Appendix

Percentage of issuers involved in controversial sectors

Issuers operating in sectors deemed controversial (not "socially responsible"), to which restrictions or exclusions apply with respect to the entirety of the individual assets under management, are companies (i) that have a clear direct involvement in the manufacture of unconventional weapons; (ii) at least 25% of whose turnover is generated from thermal coal mining or power generation activities; (iii) at least 10% of whose turnover is generated from the exploitation of oil sands.

More specifically, unconventional weapons are understood as: anti-personnel mines; cluster bombs; nuclear weapons*; impoverished uranium; biological weapons; chemical weapons; stealth cluster bombs; blinding lasers; incendiary weapons; white phosphorus.

These provisions do not apply to the activities permitted by the following treaties and/or conventions:

- The Chemical Weapons Convention (1997) which prohibits the use, stockpiling, production and transfer of chemical weapons;
- The Biological Weapons Convention (1975) which prohibits the use, stockpiling, production and transfer of biological weapons;
- Regulation (EU) 2018/1542 concerning restrictive measures against the proliferation and use of chemical weapons;

These exclusions are also intended to comply with the requirements established by Law no. 220 of 9 December 2021 on measures to counter the financing of companies producing antipersonnel mines, cluster bombs and submunitions.

*With regard to exclusions on nuclear weapons, issuers based in states that have adhered to the "Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty" stipulated on 1 July 1968 are not considered.

Percentage of critical issuers

"Critical" issuers are those companies having a higher exposure to environmental, social and corporate governance risks, i.e. which have a lower ESG sustainability rating level (equal to "CCC" assigned by the specialized info-provider) in the equity and bond investment category and for which an escalation process has been activated, or is being assessed, which determines restrictions and/or exclusions with respect to the entirety of the individual assets under management ("ESG Binding screening").

Percentage of issuers selected on the basis of positive and negative criteria

The weighting of issuers that comply with the specific positive and negative selection criteria identified by the Product, i.e. (i) issuers of green/sustainable bonds and (ii) companies publicly engaged in the energy transition process, particularly through the progressive reduction in Scope 1 and Scope 2 emissions to reach climate neutrality by 2050 ("Net Zero" goal).

Percentage of assets in government issuers meeting the screening criteria

The weight of government issuers that meet the selection criteria defined on the basis of the indicators of the "Sustainable Development Report" and Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 to monitor the principal adverse impacts relating to government issuers.

Percentage of assets in ESG or sustainable investment type UCIs

This is understood as assets of UCITS that promote environmental and/or social characteristics pursuant to Article 8 of Regulation 2019/2088 or which pursue sustainable investment objectives pursuant to Article 9 of said Regulation.

Carbon footprint

The value represents tonnes of carbon dioxide (direct - Scope 1 and indirect - Scope 2) of the investee companies in relation to their turnover.

Sustainable investment

Weighting (i) of issuers with net positive alignment with at least 1 of the United Nations' 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) and no misalignment with any of the SDGs and (ii) of green, social and sustainability bonds.

Investment Manager Commentary

Market Development

There was some geographical divergence in bond market performance in March. US government bond yields rose, while core euro government bond yields remained fairly stable as the yield curve steepened. This divergence in market performance is a direct consequence of a still robust US economic cycle and a Fed that has signalled its intention to begin the cycle of rate cuts if inflation continues to fall. In the Eurozone, on the other hand, the ECB has been steering markets towards a June start to the monetary easing cycle. Eurozone inflation appears to be falling at a much faster pace, making the scenario of an ECB rate cut ahead of the Fed more likely. Spreads on peripheral government bonds remained stable during the month, while spreads on investment grade corporate bonds and emerging market bonds narrowed. Spreads on high yield corporate bonds were stable or widened slightly. In the currency markets, the dollar remained stable against the major currencies.

Performance and Investment Choices

The Fund confirmed a long duration position compared to the benchmark. The duration overweight mainly concerned euro and UK government bonds, while the duration of the US government bond component was brought to neutral. The position taken remained in line with the strategy of exploiting the steepening of the US and German curve, while an overweight position remained on longer-dated Italian government bonds. The portfolio continues to be overweight spread asset classes, mainly European investment grade corporate bonds and emerging market bonds in euros through a dedicated Group fund. Exposure to emerging countries with low creditworthiness (High Yield) was also maintained by selling protection on the market's representative credit index. For what concerns currency allocation, exposure to the dollar was maintained, and short sterling and long yen positions were opened via options.

Outlook and Investment Strategy

Any corrections in nominal rates will be used to increase the duration overweight. Additionally, should the yield spread between US and Eurozone government bonds widen, consideration will be given to how to calibrate exposure to government bonds in both areas. The strategy remains focused on taking advantage of the steepening of both the euro and US curves. The Fund will also maintain exposure to Investment Grade corporate bonds. From a currency perspective, the tactical approach is likely to be confirmed.
