of payment. Payment is also only made on a purchase once confirmation of delivery of the securities has been received by the Depositary. The trade will fail if either party fails to deliver the required confirmations.

At 31 December 2020 and 2019 none of the sub-funds' financial assets were past due or impaired.

Northern Trust Fiduciary Services (Ireland) Limited ("NTFSIL") is the appointed Depositary of the Fund, responsible for the safe-keeping of assets. NTFSIL has appointed The Northern Trust Company ("TNTC") as its global sub-custodian. Both NTFSIL and TNTC are wholly owned subsidiaries of Northern Trust Corporation ("NTC"). As at year-end date 31 December 2020, NTC had a long term credit rating from Standard & Poor's of (A+).

TNTC (as global sub-custodian of NTFSIL) does not appoint external sub-custodians within the U.S., the U.K., Ireland, Canada, Belgium, France, Germany, Netherlands and Saudi Arabia. However, in all other markets, TNTC appoints local external sub-custodians.

NTFSIL, in the discharge of its depositary duties, verifies the Fund's ownership of Other Assets, (as defined under Other Assets in Art 22(5) of UCITS V Directive 2014/91/EU), by assessing whether the Fund holds the ownership based on information or documents provided by the Fund or where available, on external evidence.

TNTC, in the discharge of its delegated depositary duties, holds in custody (i) all financial instruments that may be registered in a financial instruments account opened on the books of TNTC and (ii) all financial instruments that can be physically delivered to TNTC. TNTC ensures all financial instruments (held in a financial instruments account on the books of TNTC) are held in segregated accounts in the name of the Fund, clearly identifiable as belonging to the Fund, and distinct and separately from the proprietary assets of TNTC, NTFSIL and NTC.

In addition TNTC, as banker, holds cash of the Fund on deposit. Such cash is held on the Statement of Financial Position of TNTC. In the event of insolvency of TNTC, in accordance with standard banking practice, the Fund will rank as an unsecured creditor of TNTC in respect of any cash deposits.

Insolvency of NTFSIL and or one of its agents or affiliates may cause the Fund's rights with respect to its assets to be delayed.

The Investment Manager (or its delegate) manages risk by monitoring the credit quality and financial position of the Depositary and such risk is further managed by the Depositary monitoring the credit quality and financial positions of sub-custodian appointments.

To mitigate the risks the sub-funds are exposed to from the use of the counterparties, the Investment Manager employs appropriate procedures to ensure that the counterparties are reputable institutions and that the credit risk is acceptable to the Investment Manager. The sub-funds only transact with counterparties that are regulated entities subject to prudential supervision, or with credit-ratings assigned by international credit-rating agencies. In addition, the sub-funds' securities are maintained by the sub-custodian in segregated accounts. Cash is also held with the following brokers/counterparties: Barclays (S&P: A), BNP Paribas (S&P: A+), Citi (S&P: A+), Credit Suisse (S&P: A+), Goldman Sachs (S&P: A+), HSBC (S&P: A+), JP Morgan (S&P: A+), Lloyds Bank (S&P: A+), Merrill Lynch (S&P: A+), Morgan Stanley (S&P: A+), Royal Bank of Canada (S&P: AA-), State Street (S&P: AA-) and The Northern Trust Company (S&P: A+) (see note 4).

Cash held with brokers/counterparties may be subject to counterparty risk and may not be recoverable in the event of an insolvency of the broker/counterparty.

The Investment Manager monitors the credit quality and financial position of the Depositary and reviews the SOC 1 of the Custodian. The Company is additionally exposed to credit risk arising from the counterparties used in OTC derivatives. This risk is mitigated by the Company only engaging with counterparties which meet the Central Bank's UCITS regulatory requirements and are approved by the Investment Manager and are continually monitored.

The Company has credit risk exposure to issuers of debt securities and P-Notes held as part of the Company's investment portfolio. The Company limits its exposure to individual issuers of debt securities and P-Notes in accordance with the investment restrictions set out in the Company's Prospectus. Impairment provisions are provided for any losses that have been incurred by the balance sheet date. There were no impairment provisions required as at 31 December 2020 (2019: None).

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is defined in IFRS 7 specifically as the risk that an entity will encounter difficulty in meeting obligations associated with financial liabilities that are settled by delivering cash or another financial asset.

The sub-funds are exposed to daily cash redemptions of redeemable participating shares. The sub-funds invest the majority of their assets in securities and other instruments that are traded on an active market and which are considered to be liquid, as under normal market conditions they can be readily disposed of in the event that cash needs to be raised to meet redemptions or to pay expenses.

In accordance with Company policy, the Investment Manager monitors the sub-funds' liquidity on a regular basis and reports regularly to the Board of Directors.

The maturities of the relevant financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are set out in the individual sub-fund portfolio statements. All the sub-funds' other liabilities had maturities of up to one month after year end.

Fair value measurement

The following tables set out the fair value measurements using IFRS 13 fair value hierarchies as discussed in note 2.

Sensitivity analysis

Some limitations of sensitivity analysis are:

- markets and levels of market liquidity in conditions of market stress may bear no relation to historical patterns;
- the market price risk information is a relative estimate of risk rather than a precise and accurate number; the market price information represents a hypothetical outcome and is not intended to be predictive; and
- future market conditions could vary significantly from those experienced in the past.

Methodology for Calculating Global Exposure and Leverage

The sub-funds are required by the Prospectus to calculate their exposure to derivatives on a daily basis using one of two alternate methods, the Commitment Approach or Value at Risk (VaR). The table below details the approach each sub-fund takes.

The commitment conversion methodology for standard derivatives is the market value of the equivalent position in the underlying asset. This may be replaced by the notional value or the price of the futures contract where this is more conservative. Please refer to the relevant portfolio statements for the notional value of the futures contracts.

VaR is a method of estimating potential loss due to market risk, rather than a statement of leverage, using a given confidence level, or probability, over a specific time period and assuming normal market conditions. The VaR is calculated using a Historical Simulation model carried out in accordance with regulatory guidelines.

Value at Risk (VaR)

The table below provides an analysis of the VaR measures and leverage levels* for the Federated Hermes Absolute Return Credit Fund, the Federated Hermes Unconstrained Credit Fund and the Federated Hermes Multi-Strategy Credit Fund which are the only sub-funds to use the VaR approach.

Some limitations of this VaR analysis are listed below:

- The models are based on historical data and cannot take account of the fact that the future market price movements, correlation between markets and levels of market liquidity in conditions of market stress may bear no relation to historical patterns;
- The market price information is a relative estimate of risk rather than a precise and accurate number;
- The market price information represents a hypothetical outcome and is not intended to be predictive (in the case of the probability-based methods, such as VaR, profits and losses are almost certain to exceed the reported amount with a frequency depending on the confidence interval chosen); and
- Future market conditions could vary significantly from those experienced in the past.
- * The leverage has been calculated using the sum of the notionals of the derivatives used.
-  The VaR utilised during the year is based on the 20% absolute VaR limit.
-  As Federated Hermes Multi-Strategy Credit Fund changed from Commitment to VaR on 1 October 2020, data above only covers Q4.

Offsetting Financial Assets and Liabilities

The sub-funds enter into derivative transactions under International Swaps and Derivatives Association (ISDA) master agreements.

In general, under ISDA master agreements the amounts owed by each counterparty on a single day in respect of a single transaction outstanding in the same currency are aggregated into a single net amount that is payable by one party to the other. In certain circumstances – e.g. when a credit event such as a default occurs, all outstanding transactions (or certain transactions, specified as "Affected Transactions") under the agreement are terminated, the termination value is assessed and only a single net amount is payable in settlement of such transactions.

ISDA master agreements can be amended to allow for multi-transactional, cross currency or cross product netting.

The above agreements do not meet the criteria for offsetting in the Balance Sheet. This is because the Company does not have any currently legally enforceable right to offset recognised amounts, because the right to offset is enforceable only on the occurrence of future events such as a default of the counterparty or other credit events.

The carrying amounts of recognised financial instruments that are subject to the above agreements as at 31 December 2020 on Federated Hermes Global Emerging Markets Equity Fund, Federated Hermes European Alpha Equity Fund, Federated Hermes Europe ex-UK Equity Fund, Federated Hermes US SMID Equity Fund, Federated Hermes Asia ex-Japan Equity Fund, Federated Hermes Global Equity ESG Fund, Federated Hermes SDG Engagement Equity Fund and Federated Hermes Impact Opportunities Equity Fund are as follows:

Federated Hermes Investment Funds Public Limited Company Unaudited Securities Financing Transaction Regulation Disclosures

The Securities Financing Transaction Regulation (Regulation (EU) 2015/2365) ("SFTR") came into effect on 12 January 2016. The aim of the SFTR is to improve the transparency of securities financing transactions ("SFTs") in the shadow banking sector, giving regulators access to detailed information to enable them to monitor risks in that sector on an ongoing basis.

The SFTR divides SFTs into four categories:

- Repurchase transactions;
- Securities or commodities lending or borrowing transactions;
- Buy-sell back or sell-buy back transactions; and
- Margin lending transactions, which is defined broadly to capture any extension of credit 'in connection with the purchase, sale, carrying or trading of securities'.

For the avoidance of doubt, the Company does not currently employ repurchase/reverse repurchase agreements and securities lending for the purposes of efficient portfolio management.

No sub-fund employed SFTs at the year end date of 31 December 2020.
