

iShares TecDAX[®] (DE)

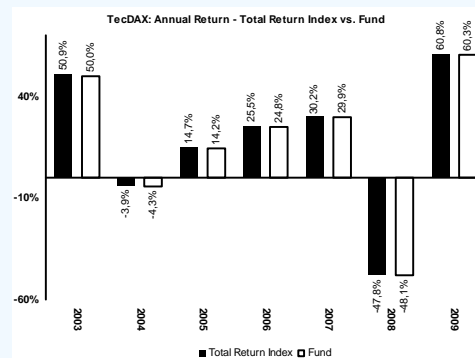

July 2010

The iShares TecDAX[®] (DE) Investment Fund was founded on 6 April 2001 under German law. This simplified prospectus summarises the most important information regarding the Investment Fund. You can obtain further details from the full prospectus and the latest annual and semi-annual reports.

Unit classes	iShares TecDAX [®] (DE) (WKN: 593 397; ISIN: DE0005933972)
Capital Investment Company	The Investment Fund is managed by BlackRock Asset Management Deutschland AG, Max-Joseph-Str. 6, 80333 Munich, Germany.
Term	The Investment Fund was founded for an unlimited period.
Custodian Bank	State Street Bank GmbH Brienner Straße 59 80333 Munich, Germany
Auditor	KPMG AG Wirtschaftsprüfungsgesellschaft Munich Office Ganghoferstr. 29 80339 Munich, Germany
Investment objective	The primary objective of iShares TecDAX [®] (DE) is to track the performance of the technology sectors traded in the Prime Segment of Deutsche Börse AG as measured by the TecDAX [®] . To achieve this objective, the fund will attempt to replicate the TecDAX [®] (total-return index) as closely as possible.
Investment strategy	The TecDAX [®] equity index launched on 24 March 2003 is the smaller successor index to the NEMAX [®] 50. It includes the 30 most liquid stocks from the technology sectors. The index history seamlessly follows on from that of the NEMAX [®] 50. The technology companies traded on the TecDAX [®] are both German and foreign companies. The investment ratio is at least 95% of the value of the Investment Fund. The duplication ratio is at least 95% of the value of the Investment Fund. Bank balances and money market instruments may be acquired up to a maximum of 5% of the value of the Investment Fund. Futures contracts and options on the underlying index and on individual components of the underlying index may be used exclusively for the purpose of maintaining the investment ratio. The base currency is the euro.

Risk profile	The unit value can fluctuate. Investors may not recover the full value of their investment. If the index falls in value, causing the value of the Investment Fund to fall, the Company's fund management will not attempt to limit losses through hedging transactions or sales of equities (i.e. the fund is not "actively" managed). Consequently, unit holders are fully exposed to a fall in market value of their fund units in the event of a decline in the underlying index. Because of the close link between the Investment Fund and the underlying index and because certain issuer and investment limits may be exceeded as a result, risk will only be diversified to a limited extent. You can obtain a more extensive description of the risks involved in the full prospectus.
Market risk	The price or market performance of financial products is especially dependent on the movements in the capital markets, which in turn are influenced by the general state of the global economy and by the economic and political conditions in the respective countries. Negative price and market developments lead to a reduction in the price and value of these financial products.
Currency risk	The value of assets denominated in foreign currencies is subject to price fluctuation.
Concentration risk	The underlying index of the Investment Fund concentrates investments on a particular market sub-segment. This makes the Investment Fund exclusively dependent on the performance of this market sub-segment, and not on the overall market. The often low number of individual stocks in a particular sector, and the overweighting of individual stocks in the Investment Fund that will occur as a result, can cause its value to decline quickly and sharply.
Risk of default	The default of an issuer or of counterparty may result in losses for the Investment Fund. Issuer risk describes the effect of the particular developments concerning the respective issuer which, in addition to the general trends on the capital markets, have an effect on the price of a security. Even if securities are carefully selected, losses may result if issuers become insolvent. Counterparty risk is the risk that a counterparty to a contract partially or completely defaults on its liabilities. This applies to all contracts that are entered into on behalf of an Investment Fund.
Risk notice for the use of derivatives	The Company may conduct transactions with derivatives on behalf of the Investment Fund to maintain the cash ratio as defined by § 11(6) of the General Terms and Conditions. This may on occasion increase the risk of loss for the Investment Fund.
Special notice for increased volatility	Due to its composition, the Investment Fund has higher volatility, i.e. unit prices may be subject to significant fluctuations upwards and downwards even within short periods of time.

Performance	Average annual performance of the Investment Fund: 1-year period: 60,32% (01/01/2009 - 31/12/2009) 3-year period: 2,66% (01/01/2007 - 31/12/2009) 5-year period: 9,03% (01/01/2005 - 31/12/2009) Past performance of the Investment Fund is not a predictor of future results for the Investment Fund.
Profile of a typical investor	An investment in the Investment Fund is only suitable for experienced investors able to evaluate the risk and the value of the investment. Investors must be willing and able to accept substantial fluctuations in the value of the units and the possibility of a substantial loss of capital. The investment horizon should be at least seven years.
Tax basis	The Investment Fund is tax-exempt in Germany. The tax treatment of fund income for the investor depends on the tax regulations applicable in individual cases. A tax consultant should be consulted for information about investors' individual tax charges (particularly persons not resident for tax purposes). You can obtain details about tax treatment of this Investment Fund from the full prospectus.
Issue and redemption prices and expenses	Issue premium 0% in exchange trading, 2% over the counter. Redemption fee 0% in exchange trading, 1% over the counter. Fixed fee 0.50%
