INVESTMENT POLICY

The fund's target is to reach, over a recommended investment 5-year period, a greater return net of fees than the FTSE Global Focus Hedged (EUR) Convertible Bond Index in euros, hedged against a foreign exchange risk, the euro being the reference currency with reinvested net coupons. The stock returns may be adjusted by possible foreign exchange hedging costs.

FUND MANAGERS COMMENT

During the month of March 2024, Lazard Convertible Global PC H EUR Share Class returned 0.66% versus 1.69% for its benchmark FTSE Global Focus Convertible Hedged EUR (ex-Refinitiv). The fund's equity sensitivity remained stable both in absolute and relative terms, standing at 58.5% against 50.0% for the benchmark. Our equity sensitivity overweight in the US contributed positively while our underweight in Europe detracted. Interest rates slightly decreased over the month, which positively impacted absolute performance; however, the relative impact was neutral. As of the end of the month, interest rate sensitivity stands at 1.49, remaining close to the benchmark at 1.57. Credit spreads slightly decreased in the US and Europe, resulting in a slightly positive impact in absolute terms and neutral impact in relative terms. Security selections in Chinese electric vehicles, US database/cloud and internet security software cost to relative performance over the month. Our underweight to Asian materials and industrials detracted from relative performance. On the positive, our overweight to Asian semi-conductors linked to AI, US oil producers, as well as European recovery names (hotels and aeronautics) added to relative performance. Over the month, we reduced some lower delta names in European payment services, US airlines, and decreased our exposure to global ecommerce and Asian semiconductors. We added a number of new convex positions in US technology, healthcare and conducted a switch in European luxury.
