What Are the Key Risks?

The value of shares in the Fund and income received from it can go down as well as up and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Performance may also be affected by currency fluctuations. Currency fluctuations may affect the value of overseas investments. The Fund invests principally in higher yielding euro-denominated debt securities issued by corporations globally, including those located in emerging markets. Such investments have historically been subject to price movements, generally due to changes in the creditworthiness of corporate issuers, interest rates or movements in the bond market. As a result, the performance of the Fund can fluctuate moderately over time and may also result in capital loss. Other significant risks include: counterparty risk, credit risk, emerging markets risk, liquidity risk. In particular, the Fund is exposed to credit risks, the risk of loss arising from default that may occur if an issuer fails to make principal and interest payments when due. This risk is higher if the Fund holds low-rated, non-investment-grade securities. Default rates may change over the 5-year period of the Fund. A default of a bond issuer could have a material loss impact on capital invested. For full details of all of the risks applicable to this Fund, please refer to the "Risk Considerations" section in the current prospectus of Franklin Templeton Opportunities Funds.

Fund Measures: The average credit quality (ACQ) rating may change over time. The portfolio itself has not been rated by an independent rating agency. The letter rating, which may be based on bond ratings from different agencies (or internal ratings for unrated bonds, cash and equivalents), is provided to indicate the average credit rating of the portfolio's underlying investments and generally ranges from AAA (highest) to D (lowest). For unrated bonds, cash and equivalents, ratings may be assigned based on the ratings of the issuer, the ratings of the underlying holdings of a pooled investment vehicle, or other relevant factors. The ACQ is determined by assigning a sequential integer to all credit ratings AAA to D, taking a simple, asset-weighted average of investments by market value and rounding to the nearest rating. The risk of default increases as a bond's rating decreases, so the ACQ provided is not a statistical measurement of the portfolio's default risk because a simple, weighted average does not measure the increasing level of risk from lower-rated bonds. The ACQ may be lower if cash and equivalents are excluded from the calculation. The ACQ is provided for informational purposes only.

Yield figures quoted should not be used as an indication of the income that has or will be received. Yield figures are based on the portfolio's underlying holdings and do not represent a payout of the portfolio.
