You can find a detailed list of the risks in the "Notice regarding general risks" section of the General Part and the "Risk profile" section of the Special Part of the sales prospectus. The following risks have no direct influence on this category, but may still be important:

- Using derivatives generally creates leverage and entails valuation risks and operational risks. Leverage magnifies gains but also losses. Over-the-counter derivatives involve corresponding counterparty risks.
- A company's stock price may be adversely affected by changes in the company, its industry or economic environment and prices can change quickly. Equities typically involve higher risks than bonds and money market instruments.
