PERFORMANCE BENCHMARK

The Fund will measure its performance against 1-month EURIBOR + 2% per annum (the "Cash Benchmark"). The Cash Benchmark is used as a target against which to measure the performance of the Fund over 5 years before fees. EURIBOR is the Euro Interbank Offer Rate and is a reference rate that is constructed from the average interest rate at which Eurozone banks offer unsecured short-term lending on the inter-bank market. The Fund is actively managed, which means the Investment Manager has discretion over the selection of investments, subject to the investment objective and policies disclosed in the Prospectus.

PERFORMANCE COMMENTARY

In a risk-on environment, at the index level, emerging market sovereigns and high yield credit were the strongest performers of the four asset classes in which the Fund invests. Investment grade credit also delivered a positive return, although to a lesser extent.

THE FUND'S NET DEVELOPED MARKET GOVERNMENT BOND EXPOSURE WAS THE LARGEST POSITIVE CONTRIBUTOR IN LOCAL CURRENCY TERMS

Returns from developed market government bonds ended the period in negative territory. It was a tough start to the year for sovereign bonds, as major central banks continued to signal delays to the start of the new easing cycle, resulting in a rise in yields as expectations of interest rate cuts were scaled back.

A stronger-than-expected US non-farm payroll report in February, as well as sticky inflation data, further supported yield rises. However, towards the end of March, yields declined as the US Federal Reserve maintained that it envisages three rate cuts as a realistic scenario for this year. German Bunds and UK Gilts moved in tandem with US Treasuries throughout the quarter.

The US dollar gained ground against all the major G10 currencies. The US dollar was supported by strong labour market data and market expectations of fewer rate cuts.

Turning to the Fund's performance, in local currency terms the net developed market government bond exposure was the largest positive contributor. This was mainly driven by gains made on short futures positions on the US and German government curves. A gain was also made on holdings of physical government bonds, with US Treasury floating rate notes and long-dated UK Gilts the top performers. Long positions in two-year and five-year US Treasury futures detracted, as did holdings of long-dated Japanese government bonds and the put options on US Treasuries.

With risk assets performing well in the first quarter, emerging market bonds and high yield corporate bond holdings also delivered positive returns. The local currency Brazil bonds were strong, followed by local currency Mexico bonds. In high yield credit, European real estate hybrid bonds Heimstaden and SBB, as well as Barclays and Investec additional tier 1 (AT1) bank bonds, contributed much of the return.

Investment grade credit also made a positive contribution, with small gains across a number of holdings, including the Coventry Building Society AT1 bond.

Active currency returns were positive, helped by short positions in the New Zealand dollar, Swedish krona and Swiss franc, and long positions in the Mexican peso and Uruguayan peso. Positive carry on these positions also boosted returns.

ACTIVITY REVIEW

Having started the quarter with low duration, we increased duration in late January, and again in March following the rise in yields. Much of the increase in government duration came from adding UK Gilts and Gilt futures, and in Japan, where we reduced the size of the short position in Japan ten-year futures and added more long-dated bonds.

HEADLINE EMERGING MARKET BOND EXPOSURE WAS REDUCED

We increased the weightings in both investment grade and high yield credit. In investment grade, we participated in various new issues such as American Medical Systems, auto parts manufacturer Autoliv, and auto parts distributor LKQ. In high yield credit, we added to a variety of bonds including leisure company Center Parcs, grocery technology company Ocado Group, and telecommunications company Telefonica.

Headline emerging market bond exposure was reduced, as we trimmed a Peruvian local currency bond position and sold a local currency Colombia bond. These reductions were partly offset by starting a new position in a hard currency bond from Benin.

In currencies, we moved from a short US dollar position to a long position over the period, funded from Canadian dollar, Swiss franc and Czech koruna short positions. We also built up a long position in the Indian rupee and closed out the long Colombian peso position.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY AND OUTLOOK

In our opinion, the prospects for bond markets appear to have improved as inflation falls back towards target, allowing central banks to consider cutting interest rates later in the year. This should increase the chances of an economic soft landing. That said, a modest uptick in volatility in the second quarter of 2024 would not surprise us.

WE ARE KEEPING AN EYE OUT FOR OPPORTUNITIES TO CAUTIOUSLY ADD DURATION

With market pricing of expected further rate cuts becoming less aggressive, we are keeping an eye out for opportunities to cautiously add duration. We favour markets where yields are higher, curves are steeper and issuance pressures are lower.

We are less inclined to increase exposure to credit given that spreads remain at tight levels, so priced for a soft landing. However, we remain open to participating in attractively priced new issues and have become slightly more constructive on high yield credit in the short term until we see clear signals of an economic deterioration.

KEY RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH THIS FUND

- Where the Fund invests significantly in a single market, this may have a material impact on the value of the Fund.
- There is no guarantee that the Fund will achieve its objectives.
- This Fund invests in international markets which means it is exposed to changes in currency rates which could affect the value of the Fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset from which their value is derived. A small movement in the value of the underlying asset can cause a large movement in the value of the derivative. This can increase the sizes of losses and gains, causing the value of your investment to fluctuate. When using derivatives, the Fund can lose significantly more than the amount it has invested in derivatives.
- Investments in bonds/money market securities are affected by interest rates and inflation trends which may negatively affect the value of the Fund.
- Bonds with a low credit rating or unrated bonds have a greater risk of default. These investments may negatively affect the value of the Fund.
- The issuer of a security held by the Fund may not pay income or repay capital to the Fund when due.
- Emerging Markets have additional risks due to less-developed market practices.
- Contingent Convertible Securities (CoCo's) convert from debt to equity when the issuer's capital drops below a pre-defined level. This may result in the security converting into equities at a discounted share price, the value of the security being written down, temporarily or permanently, and/or coupon payments ceasing or being deferred.
- The Fund follows an ESG investment approach. This means factors other than financial performance are considered as part of the investment process. This carries the risk that the Fund's performance may be negatively impacted due to restrictions placed on its exposure to certain sectors or types of investments. The approach taken may not reflect the opinions of any particular investor. In addition, in following an ESG investment approach, the Fund is dependent upon information and data from third parties (which may include providers for research reports, screenings, ratings and/or analysis such as index providers and consultants). Such information or data may be incomplete, inaccurate or inconsistent.
- The insolvency of any institutions providing services such as custody of assets or acting as a counterparty to derivatives or other contractual arrangements, may expose the Fund to financial loss.
- If this share class is denominated in a different currency from the base currency of the Fund. Changes in the exchange rate between the share class currency and the base currency may affect the value of your investment.
- For hedged share classes the hedging strategy is used to reduce the impact of exchange rate movements between the share class currency and the base currency. It may not completely achieve this due to factors such as interest rate differentials.
- A complete description of risk factors is set out in the Prospectus in the section entitled "Risk Factors".
