Portfolio Manager Commentary

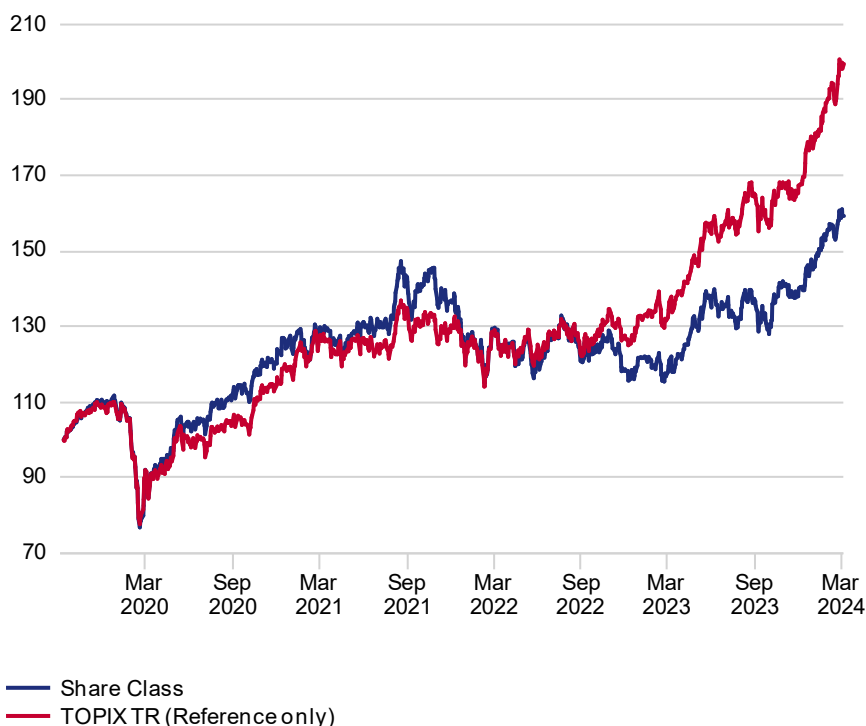

Performance Overview

Integrated Design & Engineering Holdings Co., Ltd. (leading general construction consulting firm) rose on favorable performance progress in South Asia. Fuji Electric Co., Ltd. (general electronics company), also experienced a rise in its stock price, as expectations for benefits from increased sales of hybrid vehicles increased. Conversely, TechMatrix Corporation (IT solutions) detracted as concerns have been raised about increased costs due to the depreciation of the yen, and Asahi Intecc Co., Ltd., Inc. (medical devices) faced declines in their stock prices, reflecting concerns about the impact of inventory adjustment by agents in China's business.

Market Outlook and Investment Strategy

We maintain the view that the Japanese economy will normalise, supported by an exit from deflation, more companies implementing reforms requested by the Tokyo Stock Exchange, and the new NISA framework. While the upward trend since the beginning of the year has been rapid, the market as a whole is not considered to be highly overvalued, so it is unlikely that there will be a significant market correction. We plan to consider allocating more to companies related to capital investment as economic uncertainty gradually diminishes. During the month under review, while we increased our investment in Kurita Water Industries Ltd., which specialises in water treatment equipment and chemicals, we sold Toray Industries, Inc., as concerns about increased competition in the carbon fiber business for wind turbine generators in Europe increased.
