

HSBC Global Investment Funds

EURO HIGH YIELD BOND

Monthly report 31 January 2024 | Share class IC

Investment objective

The Fund aims to provide long term capital growth and income by investing in a portfolio of High Yield bonds (denominated in Euro), while promoting environmental, social and governance (ESG) characteristics. The Fund also aims to achieve a higher ESG rating than the weighted average of the constituents of its reference benchmark. The Fund qualifies under Article 8 of SFDR.

Investment strategy

The Fund is actively managed and is not constrained by a benchmark. In normal market conditions, the Fund will invest at least 90% of its assets in non-investment grade bonds and other higher yielding securities (including unrated bonds), issued by companies or by governments, government-related entities, supranational entities, that are based in developed markets and emerging markets. The Fund will not invest in bonds issued by companies with involvement in specific excluded activities, such as: companies involved in the production of controversial weapons and tobacco; companies with more than 10% revenue generated from thermal coal extraction; and companies with more than 10% revenue generated from coal-fired power generation. The Fund may invest up to 15% in contingent convertible securities and up to 10% in other funds. The Fund's primary currency exposure is to Euro. See the Prospectus for a full description of the investment objectives and derivative usage.

Main risks

- The Fund's unit value can go up as well as down, and any capital invested in the Fund may be at risk.
- The Fund invests in bonds whose value generally falls when interest rates rise. This risk is typically greater the longer the maturity of a bond investment and the higher its credit quality. The issuers of certain bonds, could become unwilling or unable to make payments on their bonds and default. Bonds that are in default may become hard to sell or worthless.
- The Fund may invest in Emerging Markets, these markets are less established, and often more volatile, than developed markets and involve higher risks, particularly market, liquidity and currency risks.

Monthly performance commentary

2024 started on a positive note for the Euro High Yield market with a positive return in January. This came mostly from the carry of the bonds as a 12bps spread tightening was entirely offset by higher government bond yields. The month started on a relatively weak note as central bankers pushed back on investors' aggressive rate cut expectations, but the market then strengthened as the underlying picture of decreasing inflation opening the door to rate cuts remained supported by incoming data.

Given the much-improved mood among investors, compared to a few months ago, and the high amount of debt to be refinanced (a consequence of the low level of issuance in 2022 and 2023), it was no surprise to see higher activity on the primary market. It was no deluge however as many leveraged issuers chose to get part or all of their funding on the loan market. If market conditions remain decent, we expect to see continued high issuance volumes in the months to come.

From a valuation perspective we are impressed by the tight spread level of the single-B category, which is trading at its 27th percentile (calculated over the past 10 years). These issuers are highly leveraged and therefore very sensitive to financing costs, which are now higher, and to economic conditions, which remain weak in the Eurozone, even if recession risks have receded somewhat recently. We therefore underweight significantly this rating category.

Our market exposure decreased during the month as all our investments were in the relatively defensive BB and BBB rating categories. We participated to new issues from Mundys (new name of Atlantia, BB), National bank of Greece (at the Senior Preferred level, BB), Logisor (logistics real estate, BBB), CTP (logistics real estate, BBB) and BBVA Tier 2 (BBB). The financial sector provides the best opportunities in our view, but some segments of the real estate sector also look interesting in a scenario of lower yields.

Risk Disclosure

- Derivatives may be used by the Fund, and these can behave unexpectedly. The pricing and volatility of many derivatives may diverge from strictly reflecting the pricing or volatility of their underlying reference(s), instrument or asset.
- Investment Leverage occurs when the economic exposure is greater than the amount invested, such as when derivatives are used. A Fund that employs leverage may experience greater gains and/or losses due to the amplification effect from a movement in the price of the reference source.
- Investment involves risk. Past performance figures shown are not indicative of future performance. Investors should read the prospectus (including the risk warnings) and the product highlights sheets, before investing. Daily price change percentage is based on bid-bid price.

Different classes may have different performances, dividend yields and expense ratios. For hedged classes, the effects of hedging will be reflected in the net asset values of such classes. Expenses arising from hedging transactions may be significant and will be borne by the relevant hedged classes. Hedged class performs the required hedging on a best efforts basis.

The above table cites the last dividend paid within the last 12 months only. Dividend is not guaranteed and may be paid out of capital, which will result in capital erosion and reduction in net asset value. A positive distribution yield does not imply a positive return. Past distribution yields and payments do not represent future distribution yields and payments. Historical payments may comprise of distributed income, capital, or both.

The calculation method of annualised yield prior to August 2019 is the simple yield calculation: (dividend amount / NAV per share or units as of ex-dividend date) x n; The calculation method of annualised yield from August 2019 is the compound yield calculation: $((1 + (\text{dividend amount} / \text{ex-dividend NAV}))^n) - 1$, n depends on the distributing frequency. Annually distribution is 1; semi-annually distribution is 2; quarterly distribution is 4; monthly distribution is 12. The annualised dividend yield is calculated based on the dividend distribution on the relevant date with dividend reinvested, and may be higher or lower than the actual annual dividend yield.

Investors and potential investors should refer to the details on dividend distributions of the Fund, which are available on HSBC Asset Management (Singapore) Limited website.
