

The Portfolio is managed by Goldman Sachs Asset Management B.V.(the “Manager”), part of Goldman Sachs group of companies.

This document provides you with key investor information about this fund. It is not marketing material. The information is required by law to help you understand the nature and the risks of investing in this fund. You are advised to read it so you can make an informed decision about whether to invest.

- The Portfolio seeks to provide absolute returns through capital growth over a rolling three-year period. Absolute returns are not guaranteed and your capital is at risk.
- The Portfolio will mostly hold shares and fixed income securities, financial derivative instruments or other similar instruments.

The Investment Adviser will seek to employ a number of diverse investment strategies investing across a variety of asset classes and instruments including; shares, fixed income, emerging markets, alternatives, currencies and commodity indices.

- The Advisor will seek to implement tactical investment strategies which may regularly adjust the portfolio exposures based on prevailing market conditions and short-term or medium-market views.
- Strategies may be employed that involve the use of statistical analysis of historical performance data and publicly available information, to identify sources of return.
- Cash and cash like instruments such as money market funds may also be held for temporary purposes to meet operational needs and to maintain liquidity or otherwise as the Investment Adviser sees fit.
- The Portfolio uses derivatives as part of its investment policy to gain exposure to shares, fixed income securities, countries, sectors and/or currencies in order to seek to generate a higher return and to hedge against certain risks. A significant proportion of the Portfolio's exposure may be generated through the use of derivatives. A derivative instrument is a contract between two or more parties whose value depends on the rise and fall of the underlying asset.
- The Share Class seeks to hedge the base currency exposure of the

- For full investment objective and policy details see the Prospectus.

- Leverage risk - the Portfolio may operate with a significant amount of leverage. Leverage occurs when the economic exposure created by the use of derivatives is greater than the amount invested. A leveraged

Portfolio may result in large fluctuations in the value of the Portfolio and therefore entails a high degree of risk including the risk that losses may be substantial.

- Writing (selling) call options - in exchange for up front income from selling call options, the Portfolio's gains from an increase in the market value of its underlying shares may be limited where sold call options are exercised. In a rising market the Portfolio could therefore underperform.

- For more detailed information on the risks associated with an investment in the Portfolio, please refer to the section in the Prospectus entitled "Risk Considerations" and discuss with your professional advisers.
