Equivalent securities are ADRs (American Depositary Receipts), GDRs (Global Depositary Receipts), P-Notes (Participatory Notes) and participating securities eligible as transferable securities.

Emerging markets are all countries classified as such by the World Bank, the International Finance Corporation or the United Nations; or which are included in the MSCI Emerging Markets Index or the MSCI Frontier Markets Index.

Risk and reward profile

The indicator shown above is calculated based on historical data and, as such, may not be a reliable indicator of the Sub-fund's future risk profile. It is not certain that the risk and reward category shown will remain unchanged, and the classification may change over time. Category 1 does not mean that an investment is risk-free. Repayment of the initial investment is not guaranteed.

Due to insufficient historical data, the risk indicator incorporates simulated data based on a reference portfolio. Risk category 6 reflects a potential for very high gains and/or losses in the value of the portfolio. This is because of investments in equities originating from emerging countries.

Significant risks not taken into account in this indicator:

Credit risk: When a significant level of investment is made in debt securities.

Liquidity risk: The markets for some securities and instruments may have limited liquidity. This restricted liquidity may be disadvantageous for the Sub-fund, both in terms of obtaining the indicated prices and executing orders at the desired prices.

Impact of instruments such as derivative contracts: The use of derivative instruments may result in a greater decrease in assets than the decrease in the underlying assets invested or on the markets.

Counterparty risk: When a fund is hedged by guarantees or has significant investment exposure through contracts with a third party.

Operational risk: The Sub-fund may incur losses due to the failure of operational processes, particularly those relating to the custody of assets.

The occurrence of any of these risks may negatively impact the net asset value.
