Berkshire Hathaway 50th Anniversary Symposium

When Warren Buffett took control of Berkshire Hathaway Inc. in 1965, it was a small textile company. Through a combination of value investing, exceptional management and savvy acquisitions, Buffett has transformed the firm into one of the most profitable, successful and highly-emulated corporations in American history. This symposium, presented by the Museum of American Finance and the New York Society of Security Analysts (NYSSA), commemorates the 50th anniversary of Buffett's leadership of Berkshire Hathaway.
