Potential Risks

The Fund's risk and reward profile does not reflect the risk inherent in future circumstances that differ from what the Fund has experienced in the recent past. This includes the following events which are rare but can have a large impact.

- Credit risk: Issuers of assets held by the Fund may not pay income or repay capital when due. The Fund's investments generally have low credit risk.
- Liquidity risk: Assets cannot necessarily be sold at limited cost in an adequately short timeframe. The Fund's investments may be prone to limited liquidity. The Fund will endeavor to mitigate this risk by various measures. In addition, short selling of securities may expose the Fund to particular liquidity risk.
- Counterparty risk: Bankruptcy or insolvency of the Fund's derivative counterparties may lead to payment or delivery default. The Subfund will endeavor to mitigate this risk by the receipt of financial collateral given as guarantees.
- Operational risk: Deficient processes, technical failures or catastrophic events may cause losses.
- Political and Legal risks: Investments are exposed to changes of rules and standards applied by a specific country. This includes restrictions on currency convertibility, the imposing of taxes or controls on transactions, the limitations of property rights or other legal risks.
- Sustainability risks: Sustainability risks are environmental, social or governance events or conditions that can have a material negative effect on the return, depending on the relevant sector, industry and company exposure.

The product's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses, as well as more complete information about the product, are provided in the prospectus (or relevant offering document), which should be read carefully before investing.

Investors may lose part or all of their invested amount.

The Fund's use of leverage may lead to an amplified reaction to market movements, i.e. increase the volatility of the Fund and may amount to a more substantial loss than in unleveraged products.

The full offering documentation including complete information on risks may be obtained free of charge from a Credit Suisse client advisor, representative, or, where applicable, via Fundsearch (credit-suisse.com/fundsearch).

Market Commentary

Hedge funds gained +1.22% in March as measured by Credit Suisse Liquid Alternative Beta model performance. For the month, the Credit Suisse Liquid Alternative Beta Fund returned +1.20%. All three category models, Long/Short Equity, Event Driven, and Global Strategies, produced profits. The occasion of Super Tuesday underscored a shift in market focus from Q4 2023 corporate earnings to politics and incoming macroeconomic data. Speculative fervor reached a crescendo early in the month as Bitcoin crossed 73,000, the Hang Seng Index rebounded more than 10% off its January lows, and Robinhood declared that "the future of investing is here, and it's around the clock." (source: <https://newsroom.aboutrobinhood.com/robinhood-24-hour-market-reaches-10b-in-total-volume-traded-overnight/> 06.03.2024) However, a stronger-than-expected February CPI (Consumer Price Index) report cast doubt over the path to the Federal Reserve's 2% inflation target as energy and shelter price pressures proved sticky; investor sentiment moderated as the month progressed. The Japanese Trade Union Confederation confirmed the prevalence of wage inflation in Japan, setting the path for the Bank of Japan to formally end its yield curve control policy, albeit to little fanfare. Economic data released late in the month continued to paint an upbeat picture, as the tragic collapse of Baltimore's Francis Scott Key Bridge reinforced a narrative of increasingly undersupplied energy markets. Directional Equity exposure supported the Long/Short Equity category model's gains, which more than offset losses on short Market Neutral Size and short Utilities sector positioning. In the Event Driven category model, Event Oriented Equities, Credit, and Merger Arbitrage all generated gains. The Global Strategies category model benefitted from FX Directional, FX Carry, Trend, and Volatility Carry positioning, as well as its Event Driven factor exposure. During the program's monthly rebalancing, the Long/Short Equity category model decreased Directional Equity long and Market Neutral Size short exposures and increased its short Utilities sector exposure. The Event Driven category model reduced Credit exposure, increased Event Oriented Equities exposure, and reintroduced Merger Arbitrage exposure. The Global Strategies category model reduced Volatility Carry exposure and otherwise marginally refined positioning.
