What is this product?

The Fund is a sub-fund of JCF which is constituted in the form of a mutual fund. JCF is domiciled in Ireland and established as an umbrella fund with segregated liability between sub-funds. JCF’s home regulator is the Central Bank of Ireland (the “Central Bank”).

Objective and Investment Strategy

The Fund's investment objective is to seek long-term growth of capital by investing primarily in equity securities of companies located anywhere in the world and selected for their growth potential.

The Fund will invest primarily in securities of companies that the relevant Sub-Investment Adviser believes will benefit significantly from advances or improvements in technology. These are generally: (i) companies that the relevant Sub-Investment Adviser believes have or will develop products, processes or services that will provide significant technological advancements or improvements; or (ii) companies that the relevant Sub-Investment Adviser believes rely extensively on technology in connection with their operations or services such as but not limited to companies offering medical products and services, alternative energy equipment and services, or sophisticated industrial products.

No more than 10% of the net asset value of the Fund may be invested in securities traded on any one emerging market and the aggregate amount of the Fund which may be invested in securities traded on the emerging markets is 20% of the net asset value of the Fund.

The Fund will not invest substantially in financial derivative instruments ("FDI") for investment purposes. The Fund may employ investment techniques and instruments, such as trading in futures, options and swaps and other FDIs both for efficient portfolio management and, subject to a limit of 10% of its NAV, for investment purposes, principally to achieve a reduction of risk, reduction of costs, generation of additional capital or income for the Fund, access to markets not otherwise available or immediately available, to synthetically short or to endeavour to limit losses in emergency market conditions. Foreign exchange hedging is deployed at class level and may be deployed at security level.

What are the key risks?

Investment involves risks. Please refer to the Hong Kong Offering Document for details including the risk factors.

1. Risk of Investing in Securities

There can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective. The value of shares of the Fund and the income from them may rise or fall, as the capital value of the securities in which the Fund invests may fluctuate. The investment income of a Fund is based on the income earned on the securities it holds, less expenses incurred. Therefore, the Fund's investment income may be expected to fluctuate in response to changes in such expenses or income.

2. Concentration of Investments

The Fund seeks to maintain a diversified portfolio of investments. However, as the Fund invests primarily in securities of companies that the relevant Sub-Investment Adviser believes will benefit significantly from advances or improvements in technology, it may be less diversified in its investments than other funds. Increased concentration of investments by the Fund will increase the risk of the Fund suffering proportionately higher loss should a particular investment decline in value or otherwise be adversely affected.

3. Industry Risk

The Fund does not concentrate its investment in specific industries but it may invest in companies that react similarly to certain market pressures. For example, competition among technology companies may result in aggressive pricing of their products and services which may affect the profitability of companies in the portfolio. In addition, rapid pace of technological development, products or services developed by companies in the portfolio may become rapidly obsolete or have relatively short product life cycles. The Fund's returns, therefore, may also be more volatile than a fund that does not invest in similarly related companies.

4. Risk of Investing in FDI

- The Fund may invest in FDIs for investment purposes. Given the leverage effect of FDIs, such investments may result in total or substantial loss.
- The price of FDIs may move in unexpected ways, especially in abnormal market conditions.
- FDIs involve other risks of loss, such as credit, currency, leverage, counterparty, liquidity, index, settlement default and interest risks.
- Increased margin calls and unlimited risk of loss are also risks which may arise through the use of FDI as is the potential inability to terminate or sell FDI positions.

5. Emerging Markets Risk

The Fund may invest its assets in emerging markets. Investing in emerging markets involves greater risks of loss than investing in more developed markets due to, among other factors, currency and exchange control risks, political and economic risks, legal and regulatory risk and custodial risk. In addition, markets in emerging countries are generally less liquid and more volatile than developed markets.

6. Currency Risk and Currency Hedging Risk

As long as the Fund holds securities denominated in a currency other than the base currency of the Fund, the Fund's value will be affected by the value of the local currency relative to the base currency. In such instances, the Fund may apply currency hedging techniques, including the use of currency forward contracts, in order to limit the currency exposure between the currencies of the Fund's investment portfolio and the base currency. However, this may not be possible or practicable in all cases.

Is there any guarantee?

The Fund does not have any guarantees. You may not get back the full amount of money you invest.
