Investment risks

For complete information on risks, refer to the legal documents. The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. Changes in interest rates will result in fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund uses derivatives (complex instruments) for investment purposes, which may result in the fund being significantly leveraged and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund may invest in distressed securities which carry a significant risk of capital loss. As a large portion of the fund is invested in less developed countries, you should be prepared to accept significantly large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund may invest in certain securities listed in China which can involve significant regulatory constraints that may affect the liquidity and/or the investment performance of the fund. Investments in debt instruments which are of lower credit quality may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund.

Fund Strategy

The fund manager believes the key to better absolute and risk-adjusted returns in emerging markets is combining top-down macroeconomic analysis and bottom-up country analysis to allocate risk across interest rates and foreign currencies. With an investment horizon of 9 to 18 months, the fund manager believes that while the macroeconomic base case changes slowly, market pricing changes more rapidly, providing opportunities to take advantage of shifting risk premia.

Past performance does not predict future returns. Each period starts at the end of the indicated month. The first indicated month may not represent a full month and may start only on the launch/restructuring date indicated in the headline.

The performance data shown does not take account of the commissions and costs incurred on the issue and redemption of units. Performance is net of fees and expenses, as represented by the Ongoing Charges figure for the specific class and are not GIPS compliant. Returns may increase or decrease as a result of currency fluctuations. The Composite data above represents the unaudited performance of the Invesco Emerging Markets Local Bond Composite, which inceptioned on 31 December 2013. Past performance of the composite does not predict future performance of the Fund. The investment concerns the acquisition of units in an actively managed fund and not in a given underlying asset.

Sovereign Exclusions	- Sovereign issuers rated E (on a scale of A-E) by the investment manager's qualitative assessment

*At Invesco we continuously monitor any applicable sanctions, including those imposed by the UN/US/EU and UK. These sanctions may preclude investments in the securities of various governments/regimes/entities and as such will be included in our compliance guidelines and workflows (designed to ensure compliance with such sanctions). The wording of international sanctions is something that we pay particular attention to as there are occasions where sanctions can exist in limited form, for example allowing investments in the secondary market. In addition to sanctions targeting entire countries, there are other thematic regimes, which may focus for example on human rights, cyber attacks, terrorist financing and corruption, which may apply to both individuals and/or entities/corporations.

Any investment decision should take into account all the characteristics of the fund as described in the legal documents. For sustainability related aspects, please refer to: <https://www.invescomanagementcompany.lu/lux-manco/literature>.
