Performance review

In August, the 10-year US Treasury yield reached its highest level in the current cycle at 4.36%, a level last seen in 2007. In parallel, real yields moved higher to a peak of 2%. The moves came days after Fitch Ratings downgraded the US credit rating from AAA to AA+. Moreover, other catalysts were growing skepticism that the Fed was about to cut rates soon and an increased focus on budget deficits. In Europe, renewed concerns about the economy grew on the back of flash PMIs for August falling back to 47, worse than expected and the lowest since late 2020, and resilient CPI readings for the euro zone that came in at +5.3% for August. Lastly, concerns about China's economic outlook continued to grow amid the difficulties in the property sector, and industrial production growth and retail sales growth falling significantly. As a result, USD spreads with maturities up to 10 years widened 7 bps while the EUR universe also ended the month wider by 4 bps. Although government rates volatility was high, MoM changes were relatively muted with USD (roughly +0.07%) and EUR (-0.01%), and benchmark returns are negative for the US universe (-0.18%) and positive for the EUR counterpart (+0.19%).

Positioning

Over the month, no significant changes were made with regard to the fund's interest rate or credit risk sensitivity. The duration of the fund remains slightly longer and is now at +0.3 years compared to the benchmark. Credit risk remains relatively neutral versus the benchmark and is modestly more aggressive: While the fund maintains an overweight of BBB-rated, high yield, and subordinated securities, the overall spread duration is a little higher than the benchmark - thereby resulting in a slightly more aggressive stance towards credit spread development. The carry generated as an impact of the rates move was a positive driver of absolute return, while spread widening detracted. On a relative basis, performance was driven by the positioning in credits, while the impact of the rates move was limited.
