Fund Overview

Fund Aspects:

The Fund employs a systematic investment approach to create an emerging market equity portfolio of companies that satisfy sustainable environmental, social, and governance ("Sustainable ESG") criteria. The fund seeks to provide diversified exposure to broad investment themes, including Value, Momentum, Earnings Quality, Stability, Investor Sentiment and Management Signaling, and implements the investment strategy in a relaxed constraint (130% Long and 30% Short) manner. The Fund is actively managed, which means that the investments are selected at the discretion of the Investment Manager. The Fund is managed in reference to the Benchmark. The Fund's portfolio will be managed by investing more or less in securities, countries and currencies, relative to the Benchmark. The investment manager will impose operational limits on the extent that the Fund may deviate from the Benchmark but may not observe these limits in certain circumstances, for example, where movements in the market so require or in the case of corporate actions (e.g. stock splits, mergers). Over extended periods, the Fund's performance may be correlated with that of the Benchmark.

Fund Objective:

The Fund seeks to outperform its benchmark (MSCI Emerging Markets Total Return Index with net dividends) in a full market cycle by employing a bottom-up stock and industry selection investment process with a long-term average forecasted tracking error of 3-5% relative to the benchmark. The Fund seeks to integrate environmental, social, and governance ("Sustainable ESG") considerations within the investment process to achieve reduced ESG-related risks and portfolio carbon intensity, as well as improved ESG-characteristics of the portfolio. The Fund generally intends to target a long exposure of 130% of the Fund's net assets and a short exposure of 30% of the Fund's net assets. Further information about the sustainability-related aspects of the Fund is available at <https://ucits.aqr.com/Sustainability-Related-Disclosures>.

Umbrella Fund:

The Fund is a sub-fund of AQR UCITS Funds, a Luxembourg based UCITS of which the management company is FundRock Management Company S.A.

Risk Management:

Risk control is built into the Fund's portfolio construction process with a focus on diversification and managing tracking error relative to the benchmark. AQR's Risk Management Team and the Fund's portfolio managers actively assess risk of the Fund.

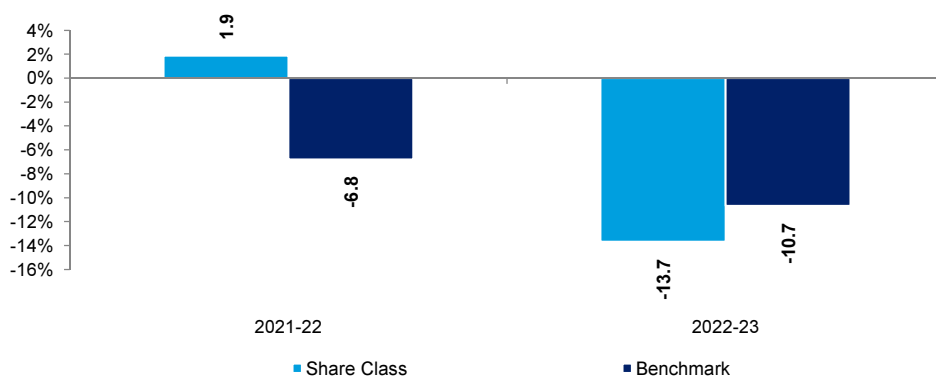

Risk and Reward Profile:

Calculated using historical data which may not be a reliable indicator of the Fund's future risk profile. See Key Investor Information Document (KIID) for details.

Principal Risks

Sustainable investing is qualitative and subjective by nature, and there is no guarantee that the environmental, social and governance ("ESG") criteria utilized, judgment exercised, or techniques employed, by AQR will be successful, or that they will reflect the beliefs or values of any one particular investor. Certain information used to evaluate ESG factors or a company's commitment to, or implementation of, responsible practices is obtained through voluntary or third-party reporting, which may not be accurate or complete. ESG investing can limit the investment opportunities available to a portfolio, such as the exclusion of certain securities or issuers for nonfinancial reasons and, therefore, the portfolio may perform differently than or underperform other similar portfolios that do not apply ESG factors.

The Fund may use derivatives in an attempt to reduce risk (hedging) or for investment purposes. It may be that the use of derivatives may not always be successful and cause unit prices to fluctuate which may in turn result in loss to the Fund.

The Fund is exposed to the currency markets which may be highly volatile. Large price swings can occur in such markets within very short periods and may result in your investment suffering a loss.

The Fund may enter into one or more derivatives with a counterparty. There is a risk that this party may fail to make its payments or become insolvent which may result in the fund and your investment suffering a loss.

The Fund may have increased exposure to particular investments. A fall in value of such investments can result in a proportionately greater loss to the Fund.

The Fund may invest in less economically developed (known as emerging) markets which can involve greater risks than well developed economies. Amongst other issues, the level of government supervision and market regulation may be less than in more developed economies and could affect the value of your investment. Investment in emerging markets also increases the risk of settlement default.

Your investment in the Fund is not guaranteed and is at risk. You may lose some or all of your investment.

The Fund relies upon the performance of the investment manager of the Fund. If the investment manager performs poorly the value of your investment is likely to be adversely affected.

More information in relation to risks in general may be found in the "Risk Factors" section of the prospectus.

Investment Approach

The AQR Sustainable Emerging Relaxed Constraint Strategy seeks to provide balanced risk allocation across investment themes using a systematic investment process. Our research shows that these investment themes have positive expected returns and generally low correlations to each other. The combination aims to identify stocks that are cheap, high quality, stable, with positive sentiment and a catalyst for improvement. Importantly, the strategy implements these themes while emphasizing investing in companies that satisfy sustainable environmental, social, and governance ("Sustainable ESG") criteria. ESG-related considerations are important to the model, and the strategy further offers a higher ESG score and lower portfolio carbon intensity than the benchmark as well as dynamic exclusion of the worst ESG-offending names and static exclusions for controversial weapons, tobacco and fossil fuel-related names.

The underlying themes of the AQR Sustainable Emerging Relaxed Constraint are as follows:

Valuation: evaluates a stock's fundamental value versus its market price with the belief that relatively cheap stocks will outperform relatively expensive ones.

Momentum: evaluates a stock's recent relative performance through both direct (a stock's own performance) and indirect (a stock's relationship to economically linked peers) lenses in the belief that medium term trends continue.

Earnings Quality: examines the degree to which a company's accruals-based accounting views differ from cash flow-based views in a belief that more intensive uses of accruals are a tool used by company management to mask underlying earnings.

Stability: measures the competitive strength of a company through a variety of lenses (margins, credit quality and cyclicalities) in a belief that companies with better competitive positions generate higher risk-adjusted returns over time.

Investor Sentiment: evaluates the actions of informed investors to infer opportunities or threats that may not be captured within previous themes.

Management Signaling: monitors the actions of company management with respect to shareholders' interests and information dissemination.

There is no guarantee, express or implied, that long-term return and/or volatility targets will be achieved. Realized returns and/or volatility may come in higher or lower than expected. Past performance does not predict future returns. Diversification does not eliminate the risk of experiencing investment losses.

There is a risk of substantial loss associated with trading commodities, futures, options, derivatives and other financial instruments. Before trading, investors should carefully consider their financial position and risk tolerance to determine if the proposed trading style is appropriate. Investors should realize that when trading futures commodities, options, derivatives and other financial instruments one could lose the full balance of their account. It is also possible to lose more than the initial deposit when trading derivatives or using leverage. All funds committed to such a trading strategy should be purely risk capital. Investors should note that UCITS funds will not trade in commodities.

Please note that the management company may decide to terminate the arrangements made for the marketing of the Fund in any country where it has been registered for marketing.

Broad-based securities indices are unmanaged and are not subject to fees and expenses typically associated with managed accounts or investment funds. Investments cannot be made directly in an index.
