Volatility is a statistical measure of the dispersion of returns for a portfolio or market index. In most cases, the higher the volatility, the riskier.

Tracking Error is the standard deviation of the difference between the portfolio return and the desired investment benchmark return.

Sharpe Ratio is a ratio used to measure risk-adjusted performance. It is calculated by subtracting the risk-free rate from the rate of return for a portfolio and dividing the result by the standard deviation of the portfolio returns.

Quarterly comment

detracted from performance through much of the period as the MSCI Europe Value index lagged the wider market as growth outperformed supported by increasing market hype around AI.

As seemingly all stocks related to AI surged, the fund suffered from its low exposure to the information technology sector which rose strongly in value led by ASML. In contrast the high exposure to financials and particularly banks had a positive impact on performance as these sectors benefited from reduced and delayed expectations of interest rate cuts during 2024

On an individual stock basis, the best performers included holdings in various banks including, BBVA, Santander, Commerzbank and Bank of Ireland. DS Smith also performed strongly over the period after attracting a takeover bid by Mondi. Other stocks which performed strongly included GSK, Mapfre and Publicis which all enjoyed strong results over the period. At the other end of the scale, Electrolux DHL and PostNL performed poorly amid tough market conditions.

The fund took out a new position in Burberry, which had fallen back a long way in valuation as demand for luxury goods suffered from weakness in China leaving the company on an unusually low valuation. The Fund also increased exposure to Sandoz the European generic pharmaceutical producer which span out of Novartis last year leaving the fund with a small holding. Sandoz looks attractive on valuation grounds and is well positioned to benefit from the unusually large number of blockbuster drugs due to come off patent over the next few years.

The fund continues maintain a well-diversified balance between cyclical and defensives given the uncertain economic outlook whilst remaining overweight banks which despite strong gains over 2024Q1 continue to trade on very attractive multiples.
