LGT EM HC Bond Sub-Fund

Supplement

to the Prospectus dated 18 September, 2019
for Crown Sigma UCITS plc

An umbrella fund with segregated liability between sub-funds

This Supplement contains specific information in relation to the LGT EM HC Bond Sub-Fund (the "Sub-Fund"), a sub-fund of Crown Sigma UCITS plc (the "Company") an umbrella type open-ended investment company with variable capital and segregated liability between sub-funds governed by the laws of Ireland and authorised by the Central Bank of Ireland (the "Central Bank").

This Supplement forms part of, may not be distributed (other than to prior recipients of the Prospectus of the Company dated 18 September, 2019, as may be amended from time to time (the "Prospectus")), unless accompanied by, and must be read in conjunction with, the Prospectus.

Dated: 15 March, 2021

Important Information

THIS DOCUMENT IS IMPORTANT. BEFORE YOU PURCHASE ANY OF THE SHARES REPRESENTING INTERESTS IN THE SUB-FUND DESCRIBED IN THIS SUPPLEMENT YOU SHOULD ENSURE THAT YOU FULLY UNDERSTAND THE NATURE OF SUCH AN INVESTMENT, THE RISKS INVOLVED AND YOUR OWN PERSONAL CIRCUMSTANCES. IF YOU ARE IN ANY DOUBT ABOUT THE CONTENTS OF THIS SUPPLEMENT, YOU SHOULD TAKE ADVICE FROM AN APPROPRIATELY QUALIFIED ADVISOR.

Capitalised terms used in this Supplement will have the meanings given to them in the Definitions section below or in the Prospectus.

Shareholders should note that the Sub-Fund may invest more than 50% of its Net Asset Value in Emerging and Frontier Markets and more than 30% of its Net Asset Value in below investment grade bonds and accordingly an investment in the Sub-Fund should not constitute a substantial proportion of an investment portfolio and may not be appropriate for all investors.

The Sub-Fund may invest in FDI for hedging, investment and efficient portfolio management purposes (as detailed below under "Use of Financial Derivative Instruments ") where applicable.

Certain risks attached to investments in FDIs are set out in the Prospectus under "Risk Factors". The Directors of the Company expect that the Net Asset Value of the Sub-Fund will have medium to high volatility.

The Sub-Fund may, from time to time, invest substantially in cash deposits with credit institutions. Although the Sub-Fund may invest in cash deposits, Shares in the Sub-Fund are not deposits and are different in nature to a deposit in that the investment is not guaranteed and the value of the investment is capable of fluctuation. Investment in the Sub-Fund involves certain investment risks, including the possible loss of principal.

Suitability of Investment

Investment in the Sub-Fund is suitable for investors seeking capital growth, with a long-term investment time horizon, who are prepared to take the higher risks associated with investments in the Emerging and Frontier Markets and are willing to set aside capital for at least four years and who are prepared to accept a high level of volatility from time to time.

There can be no assurance that the Sub-Fund will achieve its investment objective and investment results may vary substantially on a monthly, quarterly and annual basis, and over the course of a market cycle.

Where disclosed in the Class Supplement, a Class may make distributions out of capital. In such cases, investors should note that this will result in the reduction of an investor's original capital invested in the relevant Sub-Fund. The relevant Sub-Fund's capital will be eroded and the distribution will be achieved by foregoing the potential for future capital growth; this cycle may continue until all capital is depleted. It is likely in this case that due to capital erosion, the value of future returns may also be diminished. Distributions out of capital may have different tax implications to distributions of income and recommend that investors seek advice in this regard. Distributions out of capital made during the life of a Fund must be understood as a type of capital reimbursement.

You should inform yourself as to (a) the possible tax consequences, (b) the legal and regulatory requirements, (c) any foreign exchange restrictions or exchange control requirements and (d) any other requisite governmental or other consents or formalities which you might encounter under the laws of the country of your citizenship, residence or domicile and which might be relevant to your purchase, holding or disposal of the Shares.

The Shares are not principal protected. The value of the Shares may go up or down and you may not get back the amount you have invested. See the section headed "Risk Factors" of the Prospectus and of this Supplement for a discussion of certain risks that should be considered by you.

An investment in the Shares is only suitable for you if you (either alone or with the help of an appropriate financial or other advisor) are able to assess the merits and risks of such an investment and have sufficient resources to be able to bear any losses that may result from such an investment. The contents of this document are not intended to contain and should not be regarded as containing advice relating to legal, taxation, investment or any other matters.

Responsibility

The Directors of the Company, whose names appear in the Directors of the Company section of the Prospectus, accept responsibility for the information contained in the Prospectus and this Supplement. To the best of the knowledge and belief of the Directors (who have taken all reasonable care to ensure that such is the case) such information is in accordance with the facts and does not omit anything likely to affect the import of such information. The Directors accept responsibility accordingly.

General

This Supplement sets out information in relation to the Shares and the Sub-Fund. You must also refer to the Prospectus which is separate to this document and describes the Company and provides general information about offers of shares in the Company. You should not take any action in respect of the Shares unless you have received a copy of the Prospectus. Should there be any inconsistency between the contents of the Prospectus and this Supplement, the contents of this Supplement will, to the extent of any such inconsistency, prevail. This Supplement and the Prospectus should both be carefully read in their entirety before any investment decision with respect to Shares is made.

Distribution of this Supplement and Selling Restrictions

Distribution of this Supplement is not authorised unless accompanied by a copy of the Prospectus (other than to prior recipients of the Prospectus). The distribution of this Supplement and the offering or purchase of the Shares may be restricted in certain jurisdictions. If you receive a copy of this Supplement and/or the Prospectus, you may not treat such document(s) as constituting an offer, invitation or solicitation to you to subscribe for any Shares unless, in the relevant jurisdiction, such an offer, invitation or solicitation could lawfully be made to you without compliance with any registration or other legal requirement. If you wish to apply for the opportunity to purchase any Shares, it is your duty to inform yourself of, and to observe, all applicable laws and regulations of any relevant jurisdiction. In particular, you should inform yourself as to the legal requirements of so applying, and any applicable exchange control regulations and taxes in the countries of your respective citizenship, residence or domicile.

Definitions

Unless otherwise defined herein or the context otherwise requires all defined terms used in this Supplement shall have the same meaning as in the Prospectus as may be amended from time to time. In this Supplement:

"Base Currency"	means US Dollar. The currencies of Classes of Shares may differ and shall be set out in the relevant Class Supplement.
"Benchmark"	means J.P. Morgan EMBI Global Diversified (TR) Index.
"Benchmark Administrator"	J.P. Morgan Securities LLC.
"Business Day"	means any day on which banks are open for business in Ireland, Switzerland and in other markets which forms the basis for the valuation of a substantial part of the assets contained in the Sub-Fund and/or such other day or days as the Directors may, with the consent of the Depositary, determine.
"Cash Equivalents"	shall include, but shall not be limited to, short-term fixed income securities including commercial paper (i.e. investment grade short-term paper issued by credit institutions) and money market obligations such as short and medium-term treasury bills and treasury notes (both fixed and floating rate), certificates of deposit and bankers' acceptances which meet the requirements of the Regulations.
"Collective Investment Scheme" or "CIS"	means an open-ended collective investment scheme within the meaning of Regulation 4(3) of the Regulations and which is prohibited from investing more than 10% of its assets in another such collective investment scheme.
"Credit Default Swaps" or "CDS"	means a financial derivative instrument whereby a party (Protection Buyer) can hedge its credit risk which is then borne by its CDS counterparty (Protection Seller). The Protection Seller has to pay a pre-determined amount to the Protection Buyer upon occurrence of a specified credit event. The credit event is typically the insolvency, payment default or restructuring of a single or a basket of issuers or bonds. In turn during the term of the CDS the Protection Buyer pays a fee to the Protection Seller. The fee is dependent upon the perceived amount of credit risk transferred. A CDS is traded over-the-counter (OTC) i.e. it is individually negotiated and not traded on exchange.
"Dealing Day"	means any Valuation Day or such other day or days as the Directors may, with the consent of the Depositary, determine and notify in advance the Shareholders, provided there is at least one per fortnight.

"Duration Management"	means with regards to fixed income securities and debt instruments the management of the average time to maturity of a portfolio considering the interest rate sensitivity of the relevant instruments and the perceived interest rate trend and change risk at the relevant point in time. Generally the Investment Manager would tend to lower the overall portfolio duration in the case of rising interest rates and increase duration when interest rates are decreasing.
"Emerging Markets"	means markets of countries that are in the process of becoming modern industrialised countries. Such markets have a higher growth potential but are also subject to higher risks compared to developed markets. This includes, but is not limited to countries which are part of the International Finance Corporation Global Composite Index or the MSCI Emerging Markets Index.

"Frontier Markets"	means markets of countries that are more established than the least developed countries but still less established than the Emerging Markets because they are smaller, carry higher inherent risk, or are more illiquid compared to an Emerging Market.

"Valuation Point"	means 23:59 p.m. Irish time on the relevant Valuation Day.

1. Investment Objectives and Policies

Investment Objective

The investment objective of the Sub-Fund is to generate consistent long-term capital appreciation.

Investment Policies

Subject to the investment restrictions in the Prospectus, the Sub-Fund will seek to achieve the investment objective by investing primarily in fixed income securities, namely government bonds, and money market instruments (including certificates of deposit), floating rate notes and fixed or variable rate commercial paper and in cash, of Emerging Markets or Frontier Markets denominated in a hard currency. On this basis, the Sub-Fund will typically invest in securities denominated in US Dollar, however, it may also invest in securities denominated in currencies of other countries that, in the opinion of the Investment Manager, are politically and economically stable.

The fixed income securities in which the Sub-Fund will seek to gain exposure to will typically be issued by issuers in the public sector of Emerging Markets or Frontier Markets (i.e. governments or public bodies).

The Sub-Fund may invest up to 10% of its assets (excluding cash and Cash Equivalents) in global fixed income securities which do not have an Emerging Market or a Frontier Market focus. Such fixed income securities can be denominated in any currency.

Notwithstanding that the Sub-Fund will typically focus on investment in government bonds, the bonds held by the Sub-Fund can be government and/or corporate and can be fixed and/or floating rate, where appropriate and may be investment grade or below investment grade, as determined by Standard & Poor's Rating Group or any similar recognised ratings agency.

The Investment Manager may gain exposure to the above securities by way of direct investment in the relevant securities; by holding CIS which themselves provide exposure to the securities or through the use of FDI.

The Sub-Fund follows a long only strategy. Long positions will be held where the Sub-Fund is physically invested in the asset classes contemplated under the investment policy of the Sub-Fund, as described herein.

In all instances where the Sub-Fund shall invest in listed / traded assets, such listed / traded assets must be listed / traded on markets exchanges as set out in Appendix I of the Prospectus save that CIS may or may not be listed or traded in such markets or exchanges.

The Sub-Fund may, in circumstances considered appropriate by the Investment Manager periodically maintain a portion of its assets in cash or Cash Equivalents. Such circumstances may include, but are not limited to, circumstances where market conditions require a defensive investment strategy, the holding of cash on deposit pending reinvestment, the holding of cash in order to meet redemptions and payment of expenses and/or in order to support FDI exposure.

CIS

The Sub-Fund may make investments in collective investment schemes (including ETFs) provided such investments are eligible for investment by UCITS and give exposure to investments in which the Sub-Fund may invest directly in accordance with the above investment policy. The Sub-Fund shall not invest, in aggregate, more than 10% of its Net Asset Value in other CIS or ETF including UCITS and alternative investment funds. The Sub-Fund shall not invest in other UCITS or other alternative investment funds which can under the terms of their prospectus or instruments of incorporation invest more than 10% of their net assets in other UCITS or other alternative investment funds.

FDI

The Sub-Fund may engage in transactions in FDI for investment purposes or for the purposes of the efficient portfolio management or hedging purposes in respect of the Sub-Fund. The FDI in which the Sub-Fund may, within the conditions and limits set out in the Central Bank Regulations, invest comprise exchange-traded and over the counter derivative instruments as detailed below under the heading "Use of Financial Derivative Instruments".

The Investment Manager expects to generally enter into transactions to secure the Sub-Fund's portfolio against currency exchange rate fluctuations through the use of FDI but may decide not to do so from time to time on an opportunistic basis.

On this basis, the Sub-Fund may have a limited exposure to a range of Emerging Market or Frontier Market currencies. Class specific currency hedging activities are described in the relevant Class Supplement.

The use of FDIs will leverage the Sub-Fund due to the inherent nature of such instruments. This may increase the level of volatility, more than would be the case if the Sub-Fund did not invest in FDI. Any leverage generated by the use of such instruments shall be in accordance with the requirements of the Central Bank.

Securities Financing Transactions and Total Return Swaps

It is currently not proposed that the Sub-Fund shall use Securities Financing Transactions as defined in the SFT Regulations. Accordingly, should the Sub-Fund propose to use Securities Financing Transactions in the future, the Supplement shall be updated.

The Sub-Fund may use Total Return Swaps, as defined in the SFT Regulation. The maximum proportion of the Sub-Fund's assets which may be subject to Total Return Swaps is 20% of the Net Asset Value. The expected proportion of the Sub-Fund's assets which will be subject to Total Return Swaps (whether used for investment purposes or efficient portfolio management purposes) is 20% of the Net Asset Value.

The proportion of the Sub-Fund's assets which are subject to Total Return Swaps at any given time will depend on prevailing market conditions and the value of the relevant investments. In any case, the most recent semi-annual and annual report of the Company will express as an absolute amount and as a percentage of the Sub-Fund's assets the amount of assets subject to Total Return Swaps.

Please see the section entitled "Risk Factors" in the Prospectus for details of the risks associated with Total Return Swaps.

Please see the section entitled "Securities Financing Transactions and Total Return Swaps" in the Prospectus for further details in respect of the use of Total Return Swaps.

Please also refer to the section headed "Use of Financial Derivatives Instruments" below.

Investment in Russia

The Sub-Fund may invest up to 20% of its Net Asset Value in securities listed/traded on the Moscow Exchange. Risks associated with investment in Russian securities are set out in the section 7 of this Supplement titled "Risk Factors".

Investment Process

The Sub-Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the Benchmark by virtue of the fact that the Investment Manager uses the Benchmark to provide a framework for the Sub-Fund's main investable universe, for risk measurement metrics in order to provide applicable risk limits, and for performance comparison purposes.

The Benchmark is a uniquely-weighted version of the EMBI Global. It limits the weights of those index countries with larger debt stocks by only including specified portions of these countries' eligible current face amounts of debt outstanding. The countries covered in the Benchmark are identical to those covered by the EMBI Global. Further information regarding the Benchmark is available on www.jpm.com.

A proportion of the Sub-Fund's portfolio, such proportion to be defined by the Investment Manager from time to time, may be components of the Benchmark and the portfolio may have similar weightings to the Benchmark, however, the Investment Manager retains full discretion over the composition of the portfolio subject to the investment restrictions specified in the Prospectus and this Supplement. Accordingly, the Sub-Fund may, at the Investment Manager's discretion, be invested in markets and constituents not referenced in the Benchmark to the extent and within such constraints as the Investment Manager determines appropriate.

The Investment Manager actively seeks to achieve outperformance of the Benchmark by making active investment decisions in relation to the portfolio's allocation to countries, currencies, duration or credit segmentation (meaning the different levels of a bonds creditworthiness as rated by internationally recognised rating agencies) (not exhaustive) relative to the Benchmark.

When selecting investments for the Sub-Fund, the Investment Manager conducts a fundamental analysis of countries and currencies referenced in the Benchmark to make tactical asset allocations both within and outside of the Benchmark.

The Investment Manager conducts; (i) a top-down assessment of global macroeconomic factors and (ii) a bottom-up analysis of individual issuers.

(i) The top-down assessment is used to determine the attractiveness of various fixed-income segments, countries, yield curves, rates, credit segmentation and currencies and to gauge the overall risk taking willingness in the market. This approach is based on a systematic analysis covering both fundamental analysis (structural and cyclical factors) and market conditions (market information and valuations).

(ii) The bottom-up approach is used for the selection of the individual countries and securities. In addition to quantitative research tools, which are proprietary to the Investment Manager and which are used to monitor macroeconomic and microeconomic developments across countries, country visits or investor meetings are conducted for a qualitative assessment of issuers. Further, the Investment Manager will consider country specific characteristics of each market, e.g: available instruments, liquidity or relative value considerations.

Benchmark Regulation

The Benchmark Administrator appears on the register of administrators and benchmarks maintained by ESMA pursuant to Article 36 of the Benchmark Regulations.

The Manager has put in place written plans, in accordance with Article 28(2) of the Benchmark Regulation, detailing the actions it will take in the event that the Benchmark materially changes or ceases to be provided. These written plans detail the steps the Manger will take to nominate a suitable alternative Benchmark. A copy of the Manager's policy on cessation or material change to a benchmark is available upon request from the Manager.

Global Exposure and Leverage

The Sub-Fund uses the commitment approach to calculate its global exposure as a result of the use of derivatives. The overall exposure associated with derivative instruments shall not exceed the total net asset value (i.e. 100%) of the Sub-Fund’s assets.

Risk Management

A key aspect of the Investment Manager's investment process is the ability to manage risk. Risk must be managed for the portfolio as a whole as well as for the individual market and sectors within the portfolio. Risk is comprehended as a multifaceted concept.

Risk management, as a well-defined process, includes the observation of various pre-defined limits and portfolio risk characteristics and the observation of correct generation and execution of investment rules. It allows for active risk reduction should portfolio risk characteristics and market conditions require.

Risk management considerations may allow for defensive discretionary intervention in certain market circumstances.

The Sub-Fund may employ (subject to the conditions and within the limits laid down by the Central Bank) financial derivative instruments and techniques for efficient portfolio management, investment purposes and/or hedging.

The Manager on behalf of the Company employs a risk-management process which enables it to accurately measure, monitor and manage the various risks associated with derivative instruments, which is filed with the Central Bank in accordance with its requirements. The Sub-Fund may only utilise the FDIs listed in its risk management process and disclosed in this Supplement. The Company or the Manager on behalf of the Company will, on request, provide supplementary information to Shareholders relating to the risk management methods employed, including the quantitative limits that are applied and any recent developments in the risk and yield characteristics of the main categories of investments in financial derivative instruments.

Under no circumstances may the Sub-Fund deviate from their investment objectives when carrying out any such transactions.

The Investment Manager shall ensure that the overall exposure associated with derivatives does not exceed the total net value of the portfolio of the Sub-Fund. Said exposure is determined taking into account the market value of the underlying, the counterparty risk, foreseeable future market developments and the time available to liquidate positions.

This investment type is subject to market risk, issuer risk and interest rate risk, which may have negative effects on net assets. Other additional risks may also materialise, such as, for example currency risk.

The use of financial derivatives for purposes other than hedging may give rise to increased risk.

Investment Restrictions

The general investment restrictions set out under the heading “Investment Restrictions” in the Prospectus shall apply.

Limited Recourse

The Sub-Funds in the Company are fully segregated. If the realised net assets of the Sub-Fund are insufficient to pay any amounts payable in respect of the Shares, neither a Shareholder nor any other creditors will have any further right of payment in respect of such Shares nor any claim against or recourse to any of the assets of any other Sub-Fund or any other asset of the Company.

Investment Manager

The Manager has appointed LGT Capital Partners Ltd. as investment manager to manage the Sub-Fund's investments. The Investment Manager is independent of the Company and the Manager. The Investment Manager is a traditional investment management company founded in Switzerland on 30 November 2000 and its registered office is at Schützenstrasse 6, P.O. Box, CH – Pfäffikon (SZ), Switzerland. The Investment Manager is regulated by the Swiss Financial Market Supervisory Authority (FINMA).

Pursuant to the Investment Management Agreement the Investment Manager will provide investment management services to the Manager in respect of the Sub-Fund. The appointment of the Investment Manager in respect of the Sub-Fund may be terminated by either party giving to the other not less than ninety (90) calendar days' notice in writing. The Investment Management Agreement may be terminated immediately in certain circumstances set out in the Investment Management Agreement, including the insolvency of a party (or upon the happening of a like event). The Investment Management Agreement provides for the Manager to indemnify the Investment Manager or its officers, employees, delegates, servants or agents in the absence of the recklessness, wilful default, bad faith, fraud or negligence of the Investment Manager, its officers, agents or employees.

2. Borrowings

In accordance with the general provisions set out in the Prospectus under the heading “Borrowing and Lending Powers” the Sub-Fund may borrow up to 10% of its Net Asset Value on a temporary basis.

3. Use of Financial Derivative Instruments

The Sub-Fund may engage in transactions in derivative instruments where such transactions are for investment purposes, for the purposes of the efficient portfolio management of the Sub-Fund or for hedging. The term “efficient portfolio management” refers to transactions that are entered into with the aim of reducing risk, reducing cost or generating additional capital for the Sub-Fund with an appropriate level of risk, taking into account the risk profile of the Sub-Fund as described in this Supplement and the general provisions of the Regulations. A list of the Regulated Markets on which the derivative instruments may be quoted or traded is set out in Appendix 1 to the Prospectus.

The financial derivative instruments in which the Sub-Fund may, within the conditions and limits set out in the Central Bank Regulations, invest comprise exchange-traded and over the counter derivative instruments, i.e. forward contracts (including currency forwards and non-deliverable forwards) options (including non-deliverable currency options), futures (for example, for Duration Management purposes, including interest rate futures, financial futures, currency futures and index futures), warrants (up to 5% of the Net Asset Value of the Sub-Fund) and swaps (including Total Return Swaps, Credit Default Swaps, interest rate swaps, foreign exchange swaps and currency swaps*)*.

Forward contracts

Forward FX contracts will principally be used for hedging purposes to reduce foreign exchange risk when investments in any asset class are denominated in currencies other than the Base Currency. If the Sub-Fund invests in one or more underlying investments which are denominated in a different currency to the Base Currency, currency exchange rate transactions may be entered into to hedge against currency fluctuations. Such hedging activities may cause both profit and loss, as the case may be, and will be added to or subtracted from the gross asset value before the deduction of any fees and expenses. There can be no assurance that the currency hedging program will be entirely successful.

A non-deliverable currency forward is a foreign exchange derivatives contract whereby two parties agree to exchange cash at a given spot rate on a future date. The contract is settled in a widely traded currency rather than the original currency and might be used for investment purposes or to reduce the foreign exchange risk in situations when physical delivery of the underlying currencies is not required and/or in markets where physical delivery is not possible.

Class specific currency hedging activities are described in the relevant Class Supplement.

Options

Options are the right to buy or sell a specific quantity of a specific asset at a fixed price at or before a specified future date. The Sub-Fund may invest in two forms of options: put or call options. Put options are contracts sold for a premium that give to the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to sell to the seller a specified quantity of a particular asset (or financial instrument) at a specified price. Call options are similar contracts sold for a premium that give the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to buy from the seller a specified quantity of a particular asset (or financial instrument) at a specified price. Options may also be cash-settled. In general, the Investment Manager may use options (buy and sell/write) for efficient portfolio management and to steer the size of a particular position. For example, call options may be written if the Investment Manager considers that the underlying security has approached its short-term price potential. Put options may be written if the Investment Manager considers the underlying security fundamentally attractive, but the underlying’s short-term trend seems to be negative and the Investment Manager targets to buy the underlying security at a more favourable price.

A non-deliverable currency option is an option for which the underlying asset cannot be delivered and it is therefore settled at maturity by a net cash payment, rather than delivery of the underlying foreign currency, generally because one of the currencies is not convertible.

Futures

Futures are contracts to buy or sell a standard quantity of a specific asset (or, in some cases, receive or pay cash based on the performance of an underlying asset, instrument) at a pre-determined future date and at a price agreed through a transaction undertaken on an exchange. Futures contracts allow investors to hedge against market risk or gain exposure to the underlying market. Since these contracts are marked-to-market daily, investors can, by closing out their position, exit from their obligation to buy or sell the underlying assets prior to the contract’s delivery date. Futures may also be used to equities cash balances, both pending investment of a cash flow and with respect to fixed cash targets. Frequently, using futures to achieve a particular strategy instead of using the underlying or related security results in lower transaction costs being incurred.

Financial futures contracts represent an unconditional binding commitment for both contractual parties, in which a certain quantity of an underlying will be bought or sold at a pre-defined future date ("maturity date") at a price agreed in advance.

Currency futures contracts represent an unconditional binding commitment for both contractual parties, in which a certain quantity of the underlying currencies will be bought or sold at a maturity date at a price agreed in advance.

Swaps

Total Return Swaps may be entered into by the Sub-Fund. The counterparty to any Total Return Swaps entered into by the Sub-Fund shall satisfy any OTC counterparty criteria set down by the Central Bank and shall be an entity which specialise in such transactions. It is not possible to comprehensively list in this Supplement all the counterparties as they have not, as of the date of issue of this Supplement, been selected and they may change from time to time. The underlying strategy and composition of the investment portfolio of Total Return Swaps will be consistent with the investment policy of the Sub-Fund. If applicable, a list of the indices to which the Sub-Fund takes exposure to will be included in the annual report for the Company. Details of any financial indices underlying the Total Return Swaps entered into by the Sub-Fund will also be provided to Shareholders by the Investment Manager on request.

The failure of a counterparty to a swap transaction may have a negative impact on the return for Shareholders. Where it is proposed that the Sub-Fund enter into a Total Return Swaps, only counterparties with a credit rating of at least BBB by Standard & Poor's Rating Group or an equivalent rating from an internationally recognised rating agency at the date of purchase will be permitted and such ratings will be monitored on an on-going basis. Any securities which fall below the minimum required rating following acquisition will be sold within six months from the downgrading, unless the rating is upgraded within that period. Additionally, any such transactions will only be concluded on the basis of standardised framework agreements (e.g., ISDA with Credit Support Annex).

The counterparty to any Total Return Swaps entered into by the Sub-Fund shall not assume any discretion over the composition or management of the investment portfolio of that Sub-Fund or of the underlying of the Total Return Swaps and the counterparty's approval will not be required in relation to any investment portfolio transaction relating to that Sub-Fund.

An interest rate swap is an agreement negotiated between two parties to exchange interest rate cash flow calculated on notional principal amounts at specified intervals (payment dates) during the life of the swap. Each party's payment obligation is computed using a different interest rate based on the notional exposures. The use of interest rate swaps may allow the interest rate sensitivity of the Sub-Fund to be changed faster or more cheaply than through the use of physical cash markets or more precisely than through exchange traded derivative markets. Interest rate swaps include "basis swaps" which are interest rate swaps negotiated between two parties to exchange floating interest rate cash flows against other floating interest cash flow streams, at specified dates during the life of the swap. There may be a final, interim or initial exchange of the notional amounts.

Foreign exchange swaps usually involve an agreement between two parties to exchange two currencies at a certain exchange rate at a certain time in the future.

Currency swaps usually involve the swapping of the nominal amounts of the assets and may be equated to the raising of funds in one currency while at the same time lending funds in another.

CDS enable the separation of the credit risk from the underlying credit relationship. The separate tradability of default risks expands the range of opportunities for systematic risk and return management. Using CDS, the protection buyer can protect itself, for a specified period, against certain risks from a credit relationship by paying a periodic premium, calculated on the basis of the nominal amount, for the assumption of the credit risk by the protection seller. This premium depends, inter alia, on the credit quality of the underlying reference debtor(s) (credit risk). The risks to be passed on are defined, in advance, as so-called credit events. As long as no credit event occurs, the CDS seller does not have to pay up. However, should a credit event occur, the seller will pay the pre-defined amount, such as the nominal value, or make a compensatory payment in the amount of the difference between the nominal value of the reference assets and their market value following the credit event ("cash settlement"). In this case, the buyer has the right to offer a qualified asset of the reference debtor, as defined in the agreement, for sale, while the buyer's premium payments cease as from this point in time. The Sub-Fund may act as the protection buyer or the protection seller. CDS are traded on the over-the-counter (OTC) market, which means that more specific, non-standard needs of both counterparties may be addressed more readily – at the price of lower liquidity.

Warrants

A warrant is a security that entitles the holder to buy or sell the underlying security of the issuer at a fixed price, quantity and future time. Warrants are frequently attached to bonds or stock, allowing the issuer to pay lower interest rates or dividends. They can be used to enhance the yield of the bond and make them more attractive to potential buyers. Frequently, warrants are detachable, and can be bought or sold independently of the bond or stock. There are two different types of warrants, namely a call warrant and a put warrant. A call warrant represents a specific number of securities that can be purchased from the issuer at a specific price, on or before a certain date. A put warrant represents a certain amount of securities that can be sold back to the issuer at a specified price, on or before a stated date.

Requests for the repurchase of Shares will not be capable of withdrawal after acceptance by the Administrator. Where requests for the repurchase of Shares is made by facsimile, the original Application Form must be received by the Company care of the Administrator before any Repurchase Proceeds will be paid out. Requests received on or prior to the relevant Dealing Deadline will, normally be dealt with on the relevant Dealing Day. Repurchase requests received after the Dealing Deadline shall, be treated as having been received by the following Dealing Deadline unless the Administrator and the Directors on an exceptional basis only otherwise agree and provided only they are received before the relevant Valuation Point.

Repurchase requests may also be made using an established electronic dealing platform. Repurchase requests will only be accepted electronically where the Shareholder has accepted the terms and conditions of use of such service, and all necessary anti-money laundering documentation has been received and processed by the Administrator.

A repurchase request will not be capable of withdrawal after acceptance by the Administrator. If requested, the Directors may, in their absolute discretion and subject to the prior approval of the Depositary and advance notification to all of the Shareholders, agree to designate additional Dealing Days and Valuation Points for the repurchase of Shares relating to any Sub-Fund.

Limitations on Repurchases

The Directors are entitled to limit the number of Shares in a Sub-Fund repurchased on any Dealing Day to Shares representing ten per cent of the total Net Asset Value of that Sub-Fund on that Dealing Day. In this event, the limitation will apply pro rata so that all Shareholders wishing to have Shares of that Sub-Fund repurchased on that Dealing Day realise the same proportion of such Shares. Shares not repurchased, but which would otherwise have been repurchased, will be carried forward for repurchase on the next Dealing Day. If requests for repurchase are so carried forward, the Administrator will inform the Shareholders affected.

Repurchase Price

The Repurchase Price at which Shares will be repurchased on a Dealing Day is the Net Asset Value per Share of the relevant Class calculated as of the Valuation Day. The Repurchase Proceeds are the Repurchase Price less any applicable Repurchase Charge and any applicable taxes. There shall be no Repurchase Charge payable in respect of a Repurchase of Shares of this Sub-Fund. The method of establishing the Net Asset Value of any Sub-Fund and the Net Asset Value per Share of any Class of Shares in a Sub-Fund is set out in the Articles as described in the Prospectus under the heading "Calculation of Net Asset Value/Valuation of Assets".

Settlement Date for Repurchases

Repurchase contract notes will be issued to Shareholders on the relevant Dealing Day. Shareholders will receive a contract note on the Business Day immediately following the relevant Dealing Day.

The amount due on the repurchase of Shares of any class in the Sub-Fund will generally be paid latest on the Repurchase Payment Day by electronic transfer to an account in the name of the Shareholder. Repurchase proceeds will only be paid on receipt by the Administrator of any relevant repurchase documentation.

Swing Factor

For the protection of the existing shareholders, on a certain Dealing Day, the Net Asset Value per Share may be increased or decreased by a maximum of 2% ("swing factor"), for net subscription or net redemption applications in relation to the Sub-Fund.

In this case, the same Net Asset Value per Share will apply to all incoming and outgoing investors on this Dealing Day. The primary goal of the adjustment of the Net Asset Value is to cover the transaction costs, tax burdens or bid/offer spreads ("spreads") that are incurred by the Sub-Fund due to subscriptions, redemption and/or conversion transactions involving the Sub-Fund. Existing shareholders are not required to bear these costs, as these costs are directly integrated into the calculation of the Net Asset Value and are therefore borne by incoming and outgoing investors. Unless otherwise provided in the Class Supplement, if on any Valuation Day the application of a Swing Factor is applied, the net asset value is adjusted on the basis of net trading, irrespective of the extent of the net cash flow (i.e. an adjustment of the Net Asset Value does not require that a pre-defined threshold value for the net cash flow is reached).

Shareholders are reminded that the performance calculated on the basis of the Net Asset Value may not necessarily reflect the actual performance of the relevant Sub-Fund due to the adjustment of the Net Asset Value.

5. Fees and Expenses

In addition to the general management and fund charges set out in the Prospectus under the heading "Fees and Expenses" the Sub-Fund shall bear its attributable portion of (i) the expenses payable by the Company to the Manager, Administrator, Distributor, Depositary, Valuation Agent, Directors and any other delegate appointed by the Company, (ii) operating expenses of the Company and (iii) the establishment and operating expenses of the Sub-Fund. The organisational expenses of the Company are fully amortised. The establishment costs solely of the Sub-Fund are expected to be up to EUR 10,000. The establishment costs of the Sub-Fund will be amortised over the first year of the existence of the Sub-Fund.

Operation Fee

The Manager is entitled to an operation fee for the management and administration of the Sub-Fund, as set forth in the respective Class Supplement (the "Operation Fee"). This fee is calculated on the basis of the Net Asset Value per Class (before debiting the operation and management fee) as at each Valuation Day. The Operation Fee will be accrued on each Valuation Day and debited at the end of each month.

This Operation Fee includes the fees of the Manager and the fees of the Depositary and Administrator, each as further described below under the headings "Fees of the Manager" and "Fees of the Depositary and Administrator".

Fees of the Manager

The Manager shall be entitled to an annual compensation for acting as Manager of the Company as set forth in the respective Class Supplement.

Fees of the Depositary and Administrator

The Manager shall pay the fees and bear the costs and out-of-pocket expenses of the services provided by the Depositary and the Administrator in the performance of their tasks in respect of the Sub-Fund.

The Depositary is entitled to fees for its depositary services which will be paid out of the Operation Fee. The Depositary shall also be entitled to reimbursement of properly vouched out of pocket expenses incurred by the Depositary, or any sub-custodian, for the benefit of the Sub-Fund. The fees of any such sub-custodian shall be at normal commercial rates.

The Administrator is entitled to fees for its administration services which will be paid out of the Operation Fee. The Administrator shall also be entitled to reimbursement of all reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred for the benefit of the Sub-Fund.

Management Fee

The Manager is entitled to a management fee for asset management and distribution, including third-party distribution, as set forth in the Class Supplement (the "Management Fee"). This fee is calculated on the basis of the Net Asset Value per Class (before debiting the Operation Fee), as at each Valuation Day and debited at the end of each month. The Manager shall also be entitled to be reimbursed out of the assets of the Sub-Fund for the reasonable out-of-pocket costs and expenses incurred by the Manager in the performance of its duties.

The Manager shall pay the fees and bear the costs and out-of-pocket expenses for the services provided by the Investment Manager, any Sub-Distributor and any other delegate appointed by the Manager in respect of the Company in the performance of their tasks in respect of the Company.

6. Dividend Policy

The distribution policy is described in the relevant Class Supplement.

7. Risk Factors

The general risk factors are set out in the Prospectus under the heading RISK FACTORS.

In addition, the following risk factors apply to the Sub-Fund:

General

An investment in the Sub-Fund is neither insured nor guaranteed by any government, government agencies or instrumentalities or any bank guarantee fund. Shares in the Sub-Fund are not deposits or obligations of, or guaranteed or endorsed by, any bank and the amount invested in Shares may fluctuate up and/or down. An investment in the Sub-Fund involves certain investment risks, including the possible loss of principal.

Availability of Investment Strategies. No assurance can be given that the Investment Manager will be able to locate suitable investment opportunities in which to deploy all of the Sub-Fund's assets. No assurance can be given that the Investment Manager will be able to exploit discrepancies in the securities and derivatives markets. A reduction in the pricing inefficiency of the markets in which the Sub-Fund seeks to invest, as well as other market factors, will reduce the scope for the Sub-Fund's investment strategies.

The Sub-Fund may be adversely affected by unforeseen events involving such matters as changes in interest rates or changes in tax treatment.

The amount of capital invested in funds such as the Sub-Fund has increased dramatically in recent years. Such increase may result in greater competition for investment opportunities, as well as increased price volatility and/or decreased liquidity in certain positions.

Investment Manager. The performance of the Sub-Fund is substantially dependent on the services of senior professionals of the Investment Manager who advise upon the investment of the assets of the Sub-Fund. In the event of the death, incapacity, departure, insolvency or withdrawal of such professionals the performance of the Sub-Fund may be adversely affected.

Class of Shares is not a Separate Legal Entity. As among the shareholders, although the Sub-Fund maintains only one portfolio of assets, the appreciation and depreciation attributable to a Class will be allocated only to such Class. Similarly, expenses attributable solely to a particular Class will be allocated solely to that Class. However, a creditor of the Sub-Fund will generally not be bound to satisfy its claims from a particular Class. Rather, such creditor generally may seek to satisfy its claims from the assets of the Sub-Fund as a whole. Further, if the losses attributable to a Class exceed its value, then such losses could negatively impact the value of other Classes. At the date of this document, the Directors are not aware of any existing or contingent liabilities.

Liquidity and Valuation of Investments. The Sub-Fund may invest in instruments which are subject to legal or other restrictions on transfer or for which no liquid market exists. The market prices, if any, for such securities tend to be volatile and the Sub-Fund may not be able to sell them when they desire to do so or to realize what they perceive to be their fair value in the event of a sale. The sale of restricted and illiquid securities often requires more time and results in higher brokerage charges or dealer discounts and other selling expenses than does the sale of securities eligible for trading on national securities exchanges or in the over the counter markets. Restricted securities may sell at a price lower than similar securities that are not subject to restrictions on resale.

Market Disruptions. The Sub-Fund may incur major losses in the event of disrupted markets and other extraordinary events which may affect markets in a way that is not consistent with historical pricing relationships. The risk of loss from a disconnect from historical prices is compounded by the fact that in disrupted markets many positions become illiquid, making it difficult or impossible to close out positions against which the markets are moving. The financing available to the Sub-Fund from its banks, dealers and other counterparties is typically reduced in disrupted markets. Such a reduction may result in substantial losses to the Sub-Fund. In 1994, in 1998 and again in the so-called "credit crunch" of 2007-2008 a sudden restriction of credit by the dealer community resulted in forced liquidations and major losses for a number of investment vehicles. The "credit crunch" of 2007-2008 particularly affected investment vehicles focused on credit-related investments. However, because market disruptions and losses in one sector can cause ripple effects in other sectors, during the "credit crunch" of 2007-2008 many investment vehicles suffered heavy losses even though they were not necessarily heavily invested in credit-related investments. In addition, market disruptions caused by unexpected political, military and terrorist events may from time to time cause dramatic losses for the Sub-Fund and such events can result in otherwise historically low-risk strategies performing with unprecedented volatility and risk. A financial exchange may from time to time suspend or limit trading. Such a suspension could render it difficult or impossible for the Sub-Fund to liquidate affected positions and thereby expose it to losses. There is also no assurance that off-exchange markets will remain liquid enough for the Sub-Fund to close out positions.

Epidemics and Other Health Risks. Many countries have experienced outbreaks of infectious illnesses in recent decades, including swine flu, avian influenza, SARS and the 2019-nCoV (the "Epidemics"). Some of the Epidemics have resulted in numerous deaths and the imposition of both local and widespread quarantine measures, border closures and other travel restrictions, causing social unrest and commercial disruption on a global scale. The ongoing spread of the Epidemics has had, and will continue to have, a material adverse impact on local economies in the affected jurisdictions and also on the global economy, as cross border commercial activity and market sentiment are increasingly impacted by the outbreak and government and other measures seeking to contain its spread. In addition to these developments having adverse consequences to the value of certain portfolio companies and other issuers in or through which a Sub-Fund may directly or indirectly invest, the operations of the Manager, the Investment Manager or other service providers may be adversely impacted, including through quarantine measures and travel restrictions imposed on personnel or service providers based or temporarily located in affected countries, or any related health issues of such personnel or service providers. Any of the foregoing events could materially and adversely affect a Sub-Funds ability to source, manage and divest its investments and its ability to fulfil its investment objectives.

Leverage and Financing Risk. The Sub-Fund intends to leverage its capital to attempt to achieve a higher rate of return. Accordingly, the Sub-Fund may leverage its investment return by entering into options, forwards and other derivative instruments as outlined in section 3 above. The amount of leverage which the Sub-Fund may have at any time shall not exceed that permitted by the Regulations.

While leverage presents opportunities for increasing the Sub-Fund's total return, it has the effect of potentially increasing losses as well. Accordingly, any event which adversely affects the value of an investment by the Sub-Fund would be magnified to the extent the Sub-Fund is leveraged. The cumulative effect of the use of leverage by the Sub-Fund in a market that moves adversely to the Sub-Fund's investments could result in a substantial loss to the Sub-Fund which would be greater than if the Sub-Fund were not leveraged.

The financing used by the Sub-Fund to leverage its portfolio will be extended by counterparties which are subject to prudential supervision and belong to categories approved by the Central Bank.

Bonds. The market values of bonds generally vary inversely with the level of interest rates – when interest rates rise, their values will tend to decline and vice versa. The magnitude of these changes generally will be greater the longer the remaining maturity of the security.

By investing in bonds the Sub-Fund will be exposed to credit risk. Securities which are subordinated and/or have a lower credit rating are generally considered to have a higher credit risk and a greater possibility of default than more highly rated securities. In the event that the issuer experiences financial or economic difficulties, this may affect the value of, and/or any amounts paid on, the relevant securities. Securities ratings by credit rating agencies are a generally recognised barometer of credit risk; however, an issuer's rating is heavily weighted by past developments and does not necessarily reflect probable future conditions. There is frequently a lag between the time the rating is assigned and the time it is updated; and there may be varying degrees of difference in credit risk of securities within each rating category. While investment grade bonds usually have a higher capacity to pay interest and repay principal than lower-rated securities, there are no assurances that losses will not occur with respect to these investments.

High Yield Bonds. These bonds typically are subject to greater market fluctuations and to greater risk of loss of income and principal due to default by the issuer than are higher-rated bonds. Lower-rated bonds' values tend to reflect short-term corporate, economic and market developments and investor perceptions of the issuer's credit quality to a greater extent than lower yielding higher-rated bonds. In addition, it may be more difficult to dispose of, or to determine the value of, high yield bonds. Bonds rated BB+ or Ba1 or lower are described by the ratings agencies as "predominantly speculative with respect to capacity to pay interest and repay principal in accordance with the terms of the obligation. While such debt will likely have some quality and protective characteristics, these are outweighed by large uncertainties or major risk exposures to adverse conditions."

Emerging and Frontier Markets. By investing in those securities, the Sub-Fund faces a number of investment risks greater than those normally associated with investments in international securities. In particular, it may encounter settlement systems that are less well organised than those of developed markets. Supervisory authorities may also be unable to apply standards that are comparable with those in developed markets. Thus there may be risks that settlement may be delayed and that cash or securities belonging to the Sub-Fund may be in jeopardy because of failures of or defects in the systems or because of defects in the administrative operations of the counterparties. Such counterparties may frequently lack the substance or financial resources of a counterparty in a developed market. There may also be a danger that competing claims may arise in respect of securities held by or to be transferred to the Sub-Fund and compensation schemes may be non-existent or limited or inadequate to meet the Sub-Fund's claims in any of these events. Other risks associated with Emerging and Frontier Markets include political and social unrest; exchange control; currency instability; high rates of domestic inflation; limitations on repatriation of capital (including the possible imposition of currency blockages); the impact of the foreign debt burden on the domestic economies; instability and limited liquidity and regulation of the securities markets; relatively high transaction and other costs of investment; differences in accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards and potential difficulties in obtaining information about issuers and markets; and governmental intervention in the private sector, including restrictions on foreign investors such as the Sub-Fund. It is possible, particularly in Emerging and Frontier Markets that purported securities in which the Sub-Fund invests may subsequently be found to be fraudulent and as a consequence the Sub-Fund could suffer a loss. Taxation of interest and capital gains received by non-residents varies among the Emerging and Frontier Market States in which the Sub-Fund may invest and, in some cases, is comparatively high. In addition, such States typically have less well-defined tax laws and procedures and such laws may permit retroactive taxation so that the Sub-Fund could in the future become subject to local tax liabilities that had not been anticipated in conducting its investment activities or valuing its assets.

As many of the Emerging and Frontier Markets are relatively small, have low trading volumes, suffer periods of illiquidity and are characterised by significant price volatility, investors should consider a shareholding in the Sub-Fund investing in Emerging and Frontier Markets securities to be a long-term investment.

Investors should also consult the section of the Prospectus entitled "Risk Factors – Emerging Market Risks" for further information on the risks associated with investing in emerging markets.

Global Political and Economic Risks. The success of the Sub- Fund's activities is affected by general economic and market conditions, such as interest rates, availability of credit, inflation rates, economic uncertainty, changes in laws, trade barriers, currency exchange controls and national and international political circumstances. These factors may affect the level and volatility of securities prices and the liquidity of the Sub-Fund's investments. Volatility or illiquidity could impair the Sub-Fund's profitability or result in losses.

Forward Trading. Forward contracts and options thereon, unlike futures contracts, are not traded on exchanges and are not standardised; rather, banks and dealers act as principals in these markets, negotiating each transaction on an individual basis. Forward and "cash" trading is substantially unregulated; there is no limitation on daily price movements and speculative position limits are not applicable. The principals who deal in the forward markets are not required to continue to make markets in the currencies they trade and these markets can experience periods of illiquidity, sometimes of significant duration. There have been periods during which certain participants in these markets have refused to quote prices for certain currencies or have quoted prices with an unusually wide spread between the price at which they were prepared to buy and that at which they were prepared to sell. Disruptions can occur in any market traded by the Sub-Fund due to unusually high trading volume, political intervention or other factors. The imposition of controls by governmental authorities might also limit such forward trading to less than that which the Manager would otherwise recommend, to the possible detriment of the Sub-Fund. Market illiquidity or disruption could result in major losses to the Sub-Fund.

Futures. Transactions in futures involve the obligation to make, or to take, delivery of the underlying asset of the contract at a future date, or in some cases to settle the position with cash. They carry a high degree of risk. The low margins normally required in futures trading permit a very high degree of leverage. As a result, a relatively small movement in the price of a futures contract may result in a profit or loss which is high in proportion to the amount of funds actually placed as margin and may result in unquantifiable further loss exceeding any margin deposited. Futures trading in many contracts on futures exchanges (although generally not in currencies) is subject to daily price fluctuation restrictions, commonly referred to as "daily limits", which prohibit the execution of futures trades on any given day outside a prescribed price range based on the previous day's closing prices. Daily limits do not limit ultimate losses but may make it costly or impossible for the Manager to liquidate a futures position against which the market is moving. A series of "limit moves", in which the market price moves the "daily limit" with little or no trading taking place, could subject the Sub-Fund to major losses.

Total Return Swaps. In respect of Total Return Swaps, if the volatility or expectation of volatility of the reference asset(s) varies, the market value of the financial instruments may be adversely affected. The Sub-Fund will be subject to the credit risk of the counterparty to the swap, as well as that of the issuer of the reference obligation. If there is a default by the counterparty to a swap contract the Sub-Fund will be limited to contractual remedies pursuant to the agreements related to the transaction. There is no assurance that swap contract counterparties will be able to meet their obligations pursuant to swap contracts or that, in the event of default, the Sub-Fund will succeed in pursuing contractual remedies. The Sub-Fund thus assumes the risk that it may be delayed in or prevented from obtaining payments owed to it pursuant to swap contracts. The value of the index/reference asset underlying a Total Return Swap may differ to the value attributable per Share due to various factors such as the costs incurred in relation to the Total Return Swap entered into by the Sub-Fund to gain such exposure, fees charged by the Sub-Fund, differences in currency values and costs associated with hedged or unhedged Share Classes.

Hedging Transactions. The Manager and/or Investment Manager, on behalf of the Sub-Fund may utilise financial instruments, both for investment purposes and for risk management purposes, in order to (i) protect against possible changes in the market value of the Sub-Fund's investment portfolio resulting from fluctuations in the securities markets and changes in interest rates; (ii) protect the Sub-Fund's unrealised gains in the value of the Sub-Fund's investment portfolio; (iii) facilitate the sale of any such investments; (iv) enhance or preserve returns, spreads or gains on any investment in the Sub-Fund's portfolio; (v) hedge the interest rate or currency exchange rate on any of the Sub-Fund's liabilities or assets; (vi) protect against any increase in the price of any securities the Sub-Fund anticipates purchasing at a later date; or (vii) for any other reason that the Manager and/or Investment Manager deem appropriate.

The success of the Sub-Fund's hedging strategy will depend, in part, upon the Manager's or Investment Manager’s ability correctly to assess the degree of correlation between the performance of the instruments used in the hedging strategy and the performance of the portfolio investments being hedged. Since the characteristics of many securities change as markets change or time passes, the success of the Sub-Fund's hedging strategy will also be subject to the Manager's or Investment Manager’s ability to continually recalculate, readjust and execute hedges in an efficient and timely manner. While the Sub-Fund may enter into hedging transactions to seek to reduce risk, such transactions may result in a poorer overall performance for the Sub-Fund than if it had not engaged in such hedging transactions. For a variety of reasons, the Manager or Investment Manager may not seek to establish a perfect correlation between the hedging instruments utilised and the portfolio holdings being hedged. Such an imperfect may prevent the Sub-Fund from achieving the intended hedge or expose the Sub-Fund to risk of loss. The Manager or Investment Manager may not hedge against a particular risk because it does not regard the probability of the risk occurring to be sufficiently high as to justify the cost of the hedge, or because it does not foresee the occurrence of the risk. The successful utilisation of hedging and risk management transactions requires skills complementary to those needed in the selection of the Sub-Fund's portfolio holdings.

Foreign Exchange Fluctuation. Where the Sub-Fund utilises derivatives which alter the currency exposure characteristics of securities held by the Sub-Fund the performance of the Sub-Fund may be strongly influenced by movements in foreign exchange rates because currency positions held by the Sub-Fund may not correspond with the positions held. In addition, fluctuation in the exchange rate between the denomination currency of the underlying and the derivatives will affect the value and cash flows of the derivatives.

Credit Risk and Counterparty Risk. The Sub-Fund will be subject to the risk of the inability of any counterparty (including the counterparty and the Depositary to perform with respect to transactions, whether due to insolvency, bankruptcy or other causes. If there is a failure or default by the counterparty to such a transaction, the Sub-Fund will have contractual remedies pursuant to the agreements related to the transaction (which may or may not be meaningful depending on the financial position of the defaulting counterparty).

The Investment Manager will seek to minimise the Sub-Fund’s counterparty risk through the selection of financial and non-financial institutions and types of transactions employed. However, the Sub-Fund’s operational mechanisms may involve counterparty and other risk elements that may create unforeseen exposures.

OTC Markets Risk and Derivatives Counterparty Risk. Where the Sub-Fund acquires financial instruments on OTC markets, there is no guarantee that the Sub-Fund will be able to realise the fair value of such financial instruments as they may have limited liquidity and high price volatility. The Sub-Fund may have credit exposure to counterparties by virtue of positions in OTC derivative contracts. To the extent that a counterparty defaults on its obligation and the Sub-Fund is delayed or prevented from exercising its rights with respect to the investments in its portfolio, it may experience a decline in the value of its position, lose income and incur costs associated with asserting its rights.

OTC transactions are not traded on exchanges and are not standardised; rather, banks and dealers act as principals in these markets, negotiating each transaction on an individual basis. Such trading is substantially unregulated; there is no limitation on daily price movements and speculative position limits are not applicable. The principals who deal in the forward markets are not required to continue to make markets in the underlying markets and these markets can experience periods of illiquidity, sometimes of significant duration. Market illiquidity or disruption could result in losses to a Sub-Fund.

When the Investment Manager enters into a contract with other parties on behalf of the Sub-Fund, the Sub-Fund bears the risk that the counterparties will not carry out their obligations. To the extent that such contracts involve over-the-counter derivatives or other over-the-counter transactions, they may be exposed to the risk of default by a counterparty or to settlement difficulties. This risk may be substantially higher than the default or settlement risks involved in standardized and exchange-traded transactions. The latter are generally backed by clearing organizations' guarantees, are generally marked to market daily and intermediaries are generally subject to settlement and segregation and minimum capital requirements. Transactions directly with a counterparty generally do not benefit from those protections and expose each party to a higher risk of the other's default. For example, although a broker or dealer or other counterparty may collateralize its obligations to a particular party by segregating its assets and identifying them on its records as assets dedicated to that party, those or similar arrangements may not always be adequate to protect the party if the counterparty were to become insolvent and, even if they are, the party could expect delays in receiving the benefit of the derivative or other contract.

Position Risk. When the Sub-Fund purchases a security, the risk to the Sub-Fund is limited to the loss of its investment. In the case of a transaction involving financial derivative instruments the Sub-Fund's liability may be potentially unlimited until the position is closed.

Concentration of Investments. Subject to the Investment Restrictions of the Sub-Fund the Investment Manager is not restricted as to the percentage to the Sub-Fund's assets that may be invested in any particular industry, instrument, market or strategy. The Sub-Fund will not maintain any fixed guidelines for diversifying its portfolio among instruments, markets or strategies. In attempting to maximise the Sub-Fund's returns the Investment Manager may concentrate the holdings of the Sub-Fund in those instruments, strategies or markets which, in sole judgement of the Investment Manager, provide the best profit opportunities consistent with the Sub-Fund's investment objective.

Exchange Rate Fluctuations; Currency Considerations. Whilst the Sub-Fund will operate in US Dollar and will typically invest in securities denominated in US Dollar, the Sub-Fund's assets may be invested in securities and or financial instruments denominated in other currencies and any income or capital received by the Sub-Fund may be denominated in the local currency of investment. Accordingly, changes in currency exchange rates (to the extent unhedged) may affect the value of the Sub-Fund's portfolio and the unrealised appreciation or depreciation of investments.

Furthermore, the Sub-Fund may incur costs in connection with conversions between various currencies. Currency exchange dealers realise a profit based on the difference between the prices at which they are buying and selling various currencies. Thus, a dealer normally will offer to sell currency to the Sub-Fund at one rate, while offering a lesser rate of exchange should the Sub-Fund desire immediately to resell that currency to the dealer. If applicable, the Sub-Fund may conduct its currency exchange transactions either on a spot (i.e., cash) basis at the spot rate prevailing in the currency exchange market, or through entering into forward or options contracts to purchase or sell currencies. If applicable, it is anticipated that most of the Sub-Fund's currency exchange transactions will occur at the time securities are purchased and will be executed through a broker or depositary acting for the Sub-Fund.

The Manager or Investment Manager will generally seek to hedge the currency exposure of Shareholders holding Shares denominated in currencies other than Base Currency. The adoption of this strategy may substantially limit Shareholders of the non-Base Currency denominated Shares from benefiting if the relevant currency falls against Base Currency and/or against the other currencies in which the assets of the Sub-Fund are denominated. The hedging transactions (if any) will be clearly attributable to a specific class and all costs and gains/losses of such hedging transactions will accrue solely to the Shareholders holding Shares in the relevant currency.

Net Asset Value Considerations. The Net Asset Value per Share is expected to fluctuate over time with the performance of the Sub-Fund's investments. A shareholder may not fully recover his initial investment when he chooses to redeem his Shares or upon compulsory redemption if the Net Asset Value per Share of the relevant Class at the time of such redemption is less than the issue price paid by such shareholder. In addition, where there is any conflict between International Financial Reporting Standards ('IFRS') and the valuation principles set out in the Articles and this document in relation to the calculation of Net Asset Value the latter principles shall take precedence (see also the section entitled "Net Asset Value" below).

Legal Risk. Some of the laws that govern private and foreign investment and contractual relationships in certain countries are new and largely untested. As a result, the Sub-Fund may be subject to a number of unusual risks, including inadequate investor protection, contradictory legislation, incomplete, unclear and changing laws, ignorance or breaches of regulations on the part of other market participants, lack of established or effective avenues for legal redress, lack of standard practices and confidentiality customs characteristic of developed markets and lack of enforcement of existing regulations. Furthermore, it may be difficult to obtain and enforce a judgment in certain countries in which assets of the Sub-Fund are invested. There can be no assurance that this difficulty in protecting and enforcing rights will not have a material adverse effect on the Sub-Fund and its operations. In addition, the income and gains of the Sub-Fund may be subject to withholding taxes imposed by foreign governments for which shareholders may not receive a full foreign tax credit.

Tax Considerations. Where the Sub-Fund invests in securities that are not subject to withholding tax at the time of the acquisition, there can be no assurance that tax may not be withheld in the future as a result of any change in applicable laws, treaties, rules or regulations or the interpretation thereof. The Sub-Fund may not be able to recover such withheld tax and so any change may have an adverse effect on the Net Asset Value. Where the Sub-Fund sells securities short that are subject to withholding tax at the time of sale, the price obtained will reflect the withholding tax liability of the purchaser. In the event that in future such securities cease to be subject to withholding tax, the benefit thereof will accrue to the purchaser and not the Sub-Fund.

Highly Volatile Instruments. The prices of derivative instruments, including options, are highly volatile. Price movements of forward contracts and other derivative contracts in which the Sub-Fund's assets may be invested are influenced by, among other things, interest rates, changing supply and demand relationships, trade, fiscal, monetary and exchange control programs and policies of governments, and national and international political and economic events and policies. In addition, governments from time to time intervene, directly and by regulation, in certain markets, particularly those in currencies and financial instrument options. Such intervention often is intended directly to influence prices and may, together with other factors, cause all of such markets to move rapidly in the same direction because of, among other things, interest rate fluctuations. The Sub-Fund also is subject to the risk of the failure of any of the exchanges on which its positions trade or of their clearing houses.

Business and Regulatory Risks of Funds. Legal, tax and regulatory changes could occur during the term of the Sub-Fund that may adversely affect the Sub-Fund. The regulatory environment for funds is evolving, and changes in the regulation of funds may adversely affect the value of investments held by the Sub-Fund and the ability of the Sub-Fund to obtain the leverage it might otherwise obtain or to pursue its trading strategies. In addition, the securities and futures markets are subject to comprehensive statutes, regulations and margin requirements. Regulators and self-regulatory organisations and exchanges are authorised to take extraordinary actions in the event of market emergencies. The regulation of derivatives transactions and funds that engage in such transactions is an evolving area of law and is subject to modification by government and judicial action. The effect of any future regulatory change on the Sub-Fund could be substantial and adverse.

Systemic Risk. Multiple counterparty risk may also arise through a default by one of several large institutions that are dependent on one another to meet their liquidity or operational needs, so that a default by one institution causes a series of defaults by the other institutions. This is sometimes referred to as a "systemic risk" and may adversely affect financial intermediaries, such as clearing agencies, clearing houses, banks, securities firms and exchanges, with which the Sub-Fund interacts on a daily basis.

Valuation Risk. The Net Asset Value of the Sub-Fund will be calculated by the Administrator based, to the extent possible, on prices obtained from independent third-party sources including exchanges. The fair market value of those assets of the Sub-Fund for which a third-party price is not available will be valued based on other sources deemed reliable by the Directors, in consultation with the Manager and the Administrator. Investors should note that there is a risk that a Shareholder which redeems its Shares while the Sub-Fund holds particular assets may be paid an amount less or more than it would otherwise be paid if the actual value of such assets is higher or lower than the value provided to the Administrator. In addition, there is a risk that a subscription for Shares could dilute the underlying value of such assets for the other Shareholders if the actual value of such assets is higher than the value provided to the Administrator. There is also a risk that greater management fees and performance fees may be paid by the Sub-Fund in respect of certain assets or liabilities of the Sub-Fund than would have been paid if the actual value of such assets or liabilities is lower or higher than the value determined for the purposes of calculating those fees and allocations. None of the Directors, the Manager, the Investment Manager or the Administrator is under any liability (including any obligation to remit excess management fees or performance fees to the Sub-Fund or any of the Shareholders) if a price reasonably believed to be an accurate valuation of a particular asset of the Sub-Fund is found not to be such.

Misconduct of Employees and of Third Party Service Providers. Misconduct by employees or by third party service providers could cause significant losses to the Sub-Fund. Employee misconduct may include binding the Sub-Fund to transactions that exceed authorized limits or present unacceptable risks and unauthorized trading activities or concealing unsuccessful trading activities (which, in either case, may result in unknown and unmanaged risks or losses). Losses could also result from actions by third party service providers, including, without limitation, failing to recognize trades and misappropriating assets. In addition, employees and third party service providers may improperly use or disclose confidential information, which could result in litigation or serious financial harm, including limiting the Sub-Fund's business prospects or future marketing activities. Although the Manager will adopt measures to prevent and detect employee misconduct and to select reliable third party providers, such measures may not be effective in all cases.

Terrorist Action. There is a risk of terrorist attacks on the United States and elsewhere causing significant loss of life and property damage and disruptions in global markets. Economic and diplomatic sanctions may be in place or imposed on certain states and military action may be commenced. The impact of such events is unclear, but could have a material effect on general economic conditions and market liquidity.

Investment in Russia. Investments in companies organised in or who principally do business in the independent states that were once part of the Soviet Union, including the Russian Federation, pose special risks, including economic and political unrest and may lack a transparent and reliable legal system for enforcing the rights of creditors and Shareholders of the Sub-Fund. The concept of fiduciary duty is not well established and rules regulating corporate governance are undeveloped. Unitholders may, therefore, suffer dilution or loss of investment due to the actions of management without satisfactory legal remedy.

Evidence of legal title to shares in a Russian company is maintained in book entry form. In order to register an interest of the Sub-Fund's shares, an individual must travel to the company's registrar and open an account with the registrar. The individual will be provided with an extract of the share register detailing his interests but the only document recognised as conclusive evidence of title is the register itself. Registrars are not subject to effective government supervision. There is a possibility that the Sub-Fund could lose its registration through fraud, negligence, oversight or catastrophe such as fire. Registrars are not required to maintain insurance against these occurrences and are unlikely to have sufficient assets to compensate the Sub-Fund in the event of loss. In other circumstances such as the insolvency of a sub-custodian or registrar, or retroactive application of legislation, the Sub-Fund may not be able to establish title to investments made and may suffer loss as a result. In such circumstances, the Sub-Fund may find it impossible to enforce its rights against third parties. Neither the Sub-Fund, the Manager, the Investment Manager, the Depositary nor any of their agents make any representation or warranty in respect of, or in guarantee of, the operations or performance of any registrar or sub-custodian.

The foregoing list of risk factors does not purport to be a complete enumeration or explanation of the risks involved in an investment in the Sub-Fund. Prospective investors should read this entire Supplement and the Prospectus and consult with their own legal, tax and financial advisers before deciding to invest in the Sub-Fund.

9. Class Hedging

The Base Currency of the Sub-Fund is USD, and the designated currency of the Class is EUR. The Directors have instructed the Investment Manager to hedge the exchange rate fluctuation risks between the designated currency of the Class and the Base Currency of the Sub-Fund. The Company may utilise a variety of financial instruments such as derivatives, options, swaps, futures and forwards to seek to hedge against changes in currency values which may affect the value of the Class and such transactions will be clearly attributable to the Class.

The adoption of this strategy may substantially limit holders of Shares from benefiting if EUR rises or falls against the Base Currency of the Sub-Fund. It is the Investment Manager's intention that the Class' currency hedging into EUR will not exceed 100% of the Net Asset Value per Class. To the extent that the currency hedging of the Class exceeds 100% of the Net Asset Value per Class due to market movements or other circumstances beyond the control of the Investment Manager, the Investment Manager shall keep the situation under review and will seek to limit such over-hedging to 105% of the Net Asset Value per Class. Moreover, to the extent that the currency hedging of the Class falls below 100% of the Net Asset Value per Class due to market movements or other circumstances beyond the control of the Investment Manager, the Investment Manager shall keep the situation under review and seek to limit such under-hedging to 95% of the Net Asset Value per Class. Currency hedging positions materially in excess of 100% of the Net Asset Value per Class will not be carried forward from month to month. While not the intention of the Class, over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise due to factors outside the control of the Class and the Investment Manager will seek to rectify the situation immediately taking due account of market conditions and the best interests of the relevant Shareholders. The calculation of such hedging ratio will be based on the Net Asset Value per Class, including dealings of Shares received for the Dealing Day immediately following the relevant Valuation Day.

The cost and any gains or losses associated with the currency hedging transactions in respect of the Class will be allocated solely to the Class.

The Directors shall terminate such currency hedging transactions if, for example, the costs outweigh the benefits of such transactions, as determined by the Directors in their sole discretion and as notified to Shareholders.

There can be no assurance that the program of currency risk management will be entirely successful. Notwithstanding such program, the Class may be affected favourably or un-favourably by exchange rate fluctuations.

10. Dividend Payments

Although it is currently the policy of the Class not to pay dividends nor make capital gains distributions, the Directors may decide at a future date at their discretion whether and to what extent dividends should be paid. Shareholders will be notified in advance of any such change of policy and the Class Supplement will be updated accordingly.

9. Class Hedging

The Base Currency of the Sub-Fund is USD, and the designated currency of the Class is EUR. The Directors have instructed the Investment Manager to hedge the exchange rate fluctuation risks between the designated currency of the Class and the Base Currency of the Sub-Fund. The Company may utilise a variety of financial instruments such as derivatives, options, swaps, futures and forwards to seek to hedge against changes in currency values which may affect the value of the Class and such transactions will be clearly attributable to the Class.

The adoption of this strategy may substantially limit holders of Shares from benefiting if EUR rises or falls against the Base Currency of the Sub-Fund. It is the Investment Manager's intention that the Class' currency hedging into EUR will not exceed 100% of the Net Asset Value per Class. To the extent that the currency hedging of the Class exceeds 100% of the Net Asset Value per Class due to market movements or other circumstances beyond the control of the Investment Manager, the Investment Manager shall keep the situation under review and will seek to limit such over-hedging to 105% of the Net Asset Value per Class. Moreover, to the extent that the currency hedging of the Class falls below 100% of the Net Asset Value per Class due to market movements or other circumstances beyond the control of the Investment Manager, the Investment Manager shall keep the situation under review and seek to limit such under-hedging to 95% of the Net Asset Value per Class. Currency hedging positions materially in excess of 100% of the Net Asset Value per Class will not be carried forward from month to month. While not the intention of the Class, over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise due to factors outside the control of the Class and the Investment Manager will seek to rectify the situation immediately taking due account of market conditions and the best interests of the relevant Shareholders. The calculation of such hedging ratio will be based on the Net Asset Value per Class, including dealings of Shares received for the Dealing Day immediately following the relevant Valuation Day.

The cost and any gains or losses associated with the currency hedging transactions in respect of the Class will be allocated solely to the Class.

The Directors shall terminate such currency hedging transactions if, for example, the costs outweigh the benefits of such transactions, as determined by the Directors in their sole discretion and as notified to Shareholders.

There can be no assurance that the program of currency risk management will be entirely successful. Notwithstanding such program, the Class may be affected favourably or un-favourably by exchange rate fluctuations.

10. Dividend Payments

Although it is currently the policy of the Class not to pay dividends nor make capital gains distributions, the Directors may decide at a future date at their discretion whether and to what extent dividends should be paid.
