Risk and reward profile

- The value of an investment in a fund increases or decreases over time. At the time of resale, the price of your shares may be less than the original price, representing a loss. If you invest in a sub-fund whose currency is different from your own, exchange rate fluctuations can also reduce your gains or increase your losses.
- The above risk level is calculated on the basis of the sub-fund's volatility over the medium term (i.e. on the basis of actual changes in its value over the last five years or on a simulation if the sub-fund was created within that period). The volatility of the sub-fund may increase or decrease over time, which may change its risk level.
- The sub-fund's risk level reflects the following factor(s):
 - Equity investments have greater volatility and higher risk than investments in bonds and money market instruments.

The risk level does not reflect the potential impact of unusual market conditions or unforeseen events that may increase risk or trigger other risks such as:

- Concentration risk When the sub-fund concentrates its investments in a country (or region or sector) affected by an adverse event, its value may fall.
- Counterparty risk The sub-fund may lose money as a result of the failure of a market player with which it does business.
- Management risk Under abnormal market conditions, usual management techniques may be ineffective or unfavourable.
- Liquidity risk Some financial securities may be impossible to sell quickly at a given time or may have to be sold at a discount.
