Sustainable Income Opportunities, a Sub-Fund of Alken Fund managed by AFFM S.A.

ISIN: LU1864132292 Class: SEUh Accumulation EUR

Objectives and Investment Policy

Objectives

We aim to provide a positive return over the medium term irrespective of market conditions, by exploiting investment opportunities in income securities including but not limited to debt and convertible markets. The Sub-Fund may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money within a period of 5 years.

Investment Policy

We aim at investing in companies which have an attractive long-term value creation. The Sub-Fund will invest at least 67% of its net assets in bonds, corporate bonds and other types of bonds denominated in various currencies. Issuers of these securities may be located in any country, including emerging markets. The Sub-Fund will hold a diversified portfolio mainly composed of securities in listed companies. These securities may consist and are not limited to corporate bonds and convertible bonds. It will also consist to a lesser extent of structured products.

Investment Process

We implement a rigorous and thorough bottom-up investment process in order to support the consistency of decision-making across all market environments. First we perform a quantitative analysis on the companies' key fundamental balance sheet and income statement indicators.

This analysis identifies companies with the ability to compound returns through "quality" earnings generation, and businesses with promising growth prospects. We then assess the capital structure of these companies to determine the relative value and status of the investable securities. Ultimately we perform an in-depth credit (cash flow oriented) and equity analysis on the selected issuer. Our portfolio construction process then incorporates the liquidity profile of the security and overall portfolio risk management (including macroeconomic and specific market trends or skew). The Sub-Fund will be exposed (through investments or cash) to other currencies than the base currency.

Use of Derivatives

The Sub-Fund may use complex financial instruments ("derivatives") such as futures, options, forwards and swaps to optimise the management of your portfolio or protect its value against adverse movements in financial markets. A derivative is a financial instrument which derives its value from the value of an underlying asset. The use of derivative is not cost or risk-free.

Benchmark

The Sub-Fund follows an active management approach and seeks to outperform the Euro short-term rate (ESTR) plus 1%.

Use of hedging

This share class is denominated in EUR and may be hedged against fluctuations of the Sub-Fund's base currency (USD).

Dealing Frequency

You can buy and sell shares of this class on any business day in Luxembourg.

Distribution Policy

Any income arising from the share class is reinvested into it.

You can find more detail on the investment objective and policy of the Sub-Fund in the "Investment Objective" and "Investment Policy" sections of the Prospectus.

Risk and Reward Profile

The indicator above is a measure of the Sub-Fund's price movements over time. It captures the impact of adverse movements in stock markets and currencies on this Sub-Fund, in normal market conditions.

- It is based on historical data and thus may not be a reliable indication for future risk.
- It reflects the classification of the Sub-Fund as of the date of this document. This classification can change in the future, upwards or downwards.
- A Sub-Fund in the category 1 above would face risks of losses from your standpoint. Being in that category would not mean that the Sub-Fund in question would be risk-free at all times.

The Sub-Fund is classified in the category indicated above due to medium price movements in shares over the past five years. The Sub-Fund offers no capital guarantee or asset protection measures.

The following other risks could affect the net asset value of this Sub-Fund which are not adequately captured by the risk indicator and may negatively impact its value:

Financial Derivatives risk: The leverage resulting from derivatives amplifies losses in certain market conditions.

Counterparty risk: losses occur when a counterparty does not honour its obligations related to contracts such as over-the-counter derivatives. We mitigate this risk by a thorough analysis of the financial condition of the counterparties with which we enter into such arrangements.

Operational risk: Losses resulting from human errors, system failures, incorrect valuation and safekeeping of assets.

Sustainability risk: ESG related risk events or conditions could cause a material negative impact on the value of the investment if they were to occur.

Convertible bonds are subject to the risks associated with both debt and equity securities, and to risks specific to convertible securities. Their value may change significantly depending on economic and interest rate conditions, the creditworthiness of the issuer, the performance of the underlying equity and general financial market conditions. In addition, issuers of convertible bonds may fail to meet payment obligations and their credit ratings may be downgraded. Convertible bonds may also be subject to lower liquidity than the underlying equity securities.

More details on the risks you may face when investing in this Fund are described in the "Risk Considerations" and "Sub-Fund in Operation" sections of the Prospectus.
