KEY INVESTOR INFORMATION

This document provides you with key investor information about this fund. It is not marketing material. The information is required by law to help you understand the nature and the risks of investing in this fund. You are advised to read it so you can make an informed decision about whether to invest.

OBJECTIVE AND INVESTMENT POLICY

Objective

The fund's objective is total return, with an emphasis on current income but also considering capital appreciation, measured in U.S. dollars.

Investment Policy

The fund invests primarily in a broad range of debt instruments and equity securities of issuers located in developed and emerging markets, including convertible securities and real estate-related investments. The fund allocates assets across these categories based on investment management's interpretation of economic and money market conditions, fiscal and monetary policy and asset class and/or security values. When the Investment Manager's assessment of the relative attractiveness of asset classes and markets is neutral, the fund's exposure to these asset classes is expected to be approximately 15% in debt instruments of issuers located in emerging markets (which may include below-investment-grade-debt instruments), 25% in other below-investment-grade-debt instruments, 15% in investment-grade corporate debt instruments, 10% in U.S. Government securities, 20% in dividend-paying equity securities, and 15% in real estate-related investments.

For the debt portion, the fund focuses on (i) U.S. Government securities (including mortgage-backed securities), (ii) below-investment-grade debt instruments, (iii) debt instruments of issuers located in emerging markets and (iv) investment-grade corporate debt instruments of issuers in developed markets. The Fund may invest up to 100% of the debt portion in below-investment-grade debt instruments.

For the equity portion, the fund focuses its investments in dividend paying equity securities of companies in developed and emerging markets. The fund generally focuses its equity investments in larger companies. Equity investments are selected primarily based on blending fundamental analysis of individual issuers and instruments, and quantitative research based on models that systematically evaluate issuers and instruments.

For the real estate-related portion, the fund primarily invests in equity interests in closed-ended real estate investment trusts (REITs) and equity securities of other companies principally engaged in the real estate industry, but may also invest in mortgage REITs and other transferable securities of companies principally engaged in the real estate industry. The fund will promote an environmental characteristic within the meaning of Article 8 of the Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 of 27 November 2019 on sustainability-related disclosures in the financial sector ("SFDR"). Please refer to the fund's Prospectus and website for additional information. The Investment Manager may also consider environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors in its fundamental investment analysis alongside other factors. The fund will not extensively or primarily use derivatives to achieve the fund's investment objective or for investment purposes.

The fund's benchmarks, Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Index (USD) and a custom blended benchmark, are indicated for performance comparison only. Although the fund's investments will generally be represented in the benchmark, components are likely to be weighted differently from the benchmark and the fund is likely to invest outside of the benchmark to take advantage of attractive investment opportunities. The fund is actively managed within its objectives and the investment strategy will not restrict the extent to which portfolio holdings may deviate from the benchmark. It is expected that the fund's deviation from the benchmark will be significant.

Distributions

Income (net of fund expenses) will be distributed to shareholders.

Redeeming Shares

You may sell your shares on each business day when banks in Luxembourg are open for normal business and the New York Stock Exchange is open for trading.

Terms to Understand

Equity securities represent an ownership interest, or the right to acquire an ownership interest, in a company or other issuer.

Debt instruments represent obligations of corporations, governments, and other entities to repay money borrowed.

Convertible securities are securities that may be converted for shares of common stock.

Real estate-related investments include real estate investment trusts and other investments providing exposure to the real estate industry.

Derivatives are financial contracts whose value is based on the value of one or more underlying indicators or the difference between underlying indicators.

RISK AND REWARD PROFILE

This rating system is based on how much the returns of the class have varied over the past 5 years compared to the fund's current asset mix. Where 5 years' performance history is not available the data consists of historical returns representative of the fund, benchmark returns or returns for another class with the same currency as appropriate. Past returns may not be a reliable indicator of the future risk and reward profile of the class, and the rating may change over time based on the more recent returns. A fund in the lowest category does not mean a risk-free investment.

Lower risk

Higher risk

Typically lower rewards

Typically higher rewards

The fund is in category 5 because there has been medium high fluctuations in the fund's return historically.

Strategy Risk: The Investment Manager's investment analysis, development and use of quantitative models, selection of investments and its strategy to blend fundamental and quantitative research for the fund's equity investments may not produce the intended results. Proprietary and third-party quantitative models used may not produce the intended results for a variety of reasons, including factors used in the models, the weight placed on each factor, changes from historical trends, changing sources of market return or market risk, and technical issues related to the models.

Debt Instruments Risk: Prices of debt instruments can vary significantly in response to changes in interest rates and the credit quality of the issuers of its investments, and to issuer, market, economic, industry, political, geopolitical, public health, and regulatory conditions. In addition, mortgage-backed securities and securitized instruments can vary in response to changes in the credit quality of underlying mortgages and the timing of payment of principal and interest. These risks may be higher where the fund invests in below investment grade debt instruments.

Sector Risk: Where the fund invests in a particular sector such as real estate, it is subject to risk from factors affecting that sector.

Emerging Markets Risk: Emerging markets can be more volatile and less liquid than more developed markets.

Equity Risk: Prices of equity securities can vary significantly in response to issuer, market, economic, industry, political, geopolitical, public health, and regulatory conditions. This risk may be higher where the fund invests in a specific country or region. The fund invests in larger value companies, which may underperform the broader market during certain stages of the market cycle.

REITs Risk: The risks of investing in REITs include certain risks associated with the direct ownership of real estate and the real estate industry. REITs utilize leverage, which increases investment risk and could adversely affect the issuer's operations and market value in periods of rising interest rates.

Currency Risk: Changes in currency rates can significantly affect the value of your investment, and may also affect the financial condition of the issuers in which the fund invests.

Derivatives Risk: Derivatives can be highly volatile and can involve leverage. Gains or losses from derivatives can be substantially greater than the derivatives' original cost.
