Global High Dividend Value Equity Fund (the “Fund”)

A sub-fund of Cullen Funds plc

USD Distributing Level Load Class N1 IE00B9766B60

Objectives and investment policy

The Fund aims for long term growth in, as well as returning income on, the value of your investment.

The recommended term for investment in the Fund is three to five years.

Primarily, the Fund will purchase dividend paying shares of companies (located mainly in developed countries but also in some emerging markets) diversified across 15-25 industries and listed on stock exchanges around the world (“Companies” and each a “Company”) including but not limited to the United States, United Kingdom, Switzerland, Singapore, Netherlands, Norway, South Africa and China. In selecting which of such Companies’ shares to purchase, the Fund will generally use the following criteria:

(i) the total value of the Company’s listed shares exceeds US$3 billion;

(ii) relative to share price, dividend on the Company’s shares is greater than the average dividend on shares comprising the MSCI World Index (which is an index of shares from around the world intended to be a representative sample of companies in leading industries in developed markets);

(iii) the Company’s price/earnings ratio is below the average price/earnings ratio on shares comprising the MSCI World Index (a price/earnings ratio is a valuation ratio of a company’s current share price compared to its per-share earnings and essentially shows how much one needs to pay per dollar of earnings - if a company were trading at a price/earnings ratio of 20, the interpretation is that an investor is willing to pay $20 for $1 of current earnings); and

(iv) based on the Company’s historical dividend growth and overall well-being, there is strong potential for higher dividends.

The Fund does not intend to track the performance of the MSCI World Index nor is it intended that the shares of the Companies in which the Fund will invest be limited to Companies included in the MSCI World Index.

The Fund may invest up to 20% of its net asset value (at the time of original purchase) in shares on certain Russian stock exchanges set out in the prospectus.

You can buy and sell your shares in the Fund on each regular weekday up to 1.00 pm (Irish time).

Any income earned on investment will be distributed to you on a quarterly basis.

Forward currency contracts (which are financial derivative instruments (“FDIs”)) may or may not be used to manage currency exposure (hedge) to investments of the Fund denominated in currencies other than the Fund’s base currency which is U.S. Dollars. FDIs are contracts whose value is linked to a currency, interest rate or other asset.

Risk and reward profile

◆ Lower risk			Higher risk ◆
◆ Typically lower rewards			Typically higher rewards ◆
1	2	3	4	5	6	7

The synthetic indicator is calculated on the basis of the volatility (the ups and downs in its value) of the share class over the prior 5 year period and shows where the share class ranks in terms of its relative risk and potential reward.

Historical data used in calculating the synthetic indicator may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile.

The risk category shown above is not guaranteed to remain unchanged and may shift over time.

As this share class has not been in existence for 5 years, benchmark data has been used.

– The lowest risk category does not mean a risk free investment.

The share class has a risk rating of 5 because the assets to which it is exposed have experienced a high level of volatility during the period.

Funds investing in the shares of other companies tend to be more volatile but can also offer greater potential for growth.

The value of the underlying investments in the Fund may fluctuate quite dramatically in response to activities and results of individual companies, as well as in connection with general and economic conditions.

Many people, processes and systems are involved in operating the Fund and these could fail and cause a loss to your investment or a failure to return property to the Fund.

The Fund assumes credit risk on parties with whom it trades forward currency contracts (FDIs) and will also bear the risk of settlement default (that is that the Fund’s trading partner does not fulfil its side of the bargain). The Fund also assumes legal risk (that is the risk of loss due to the unexpected application of a law or regulation or documentation or insolvency law issues). In order to mitigate against this legal risk the Fund will ensure that it complies with relevant laws and regulations, thoroughly reviews any documentation and is careful and considered in its selection of trading partners.

Emerging market securities may decline or fluctuate because of economic and political actions of emerging market governments and less regulated or liquid securities markets.

An extended discussion of the risks associated with an investment in the Fund is set out in its prospectus.
