Fund Manager Comment

The Covid19 pandemic has triggered shutdowns around the world and the global economy saw its worst slump in postwar history. In the US, the Q1 GDP was down by 4.8% qoq annualized, with consumption falling by 7.6%. In the Euro Area, the Q1 GDP was down by 3.3% compared with the first quarter of 2019. Direct fiscal policy support from countries are planned all around the world, which causes collateral effect, like raising concerns about debt sustainability in some European countries. Hence Fitch downgraded Italy, expecting the public debt to GDP ratio to increase by 20pp to 156% this year. Central Banks continue to announce further support. Global markets are taking comfort from the slower pace of contagion, as well as all these support plans. So that the MSCI USA NR in USD was up +13,11% in April, and the MSCI Europe NR in EUR up by 6,26%. With the new ECB interventions, credit spread tightened. During April, in the euro area investment grade (IG) and high yield (HY) credit spreads tightened by 55 and 120 bps, respectively. In the last month, the US 10year yield further decreased by 7 bps (to 0.63%) and the 10year Bund yield decreased by 13 bps (to 0.59%) due to weak macro data, low inflation perspectives and continuing monetary policy support. The Italian spread widened by 37 bps to 236 point and Iberian spread widened by around 15 bps.

During the month, all the three portfolio buckets contributed positively to the portfolio performance. The equity one provided the biggest contribution, with the best performance coming from the small capitalization European equity fund (BNP Europe Small Cap). The absolute return bucket of the portfolio recovered part of its negative performance, thanks to a beginning of normalization with less stretched markets conditions. And on the bonds side we benefited mainly from the spreads contraction of European Investment Grade Corporate Bonds. During the month we continued to globally reduce the equity investments, in order to comply with the volatility target of the portfolio. We invested the proceeds in both Euro Corporate and Euro Governments bonds funds, as well as a money market fund.
